SENTENCE THREE DIRECTORS OF HOME BANK THIS MORNING; TWO GO TO THE REFORMATORY

Barnard Gets 18 Months and Clarence Smith 6 Months

SUSPEND SENTENCE

On Ocean Smith Who Was Used as Crown Witness

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Two Home Bank directors, Charles A. Barnard and Clarence F. Smith, both of Montreal, convicted of charges under the Canadian Bank Act arising out of the collapse of the bank in August 1923, were given terms in the Ontario Reformatory by Judge Coatsworth this morning. Barnard gets 18 months and Smith six months. Sidney H. Jones who was the bank auditor was given four months and the sentence of Dr. Dean G. Smith, accountant, was suspended.

Barnard was taken below by constables a few minutes after sentence. Clarence F. Smith was taken away later and also Sidney H. Jones, Dean Smith went out of the court a free man.

Before sentence was pronounced in any case there was a strenuous effort made by counsel to have Judge Coatsworth again postpone the sentence. Application was made by A. C. McMaster, counsel for Clarence F. Smith, supported by R. H. Robertson, K.C., counsel for Barnard, but it was refused. R. H. Greer, counsel for Sidney H. Jones said his client was at the end of his financial resources and could not appeal his conviction or his trial. Long before court resumed at 10.40 every available seat was taken and a large crowd gathered, including eagerly awaiting the news of sentences. When the judge entered, the court was cleared and the rails was filled with prominent lawyers. There was little that was demeanor except when the judge asked the prisoner to each case. There was a decided hush when Barnard had said a statement in his own defence in reply to the usual question: "Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced upon you." In his statement Barnard protested against interpretation. His Honor had drawn his actions as director of the bank and contended that his side of the story would result in that he was put forth every effort to do his duty to the bank and its shareholders. In the case of Clarence F. Smith it was said, "six months indeterminate" is added to six months and 18 months respectively and to Sidney Jones ten years "four months indeterminate".

A delegation of prominent men from Montreal including J. W. McConnell, W. Birks, General Dodds and A. Cushing, appeared to speak on behalf of Clarence Smith. They told of Smith's splendid service during the war and of his general good reputation in the city of Montreal. After the opening of court Mr. Master made his formal application for postponement of sentence, stating that he desired further time to prepare his appeal. As convicted men were necessary bail he said it could not make much difference if they were not sentenced now. "I do not think it is in the public interest to postpone sentences" said His Honor, "it is better within the power of the Defence Court to grant bail at once, pending appeal, if will, upon sentence and then counsel can go to a higher court."

Mr. Master, counsel for Barnard then supported the motion made by Mr. McMaster and the judge then allowed Barnard to read his statement. The convicted director protested against the interpretation His Honor had placed upon the story of his action, and in effect, he said, that he said there was no dishonest design but that he had performed his duties to the best of his ability and that the judge had resulted from things over which, he nor any other director had any control.

"I personally had nothing to do with the auditing of the bank," he said, "and even the Crown does not contend that I refrained from making my side of the story in, on advice of counsel. When it is told it will reveal that my actions were in the best interests of the bank and my course will be vindicated."

"His Honor in giving sentence, said that this case constituted a prospect of the bank and in view of the fact that he had another case to try and that he was being sued for five millions dollars, he would follow a precedent set in a parallel case of the Glasgow bank, and sentence Barnard to eighteen months in the Ontario Reformatory with an indeterminate

CITY COUNCIL CAN NOT UPSET COURT

Peterboro, Dec 1.—That the City Council is not in a position to interfere in the course of justice as meted out by the courts is the reply to Dr. D. C. King's application for remission of a fine imposed upon him if a manslaughter conviction by the Finance Committee Friday night is adopted at Tuesday's meeting. Dr. King was fined $300 and costs on March 21 last, on conviction before Magistrate O. A. Langley, of selling liquor contrary to the provisions of the Opium and Narcotic Drugs Act, the case arising out of a raid made by the city police in which a number of addicts were found under the influence of morphine.

Dr. King remarked in his appeal to the Council that the fine was made on a very narrow margin of evidence under new amendments to an Act placing the burden of proof on the person accused.

"If had prescribed what I thought was the proper treatment," Dr. King says, "and the Magistrate was so much in doubt that he required to reserve judgment and then finally gave judgment against me. As the fine was paid to the city, I feel that under these peculiar circumstances you might see your way clear to remit the penalty and repay the amount of the fine to me."

Sons of Scotland ! Parade to Church

Observe St. Andrews Day Anniversary at St. Andrews

Camp Rob. Roy Sons of Scotland attended a special service in St. Andrew's Church, Sunday morning to observe St. Andrew's Day anniversary. The members were accompanied by their wives and children. The pastor of the church, Rev. A. S. Kerr took for the text of his sermon—God hath made of one blood all nations that are to dwell on all the face of the Earth". He spoke of the great debt the world owes on Mars Hill was more impressed with the many debts Paul owed to Athens than he was with their art and philosophy. He cited Luther as an example which he presented with compelling force the fact that the world owes all from this primary truth he deduced that they of this day owe much to the two basic tribe it is possible to build up a new order, the Hebrew and the God and the Brotherhood of Man. It was a inspiring sermon to the Athenians as it was to the Jews—for each race, one looked back and discussed every other. But the gradual recognition of this truth has been responsible for universal and increasing freedom from slavery. It will eventually bring in a new order. All men are brothers under skin in spite of superficial difference.

But the test of a nation's opportunity is not natural wealth, nor wide-spread military power, but a willingness to serve. It is with the nation as it is with the individual. The greatest of these is the minister of all. The civilizations of Persia and Egypt and Assyria are all names to-day. They built on wrong foundations. Scotland's national greatness is dependent upon not natural resources but on the kind of men the nation produces, men characterized by their love of liberty, lack of cowardice, love of God. National service not national conquest is the test of a nation's greatness. This is the ideal we should cultivate for Canada.

Several music was furnished by the choir. The Pipe band accompanied the 48 of Scotland to and from the service.

Various committees participating in membership drive in the interests of the Chatham board of trade report that their solicitations have met with great success. The campaign closes to-night.

First Person Ever Arrested On Charge

Harry Graves Fined For Reckless Driving in Belleville

Harry Graves, 30 Foster avenue, was fined guilty or reckless driving by magistrate Masson in police court this morning and was fined $10 without any court costs, or ten days in jail, and was given thirty days in which to raise the fine. This is the minimum fine and Graves is the first person who was ever arrested in Belleville on a reckless driving charge.

Graves was driving a touring car owned by Jen McConnell on Station street last Monday morning when he collided with a car owned and driven by Alonzo Ferguson, second concession of Thurlow, on the corner of Front and Station street. The accident occurred in front of Graves' garage. The story told by the accused was that Grenitzs' nose ran and car was turned over on the bonnet and he with his two-and-a-half-year old baby was thrown out of the machine. His car was damaged to the extent of nearly seventy dollars. Mr. McConnell's car suffered a crumpled front fender, broken radiator, broken front and boat axle.

Graves was testing the McConnell car to see when a new battery had just been placed, but McConnell is liable for all damages.

Near the scene of the accident, two tracks were parked one on each side of the street and approximately opposite one another. Thomas approached the two parked trucks from the east, Graves from the west. Mister Schneider in the bus ridden a bicycle unto wards in front of Graves' car completely round it, rug mat, and upset the other car over on the north side.

Graves admitted travelling between forty and forty-five miles per hour which was deemed a reckless speed by the court and Graves was also fined and appreciated what the action of his car. He could hardly be blamed as he had only applied the brakes on a slippery road.

Sergt. at Arthur Harman who arrested Graves told of skid marks showing in the pavement for a distance of seventy or eighty feet west of the crash and of Schneider stating that Graves was travelling at a reckless speed.

Graves was defended by R. J. E. Jeakins.

ANOTHER PROTEST?

If the Dominion Government is sending another protest to Washington—and there is some talk of it—regarding the illegal diversion of water from the Great Lakes at Chicago, it is doing no more than the interests of Canada demand, and if the protest is more vigorous in tone and more definite in terms than were its predecessors, so much the better. What is not so encouraging is the fact that the technical officers chosen by the two governments to re-investigate the St. Lawrence waterways project are to meet this week in Washington for the purpose, stated, of considering each of their instructions as have been agreed upon by the United States and Canada. Canada's insistence that the Chicago diversion be made part of the reference to the joint engineering board has not been successful, the United States Government being, apparently, just as set upon having the division of water for power purposes at Niagara linked up with the Chicago question—which is what Chicago wants. Until this matter is settled, and settled to the satisfaction of the Canadian people, there ought to be no action of any kind by the joint engineering board. If the board is to proceed with any part of the programme submitted to it, while the question of the Chicago diversion remains an unsettled question, it simply means that the representations made by the Dominion are to be of an effect, and that some of the advantages proposed by the United States Government is being accepted in practice. There is only one safe, dignified and effective position which the Canadian Government can take in respect of these discussions, namely, that the situation at Chicago must be remedied in such a way as to recognize and safeguard Canadian navigation rights before the joint engineering board proceeds, however tentatively and conditionally, upon its investigation. If this position is taken, and the Government's engineers are instructed accordingly, then we will know where we are. The success of the United States Government in dealing with Chicago will afford a helpful example as indicating what this country may expect when and if the enforcement of a waterways treaty produces a conflict of interest as between the federal and any state or municipal authority.

The Federal Government has been joined by all states on the Great Lakes with the exception of Illinois, and by the Lake Carriers' Association, in appealing to the Supreme Court for an order restricting the diversion at Chicago to 4,167 cubic feet per second, but Chicago has the support of the whole Mississippi Valley which want the 10,000 second foot of water now being taken out of Lake Michigan. Canada's protest, and the complaints of various American states, are ignored, and the brief filed by the United States Attorney-General, but there is little comfort in the statement contained in the brief that, when the authority of the Federal Government has been vindicated, and the diversion limited, Chicago may then go to Congress for relief and that in the meantime a withdrawal in excess of 4,167 feet will be permitted. Chicago has already sought relief from Congress, and a political struggle involving international rights is not an attractive prospect. Nor does any co-operation seem to have been given to the fact that Chicago has no authority whatever, so far as Canada is concerned, to take a bucketful of water out of the Great Lakes for permanent diversion. The permit which the Chicago Sanitary District did get was obtained years ago from the United States Secretary of War, but it does not appear that the international aspect of the diversion was dealt with at all at that time. Chicago has since then increased the flow through the Chicago and Calumet rivers up to 10,000 feet, has used the water, not for the purpose of sewage disposal only, but for a profitable power development as well, and still is not satisfied. The effect of this high-handed action has been to seriously lower the water level in the Great Lakes and in the St. Lawrence River to the prejudice of navigation, and unless the diversion is to be stopped, this condition will become still more serious. The effect has been noticeable in the season now closing, despite the heavy rainfall of the past summer, and the consequence in a dry year will be proportionately more grave. At the conference of the Canadian Deep Waterway and Power Association, held at St. Catharines, the statement was made that the reduced carrying capacity of grain vessels alone, due to this cause, has created a commercial loss of $250,000 in 1923. This association, be it noted, exists for the purpose of promoting the development of navigation "on international basis," but the statement was made by the president, Mr. O. E. Fleming, that a canal along the St. Lawrence might be absolutely useless with continued diversion at the present rate.

Quebec is interested above all other provinces in the solution of this problem, and the sixty-five members from Quebec who sit in the House of Commons cannot escape the duty which rests upon them of protecting the greatest of the province's natural resources. They, and the Minister of Justice as their spokesman, are answerable to the people of Quebec for the determination and diligence with which they press for the fullest observance of Canadian rights and, if need be, for himself mainly or solely, the wonder is that the Minister of Justice has not already done so. It is to them, particularly, that the public will look for a resolute course of action, one that will effectually offset any lessening of interest manifested at this without a great increase of foreign industries within Canada, or an extensive economy. In war time this I am sure, but even at the moment the country of Britain is imperilled by the set that we have to find ten million pounds to purchase foodstuffs, a great proportion of which could be produced within these islands. Indeed, as I have been to a world shortage of wheat which will have no adequate home supplies, there is nothing to prevent the area of foodstuffs being increased to the heights. The solution of the agricultural problem will be none "easy" but just as Denmark, Belgium, Holland and Germany have, by means of intensive cultivation, also proved how to make farming a profitable occupation. The Government of Britain's activities in put upon a good basis. We can no longer afford to delay. The consequences may prove too serious.

Letters to Editor

AN INSPIRED THOUGHT

Editor Intelligencer.

Sir—

What I delight to be an inspired thought came to me in the early morning hours of this morning and it is this—"Where true love is there is no fear."

I believe this to be a truism, but am open to enlightment by others.

In these days of many elections it behoves us a little more apart in the study of the subject would be beneficial, mentally and spiritually. Believing to divert thought in a right direction and every other ally would especially recommend it to all having a position to keep tempting as a servant for all life of life. Thanking you for space.

Yours Truly,
Arthur Rowland

Nov. 27, 1924

Editor, Belleville Intelligencer:

Sir—Politics, liberal and conservative, interests me. I have been for years of their country at heart, but domestic matters are of secondary consideration when national issues are involved. Ontario, to her shame, has recently upheld the most vicious piece of legislation that ever disgraced the Statute Book, and Canada is the only other part of the world where the Single Tax would not be found to be tolerated; in no other portion of the globe would such a thing be allowed by the crown have the temerity to introduce it or entertain.

If I have no first hand knowledge whether or not the interstate open prairies" say just as the recent by-election in West Hastings, but one thing I do know, and that is that there are many men in this province with sufficient red blood in their veins who would use all means within their power to stop it. Such a measure is only to be categorized as Satanic.

The Tariff is safe for me; those who favor the Stars and Stripes are at liberty to follow their inclinations. There is no prohibition in this respect.

Yours truly,
Chas. H. Blackmore.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Some of the papers which have appeared based upon the Report for National Economy Committee recently submitted to the Press, seem to have created the erroneous impression that the plan contemplates a uniform reduction of wages, particularly in the Metal Trades Industry, for the purpose of artificially reducing the cost without reason this has a natural tendency to estimate the wage earner, which is the last think we desired. No such action has been decided upon as it is not completed.

It was clearly stated in our letter submitting the Plan to the Press that the interest in the Tariff was that wages to an unjustifiable level, but to restore a substantial balance in production costs by establishing in their proper relations the wages paid for varying degrees of service in carrying occupations; in other words Mr. Meadon until they have at least learned whom the Quebec people would put in his place?

WORTH TRYING

It is reported that American manufacturers have invaded the German market and are having a big sale. It may be that it is not such a stupid thing after all to carry coals to Newcastle.

WORLD'S OLDEST MAN

Tornado, Asia Minor, is claimed by a pastor in Constantinople claims to be the oldest man in the world, and writes, and attributes the fact to his habits of diet. He does not smoke or drink, and confines himself mainly to dried peas, and sugar when he can get it. We wonder if he ever tried the Tariff, he does not feel about 1000 years old.

BRITISH AGRICULTURE

Canada's interest in British agriculture is the reason why agriculture deserves and must have special treatment when the time arrives for a great increase of food supplies within this country as a reserve to security. In war time this I am sure, but even at the moment the country of Britain is imperilled by the fact that we have to find ten million pounds to purchase foodstuffs, a great proportion of which could be produced within these islands. Indeed, as there is a world shortage of wheat which will have no adequate home supplies, there is nothing to prevent the area of foodstuffs being increased to the heights. The solution of the agricultural problem will be none "easy" but just as Denmark, Belgium, Holland and Germany have, by means of intensive cultivation, also proved how to make farming a profitable occupation. The Government of Britain's activities in put upon a good basis. We can no longer afford to delay. The consequences may prove too serious.

Outside of Quebec no other leader than Meighen has been thought of as heired since the retirement of Sir Robert Borden. The possibility appears if all the malcontents are confined will in the area of Quebec. It would be reasonable for Conservatives outside Quebec to consent to the return of Mr. Meighen until they have at least learned whom the Quebec people would put in his place?

The reason why agriculture deserves and must have special treatment when without a great increase of foreign industries within this country as a reserve to security. In war time this I am sure, but even at the moment the country of Britain is imperilled by the fact that we have to find ten million pounds to purchase foodstuffs, a great proportion of which could be produced within these islands. Indeed, as there is a world shortage of wheat which will have no adequate home supplies, there is nothing to prevent the area of foodstuffs being increased to the heights. The solution of the agricultural problem will be none "easy" but just as Denmark, Belgium, Holland and Germany have, by means of intensive cultivation, also proved how to make farming a profitable occupation. He was waiting at the corner of the street. More, he was waiting with the rest of the crowd. Ever and anon he looked at the clock, his brow became with an angry frown.

"Why doesn't she come?" he muttered. "She already been late for our appointment."

At last the lady appeared.

"You should carry a watch," he told her in an annoyed tone.

"But I always break them," she explained soothingly.

"Well," he replied sarcastically "you might at least carry a calendar."

Letters to Editor

AN INSPIRED THOUGHT

Editor Intelligencer.

Sir—

What I delight to be an inspired thought came to me in the early morning hours of this morning and it is this—"Where true love is there is no fear."

I believe this to be a truism, but am open to enlightment by others.

In these days of many elections it behoves us a little more apart in the study of the subject would be beneficial, mentally and spiritually. Believing to divert thought in a right direction and every other ally would especially recommend it to all having a position to keep tempting as a servant for all life of life. Thanking you for space.

Yours Truly,
Arthur Rowland

Toronto, Ont.
Nov. 27, 1924

Editor, Belleville Intelligencer:

Sir—Politics, liberal and conservative, interests me. I have been for years of their country at heart, but domestic matters are of secondary consideration when national issues are involved. Ontario, to her shame, has recently upheld the most vicious piece of legislation that ever disgraced the Statute Book, and Canada is the only other part of the world where the Single Tax would not be found to be tolerated; in no other portion of the globe would such a thing be allowed by the crown have the temerity to introduce it or entertain.

If I have no first hand knowledge whether or not the interstate open prairies" say just as the recent by-election in West Hastings, but one thing I do know, and that is that there are many men in this province with sufficient red blood in their veins who would use all means within their power to stop it. Such a measure is only to be categorized as Satanic.

The Tariff is safe for me; those who favor the Stars and Stripes are at liberty to follow their inclinations. There is no prohibition in this respect.

Yours truly,
Chas. H. Blackmore.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Some of the papers which have appeared based upon the Report for National Economy Committee recently submitted to the Press, seem to have created the erroneous impression that the plan contemplates a uniform reduction of wages, particularly in the Metal Trades Industry, for the purpose of artificially reducing the cost without reason this has a natural tendency to estimate the wage earner, which is the last think we desired. No such action has been decided upon as it is not completed.

It was clearly stated in our letter submitting the Plan to the Press that the interest in the Tariff was that wages to an unjustifiable level, but to restore a substantial balance in production costs by establishing in their proper relations the wages paid for varying degrees of service in carrying occupations; in other words a fair wage remuneration of that person of the return from industry which is available for distribution among those who produce."

The figure 50 per cent. above 1913 rates was clearly stated in the Plan to be suggested as a basis for consideration, the subject has not yet received sufficient consideration by those interested in the metal trades' industry, or any other branch of industry to determine what the final basis of adjustment should be. This can only be determined after due consideration of all the governing factors which have entered into discussion of this subject and such discussion can be engendered. There is no desire of pressure by us, and we believe in optimism regarding this, but when we have had the proper elements which come to one's desk dealt with the extent and necessities of Unemployment now existing—then we talk to men with families who have sought in vain for employment are advantages of securing any kind of work to keep body and soul and clothes—then we read about, and earn from personal observation of the many who are willing to accept any honest job, with no immediate prospect of improvement, we cannot regard "prosperity" in the true sense of the word is with us.

The Plan presented in the hope but it might lead to a completion of the necessary readjustments in connection with production costs, which we believe to be all important for action and correction in our onward progress to a period of prosperity for all.

We endeavoured to set our suggestions forth, so that labor would receive their proper share of the returns particularly the unemployed) and so that we had the necessary consideration

Bullet Proof Vest Given to Chinamen

Part of Program in Tackling New York Tong War

New York, Dec. 1—Spurred by the killing of two Chinese and the shooting of another Friday, the police resorted to extraordinary precautions yesterday to cope with gunmen of the Hip Sing tong and the On Leong tong in their new guerrilla warfare.

The chief efforts of the police were devoted to hunting for eleven tong men who are said to be directing the tong war. Their hunt for them is complicated by the belief of the detectives that these leaders are directing their operations from outside the country and probably outside the city.

Appeals for protection from assassination were made to the police during the day by some of the leaders in the two tongs, it was learned last evening. Among these were Charlie Boston, a well-known figure in Chinatown for many years, and Frank and Henry Moy, all of whom are connected with the On Leong tong. The three were said to have gone to the police department storeroom where they were equipped with bullet proof vests. Foldo Gonz secretary of the Hip Sing tong, also was reported to have obtained such a vest. Detectives have been assigned to escort the men about the city, it was said.

All denizens of Chinatown were warned yesterday to stay off the streets as much as possible, in order to lessen the possibility of pistol battles such as stimulated the renewal of the tong warfare on October 4 th after a lapse of twelve years. The next move was to organize flying squads of detectives in automobiles to seek Chinese in cars who might be on their way to murder enemy tong men . With the new outbreak of murders and shootings on Thanksgiving day, just before the end of the temporary peace agreement, stirred a skirmish earlier the gunmen introduced the automobile for the first time in their crimes

The uniformed force of the entire city was ordered yesterday to search any Chinese found on the street whose actions seemed suspicious. The police men were instructed to avoid embarrassing Chinese innocent of any connection with the tong war.

In addition to these moves the police kept up a steady campaign yesterday of resorts in Chinatown and other parts of the city in which it was suspected that tong gunmen might be harbored. Occasionally detectives and uniformed men invaded suspected places, but late last night they had not found any of the Chinese whom they sought.

This search was founded on information in Chinatown Friday morning that 70 gunmen and hatchet men had been imported to slay members of one tong. The rumors, an informant said, had been brought here from San Francisco, where they had arrived from China since the renewal of the warfare between the tongs became imminent about six months ago

These gunmen further were alleged to have been smuggled into California from Mexico, and brought into this city chiefly in automobiles of two and three by various means, usually by automobile from points in New Jersey and even in Baltimore and Philadelphia The detectives sent in quest of them, was declared, however, that they had not the slightest clue which indicated that they were in this city They added that the work of coping with the Chinese gunmen was becoming more difficult, as it was obvious that those directing the slayers in each tong were operating from points outside of Chinatown, and probably outside of the city

OLD CHARGE PRESSED

Oshawa, Dec. 1.—Isidore Asler, agent for the 203 Chemical Company, charged under the C.O.T.A. with selling 303 wine in Oshawa, pleaded guilty in police court Friday through his counsel, D. L. J. Swanson, and a fine of $300 and costs imposed which was promptly paid.

This charge has been on the police blotter for some time and the second time he was charged here, the first time the Lorne Bouri withdrew the information and returned the wine to him. Asler also pleaded guilty in the local court to a charge of speeding and paid five dollars and costs.

Hurled Rock Through Window

Lindsay, Dec. 1.—A shocking case of assault occurred on William street, near the corner of Kent street, Saturday morning. As a well-known south end trapper was driving along in his car, an acquaintance with whom he had words some days previously, hurled a huge piece of concrete through the windshield of the car. The rock hit the driver in the face and he also was cut by flying glass. The windshield was completely smashed and the concrete slab (probably two inches thick, by seven inches) landed on the floor of the car.

A crowd soon gathered, as did the police. The injured man was taken to a doctor's office and attended.

Operate Air Mail Service All Winter

Have Special Equipment for Pilots and Skids For Machines

(Associated Press Despatch)

Omaha, Dec. 1.—An unprecedented contingency for the United States government, that of operating the transcontinental air mail service throughout the winter months, will be met satisfactorily if the already completed plans of the government are carried out, according to Carl C. Egge, general superintendent of the air mail service.

Mr. Egge, at the headquarters here, has announced that the cross-continent flying service will go on regular schedule, hampered only slightly, if at all, by snow storms and blizzards.

Every air mail flying base and emergency landing station has been equipped with winter flying facilities, "monkey suits" for pilots, stoves to heat water and gasoline, protection of beacon lights, and skids to be attached to the landing gear in case heavy snowfall prevents the use of wheels.

The "monkey suit," Mr. Egge explained, has been adopted after extensive experimenting with various flying garments. The suit, fur-lined, includes everything from helmet to socks. The electrically heated suit, the air mail chief said, transmits heat too rapidly, affording no even heat for the comfort of pilots.

In addition the cockpit of every plane will be heated by a pipe running from the engine parallel to, and on top of, the exhaust pipe. This pipe arrangement, the speaker declared, prevents the fumes from entering the tonneau, as was the case when the cockpit was heated direct from the exhaust pipe.

All main beacon lights, from Hazelhurst field New York, to San Francisco, Cal., have been equipped with plate glass housing, insuring pilots of adequate guiding lights even in the heaviest of storms.

The wheel landing gear, pilots have found, can be used in case of a 10 or 12-inch snowfall, but in excess of this the ski landing apparatus must be employed. This winter landing apparatus is on hand at every field.

One German City Operates at Gain

Augsburg Will Close 1924 With 2,000,000 Marks in Treasury

(Associated Press Despatch)

Augsburg, Dec. 1.—This old city, once the scene for the coronation of German emperors, can boast of being one of the few German towns that are running without a deficit. The city treasurer has announced that for 1924 there will be a surplus of more than 2,000,000 gold marks in the treasury.

The city is so confident of being able to keep up its record that the aldermen have voted to use the surplus for reducing taxes—this in the face of the fact that the council has authorized an ambitious program of street railway extension, building of a new city hospital and of a municipal market, and erection of an electric power plant.

One of the first taxes to be removed is that on beer. Augsburg is one of the chief cities of Bavaria, where popular parlance has it that children are raised on beer instead of milk. The removal of the local duty on beer is therefore likely to win many votes for aldermanic politicians.

The price of gas is to be reduced considerably and workers monthly tickets on the municipally owned street railway are to be offered 20 per cent. cheaper. Local taxes and rural estate and business turnover are also to be lowered.

STRONG GALES PREDICTED

Paris, Dec. 1—Thursday's gale shows signs of reviving with added force after its Ebrid lull. The sea is running high, both in the English channel and the Atlantic, doing considerable damage to ports and the pier is in danger of a tendency to extend inland and to the Mediterranean. Wires are down in some places making communication difficult in various parts of the country. A number of fishing boats are still missing from ports in North and South.

Y.M.C.A. CONVENTION OPENS

Preston Dec. 1—Second day of the convention of the Men's Christian Associations of Canada opened here at 9.30 o'clock Sunday morning with a devotional address by Rev. Charles W. Bishop, Toronto, who was the first General Secretary of the National Council. He was followed by presentation of the report of the committee on relationships with international committee, national council, United States, and world's alliance by J. F. Mackay. Dr. E. M. Bowser of Montreal concluded the session with the presentation of a report of the committee on membership basis.

LIVING COST IS HIGH AS YET IN GERMANY

Berlin, Dec. 1.—It is now generally conceded that the Marx-Stresemann government has been able to the almost unbelief to reduce the cost of living. Whatever may be the cause, too long a story or an over for either of food and clothing is a thing of.

The fact is producing great uneasiness in the ranks of organized workers. The trade unions of every political shade have decided that they will fight along the line for an increase of wages. They declare that they do this with the greatest reluctance, and only because the promised reduction in prices has not taken place.

A few examples will illustrate what the industrial worker confronts. One of the best organizations is that of the railway workers. Its members are divided into four classes, skilled, semi-skilled, unskilled, and female workers. The average hourly wage has been: skilled, 56 cents; semi-skilled, 43 cents; unskilled, 32 cents, and women, 20 cents. Again a skilled metal worker receives 12 cents an hour and an unskilled female worker 7 cents.

To bring these wages into relation with the cost of living, a few typical prices may be mentioned: butter, 60 cents a pound; eggs, 5 cents each; bread 12½ cents a loaf; sugar, 9 cents a pound; beef, 32 cents a pound; flour 7 cents a pound.

This means that a skilled railway worker must work for four hours, or almost half a workday, to be able to purchase a pound of butter. A female workers' must work over seven hours for the same privilege.

These figures do not take into account rent, light, heat, clothing, recreation or the education of the worker's children. It is not difficult to perceive that many workers are decidedly unable to make both ends meet.

The struggle for higher wages will probably be carried out first in the railway industry.

The government hopes to be able to do something at the eleventh hour. It expects to raise the embargo on at least one third of the millions of food now preventing from importation. It will rescind the restrictions on foreign exchange in the hope that thereby money will become easier. It hopes too, that two natural factors will operate in its favor. One, the fact that the potato crop this year is not of a kind that will make cornering or long hoarding possible; the other, that the grain will have to be thrown upon the market rather hurriedly, because the moist weather of the harvest weeks will make it impossible to hold back grain long for speculative purposes.

KILLED 258 LIONS DURING HIS LIFE

Capetown, Dec. 1.—"Yank" Allen, the Hero of South African wars, has died here but only after he accounted for 258 of the beasts. Allen, who was a native of Texas, came to South Africa 17 years ago to rid the British South African Company's ranches of lions. So well did he do his work that for the last ten years lions in the company's district became about as abundant as bison on the American prairie, and he eventually cut himself out of a job. His bag of lions is a record, even for South Africa.

Allen's description of a lion was that it was nothing more than a big dog, and that it was safest not to open fire until the animal was within 20 yards of the gun.

Ramblers Score Decisive Victory

Romped Away From O.S.D. Team Saturday Night At "Y"

Ford, Ross and Co. romped away from the ladies of the School of learning for the Deaf at the Y Alleys Saturday night. Both four-players were toiling on either team accounting in part for total score made. The Ramblers, lead by Miss Ford were favored with the lion share of "Lady Luck". In fact what back their opposition had was pretty much of the "Hard" variety. The Ramblers are now tied with Granites for second place.

Canadiens Swamp St Patrick Men

Toronto Crew Were Not in Condition; Score Was 7-1

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Montreal, Dec. 1.—Indications that the Canadiens are going to make a strong bid to retain the Stanley Cup were manifested Saturday night when they overwhelmed Toronto 7 to 1 The game served as the curtain raiser for the formal opening of the Forum, Montreal's new $1,500,000 artificial ice rink. The double attraction of a new rink and an interesting game of a new campaign attracted 9,000 fans. Two records tumbled, the crowd being the largest that has ever witnessed an ice hockey tussle here, while never before has Montreal had hockey as early as November.

Canadiens started to take command immediately the game started, and within 30 seconds Billy Boucher raced the first of the many goals repeating in a little over 15 minutes to end the scoring for the first period. His first goal was on a pass from Sprague Cleghorn, and his second was a smart piece of work on a rebound after Morenz shot.

His third goal early in the second period was also a result of a pretty rush which caught Roach prone on the ice after Morenz had sent a hard drive at the Toronto goal.

Atlans entered Toronto's lone tally from outside the defense, and from then on it was a parade for the Canadiens.

Probably the most spectacular count of the evening and certainly the one most loudly applauded was that scored by Morenz, substitute Canadien defense player, who went through the entire St. Pat's team after battling for the puck and beat Roach.

The heavyweights of the Toronto team lacked condition and at no time were in the game as serious contenders. They need a good deal more hockey club with a good workout.

Miss Margaret Duncan, 17, of 815 Arthur street, Windsor, is lying in Hotel Dieu, recovering from injuries and shock received when she was knocked down by a motor car Wednesday night.

A Chevrolet coupe which was reported to have been stolen from the front of the residence of Dr. Fred Hall at Chatham on Monday evening was recovered on Tuesday evening by Constable Charles Warwick at Wallaceburg.

Two Exeter newspapers, the Times and Advocate, announced amalgamation this week. The Advocate has sold out the business and plant to the Times and possession will be taken on December 1st.

Hams Raced Away From Senators

In the N.H.S. Opener at Home Saturday Night

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—Hamilton got away on the right foot in the race for the league honors here on Saturday night, when they defeated Ottawa 5 to 3 before a crowd that numbered close to six thousand. Both teams played hard and, while penalties were few, there was many a stiff check handed out, will honors about even in this respect.

Randall was given a major penalty by what Referee Manik defined as attack on Nighbor just after the start of the second period. The men were scrambling for the puck new centre ice, and Nighbor came out of the scramble with a cut on his right cheek that required a few stitches to close. He was assisted from the ice by two and made his ay injury had slowed him up, for he was presence gaul the final period, but the not nearly as effective as in the early stages.

Young, Fast and During

The outstanding feature of the game was the work of the men who got their professional baptism on Saturday night namely, "Hooley" Smith of Toronto for Ottawa, and Charles Langlois and Alex Richinon of Sudbury for the locals. Smith was sent in "to fill the shoes of Eddie Gerard" temporarily while his shooting did not measure to that of the former shaughnessy speed and stick handling were far superior Smith fitted in well, with Napoleon Dussereyr on the forward line. He was the torrer-ror of the Hamilton blood up under it without complaint, and handed back for every one he received.

Queen's Deteats Balmy Beachers

Though Toronto Squad Made Better Showing Than Tigers

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Rising to unexpected heights, the Balmy Beach team, senior champions of the Ontario Football Union, gave the Queen's University great battle here on Saturday afternoon in the eastern final. Balmy Beach went down by 11 to 7, but the score does not do justice to the locals, who really played the better game, and who they been favored with the breaks as the Varsity players were when we saw the game. Queen's undoubtedly were the superior team, they played safe and sound football, and they won because the locals made mistakes and Queen's took advantage of them.

The crowd was not half as large as that which saw the Hamilton Tigers defeat champions of the Big Four, crushed here the previous Saturday, but the Balmy Beach players were just as game and Balmy Beach certainly gave Queen's their toughest opposition than Tigers did. Thus in defeat, the O.R.F.U. champions earned their spurs, and they saved the situation for their men, as it has been the rule rather than the exception that the O.R.F.U. representatives were no match for the Big Four or the Intercollegiate champions.

Balmy Beach, who are even younger and lighter on an average than their conquerors, crossed the gressers badly throughout the battle, and, strange as it may seem, the scholastically coached student team, unbeaten in the league for two starts, would have finished second best if the inexperienced locals had not run into some bad breaks.

Encourages Golf Among Children

Nine Hole Course is Exclusively For Young Folk

(Associated Press Dispatch)

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 1.—Among the features included in the park facilities of Dallas is a nine hole golf links exclusively for children, which has turned in a handsome revenue, the report almost equal to that of the other municipal courses for adults.

The children's course which is about two-thirds as long as the average nine hole links has seen between 1,800 to 2,000 boys and girls per day of each month since its organization. The combined attendance of the three municipal courses for the year totaled 400,000 for a month.

There is not much style on the children's course, and fewer clubs. No charge is made for playing, but the children can rent a club of some kind or a few coins and balls sell at four cents each. The balls have been salvaged from the other links of the city and reconditioned.

Baseball Yarns

A yarn growing out of the 1924 World Series is going the rounds and drawing good laughs. It concerns the "One-Eye" Connolly, the champion umpire crasher. "One-Eye" was having a little trouble breaking into the park at Washington, and although he did set through the line one day at the score card salesman, he had to employ his Arcadia's method to get to the gate every day.

One of the hard days he braved the keeper of the pass gate with the "old pal" pan.

Grasping his arm in an affectionate manner, "One-Eye" said: "Don't you know me old sal. I'm Connolly?"

"Youme Connolly, the umpire?" said the gate keeper.

"No," I'm not the umpire. I've got more good eye, thanks goodness."

Some years ago, when Bill Friel was managing the Columbus Club of the American Association, Heinie Berger was a member of his pitching staff. Now, Heinie was a frugal chap and it was the practice then to loan a pitcher to a small town for a special occasion.

The Springfield, O., team was loading up for a certain occasion and asked Friel that $50 would be paid a Columbus flinger, if he would be kind enough to let him go.

Berger had been pitching good ball and Friel decided that the extra money would be appreciated by him. He explained to Berger that he could not pay much and that they'd probably feed him in the Ohio city. So the pitcher decided to go, and Friel handed him a ticket to the railroad station and a ticket to Springfield."

"When Springfield—Illinois, Massachusetts or Missouri? asked the agent.

"The cheapest one," was Heinie's answer.

Bill Brennan, veteran arbiter, always interesting in relating his experience of the game, tells a real one on a recruit pitcher named Jones, who was with Birmingham the past season.

Memphis had runners on first and second, one man was out. The young pitcher committed a balk, which was called on him, moving the runners up a base. The batter was retired on a fly ball by Ellis to the outfield, no runs being scored.

On his way to the bench Jones stopped at home plate, saying to Brennan, "You umpires thought that balk was an accident I guess, but I was only using my hand. I made the balk purposely."

"You made that balk purposely?" queried the umpire.

"Yes, I wanted those runners moved up to second and third so I could take my wind up."

Pick on the rabbits, they can stand me," Brennan said.

There was an umpire a few years ago named Murphy calling balls and strikes in one of the opening day games in the Central League, says Jimmy Hamilton. He was one of those big fellows who could kick half the players of the circuit and had the other half bluffed.

A number of close plays were decided against the home team and the fans were riding Murphy pretty hot. In a late inning of the game, the hurler run for the home team was called out at the plate on another close play. The stands were in an uproar, threatening to pelch the umpire.

With excitement at fever heat Murphy put up his hand for time dofled his cap, addressed the multitude. "Ladies and gentlemen—you think I' mention wait 'till you see the rest of the staff."

A couple of years ago Johnny Tobin spent the winter months selling insurance.

In the spring the question of what Johnny's business was during the fall was on came up in the club house. Bits Meadow was then training for the Browns, and he made it known that Johnny was selling insurance.

"What kind of insurance?" the player was asked by a mate.

"Several," answered Johnny, and almost before he had it out of his mouth Hornsby had turned in with: "Sure, general, didn't he write up Pet Shing and Tuck when they were here last month?"

WALTER JOHNSON MADE GOOD EARLY

Walter Johnson, one of the greatest of all time pitchers, recently related the story of his discovery which is interesting.

Sir Walter's introduction to big league baseball was the engagement by the San Francisco earthquake. He had been pitching for the Weiser, Idaho, club of the Pacific Coast League when the earthquake happened and Tacoma got word that it wouldn't needed John ston after all.

The Tacoma letter heard that a semi pro. outfit in Idaho needed a pitcher and he volunteered. But let Johnson tell the experience:

"When I got there I pitched was against Caldwell, a town that was Weiser's bitter rival," relates Johnson. "A ton of money was bet on the game. The manager of our team was a sheriff of the county. He sat on the bench throughout the game, fully armed and ready for instant action.

"The crowd was made up largely of Indians, cowboys, sheep ranchmen and cattle men. Every citizen had his pistol shooting irons in conspicuous places, and I may say that I didn't feel exceedingly comfortable when the game began and I found the majority of rooters were Caldwellites.

"In one of the early innings our first baseman, who was a deputy sheriff, became fretful about some action of one of the opposition players, and punched him. That was the signal for a free-for-all fight. I was wondering what part I was going to play in it when Weiser, the chief of police, and one of the policemen dashed up, guns drawn.

"Stay out of this, kid,' they said, 'we'll soons let you have your say in hittine some worthless fellow from Caldwell. We pay you for pitching, and we'll see that you get a chance to fight free.'

"The order finally was restored. We won, 8 to 1, or something like that. The fight started in the third but I pulled plenty of money on our victory, showered our team with gold and silver coins.

Caldwell challenged for another game. They talked about a $5,000 side bet. Weiser accepted, and covered the money. The rival players bet everything but the pills and the uniforms on the outcome. We had to play the game in Caldwell and when we arrived there we found that instead of players the real Caldwell team we were playing a team of rooters recruited from the Pacific Coast League teams.

"I was pitching again. Into the tenth inning. When we went to bat in our part of the tenth we got a man around to third. Our right-fielder, a fast baseball player, stepped up and the Weiser doctor yelled an offer of $250 if he would bring the runner home. He did."

American Hitters Slowed Up Some

League Averages Show An other Decline From 1921 Season

Following are high lights taken from the official batting averages for the American Baseball League for last season.

Club Batting

First impression gained from American League batting statistics for the season of 1924 is that there is continuation in the decline from the peak which was reached in 1921 when hitting was so heavy that the period was referred to as an "orge of slugging." This continued decline is indicated both in team batting and in individual percentages.

The next impression is that just as the American League had a more even y balanced race in 1924 than ever before a closing of the spread between the high and the low in batting. In team batting in 1924 only 21 points separated the leading Detroit Browns from the Boston Red Sox, last in the list of eight clubs. The year before 69 points marked the spread between high and bottom teams.

Detroit finished the 1924 season as leader in team batting with a spurt in the closing days of the pennant race, nter Cleveland and St. Louis had been the leading bunch of three season. Detroit's batting percentage was .296 and it was the first time since the Tigers have led the list in the American League had not batted over .300, the club's winter mates of team batting has touched in 1924, when Detroit led with a percentage of .316. Every other club also batted .300 or better.

Boston was in the third year in succession lowest in team batting its fitures for the three seasons show a decrease of sixteen points over those of the previous year, demonstrating the progress of the club in the department of play which indicates more than any other the degree of skill in team strength.

As they were in batting, so were the various teams close together in the 1924 season in scoring and pace practically all other departments of offensive play. Only three clubs scored over 800 runs, 849 and Philadelphia was low with 685. In 1923 Cleveland led by scoring 948 runs and Boston was the low team with 594.

The Chicago White Sox again led in base stealing with a much reduced list of 138 to their credit. They led in this record in 1923, but there was no such decline in base stealing, for prac tically the other clubs showed gains.

The New York Yankees again led in batting with .97, a decline of eight from the previous year. Sheep ranchers and cattle men were mercilessly called to register the shorter ex tra base hits—doubles and triples—than in 1923. Chicago and Washington were tied in numbers of sacrifice hits made and incidentally Washington had the same number as credits" as it in 1923.

Individual Batting

Individual batting percentages in the American League fell off in 1924 from 1923 show an even more notable decline on the part of the leading hitters than on the team percentages. Only three batters hit .400 or better. Sisler were brought to the .400 mark with an emphasis that was disconcerting to some of them.

George Herman Ruth made his bow to batting in 1924 with a percentage of .378 and was a leading hitter but any other player who took part in as many as a hundred games. This percentage of .378 for 1924 is compared to the .393 with which Harry Heilmann led in 1923, when Ruth was the runner up with .368. Heilmann's record for consistency was also given the lie with his team mate Johnny Mostil, a newcomer in the list of heavy hitters.

Ruth made the most marked advance of any of the players regarded as in the major class, batting .378 one good year; were Stephenson, Goslin, Falk Myer and Rice. Of these players all or practically one half those played in the schedule, half and .290 perhaps should be given the honor of runner up to Ruth, though it is a moot customer to class as "regulars" players in less than 100 games.

Charley Jamieson is the first player in 10 games or more to be snapped in the list after Ruth. He batted twenty points below the Bambino.

Ty Cobb led the batters hit for with .361, compared to his record of .399 in 1923. Cobb had been one year behind He was "at bat" 529 times in 1924, compared with 522 for the year previous, but he increased his home run total by five in his futile effort to set a new high mark for round trippers. Babe scored 121 runs as compared to 151 in the previous season. He stole but nine bases, whereas he was credited with twenty-seven the year before.

Eddie Collins again led the league in base running with 42, or seven less than his 1923 total. In his effort to lead the league in base stealing George Sisler succeeded to the extent of hitting .305, and stole nineteen bases Incidentally he was trapped seventeen times in efforts to steal. Collins was caught pilfering an equal number of times in efforts to steal. Collins was more tries to steal than did Sisler."

Few names of new players appear in the list of heavy hitters, but a number of old standbys are up there as usual, in varying degrees. Ty Cobb had a good year and for his nineteenth consecutive season batted better than .300—considerably better, for his figure was .361. Ty also stole 23 bases and was caught trying to pilfer fourteen times.

Joe Sprader was among the first ten hitters, but he lost out in his specialty—of making two baggers. He has on for the season in that respect go to Harry Heilman and Joe Sewell, who registered 45 doubles each. Leon Goslin led with triples, making seventeen, or one more than Heilman batted.

Stanley Harris was almost in a class by himself as a sacrifice hitter, having 46 to his credit.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

She rog her hand upon his arm and kissed her eyes to his slowly, and let them rest there.

"Yes!" she said ,as if the effort cost her much: "I do love you."

A linnet, perched upon a branch of the tree above them, burst into song; a lamb, that had been regarding them curiously, grew near and blosted; the brook babbled over the stones; all nature in its happy sprightlie seemed to take up the harmony of these two souls bound in Love's subtle spell, and to find voice; but they were silent.

At last he spoke.

"It is like a dream!" he said, removing his eyes from her face a moment and looking round like a man awaking from sleep. "Like a dream! Tell me once more, Doris; just once more!"

"Is it so difficult to believe?" Well then—I love you!" she murmured, and a smile—the first fruit of love—beamed from her eyes.

"Different, believe!" he said; "well I should think so! Great Heaven! what on earth do you see in me to love?"

"Quite enough," she said, the smile growing sunnier, as she looked at his handsome face and ardent eyes.

"It's wonderful!" he said. "Just look at the difference between us! you, so beautiful, so clever, such a genius, oh, I know! Why, you will be famous—are famous already, I daresay—and I!" he laughed with self-scorn. "It is wonderful!" and he drew her hand to his lips and kissed it.

"Isn't it?" she said, slowly, with loving shockery.

"Yes it is," he asseverated. "Simply wonderful! And to think that you be long to me! You, you, you!" and his eyes flashed upon her lovely, bewitching face. "By Jove, I shall wake up presently, and find that it really is only a dream."

She started and would have withdrawn her hand if it had not been so tightly clasped in his.

"It is only a dream," she murmured. "Only a dream?" he repeated.

"Yes," she said. "A—a—very pleasant dream."

"Thank you!"

"But a dream still. Lord Neville—"

"My name is Cecil, I'd have you to know!"

"Lord Cecil—"

"Cecil without the 'lord,' if you please."

"It is only a dream! We must wake now! I—and you—have forgotten!"

"Forgotten what, dearest?" he said.

"Forgotten who you are, and that I am."

"You are an angel!" he remarked, seating himself beside her, and stealing his arm round her waist.

"I am an actress ,and you are a viscount," she said.

"I believe I am," he said, smilingly, "but, all the same, you are an angel. Every moment I expect to see you spread your wings and fly from me."

"So I shall directly," she said, with a smile that was half-sorrowful. "I am an actress—one of the people! One who has no status in society in the world; and you are a nobleman! You will be a nobleman the day, will you not?"

"I daresay," he assented, carelessly, trying to decide whether she was more beautiful grave or smiling.

"There is a gulf between you and me, Lord Neville!"

"Cecil, if you please!"

"A gulf—"

"Which love can stride across," he said. "That is, if you are going to draw up a list of comparisons! As if there could be say comparison between Doris Marlowe, the great actress, and Cecil Neville, the idlest man about town!"

"And future marquis!" she said. "Ah I know! Yes, there's a gulf!"

"Love here, Doris," he said, taking her hand, which she had withdrawn, and kissing each finger separately; "love here annihilates all that, and allowed him to retain her hand.

"If you only knew what a sacrifice you are making, my darling!" he said, smiling. "Why presently you will appear in London, and will find the world at your feet; and they will all be in love with you, peasants—only there are no peasants in London—and peers. I daresay you would have an offer from a duke! Think of that! And you have declared your truth to a simple, love count!"

"I am satisfied," she said, with a smile.

"And precious little you have to be satisfied with!" he said, "for I am a poor kind of viscount. I am entirely at the mercy of the great marquis—the Marquis of Heriot! I'm forced to leave the army, where I had a chance that he keeps me on starvation allowances. Oh! you had better have wait and looked your duke, Doris!"

She laughed softly, but the laugh was rather a grave one.

"What a fool you always say!" she raked, looking at him, with her brows fitted, her lovely eyes half-curtain. Lord Neville smiled.

"He will be sorry to say something disagreeable, he always does."

"But do keep on in that gentle, Or shall I tell you?"

"Tell me, please," he said. "That beautiful face of yours couldn't manage to look like the wrong side of stony one, and certainly your voice that is just like music—"

"Shall I set up and curtsey?" she put in, with a faint smile.

"You remind me," he said, "that

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Jeanne was one of the many children in New Ontario who travel miles each day to school. Fair weather or foul, they trudge along the rough country roads. Then it became impossible for them. Fifteen years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed the boon of health during that time. Six of those years she longed to be going to school, helping around the house with the chores, and then there were days there to earn a little money.

One day she was caught in a fierce storm. She came home from school. Before long a terrible cough set in, which finally ended in consumption. Of course, it was impossible for her to go to school any more. Jeanne's days were filled with suffering and weariness now, said the doctor.

Now she is resting at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. Her greatest joy is the thought that she will soon be well enough to return to her home. Her blue eyes with the aid of her thin cheeks show cheer and hope. "When I leave," I'm going to High School. Why not? and we echo, "Why not," and the doctor says "Why not" because Jeanne is on the road to Well-ville.

ANIMAL SUPPORT COST

What It Takes to Carry Sheep, Swine and Cattle

The Value of the Manure Must Be Credited—Cost of Milk and Butter —Fat Production—Salt and Water for Sheep.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture.)

Maintenance of Sheep.

Investigational work with sheep, conducted by the Department of Animal Husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College, gave for cost of maintenance of the farm flock the following figures:—Winter period, 16.49 each; winter breeding ewes, 18.59 each.

Investigational work in fattening lambs was continued, and the results showed for last year that it would have been more profitable to feed them in the autumn than to finish them in the pens, the lambs all showing a loss when street account of feed was kept.

Maintenance of Swine.

In investigational work with swine it was found that in wintering brood sows on a narrow, nutritive ratio produced from cheap, unmarketable feeds, the cost was fifteen cents per day for pasture sows, whereas with groups using more roughage the cost was reduced to eight and nine cents per day.

An extensive experiment with commercial hogs at Guelph gave home-grown feeds showed that under average home conditions and with the commercial hog feeds used was an economical one, a well-balanced ration produced on the farm.

Maintenance of Beef Cattle.

Cost investigations conducted with beef cattle gave the following interesting results:—In the experiment in feeding breeding beef cows in the winter, the cost of feed per cow was $46.49 per head. The cost of labor per cow per day was 7 cents. The cost of bedding per cow per day was 5.8 cents, and the cost of feeding per cow per day was 5.8 cents. The total cost per cow per day was 68.3 cents. The average labor cost per cow per year, after adding 10 per cent. for overhead, was $69.35. The average weight of beef produced per cow per year was 777.22 pounds.

Cost of Maintenance of Herd Sire.

In the cost of maintenance investigations conducted with beef cattle the following figures were obtained: For the year ended March 31, 1924, the cost per year was required; for the Hereford, $101.74; for the Angus, $107.84; for the Shorthorn, $104.24. The bulls were of different ages and of different weights, so no fixed comparison can be drawn. The figures indicate that it requires a large ration to maintain a herd sire, and that the man who maintains such an animal for the use of various cow owners is entitled to a larger fee than he usually demands.

Cost of Maintenance of Dairy Cattle.

The cost of maintenance per dry cows and heifers was shown to be $14.40 per head. Some work was also done in an attempt to discover a satisfactory method for handling veal calves from dairy cows. The results show that the cheapest calf for veal should be marketed at the earliest possible age at which the market will accept it. There is no advantage that to make satisfactory veal while milk was plentiful.

Cost of Milk and Butter Fat Production.

In investigational work with dairy cattle conducted at the Ontario Agricultural College to ascertain the comparative economy of milk production and butter-fat production with the different breeds, it was found that the Holstein produced more milk at twenty-three cents less per hundredweight than did the grade Jersey. After producing a pound of butter-fat there was only a slight difference. It was found that there was very little difference in the cost of production of Ayrshires and Holsteins, and that of milk production it cost more with Jerseys, but the Jersey Jerseys produced butter-fat a little cheaper than did the other breeds. Information, O. A. College, Guelph.

Salt and Water for Sheep.

During the winter when the snow is available, and especially when a liberal supply of roots is being fed, the flock will get the water they need. If water is not given, says the Department of Animal Husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College. At the same time a supply of salt should be given—water if it is to be had, and if it all convenient but pay to provide it. Even in the winter. After the ewes have had their lambs in spring, and during the summer while on grass, an abundant supply of clean, fresh water should be given. Especially during the long, hot days of summer the sheep will drink freely. The health and comfort of the flock demands that this be supplied.

Salt should be before the flock at all times during the year. Put it in a trough set up in the pen during the winter, or in the field while on pasture, in which there is always a supply, with the assurance that the flock is always well provided with salt.

Storing Potatoes.

If potatoes are grown only for home use the crop is usually stored in the cellars of the houses or of the barn. Sometimes they are stored in pits. When the crop is grown extensively for sale it is generally placed in a potato storage cellar erected for the purpose. In all cases it is important to store only well ripened, sound, clean, dry potatoes and to keep them constantly in a cool, dry, well ventilated room. The temperature usually recommended for the best results is from 33 degrees F. to 35 degrees F.

The death occurred in the Chatham public general hospital of Mrs. Alice Maynard, wife of Gregory Maynard, formerly of Leamington, Mrs. Maynard was 58 years of age.

A COLUMN ABOUT SWINE

What is Known as "Thumps" in Young Pigs

Causes of the Trouble—Prevention and Treatment—Directions in Injecting a Brood Sow—Age of Brood Sows—Don'ts for Dairymen.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture.)

The term "thumps" is applied to a nervous disorder of young pigs which is characterized by violent jerking movements of the body. The jerking movements of the body are caused by spasms affecting the diaphragm or midriff, which is the muscular partition separating the chest and abdomen, and is an important organ of respiration. This spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm is similar to hiccups in people.

Cause of the Trouble.

The cause of the trouble appears to be due to some disturbance of the nerves which control the diaphragm. In many cases the nervous disturbance is the result of some defect in the digestive system. Lack of sufficient exercise and overloading of the stomach are common causes of thumps in young pigs, and this trouble appears to be an inherited tendency in some families. The use of litters from pampered or overfed sows. When pigs become affected with thumps the trouble is first noticed by the thumping. Jerking movements of the flanks. These jerks are sometimes so marked that they move and shake the body back and forth. The attacks are usually more aggravated after feeding, and the stomach is full. The trouble may last only for a few days in some cases, and in others it may last for several weeks, and some fail to recover.

Prevention and Treatment.

This trouble of young pigs can be largely prevented by allowing plenty exercise and avoiding overfeeding. When they become affected they should be given a dose of epsom salts, a good, large, roomy place. In summer they should be given shade pastures and allowed to range about. Badly affected animals are also given a dose of castor oil to clean out the intestinal canal. To lessen the spasms of the diaphragm from five to ten drops of chloroform may be given every four or five hours. The affected pigs should be kept on a light diet, and they should be given plenty of exercise.

Injecting a Brood Sow.

The importance of the careful selection of a brood sow cannot be over-emphasized. So says Professor Wade Toole of the O. A. C. It is true that such selection is largely based on her own litters only, whereas that of the boar is reflected in all litters which he sires, and while many characteristics are common to both sexes of breeding stock, a large proportion of which are very essential to the respective sexes and opposite in nature.

Information as to the history of the ancestry of a young sow is of little value, as the best evidence and observation go to prove that certain outstanding qualities are common to strains or families of hogs of different breeds rather than similar breeds themselves. There are good and bad in all our breeds, consequently the prospective purchaser should ascertain as much information as he can concerning the type, the quality and the proficiency of her ancestry, whether or not she has been "inbred" and economic feeders, and "whether or not the sows have been profitable. Canadian hog raisers can well afford to obtain lessons from the results which the Danish breeders are obtaining. Where all is above information is available to the prospective purchaser, the individual and breeding hog must measure up to a certain standard before that hog is eligible to serve.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Age of Brood Sows.

Unusually a sow is most prolific when she is from two to four years of age, and the litters will decrease somewhat when about two and a half years. Then after she reaches maturity she is at her prime, and she will have reached four or five years her powers will be at their best. It is not long after that when she becomes unprofitable. The length of time of usefulness will depend upon the individual. If properly handled and fed a sow may give a year can be secured from a sow, but if she is not well fed and cared for she is eight to ten months old. Pigs can be weaned at six weeks of age, but eight weeks is probably better. They should be eating long before they are weaned, and in order to be sure all the nourishment they need from other sources than the sow's milk, so they will not be checked in their growth. Pigs weaned at eight weeks will accept service within a few days after weaning, and they will be bred to breed them until after the pigs are weaned, or eight or nine weeks old. The welfare of the sow and the next crop of pigs should be kept in mind, and the sow should be bred in time to operate after raising a bunch of pigs before undertaking the next again.

Don'ts for Dairymen.

Don't forget to wash the separator after each separation.

Don't separate the milk without first straining it.

Don't fail to operate the separator at the proper speed.

Don't expect the cream can to reach destination unless plainly addressed.

Any cow suspected of being in bad health should be isolated, and her milk should not be saved.

Mrs. Levi Laur of Aylmer, fell on Monday and broke her hip and right leg. She is a sister of Mrs. Samuel Laur, Mrs. A. W. Pierce. She was removed to Victoria Home, London.

HUN HORSE OWNERS WANT BRITISH RIDERS

(Associated Press Despatch)

Berlin, Dec. 1—German horse owners would like to engage British jockeys to ride their mounts but are prevented by a ruling of the English Jockey Club, adopted during the war and still operative here, the club is to be approached with the suggestion that the rule be rescinded.

British horses are today given warm welcome in Germany, and British football teams have been well received all over the republic.

Another item of the healing effect of time is found in announcement that a boxing match between Germany and Belgium is to come to Berlin to show off the latest French treachries in dresses for women.

New York—Sir Thomas Lipton through his secretary, says that he arranged with Amelius Jerois Jr., to act as skipper of his next challenge for American cup.

"I'll Be Home Soon, Mother," Writes Sammy

Sammy is a keen little lad. He looks much younger than he is—only sixteen—and he has much more wisdom than his years. He has had to, for he is the only support of a family doing a man's work. His father was an engineer, but he was unable to master the art of pouring molten babbitt one day Sammy came home and of a sore sick, but his people didn't know what it was. He grew worse in the morning, and Sammy went and called a rush. But it wasn't all right when the morning, for the trouble spread that Sammy was consumptive, and both held out hope that he could "get the cure" at once.

Sammy has been a favorite up in the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. He keeps the other patients in good cheer with his quaint sayings and his quaint stories of French Quarter life, where he spent his early years. "Tell the folks I'll be home soon," Sammy writes. "I'll be back to work and help with the family by making splendid progress."

The Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, the Haven of the poor afflicted with tuberculosis, is one of the many measures reliant upon public generosity for the success of its work.

No One Can Tell If You Darken Hair

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. You can have the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. Don't let it fade, turn gray and looks straggled, just a few applications of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stop gray! Look young! Either Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at home or from any drug store a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this rich, reliable preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, invisibly, so that no one can tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

To See What Other Half is Doing.

The Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France chosen to carry the Canadian flag around the world in 1925.
Right—The Empress of France at the entrance to the vessel.

One needs almost daily that so many automobiles have been shipped to foreign countries, that Canadian agricultural implements and other manufactured articles are finding favor in many lands, and now one reads that there is an increasing demand in China and Japan for Canadian wheat and that thousands of bushels of grain are being shipped to Oriental Ports. Of vital importance to this news to the Canadian, because the growth of Canadian export means that new industries are being created, that more employment is guaranteed, that more money is placed in general circulation, and that there are more opportunities for the workman, manufacturer and commercialist, and a larger home market for the farmer.

But it means more than all this. The increasing demand for Canadian, American and European goods, which is apparent, means that the other half of the world—the world itself—is changing. The automobile is gradually replacing the rickshaw and the one horse cart in the gayest parts of Japan, and is working its way inland, not so slowly as it is surely. Fields that once knew only the primitive agricultural implements are being tilled with up-to-date machinery, and on the busy streets where people thronged in picturesque and native garb, the occidental costume does not look a strange note. Customs are changing even in respect to food—in Outside the little restaurants on the ones "English Spoke Here," and it is known that inside it will be harder to procure a native dish than a European one. Everywhere in the Orient, the old order is giving place to enlightenment and liberty. The Greeks proclaim a republic; education for the human appeals in India. Chinese are erecting modern factories.

Yet the world of romance still exists, foreign countries still hold an allurement, and always will, but as the occidental civilization spreads, the Oriental atmosphere which, after all, is what the tourist goes to find, disappears before it. Which is why one welcomes the opportunity which one came later will never see. Opportunity to see and come in contact with old customs, old traditions, old ideals which are changing, and which about to enter a transient stage. Opportunity to experience the picturesque life of other lands of the world and to absorb it with the unique atmosphere of strange lands; for the traveller may still feast his eyes upon the kaleidoscopic panorama of the Orient, but the old atmosphere is fading in the tumultuous market place at Cairo. The auto has not yet replaced the sledge which glides over the snow behind the camel caravan in Turkey.

January 14th next will see the palatial Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France leave New York on a 40 days cruise during which will embrace the world in the be a cruise which will embrace twenty-seven "Gateway Ports", and give the passenger opportunity of coming into contact with more than half a hundred different races, Maderia, Monaco, Naples, Haifa, Padang, Shanghai, Taku, Hilo, Balboa and Havana are but a few of the interesting ports of call, and island excursions will be made to Jerusalem, Cairo, Agra for the Taj Mahal, Pekin, Nikkor and other places. Last year another Canadian vessel, the Empress of Canada, made a similar trip — a very successful one—and the forth to be operated under Canadian Pacific auspices throughout. A Mediterranean cruise leaves Montreal this year by the Canadian Pacific Empress of Scotland, to leave New York, February 14th on 82 day voyage, and, in addition, the Montroyal, formerly the Empress of Britain, will make two cruises between New York and the West Indies, one leaving New York on the 14th of February 21st, and the other on the 28th. It is certain that there is demand not only for Canadian foods, but for Canadian vessels, these last having won for themselves an enviable reputation on both the Atlantic and Pacific waters as seaworthy and comfortable ships.

TREAT POLLUTED WATER

Sterilize It by Boiling or by Adding a Disinfectant

Use Hypochlorite—How to Make and Apply It—Calf Troubles—Sprouted Wheat Injured for Seed—When to Feed Silage.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When wells have become polluted from unsanitary sewage or drainage the cause should be found and removed, and preventive measures taken so as that the trouble should not recur.

The water so polluted should be sterilized before being used for drinking purposes. Sterilization may be accomplished either by boiling the water or by the addition of a suitable disinfectant. The disinfectant most suitable for this purpose is a hypochlorite solution.

Stock Hypochlorite for Water Purification.

This hypochlorite solution may be prepared and applied as follows:

1. Mix one-half pound of chloride of lime (33 per cent. available chlorine) with one pint of water.

2. Add sufficient water to make one gallon.

3. Dissolve 13 ounces of sal soda crystals in two quarts of lukewarm water.

4. Add sufficient water to make one gallon.

5. Mix these two solutions in a barrel or crock and allow the milky solution to settle overnight.

6. Pour off the clear liquid from the white sediment into a jug and fill into bottles, well-stoppered, and keep cool in a dark place. This "stock hypochlorite" will contain approximately the equivalent of 5 per cent. of chloride of lime or 1 per cent. of available chlorine.

Application.

Mix one ounce of this stock solution to five gallons of water that is to be used for drinking purposes. After mixing allow to stand for half an hour before use.

The solution may be added in small quantities to water after it has been drawn from the well, or the quantity of water in the well or cistern may be estimated and the required amount of the solution poured direct into the well and stirred.

Farm well waters in Ontario suspected of being polluted will be tested upon application to the Bacteriological Laboratory, Department of Agricultural College—Prof. D. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

Main Causes of Calf Troubles.

Cold milk to-day; warm milk to-morrow.

Sour milk to-day; sweet milk to-morrow.

Stony, dirty feed pails and troughs.

Dirty pens; flies; no protection from heat or sun.

Feeding too much or too little.

No drinking water supply.

Sour whey and sour skim milk from the factory.

Vermin.

It is a good practice to leave the calf with its dam for two days or three days, even though it is planned to rear the calf by hand.

Autumn-born calves usually escape digestion troubles, due to the weather being an aid in preventing the souring of food.

A grass lot adjoining the stable is very useful to calves over three months of age. Young calves thrive best in a clean, well ventilated, cool, dry stable.

If the horns are not dashed, treat with caustic potash before the calf is more than ten days old.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

Wheat Sprouted Before Harvest Is Injured for Seed.

Winter wheat is less valuable for seed purposes if it becomes sprouted before it is harvested. Experiments were conducted in the Field Husbandry Department at the Ontario Agricultural College in which different varieties of winter wheat which had been more or less sprouted in the fields were tested for germination. The comparative injuries caused by sprouting before harvest is indicated by the following average percentages of the germination of the threshed wheat: Skin over germ, unbroken, 94; skin over germ, broken, 76; sprouts one-quarter inch long, 59; and sprouts one inch long, 24. The sprouted seed not only gave lower germination, but the plants produced were uneven in growth.

This information may prove very valuable in some seasons of Ontario where rains have been frequent at the time of winter wheat harvest this autumn.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

When to Feed Silage.

The time to feed silage is directly after milking, or several hours before milking. If fed immediately before milking the silage odors may pass through the system and taint the milk. Besides, the milk may receive some tainted directly from the stable air. On the other hand, if feeding is done subsequent to milking, the volatile silage odors will have been thrown off before the next milking hour.

Combating Orchard Pests in Winter.

When the orchards have been cleared of apples there is time to go through the nearby woods and hedges and cut the wild cherry trees and bushes which are the liveaons of the tent caterpillars that raid the orchards in the spring. It is a good time to inspect the trees for borers and to put down mice and rabbit guards at the same operation. Trample the grass flat at the tree base to allow a close inspection for sawdust from the borer's operations, and then adjust the wire or paper guard to be in place when snow comes.

Sarnia Thursday experienced its first snowfall of the season. About the middle of the day snow began to fall, but not in sufficient quantity to remain on the wet streets.

Operators At Work Up In Peterboro

Catch Two Liquor Sellers Since Plebiscite Was Taken

Peterboro, Dec. 1—Operators at work in Peterboro have rammed two liquor sellers since their entry into the city on the day of the plebiscite vote. Steve Andrew Billiard marker in Yeates billiard hall was fined $400 costs and $43.15 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of selling two bottles of liquor to operators named J. G. Fleming and R. S. Russel, of Toronto, who represented themselves as Americans. They drove a car bearing an American license plate the car having been seized while in the house running liquor and used in that branch of the service. They even paid for the liquor with $10 American bills, receiving one dollar change for each bill.

Andrew was introduced to them by a Peterboro man who formerly roomed with one of the operators at Toronto when the operator worked at Eaton's and the Peterboro man did not know that he had changed his occupation to "Spotter."

No liquor was drunk from either bottle, but the operators took a smell to make sure it was not cold tea or moonshine. The plainclothes officers made their business during a recess breathless ness conversation for Andrew counsel R. R. Hall.

Both are war veterans, and one has done nothing for two years previous to joining the operator forces. Russell lives at 16 Pembroke street, Toronto, and Fleming was formerly an instructor in the asylum at North Battleford, and had lived in the west for some seven years. He could well remember others for whom he had worked.

Another Liquor Charge

James Akey was also charged with selling liquor, and he case was adjourned until Thursday on bail of $1,000. Two previous convictions in 1921 were cited.

The sale with which he is charged now is of two bottles of whiskey to R. S. Russell, a special Provincial officer.

J. A. O'Hara prosecuted for the provincial and F. Strickland conducted the prosecution.

WINNIPEG VICTORIAS NOT COMING EAST

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Winnipeg Victorias, Western Canada football champions, will not go East in quest of the dominion honors this season. This was definitely decided at a special meeting of the club last night, when certain complications in the arrangements forced the Blues to cancel their trip.

The decision was arrived at after a long conference of the club. There was disagreement in the ranks over the railway problem. The majority of the team favored the proposed one cent per mile, while the officials were bent on having over the other. The players decided to go on their own accord, but the officials stepped in and prevented them from going as the Victoria Cup, which the Blues have in their keeping, is not to be taken from Canada. Following is an extract from the constitution governing the cup:

"The cup shall be held by the champions of the Province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and shall be competed for annually by the champions of the provinces mentioned, and the trip was almost abandoned.

ELECT W. C. MIKEL K.C. MAYOR BY LARGEST MAJORITY EVER RECORDED IN HISTORY OF CITY

Has Plurality of 1,649 Votes Over Nearest Opponent

BENNETT WAS SECOND

Daylight Saving Smothered and Sprackett Is New Trustee

Many citizens predicted that the vote Monday in the Mayoralty contest would be light and in the early part of the day indications were that such would be the case. At noon hour the vote polled was at a low ebb, but during the afternoon the friends of the candidates got busy with the result that when the polls closed at 5 o'clock one of the largest votes ever polled for the mayoralty in this city had been recorded namely 5,217.

Last year the vote was considered a heavy one when 3,141 votes were polled or 76 per cent less than the vote in that contest there were not only mayoralty candidates but also a contest for Aldermen. Yesterday there was no Aldermanic contest. The prevailing opinion was that Mayor Mikel would be re-elected the chief magistrate of the city for 1925 and he certainly was by the largest majority ever given a candidate for that honor in the city. When the results of ballots had been counted and the votes had been counted it was then known that the popular Mayor had a majority of 1649 over his nearest opponent, ex-mayor C. A. Bennett. The majority of Mr. Mikel over the combined votes of his three opponents. In regard to the publication in the city Mayor Mikel's majority was considerably in excess of all the votes recorded for his opponents.

Daylight Saving Defeated

The electors were evidently out in force on the question of daylight saving and light saving during the summer months of 1925, the majority of 1,379 the proposition was rejected.

Sprackett Trustee Selected

In Coleman Ward there was a contest for Public school trustee. After candidates being Messrs W. J. Looker and George Sprackett. The latter was returned by a good majority, the vote being as follows:

PARILLO GETS LIFE SENTENCE AT MONTREAL

His Assistance to Crown Saved "Neck From Noose"

JUDGE SPEAKS OUT

Says No Words of His Could Reach Soulless Criminal

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed this morning on Adam Parillo by Justice Wilson. Parillo recently admitted guilty to manslaughter in connection with the Bank of Hochelaga hold-up and murder of Henri Cleroux, collector car driver for whose death four men were hanged and others sent to penitentiary for life. The charge of man slaughter was made against Parillo following an undertaking given on behalf of Province by Crown Prosecutor R. L. Calder when Parillo was arrested in Bridgeport, Conn., and agreed to give certain information for prosecution of other bandits, in sentencing Parillo, His Lordship said, "I don't know any words of mine which can be received kindly, as you don't seem to have any. Your life has been an uninterrupted series of crime. You would have gone with others who paid death penalty except for dire necessity with which Crown was faired of bargaining with you to get after your accomplices."

Threat To Resign Is Not Accepted

And Authorities Feel No Fear of Difficulties

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Belfast Dec. 2.—A report through London that the Irish Free State representative on the Boundary Commission might resign and thereby cause consequences follow if the Commission fails to deal drastically with refracing of boundary between North ern and Southern Ireland, is received with skepticism if authoritative circles in Belfast. It is believed here that any difficulties in Commission will not arrive until after the Free States presents its case and meantime the Commission is clearly feeling its way. As to the attitude of the Free State Government there is no growing belief that President Cosgrave's illness will necessitate his resignation and it is asserted in higher circles that while Kevin O'Higgins his logical successor, is genuinely desirous of maintaining friendly relations with the British Gov't and upholding Anglo-Irish treaty some of his colleagues are opportunists are not actuated by same sentiment.

A special despatch to the Daily Mail says that if the Irish boundary Commission will concede nothing more than a mere adjustment of the boundary, the Free State represents a crisis and this will be followed by the resignation of the ex ecutive Free State Ministry and the handing of the government over to Eamon De Valera and his Republican friends. The report is ridiculed in well informed Free State circles in Dublin.

Following a brief illness of lung fever, Vrana, star three-year-old filly of J. K. L. Ross' stable, died in the equine quarters at Chantilly Downs, Louisville. She was the first foal of Priscilla Mollus, one of the best race mares of her day. Vrana has this year won $22,150 for her owner, including the Fort Erie Derby.

BEATRICE LILLIE ONCE LIVED HERE

Star in "Charlot's Review" Began in Old Palace Theatre

Beatrice Lille, the famous Ontario girl actress who is packing the Royal Alexandra theatre at Toronto this week, as leading lady in "Charlot's Review", the London success which pleased Blase Gotham, known Belleville well, and is well remembered here.

Her stage name is stardom is singular and unique, and old Belleville contributes to this success. Beatrice Lillie first introduced herself to Belleville when she attended St. Agnes College here and then her earliest love was the stage. Even in those days the present wife of Sir Robert Peel, entertained hopes that she had the old palace between acts in song, dance and mpersonation. That was before the Palace became the present Regent Theatre and in the days when Spence Clarke and her wonderful staff, ran it ure house.

Lillie had returned to Belleville with another young lady in a vaudeville turn as a professional. Their venture was not a success—but the undaunted spirit of Beatrice Lillie was not to be so easily outdone. A concert tour made by Beatrice, but mother, who was organist at a Cobourg Presbyterian church at one time, and a sister who was an accomplished pianist, with Artie Edmunds as pocket Herculies as a special added attraction, went "flat" as ironical, Ont., after a fairly successful run in the northern Ontario towns.

So much promise did the sister show as a pianist that Arthur Weir man her teacher advised that she finish her musical education in Berlin. Her mother and the two daughters had reached London, Eng., on their way by the morning of the Great War intervened and upset plans. This was the dawn of a career for Beatrice however, for it was in old London she revealed the histrionic with Canuck soldiers, who by outjoying her contagious vivacity and personal charm "on the boards", were continuously reminded of "Home, I left behind me". They told other Canadian soldiers when they got back again and again to see the girl from Old Ontario take London by storm. Success in Berlin, Paris and elsewhere she has attained.

During this visit to the same Beatrice Lillie who sang "Splash Me" in the days in Belleville not so many years ago, is the chief topic of theatrical and general conversation in that discriminating metropolis—her birthplace by the way.

Returning Officer Releases Figures

Final Figures are Given in Recent Bye-Election

Mr. W. C. Beardman, returning officer in the bye-election for West Hastings today made public the official figures of the election held on Monday evening in St. Michael's Academy, Madoc. It appears that a bumper house will greet the artists when the curtain rises for the big event.

The programme was outlined by the Kiwanis Club luncheon today as one of the best local talent available, and the members of the ginger concert committee were commended on the excellent array of talent which they secured. It looks like one of the big events of the season, and will undoubtedly be the real success desecrated following the hearty co-operation of every member of the club.

SHOP EARLY

It is just about time to shake the moth balls from the old slogan, "Do your Christmas shopping early," and bring the old service again, for with the intervening time shrinking with an almost incredible speed, early shopping for the great festival of the year must be done now or it will have no right to the name.

Three weeks left in which to get ready for Christmas, three weeks during which the pleasant tasks of preparation may be distributed if only one will plan accordingly and avoid the usual exhausting whirl and rush at the end of which all too often the housewife or the business girl or man are happy but too tired to greatly enjoy this holiday of all holidays.

As for the shop-girl and the tired man behind the counter, the plea for less selfishness at this season of charity and of giving is an old one, but nevertheless literally hundreds of persons disregard the fact that their delay of shopping until the exciting third of Christmas eve is buying pleasure at the needless expense of those who serve them. While no one would deliberately and directly spoil Christmas for any other person, yet the thoughtless shopper in this indirect fashion definitely does just that for many of those who wait on them in the stores.

But then there is also the great Lost of people who spoil Christmas for themselves by leaving everything until the last minute and tiring themselves out for the great day.

Do your Christmas shopping early! The stores have already assumed the appearance of a fairy bazaar dripping with gifts for all and sundry. Gift shops they are now (a pretty name when you come to think of it), shops full of lovely things and things that are beautiful in that they are perfect for their purpose, all potential gifts —mere useful or pretty things at any other time of the year, but now glorified in the sight of everyone, whose eyes regard them in the light of all possible means of expressing goodwill and affection.

Gifts for everyone and not the least beautiful are the raisins and dates, the candied peel and crystallized fruits for the gracious cook to blend with generous hand in pudding and cake, for "stir up" Sunday has come and gone and it is high time that the plum pudding and Christmas cake and mincemeat were getting under way.

Three weeks to Christmas! Make a resolution now to get all available planning and shopping and preparations off with reasonable ease and leisure, leaving just enough work for Christmas eve to keep the family cheerfully busy and happy.

THE GAZETTE AND MR. MEIGHEN

The Ottawa Journal (Conservative) takes the Montreal Gazette to task for what it terms its treachery to Mr. Meighan. It says:

"The Gazette quotes an article from the Fredericton Gleaner, which indulges in high praise for the Gazette. We concede that the Gleaner's position is not unnatural, seeing that the Gleaner, like the Gazette, is a newspaper which politically supports a Liberal provincial government while professing to be a Conservative paper.

"Running itself thus in the approval of the Fredericton Gleaner, the Gazette announces loftily that it will continue to govern its conduct according to its convictions. These convictions, in the Gazette's estimation are the best principles of the Conservative party. We doubt it. We imagine that the Gazette's convictions are purely that the Gazette owns the Conservative party, and that if anybody else in the Conservative party disagrees with the Gazette politically, that person or all these persons, are not real Conservatives. And from this point of view, the Gazette decides that Mr Meighen is not the proper man to lead the Conservative party, and that somebody else must be submitted more pleasing to the Gazette.

"The Journal would have no quarrel with the Gazette if that newspaper stated its position to be that while it considers itself on the Conservative side in politics, it is an independent paper, and speaks from the outside of party councils. Owning up to this history in this past, and to the fact that the Gazette and its present proprietors have received great consideration from Conservative Governments in recent years, the Gazette's position has been that that newspaper is a representative and practically official voice. It is this which has enabled the Gazette to do mischief, when out spoken honestly on its own part, or at least honest, self-analysis, would have given the Conservative party a fairer show.

"Our idea would be that a newspaper like the Gazette which, while affiliated by history with the Conservative party in Canada, had come to entertain political views Dominion and provincial differing from the Conservative programme or conditions in the party, should either proclaim that it must dissociate itself from the party, or should at least endeavour to do the party as little harm as possible. Particularly is this the latter case, if the party had been generous to the Gazette. Whether in the way of a senatorship to its proprietor and other official appointments, or in the way of business—the Gazette received over a million dollars worth of printing from the Dominion Government during the last few years—to the Borden-Meighen administration the Gazette was expected a kindly consideration to be shown by the Gazette to the fortunes of the Conservative party. We do not mean to suggest that the Gazette has had an undue favor in the receipt of Government business. We have no doubt but that the Gazette has given good business value, and owes the Government nothing, except perhaps good will. There has been nothing evil nor even the sort of arrogant temper shown by the Gazette when announced in the recent St. Antoine election that no nominee of the Conservatives chose to contest there, the Gazette would support the Hon. Walter Mitchell, Liberal, if he chose to be a candidate.

"The Gazette's Prohibition business to find the Montreal Gazette with such a record in important party issues lately, trumpeting forth its proud position as a champion of 'the true principles of the Conservative party' and professing to be hurt at the idea that anybody should think that it is not the real Simon-pure voice of the best Conservatism of Canada—at a moment when the cause of the Dominion have hardly ceased to hear the din of the Gazette's encomiums of the Liberal Government of Quebec. It is hardly common decency, and confidence such circumstances to profess to be a highly-principled exponent of the best interests of the Conservative party, and to ask to be recognized as a powerful voice in the selection of Conservative leadership."

HAVE GIVEN UP

London, Dec. 2.—After many years the Grand Purposes Committee of the London County Council has decided to give up a suitable motto for the council. In 1914 a Latin one was suggested which meant "We meet here every Tuesday afternoon to make London a Better, Brighter Place." But this was not acceptable to the conscientious members. Since then the matter has been referred to the council but the committee at the last meeting unanimously resolved that they abandon the idea of the motto. It was suggested that the ward of "London" on a scroll, be placed underneath the Council's coat-of-arms.

WOEFUL IGNORANCE

Because a Hamilton man has consented to being a leader in the bootlegging activities which have been so prevalent through the Province, there has arisen in certain uninformed quarters a demand that the authorities take action against him. A general admission of bootlegging forms no proper basis for charging against any man making it, nor could he be convicted in any court because of it.

The size of the vote at the municipal elections yesterday was a surprise to many. It compared favorably with that of last year. Evidently Belleville people have contracted the voting habit.

Fred Rutledge, chief investigator, "D" United, D.S.C.M., who joined the staff on his return from overseas in April, 1917, has been transferred to Ottawa. It is understood he will now be required to cover the Dominion from coast to coast. Yesterday Telegram. That's stretching it too much.

George Fisher, 14th concession Belleanaguent township, near Forest, was kicked by a horse in his stable on Friday. He was found lying unconscious by his son, Marshall, with a wound in the head that required five stitches to close. He was also injured about the hips.

A GREAT INDUSTRY

As the fisheries of Canada are not they reach the "fingerling" stage are they were of its chief natural resources and fill such an important part in its commercial life, the Department of Marine and Fisheries operates no less than 21 fish hatcheries which are located at strategical points thereon the Atlantic and Pacific for the purpose of replenishing the rivers and other inland waters.

Fish culture or Aquaculture holds a powerful similar place with regard to the water as agriculture does with regard to the land. The former aims at the greatest possible production of the finest valuable food that the respective waters will produce.

During the spawning season the ripe females are skilfully manipulated by trained employes and their eggs are stripped by a gentle pressure into pans where they are carefully fertilized with the "milt" of the male fish. The fertilized eggs are carried in jars and trays in running water in the hatcheries until the young fish or "fry" hatch out. During this period they are taken from highly feeding ets which would scour out the spawn in the beds; from receiving waters they would have them exposed from enemies which would kill them as well as from the ravages of fish, enemies. In Canada the fegs of the fish that spawn in autumn hatch out in the following spring or in a period from five to six months, while the eggs of the salmon family require a hatch in from four to six weeks.

When the "fry" are first hatched they subsist upon the contents of a sac or food-sac, and when this is practically absorbed and they begin to swim from the bottoms of the troughs in search of other food they are transferred as quickly as possible in cans or cars to the waters in which they are to stock. The absorption of food sac takes from three to four weeks but this as well as the hatching period is affected by the temperature of the water. Warm water gives quicker results than cold water.

As the vitality of the little fish increases rapidly as they grow older the children available after hatcheries are therefore for feeding and rearing the so as that they may be carried until lake.

Letters to Editor

BITTERNESS IN CONTROVERSY

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir—One hesitates to retaliate upon an old man of eighty years even when the attack are so unprovoked as the insistent as those of Dr. Ephraim Scott upon the leaders of the Presbyterian church. We have seen nothing more bitterness than he stirred in any controversy than the letters and speeches that have poured from opponents of union during all the years of the Union drawn to its consummation in the union of gall seems to deepen and harden.

What must the average reader think if these unveiled insults and calumnies against the late Principal Caven, Nelson, Rev. Stuart Parker and others against men who have been positions in the Presbyterian Church in Canada?

We can all appreciate and sometimes enjoy a good argument even when it goes against us, for there is a certain metal when we come to reply; but when there is no reply to abusive and rude and abusive; especially when the abuse comes from one who seems to desire to spare on account of his years and position in the Church.

These insults do not only affect the characters and reputations of the persons leaders of the Presbyterian Church, but they equally besmirch the names of those who are dead. The Anti-Unionist attack is an attack upon the principles of all the leaders of the Presbyterian Church for the past twenty years, if not for the past fifty years. When Dr. Scott and his friends accuse the makers of the Basis of Union of trickery or bad faith they are not attacking the present leaders of men as the late Dr. Warden, Principal Patrick, Principal MacLaren, President Forrest, Prof. Bryce, Principal Scrimger, Dr. Somerville, and many others as Dr. R. J. Cameron, Dr. Kay, Dr. George M. Milligan, Dr. R. Douglas Fraser and Dr. DaVal. These

Thirty Years Ago

The Woman's Cycle Association of New York held a meeting to discuss the question of whether women cyclists ought to carry policemen's whistles when on cycles. If they take John Smith's advice they will carry neither as women seem to be far more protection to her than a policeman's whistle would be, for it attracts more attention and is further off and also a not so apt to forget to use it in emergencies. As a matter of confidential the woman who carries one runs ten times more danger of shooting herself or some friend with it than she would of ever frightening a robber or similar villains, if she went without one.

No girls, don't worry about weapons. When you ride wheels take along a plentiful supply of hairpins, and an 18x30 chunk of rue bloomer coverage, and then if you run into any danger, just calmly screech.

Carnival of Seasons is the title of the attractive programme of the celebration of St. Andrew's Church and where are prepared all sorts of gifts to be presented to the public on the 11th and 12th of this month. Mr. Wallace Wood has kindly given the use of the new Albert block.

President Cleveland is reported to be in for improved health. He will be able to resume his duties to-day at the White House.

Three Rivers, Quebec, Has New Station

Citizens of Three Rivers, Quebec, regard the recent inauguration of the new Canadian Pacific Railway Station as marking a new epoch in the life of their city inasmuch as it affords proof of the status already attained by Three Rivers as an industrial centre and of the greater prominence it is expected to occupy in the future. The new station building is the most up-to-date and magnificent of its kind in eastern Canada. Of its construction cost, not less than $200,000 represents the amount of money spent in Three Rivers.

Some idea as to the way Three Rivers has developed may be gathered from a few remarks made by E. J. Hebert, district general passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, in proposing a toast at the banquet that marked the official opening. "Until 1876 navigation was the only transportation facility" he said. "Then the Northern Railway was built between Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal, but it was not until 1906 that industries began to appear. With the opening of the St. Maurice Valley Railway trade developed rapidly. The towns of Shawinigan Falls, Grand Mere, Cap de la Madeleine, La Gabelle, small hamlets in 1900, have become important industrial centres now and is still growing."

Victorian Nurse Submits Her Report

Miss Shand, R.N., Tells of Her Recent Work in Belleville

Miss Lillian Shand, R. N., Belleville's representative of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada has submitted her first monthly report which is very encouraging.

"During the last fifteen days," states Miss Shand, "my time has been mostly spent in getting acquainted with the people of Belleville and Belleville itself. In that time I have visited the doctors, some of the clergy, the Kiwanians, the Metropolitan Agents, are of course used to the nursing service and so far most of my cases have been referred to me through them.

The statistical report is as follows: The free cases have been given under social agencies, one being in a pitiable and hopeless condition, another needing some help in getting ready for confinement; for which cases I will no doubt get the necessary help when I get in touch with the indigent committee.

As Miss Stevenson of Ottawa has just concluded her annual visit here much time was spent in conference with her.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank Mr W. Lattimer for putting in his window pictures sent me from Ottawa of the Victorian Order work in the various parts of Canada the ladies of the Board for their promptness in getting aprons and other supplies and also the Board in general for the interest they are taking in the work and the efforts they are putting forth to make the work a success.

Chathamites Like City Manager Plan

Placed in Operation May, 1922 and Proved Success

(By R. W. Angus.)

Chatham, Dec. 1.—Of more than usual interest to Londoners, who will vote on the question of the adoption of the present form of civic government in London, is the experience of their neighboring city to the west. The present civic city of Chatham in 1920 voted by a large majority, for a change from the old form of civic government to the form in which the citizens of London are to be given an opportunity of expressing themselves at their next civic elections. The actual securing of the assent of the citizens of Chatham was only a preliminary step to placing the new scheme in effectual operation. An investigation indicated that either who passed only a local by-law outlining the system did not go far enough and that a committee of the town could easily be carried out by which the system might be adopted to place the scheme on an efficient footing. The committee appointed was called an "Act" and a special bill which was called an "Act" respecting the City of Chatham" which was assented to by the Ontario Legislature in April, 1921. This act of Parliament gave the citizens the right to adopt a system of municipal government by a smaller elected Council who were to be elected from the city at large, and to employ a general administrative head of the city, who was to be known as the city manager.

The City of Chatham Act also placed the date of municipal elections as the first Monday in December. The City Council was to be composed of a mayor and seven aldermen. Four aldermen and the mayor were to be elected for two years and the three other aldermen for one year. The duties of the city manager and his responsibility were laid by the Council as closely as to decide.

The new form of civic government was placed in operation in May, 1922, and the Council appointed Mr. C. B. Fuller, a graduate of the University of Toronto, and the former city engineer, as city manager.

To date it has evidently made good in the opinion of the majority of the citizens of Chatham. There were, however, several details which it was found advisable to change after the new form had been functioning for a year. For instance, it was deemed advisable to advance the date of elections to the first Monday in December, and also to elect the mayor for a one-year term instead of two. These amendments were made with the idea of enabling a greater interest in civic elections and are similar to what is proposed for London.

Proved Success

The Council-manager form of civic control has now been in operation in Chatham for two and a half years. Its success has been greatly due to the perfect understanding in its operation between the members of the city council and the city manager. In order that the people will not lose control of their own business, the business should be fully charged by the Council at their pleasure. Also in order that the scheme may function properly the city manager must be given a free hand to administer the city's organization.

The City Council decides on the general policies of the city and instructs the manager as to carrying out these policies, but do not instruct him how to carry them out. The manager may advise on the policies, but he must do what he is told to do and carry out the policies of the city in the most efficient way possible. He is nonpolitical. He is appointed by the City Council and appoints all other civic employees except the city auditor.

The result of the plan in Chatham may be stated generally as follows:

SMITH, MATTHEWS HAVE CHOICE TASKS

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Peter Smith and Charles Matthews, Jr., former provincial treasurer and his deputy, have now been assigned to regular tasks in the penitentiary service, according to word reaching Toronto yesterday.

Smith, who spent some time in the prison hospital after his arrival, there from Toronto, has been placed in the library, where he has about ten thousand volumes and the prisoners as his charges. He walks from his home, Smith and the other men in the library, four times daily.

Matthews has been placed in the bookbinding department and will assist T. D. Smith, the prison accountant. This position, like that of Smith's, is considered one of the choicest tasks assigned to prisoners in the penitentiary.

It is found that the people may fix responsibility for the administration of the policies decided upon by the City Council, who are their elected representatives.

Business methods work in greater harmony with each other and city employees get better satisfaction, because they are answerable to the same person.

The individual members of the Council get a realization of executive details and is more free to give his mind to the general policies of the city as expressed by public opinion.

The political head of the city is restricted through the mayor. The administration of the city is in trained hands on account of the permanency of the administrator who is able to carry out policies extending over a period of years.

There is a centralized civic purchasing department similar to that of a private business. It allows a closer check on accounts and speeds up city business.

It does not necessarily mean a lower tax rate, but the Council-manager form of government gives to the taxpayer value for every cent that is spent.

Not an Experiment

Today there are approximately 5,000,000 people on the American continent governed by the Council-manager plan of civic government. There are 344 cities and towns operating under this plan, of which 24 are in Canada. Chatham has the honor of being the first city in the Province of Ontario to adopt the plan by special act of Parliament. The City of Chatham land has adopted the plan lately, as the merchantile, foreign and other trade the plan is adaptable to the larger cities as well as the small ones. The rapidly growing profession of city manager has come to the front in the last ten years and today there are many trained, non-political, civic administrators engaged in this work.

The plan is not an experiment, as may be seen by its growth. The citizens of Chatham are not asked to vote on a form of government that does not bring many difficult conditions and has come out on top with the satisfaction of all good citizens, as a success and as an example to other municipalities.

Efficiency. It is quite evident to all that the success or failure of a civic administration depends very largely upon the caliber of the men entrusted with the civic affairs. In this respect Chatham has been singularly fortunate. In City Manager Fuller the people of this city have an administrator of exceptional ability, and one of the great reasons why the system has been a great success up here is the fact that a man of Mr. Fuller's ability and attainments is at the head of it.

Deer Had Eight Legs, Pivot Head

New Brunswick Animal Shows Remarkable Natural Gear Shift

Bathurst, N.B., Dec. 2.—A young deer equipped with eight legs, two heads and the prisoners an extra pair of hands, is the latest freak of nature to be added to the museum of which Dr. Matthews has been placed in the bookbinding department and will assist T. D. Smith, the prison accountant. This position, like that of Smith's, is considered one of the choicest tasks assigned to prisoners in the penitentiary.

It is found that the people may fix responsibility for the administration of the policies decided upon by the City Council, who are their elected representatives.

Business methods work in greater harmony with each other and city employees get better satisfaction, because they are answerable to the same person.

The individual members of the Council get a realization of executive details and is more free to give his mind to the general policies of the city as expressed by public opinion.

The political head of the city is restricted through the mayor. The administration of the city is in trained hands on account of the permanency of the administrator who is able to carry out policies extending over a period of years.

There is a centralized civic purchasing department similar to that of a private business. It allows a closer check on accounts and speeds up city business.

It does not necessarily mean a lower tax rate, but the Council-manager form of government gives to the taxpayer value for every cent that is spent.

Not an Experiment

Today there are approximately 5,000,000 people on the American continent governed by the Council-manager plan of civic government. There are 344 cities and towns operating under this plan, of which 24 are in Canada. Chatham has the honor of being the first city in the Province of Ontario to adopt the plan by special act of Parliament. The City of Chatham land has adopted the plan lately, as the merchantile, foreign and other trade the plan is adaptable to the larger cities as well as the small ones. The rapidly growing profession of city manager has come to the front in the last ten years and today there are many trained, non-political, civic administrators engaged in this work.

The plan is not an experiment, as may be seen by its growth. The citizens of Chatham are not asked to vote on a form of government that does not bring many difficult conditions and has come out on top with the satisfaction of all good citizens, as a success and as an example to other municipalities.

Efficiency. It is quite evident to all that the success or failure of a civic administration depends very largely upon the caliber of the men entrusted with the civic affairs. In this respect Chatham has been singularly fortunate. In City Manager Fuller the people of this city have an administrator of exceptional ability, and one of the great reasons why the system has been a great success up here is the fact that a man of Mr. Fuller's ability and attainments is at the head of it.

SANG TO CONVICTS

London Dec. 2—The singing of the Hon. Dorothy Paget Lord Queensboro ough's daughter delighted 500 convicts at Wormwood Scrubs prison the other day. "It wouldn't be possible to have a more appreciative audience," said the young singer, who has only recently left school. "They love music and best of all my pathetic air, though it makes many of them weep."

QUARANTINE LIFTED FOR SOME AT O.S.D.

The following budget news from the Ontario School for the Deaf is taken from "The Canadian Deaf," the paper published in Belleville to teach printing to some of the pupils of the school:

"I am going to tell you some news about the school which I think would be valuable to the pupils' parents and also to people who are interested in our school. The most important thing is the spirit of the school people is the separate not of all the sick pupils, but also the senates (cases) of them, so that now they can enjoy going to Queen Saturday afternoons since the quarantine period. The Hoorbie Mc'Gee Minister of Mines for Ontario, was a welcome visitor to the school last week. He called at every class of the classes and stayed for a few minutes to see them work. I was glad to see the quality of our work and that he was pleased with it. Mr. Campbell's class have made up on the skating rink and all the pupils enjoy it very much. Also in frost coming and are hoping they will have some fine skating for the city boys soon. It is too late in the season now to play football, but we may will soon be taking its place and the boys are already to practice for the Canadian school a couple of weeks ago.

"Mr. Fraser and Mr. Campbell's and Miss Deanard's classes are doing fine and there seems to be no one absent.

Letters To The Editor

MORE ON UNION

Editor of the Daily Intelligencer,

Belleville, Ontario.

Dear Sir:—With all due to his denial, I have found about the Methodists, and Presbyterians" opposed to Church Union, will you grant the privilege of at least a partial rejoinder to some of their statements?

Then at once turning to the questionable character of Methodism, etc. Who were the leading scholars in the Church of England previous to those who introduced, what was then termed Higher Criticism, and opened our doors to Modernism—into the English speaking world?

To make clear. It is said on reliable authority that German Rationalism, and the Old Testament mainly originated in an effort to conform the conception of Scripture to the scientific philosophy of Hegel, and the questions raised were, could these be reconciled without seriously affecting those facts of Christianity in which the Church has always believed? Or, in other words, have these vital forces of Christianity in fact been the key of the Reform?

In reviewing some of these theories, it is found, that Professor Robertson Smith, Canon Cheyne, and Canon Driver were the leading Old Testament critics who introduced, or were among the first to introduce, into the English speaking world, the views of Wellhausen, Robertson, Smith, Cornill and Briggs. Briggs, Robertson Smith and Driver. (Observe Rev. Dr. E. H. Dewart was not only an outspoken but a bold defender of the Christian Guardian for many years, but also one of the great men of Canada.)

Then Sir, it is evident Presbyterians in the broad Protestantism of Dr. Robertson Smith, and the Anglicans by Canon Cheyne and Canon Driver, must bear the onus of introducing Modernism into the English speaking world, because the latter part of the century recently left behind, and which our Methodist friends are creating all these unsavory distinctions among the Churches that are uniting to meet the religious and national problems of our country more adequately.

Again it might be of some assistance to those that Prof. Gronee Adam Smith, the late Marcus Dodds, and Prof. Mc-Fadyen, formerly, of Knox College, Toronto, belong to the same School of Theological Thought.

In view of the foregoing brief sum-mary, it would be some what difficult for those who stigmatism Methodism—as an Apostate Church— to link up the followers of Wesley too strongly with those who have made overtures of friendship with the Faith and Scripture once delivered to the Saints.

Methodism may have some Modernists of different shades, but so has Presbyterianism and Her Modernistic Teachings! How far have they invaded the Presbyterian Pulpits as well as the libraries housed within Her Colleges?

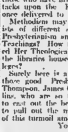

Surely here is a "Spur of hope" for Here good Presbyterians, Allan Thompson, James Craig, and W. J. Colville, who are so fearful that the Church to cut out the beam before they seek to pull out the mote—and carry out of this turmoil among Christian people.

Yours truly,

Thomas Wickett.

Music Teacher Goes Down Six Months

Pawned the Violins of His Pupils; Had Five Tickets

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Anthony Philipoff, a music teacher, proved himself to be more interested in the instruments of his profession than in its art. He is a smooth-looking young foreigner who has specialized among violins. Philipoff invades the violin, which must be owned by his pupils. Previously, upon the pretext of borrowing the violin for the purpose of comparing its tone with their instruments, takes the pupil's violin away and pawns it.

Charged with the theft of a violin from a suspicious pupil, Philipoff was found by Detective-Sergt. Waters, to have five pawn tickets for violins in his possession. Others for these instruments haven't been found yet, but are asked to get in touch with the police.

Before being sentenced to six months, Philipoff said he was hard up and had no intention of stealing or selling the instruments, and that when some pupils who owed him money for lessons paid him, he intended to get the instruments out of hock and return them to their owners. The specific theft with which he was charged was that Miss Audrey Cooke, whose child's able violin he had pawned for $3.50, including case and bow, Crown-Attorney Murphy recalled that last year Philipoff had been a similar charge in respect of a batch of five violins. Mr. Jones made the sentence six months, and decline dto listen to pleas for leniency.

SIGN BOARDS ARE OF ANCIENT ORIGIN

The first use of the sign-board is not recorded in history. in authentic history of all time, and away back into the wondrous world history which is still mythical, is found recorded the use of the sign board.

Sign boards, both carved and painted ed, have been discovered in the ruins of Pompeii and Herculeanum. Incidentally, some of them are in an excellent state of preservation. The ancient Egyptians used sign boards. One widely recognized sign which was used very considerably by the Romans was a bush, indicating a tavern. This sign continued practically to the present use still about the beginning of the seventeenth century, the placing of signs against the wall of a building came into vogue, and at the beginning of the eighteenth century the numbering of houses was introduced.

And so through the ages, from father back thank the days of the Britain and Chaldeans we find the use of signs right down to the present time. The most modern and up-to-date sign painting may be had now in Belleville for "Ad" Sign Shop Studio" 140 Front street is prepared to serve your needs in this regard.

Boston Team Takes First From Munro

Came From Behind For 2 to 1 Victory at Home

Boston, December 2.— Professional hockey was inaugurated in the United States for 1924 to the tunes of "Oh Say Can You See" and the "Star Spangled Banner" while the crowd at the Boston Arena stood bare-headed.

Montreal		Boston
Benedict	Goal	Fowler
D. Munro	L. Defence	Redding
Cain	R. Defence	Herberts
Lowrey	Centre	Hendley
Berlinguette	L. Wing	Harris
Brossard	R. Wing	Skinner

Boston subs: Mitchell, Schnarr, Cooper, Cook, Rowe.

Montreal subs: Scott, Dinsmore, Rothschild, Carroll, G. Munro.

The Bruins gained the battle at the outset. Harris and Skinner rallying p to the Montreal cage, but Benedict was an clery goalie and tossed them back. Dune Munro took up the attack, and with Berlinguette skated down, only to be repulsed. Then Dinsmore came in as a substitute, slipped through the Boston defence, and after nine minutes of play poked the puck at Fowler. The goalie stopped it, but was drawn out of position, and the substitute following through to good effect, snapped in the disc for the initial counter.

Headley gave Benedict a high shot a moment later; then Skinner slapped the puck at him and there was a melee in front of the Montreal cage with everybody in action, it seemed.

Fowler had to lay down to stop one from Lowrey and there was some stiff body-checking. Redding was put off for shaking and Harris followed him to the pen a moment later. The period ended with the players a bit weary, and Montreal leading 1 to 0.

Second Period

After a successful rink-long dribble by Skinner, Montreal, with Cain and Brossard quite passing, came up in the Bruin goal, but Fowler turned back Cain's corner shot.

Then Boston went in to tie it up. Carson Cooper, replacing Dune Munro, passed to Smoky Harris; he fenitted, then shot and Benedict felt the opening that Harris' stazler found. The score was tied.

Cooper pressed on and Benedict had to stop two more in the next minute.

In the next minute of two, Cooper, Herberts and Hendley teamed up to fresh attack. A pass from Hendley to Cooper, cross-rink, gave the boiler a chance for a hot shot that went in waist high. Boston was ahead, 2 to 1.

The competition became keener and penalties and substitutions were frequent. With Harris, Skinner and Hendley all off at one time. Boston had only two men beside the goalie. The scoring efforts by Dune Munro and Berlinguette were beaten back, Broadbent snapped one shot at Fowler that he stopped with his stick handle.

Cooper and Skinner were the active forces in another rush just before the end of the period. Cooper shot was stopped just before the end of the period.

Seven end second period, Boston 2, Montreal 1.

There was no scoring in the third.

Petes' Finances Are In Bad Shape

Baseballers Receive Help From City Council; Statement Sent In

Peterboro, Dec. 2.—Peterboro Baseball Association, reporting heavy financial losses through an unsuccessful season in the Central League, applied for the assistance of the City Council, and $250 was remitted from the amount of $750, due on the lease of Riverside Park from the city.

"Through errors in judgment," the executive wrote, "and circumstances beyond the control of the association, the baschall season of 1924 has been a decided financial failure, having cost each member of the association approximately $120 out of his own pocket." There is still outstanding aggregate $2,200.

The city reserve prodocer at Riverside, Park, in the senior baseball team, the executive continued, and other leagues were allowed the use of the park free of charge. If the city insists on payment immediately as has been requested, each member of the association would be compelled to contribute his share of the $750.

"We freely admit that, due to mismanagement, the park finances, although not large, have been carelessly handled, but we believe that with the help of the Council it is a condition which can be remedied in another season."

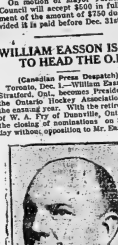

A statement could not be published, the executive said, but the books are open to inspection by any member of the Council. The application before the committee came from Messrs. W. E. Phelan, F. E. Convey, R. Wright, T. H. Hooper and I. W. Starr, but Alderman Phelan, Chairman of the Finance Committee, objected to the inclusion of his name, declaring that he has nothing to do with the management.

On motion of Mayor Turner, the Council will accept $500 in full payment of the amount of $750 due, provided it is paid before Dec. 31st.

GAME IS TOO SLOW ENGLISHMAN SAYS

London, Dec. 2.—Baseball is too artificial, a writer for the London Field wrote in a criticism of the games played recently by the White Sox and the Giants in London.

He objected to the meaningless remarks and gestures of the players, and the coach and the makeup of the umpire and asked the reason for the big gloves the players wore.

"Too many interesting things happen that don't count," he wrote. "The batter can only run and score from the 4in in front of him and one is constantly seeing the most beautiful square cuts, pulls and strokes which send the ball to a terrific height behind the batter all to no purpose. This combined with the fact that many of the bowls were either missed or not approved by the umpire as fair, makes the progress of the game really comparatively slow."

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Jeanne was one of the many children in New Ontario who travel miles each day to school. Fair weather or foul, Jeanne was always there. Her friends eager for the little bit of education possible for them. Fifteen years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed the best of health during that time. Six of those years she had spent in going to and from school. Then she left home and at odd times worked here and there to earn a little money.

One day she was caught in a fierce storm on her way home from school. Before long a terrible cough set in. Jeanne's health was completely broken. Of course it was impossible for her to try the entrance examinations. "Another year, perhaps, but certainly not now," said the doctor.

Now she is resting at the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. Her young shyness still remains, her curly, fair hair refuses to behave, while her blue eyes with the aid of her fine radiate cheer and hope. "Sorry says Jeanne, "I'm going to Heaven soon." ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THE

"It is near enough," she said, with a shake of her head, giving a little heavy sigh, nearly avowal.

"And that enough of the marquis," he said. "We've forgotten quite as impolitely as possible, it seems to me, dear Marsilia, Doris!"

She started slightly.

"Indeed? Is she unmarried. "Ah, yes!"

"Ha," said Lord Neville. "Now, I write that sentence quite as much as I do my cracks, and I feel at last sure that I shall get it. You see, with all deference to you, sweetheart—"

Sweetheart! She whispered the word to herself and glowed over it.

"I'm not, in all points, the very best kind of young man for a husband, and one how suddenly it would come upon him! How unprepared! Is not so, dear Marsilia, Doris!"

Then he grew faintly troubled. "Let'rup refuse!" she said almost to herself. "I—c. Not I—"

"Not if you intended for it very much?" he said, divining her meaning. "I see. And I'm not conceited, don't imagine any man story-hearted enough to refuse you anything, and such as you are. Then, look here, Doris, I'll speak with you and see him."

"The trouble on her face grew more marked.

"I hate suspense and delay, and, well, I want to feel sure, quite sure, that you are very, very sure. Come, behind me going home with you and telling him straight out so you!"

She was silent a moment, then she looked at him hesitatingly.

"No, no," she said. She stopped. "I think I would rather see him first. I—could tell him. Ah, no! I would see how suddenly it would come upon him! How unprepared! Is not so, he nodded.

"You haven't told him anything about me?"

"No," she said, and her eyes were downcast. "You have not told him he would be so surprised and—I will see him first and tell him."

"All right," he said. "Then to-morrow?"

"Yet, to-morrow," she said, with a little sigh of relief. "I wish I could tell you all he has been to me from tender and loving—father, mother, brother! Ah, I have had no one else but him in the world, and he has devoted all his life to me!"

"I will never forget that," said Lord Neville, gravely, "and I will try and thank him to-morrow! Yes, I can understand how hard it will seem to him to have to lose you. But, Doris, he need not do that. He has stood in a father's place to you; he shall not cast him from it, or separate you from him. There's room in Belgrave Square for yours for both of us, isn't there?"

She turned to him as if moved by an irresistible impulse, and held out her hands, and her eyes were full of tears.

"If I had not loved you until this moment, I should now," she said in a low voice.

Of course, he captured the little quivering hands, and they sat in silence for a few minutes or two. Then suddenly she started.

"I—I must!" she exclaimed. "I had forgotten. There is a rehearsal," and she sprang to her feet. "No, no!" pressing her hands on his shoulders. "You must not come—not an inch of the way. It must to be alone. I think—to think!" She stopped, with a little, fond look, and smiled down at him.

"Oh, if you are tired of me—he said, with a loving mockery. "To-morrow, Doris, in the morning!"

"Yes, to-morrow—ah, what a long time!" she whispered, almost inaudibly. "Let me think. If I cannot come—there are a few days—"

He looked disapointed—man like.

"I shall be here" he said, "and I'll wait all and all day long."

She laughed softly, her eyes dwelling upon his lordship.

"Without your lunch or your dinner? That would be foolish. I will—I will come and I am not here, leave some message for you. She bowed low. "Write me a word, and put it under this big stone in the garden."

"All right" he said. "But you will come, I'll see in the morning, in the afternoon—sometime! Remember, I am to see your guardian to-morrow!"

"Yes," she said. "But do you remember, dear, I am not my own master, Lord Neville—that I belong to the public?"

"Indeed, Miss Marlowe!" he said, retorting the formality upon her. "I was under the impression you belonged to me!"

"Ah, yes," she murmured, with downcast eyes, as he held her in his arms.

"You've forgotten one part of the ceremony," he said. "People when they are engaged exchange rings after a ring. I wasn't conceited enough to think that you'd listen to me, or I would have brought one."

"Have mine," she said. Then, suddenly, she disengaged her hand, and held it up, and awstruk drew from her finger a quaint old silver ring. "See," she said, the color stealing into her face. "Will you have that?"

"I will !" he said, taking it, hand and all.

"What a small hand you have," she said inadvertently. "It is too large for your little finger; you had better give it back to me."

"I will be a bad day for me when I do," he said, grimly. "for I should be limp and cold."

"For faithless," she said, with a smile.

Then before he could retort, she touched his lips with hers, murmured his name, and was gone.

He watched her until Lo sight, then, with a loving mockery, then went slowly to his horse, mounted, and rode slowly away.

A minute or so afterward a lady and gentleman came out from among the trees, the gentleman was Sir Spencer Churchill, the lady—Lady Grace.

He were his usual blase, bored-look smile. Intenabled, if anything, in his manner and style, than ever before Churchill, the lady—Lady Grace was white almost to the lips, and there was a look of horror, Hp, and breathing heavily.

James F. Murphy and Harold Moore of Windsor were found guilty in county criminal court at Windsor of armed robbery from four aliens near the village of Sombra on September 21. Murphy was sentenced to six months. The two men had contracted to smuggle four aliens across the river to the U. S. Instead they lined up the trusting Hungarians on the river bank and, while one held a revolver the other went through the men's pockets, taking $37.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

Lois Wilson Has Her Greatest Role

In "The Covered Wagon" Running at the Griffin Now

One of the greatest roles she has ever had? That is what Lois Wilson has in James Cruze's production of "The Covered Wagon," a new Paramount picture which is running at the Griffin theatre now. The picture is said to be one of the finest ever arranged.

Molly Wingate—if you have read Emerson Hough's novel, you'll never forget her. Pretty Molly! A daughter of the pioneer days—forced to face the terrific struggle against the wilderness and its inhospitable savages when the West was still unwon.

Miss Wilson is ideally cast. She is Molly Wingate to the life in temperament, appearance and character, and her portrayal will be hailed as one of the real artistic achievements of the screen.

Miss Wilson rides a spirited horse which runs away with her and later is caught in a prairie fire from which she is rescued by the hero, the incident being one of the most thrilling in the action of the picture. There isn't a dull moment in the whole picture as far as photoplay.

J. Warren Kerrigan plays the role of Will Bonion 'major undry Donighan' in the Mexican war, cary of manner, courteous and brave. The other roles are filled by players of peculiar ability.

Social Items

Mr. E. J. Tanner of Toronto is a visitor in town.

A meeting was held recently at Alva Craig in the interests of church work. Fine speakers were Rev. Dr. Beattie and Col. C. M. R. Graham, of London. The choir of First Presbyterian church furnished the music.

Star is Queen of Mythical Kingdom

In "Forbidden Paradise" at Belle Theatre Now

Pola Negri's new Paramount picture, "Forbidden Paradise" is the feature at the Belle Theatre tonight. It's an Ernst Lubitsch production and features Rod La Rocque, Adolphe Menjou and Paulina Starke. Lubitsch was loaned to Paramount by Warner Brothers.

The story, adapted by Agnes Christine Johnston and Hans Kraly from the stage success, "The Czarina," brings the star to the screen in the role of a queen of a mythical kingdom in the Balkans. "Forbidden Paradise" is Lubitsch's first production with Pola in the starring role to be made in this country—and it's a real triumph for both star and director!

Gorgeous gowns, priceless jewels, wonderful settings—Pola's right in her glory in this one. The star and producer, it would have made a never-to-be-forgotten entertainer in "Forbidden Paradise."

There's an A-1 cast playing in support.

"Consumption Is No Respecter of Persons"

It is one of the distressing, haunting facts of life that consumption, dreaded consumption, does literally "respect no person" and that no one is safe from it. Only a few years ago a beautiful young woman, a leader in Toronto University, while she was a student in Toronto University, while she was a leader in Toronto society, while she had what was believed to be a "cold" (which was the beginning of consumption.)

Her family physician, a family man, near about ill, and is particularly well versed in this matter, when his home is in Western Ontario. Harry's brother is consumptive, and Harry has been "in" with him. Harry knew that he must book to school last fall, that he must get back to work. But the examination revealed consumption, so Harry resigned from his position, packed up a few belongings and—"Consumption is no respecter of persons," he said, "and I'm not sick, only run-down—that's all." Harry is a lumberman, and he has been in the woods for years while a good home surroundings, which have been his for since birth. I can't understand it, he can you?" And with that Harry smiled a little and retires down to his cabin to spend the winter with the stricken brother.

Harry and Jim are but two of the many who are at present under the expendent on the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. The Hospital relies on the generosity of its friends for support.

Most notable was the standing in the single ear competition for region one, usually won by Illinois and Iowa. This year Alfred Pouncy of Dassel, Minn., took the blue ribbon and J. B. Waugh of Chatham, Ont.) was 5th 3lore than fifty were entered.

In the ten ear corn, Grand contest in region one, John Anderson of Cokato, Minn., took first, and second went to William W. Weaver of Turnerville, Ont.

Two other Ontario entries placed, Dan Wright of Petrolia at fourth, and W. J. Davis of Florence took the seventh and eighth positions.

The first results in the sheep judging this morning indicate that Canada is the class to beat in that class. In the class for a wether one year and under two, the first ribbon went to Canadian Bros. Parkinson of Gorrish took 5th and James Scott of Glenburnie third. In the class for a pen of three wethers one year and under two, the first and second and Parkinson third.

The entry from the E. P. ranch of A. Richard Wales in Alberta, winning "The King of the Fairies", took 4th place in his class for shorthorn bulls calved before September 1, 1920. He was the only Canadian entry in a class of more than 35.

Town Celebrates Citizen's Birthday

Mrs. Daniel Johnston is One Hundred Years Old

Brown's Corners, Dec. 2—If Scarboro healthy had been united by a great royal diplomat, and in its humble way had bestowed upon him the honorary title of "the city," the arrangements for his reception could not have been better executed than those prepared to mark, not only the township's pat Ontario's, congratulations to mark the heralding of the 100th birthday of Scarboro's oldest, pioneer living descendant, Mrs. Daniel Johnston (nee Jemima Wilson) who was born bred and resided all her life in the vicinity of Brown's Corners where the celebration took place Sunday at the home of her son, James Johnston, a prominent farmer of that section.

Premier Pays Tribute

The auspicious occasion was very fittingly observed and was marked by the presence of the Premier of Ontario, The Hon. Howard Ferguson, who accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson, presented as a token of esteem from the province a large basket of flowers. Other floral tributes came from the Women's Hydro Club, Brown's Women's Institute, members of the I.O.D.E. and many other friends. Many friends so numerous that the quaint little home was overcrowded all day. Lord bower, while several birthday cakes, each containing 100 candles, silently pointed out that a century had flown.

During the day hundreds of the representatives of Scarboro's oldest families, several of the early pioneers, most by all carrying some little emblem or token in the form of a birthday gift filed through the rooms to pay tribute to the "mother of Scarboro." In all the centenarian greeted and extended her hand to more than 300 callers. The Scarboro Military Band, under the direction of Clifford Andrews rendered many sacred solos as friend met friend.

"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes:

"During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent micturition, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

FIGHT THE CORN BORER

How to Deal With This Very Troublesome Pest

Plough the Field Thoroughly—Leave Stubble and All Other Remnants Buried—Grow Dent Corn Instead of Flint—Try a Trap Crop.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The methods of control are simple, inexpensive and all encouraging to good farm practices, says Prof. L. Caesar of the Department of Entomology, Ontario Agricultural College. To get a clear idea of this pest it is necessary to keep in mind that the borers winter over and remain until the end of May in any part of the corn plant above ground large enough to conceal them. Hence they will be found in the stalks, stubble, cobs, or any remnants of the crop left in the field or elsewhere. They will also be to some extent in stout weeds growing among the corn. Control measures, therefore, consist mainly in so treating these that the borers will be destroyed. If there is a silo this is easy, for all that is necessary then is to cut the crop low, ensile it, plough the stubble under completely and not drag it up again when cultivating. The cutting knives and fermentation kill all the borers that go into the silo, and the plough effectually destroys all left in the field, provided everything is kept beneath the furrows.

Plough the Field Thoroughly.

If there is no silo, or the silo will not hold all the corn, the task is sometimes a little harder. In such cases the field must be thoroughly ploughed after the crop has been removed. In addition the stubble must be practiced of disposing of the husks and ears as well. The best plan is to run all of them through a shredder before storing the crop, and the all they will eat, throw the remainder into the manure pile with the chaff and plough it under before the end of May. If for any reason the stalks are fed whole, the uneaten portion should not be thrown out into the manure, but should be kept separate and drawn out and burned. It is better to have the remnants than to plough them under, because it is hard to cover them completely with the plough. The great point to keep in mind is that no stalks, pieces of stalks or even cobs should be left lying around in the field or along fences or in the barn or the barnyard or anywhere else. Moreover, all burning or ploughing must be completed by the end of May, for otherwise the borers will change into moths, fly around, and lay their eggs. (The moths appear in June and July).

Leave Stubble and Other Remnants Buried.

Ploughing down of the stubble and other corn remnants plays a great part in the control of the borers, but to be effective what is ploughed under must not be dragged up again when cultivating the field, but must be left buried, for if they are dragged up many borers will escape destruction. An example of this occurred this year in a field in Elgin County, where much of the ploughed stubble was dragged up by a toothed cultivator. In this field over 16,000 live borers were found. If the stubble had been left undisturbed almost every borer would have perished. Hence the cultivation of the field should not be done with a toothed implement but with a disc, and a disc drill, if possible, used in sowing. Should, however, some of the stubble be brought up it will pay well, and will not take much time to pick and burn.

The ploughing should be done with a wide-furrower plough, and should be to a depth of at least six inches. It may be done either in the fall or the spring, but if in the fall the earlier the better.

Often the stubble cannot be covered completely unless it is first rolled or disced, or both rolled and disced. In an arena cases unless a split log or leveller is run on it it is bound to fall or loosen or pull it apart. This especially true when the corn has been planted in hills or has been cut high or beaten down by storms.

Grow Dent Corn and Not Flint.

In the parts of the country where the borers are numerous it would be advisable for a time to grow dent corn instead of flint, because it is stouter and so withstands attacks better.

A Trap Crop Will Be of Benefit.

It will also help greatly in such places if a trap crop of Hubbard or sample, Mammoth — consisting of about a dozen rows is planted about the middle of May and the planting of the main crop postponed until June 1st or as late as possible with- out running any risk. The borers then will lay their eggs chiefly on the early corn and leave the main crop largely uninfested. The trap rows should be cut low in August and fed to the cattle or otherwise destroyed.

The above measures involve only a small amount of extra work for any farmer. The corn crop is well worth this, and therefore we hope that each farmer will gladly do his part and encourage his neighbor to do likewise. Now that conditions have all been discovered and made possible the profession of saving the industry lies with the farmers themselves.

When horses went out of fashion in some parts of the country, they took horse sense with them.

It isn't always necessary to rebuild a farm house to make it more attractive. Paint and shrubbery will work wonders.

A good farm paper is a cheap and effective correspondence school of agriculture. You can get more knowledge for your money in subscribing to a worthy agricultural paper than anywhere else in the world.

The Detroit News wisely remarks that it is not the original cost of a dirigible that counts; its keeping it up.

ELECT WHITLEY SPEAKER

(Canadian Press Despatch)
London, Dec. 2.—Recently elected House of Commons assembled this afternoon and unanimously elected John H. Whitley as Speaker. Mr. Whitley has been Speaker of House since April 1922.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in the head or catarrh is gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

"I'll Be Home Soon, Mother," Writes Sammy

Sammy is a keen little lad. He thinks much younger than he really is, picks up things much more quickly than most boys of his age. For the past two years he worked in a foundry after school hours. His father worked beside him and helped him master the art of pouring metals and moulding sand. Sammy received a sore side but his people didn't worry much. "It'll be all right in the morning," mother said. "Rub and take a rest." But he was not right in the morning, nor the morning after. Sammy was ill. He was ill for more than four weeks before he was finally operated upon. The trouble was appendicitis. Sammy is now in the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. He keeps the other patients in good humor with his pleasant smile and his quaint stories of French Canada, where he spent his boyhood days. He writes to his mother regularly and he wrote to her last letter: and he probably will be, for he is making splendid progress.

The Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives is supported entirely by Christmas Seal contributions, and a very large measure reliant upon public generosity for its funds to carry on its work.

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

New Church Tail To Methodist Kite

Says Dr. S. Banks Nelson to People of Brockville

Brockville, Dec. 2.—The Methodists think they are putting it over on you, and they think that you have got to take a pig stuck into you to wake you up to the fact that the church is going to be put to the Methodist kite. There's going to be no union at all. I do advise you and most earnestly say, without any interest at issue, that the hour has come for ministers to be taken down a peg. We should we commit the sin of our fathers to a gangway that is creaking at every step, that seems shaking, and that the cement of the people is stirred up against? God grant that I may have the joy of leaving in Hamilton that the Presbyterian churches of the Brockville district are uniting Presbyterian until God shows them something better."

The foregoing passage are extracted from an address of almost two hours duration, delivered in Victoria Hall Friday evening by Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson of Knox Church, Hamilton, one of the leaders of the anti-Union element of the Presbyterian church, that, in spite of bitter opposition from the pulpit and vigorous delivery, exceeded any that has been made in Brockville since the Union controversy soon to be closed with the votes of the different Presbyterian congregations. Dr. Nelson spoke with great freedom and delighted his audience by his personality also. He was particularly emphatic in his reference to Rev. Dr. Jeffrey of Paterson. Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, Rev. Dr. B. D. Thomas, Rev. Dr. Gow, W. Gordon, all prominent in the advocacy of union.

WAS STRUCK BY BELLEVILLE TRUCK

Oshawa, Dec. 1.—Wm. Farrow, Knox Corners, was injured near Whitby on Friday night when a truck owned by the Belleville-Toronto Transportation Company, ran into a team of horses hitched to a heavy wagon he was driving, and turned it over into a ditch, one of the horses being seriously injured, while Mr. Farrow himself is badly shaken up and will only be able to walk with a cane for some little time. Inspector Arthur Hughes, who conducted an investigation, is charging the driver, Bert Silver, 256 Albert street, Belleville, with reckless driving, without brake and driving without having received his chauffeur's license.

Wellander Solves Housing Problem

Foreigner Dug Home in Mother Earth on Government Land

Welland, Dec. 1.—Joseph Bachus, aged 51, Hungarian by birth, is the only man in Welland who has solved the housing problem on a basis where its cost is nil. Joseph has lived in Welland about 18 years and in Welland proper about six years. Being employed with the mines of a family, and finding employment more or less intermittent, he turned to Mother Earth to solve the question of shelter on a par with his income.

Last night Chief of Police Chabbert found the man snugly tucked into a hole he had dug for himself on the Government land skirting the canal. It was deep enough to accommodate the length of his body, and sloped comfortably downward. This he had lined with rushes and had improvised a small door which he could pull to after he had first fitted into his earthly sleeping place.

According to the story he told to Magistrate Goodwin, Joseph had inhabited his narrow quarters for several months, and had refused the invitation of someone knowing his place of abode, to be separated from that mate of sleeping quarters would eventually prove a grave for cold in three remarks, when the police interrupt his peaceful existence.

More comfortable sleeping quarters were prepared for Joseph in the County Jail for the next ten days, at least.

During the inquest which Coroner Dr. Ross held on Saturday night, the stone came hurling through the window, and the jury, after a search low on the east wall, and rebounded to the south wall, found the stone. Later it lay on the floor until Detective William Lang and William Carey appointed to investigate.

The buyers, it is said, shipped three carloads last Saturday after the banks had closed and gave cheques in payment, and it was not discovered that the banks opened on Monday. CANADIAN SILVER FOXES GO OVERSEAS

London, Dec. 2.—Twenty pairs of silver foxes, just arrived from Canada, are now in spacious enclosures at the Little Ridding, 24 miles from Oxford. They are to be the nucleus of an English silver-fox breeding industry, Captain A. S. Robertson, a man of much experience in this industry, which is a valuable one in Canada, brought them over and sees no reason why this industry should not flourish in England.

The 40 pioneer foxes seem comfortable enough. They vary from almost black to a light silver grey, and the two sexes are paired with the same ones, to obtain the exact shade of silvery grey which is most favored for their furs by fashionable women.

Captain Robertson says he could not afford to lose one. A list of prices for pelts gives as best as £134, while the average price for a pelt is £80. The wire netting which encloses the foxes goes down two feet, in the ground, so he thinks there is not much danger of one of these valuable animals escaping into the open country.

$25,000 GRANT ASKED BY CITY FROM COUNTY

To Assist Parks Board in Completing Agricultural Grounds

THREE BUILDINGS

Cattle Shed and GrandStand Included; Ald. Greenleaf Talks

A grant of $25,000 from the County Council for the purpose of assisting the Parks Board of the city of Belleville in completing the recreation and agricultural grounds was a request made by Ald. H. W. Greenleaf this morning when he address ed the members of the County Council. The speaker stated that the grounds had been practically adjusted to the old Agricultural park and half mile track had been made. It is proposed to erect three buildings including grand stand and cattle shed, which would be used on an agricultural exhibition. He would ask the County Council to assist of this scheme by making a grant of $25,000. The City Council of Belleville had granted debentures to the extent of $50,000. The new proposition meant much for the County.

Dr. Embury spoke favorably of what the Parks Board of the city of Belleville was doing. Th) Council should at least give its moral support, as a good agricultural exhibition would mean much to the County.

"We have many fairs in Hastings County which might be eontinued," Mr. Embury said, referring to Thurlow, stated. Next Year's Cobourg might make a great be fair but the present exhibition should not do so in the dying days of the year.

On motion of Mr. W. E. Wiggins, seconded by Mr. G. Taylor, the request was referred to the January session.

Council resumed at 2.30, Warden C. B. Holmes, presiding.

Inspectors' Reports

Mr. H. J. Clarke, School Inspector, of Health Unit, informed the Council that the department of Education had placed vision cards on the walls of every rural schools as far as grants are concerned.

Hand-rails and s'eader was requested by Mr. James Carnegie, of Marmora. The matter was referred to a Committee.

Constable. He considered the Council should appoint later requisite.

Mr. J. Newton, River of Hungerford, stated the Police Constable at Tweed, who desired hand cuffs and a badge. County Clerk and High Constable Mitchell W. E. Nugent stated these requisites had never been supplied by the County.

The clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw revising the present by-law in regard to County Constables. The Clerk stated that they were at present acting pursuant to the list of constables who had died and others not living in the County. Good live constables should be selected in certain districts of the County, which would mean a better service.

Warden Rollins presented a lengthy report relative to his attendance at the Province of Ontario at a meeting in Toronto.

County Clerk Mr. W. E. Nugent presented the statutory report relative to his attendance at the annual convention of the Clerks and Treasurers' Association and what was done at the convention.

The report was received and adopted. Council adjourned until 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session

Warden C. B. Rollins presiding at afternoon session of the opening session of the December sittings of the County Council. Nearly all the members were in attendance. Honor in welcoming the members for the final session of this year's council stated that they had enjoyed a prosperous season and were filled with optimism. The County of Hastings has been very favored recently and the result should be of advantage to the County.

Economy has been pursued by the various farmers and the finances of the country were in good shape. The harvest of the season he hoped would be dealt with in such a manner as to get through as quickly as possible. He referred to the fact that through the efforts of Hon. R. J. Cooke the Trent Valley canal was not approved, would be forthcoming which meant a revenue to the county of between six thousand and seven thousand dollars which would be gratifying to members of the council.

After the reading of the minutes some communications were dealt with.

Clerk For Deseper

Mr. J. Tripp claimed damages from the County to the extent of $85 owing to the fact that on October 16, his threshing outfit went through a culvert, Sidney Township. The engine was damaged to a considerable extent.

Mr. P. McLaren, assistant Road Superintendent of the County stated that the fault lay with many who are engaged in threshing by not building culverts whilst going over them.

The Chairman stated that the matter as the council had not been notified of the accident in time for action to be taken. It occurred, according to law, should be allowed in offices into which it should be presented. The public will approve of the order as they have frequently been forced to pay damages for one building which was burnt on Mr. Straight's land making a demand on the chairman of roads and statutory superintendent.

Some accounts were presented and referred to ways and means committee.

Council adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

To John Wilson Who Burglarized Ritchie Company Store

John "Salty" Wilson who had plead ed guilty to two charges of having burglarized the Ritchie Company store and the Belleville Shoe Company store, was this morning sentenced to serve six months on each charge at the reformatory for Ontario, sentences to be concurrent.

Magistrate Manson remarked in passing sentence that while accused had not received the full stolen goods, yet he was a party to the burglary.

Mr. Ellis, counsel for accused asked for leniency because of his previous good character, and former ability to hold responsible positions in the city as a taxicab driver. Detail had been the cause of his diversion from the straight path, when he was led astray by others.

Barnard and Smith Are Granted Bail

Pending Appeal They Are Released on $100,000 Bail

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 3—C. A. Barnard of Montreal, under sentence of seven months imprisonment and Lieut. Col. T. B. Smith of Montreal under two years of six months in connection with the Canada Steamship Lines and the Home Bank of which they were directors, were this afternoon admitted to bail in $100,000 for Barnard, and $50,000 for Smith pending appeal and hearing of their cases before the Ontario Supreme Court. The order was made by Chief Justice Mulock of the Appellate Division of Court.

The Chief Justice in giving his decision read his reasons aited a review of the cases in question. He declared that it was not possible to lay down any hard and fast rule governing bail after conviction pending appeal. Bail should be said, unless there was a d innocent until they were proved guilty. If convictions were set aside it appeal it would be right to have given bail to the accused. He further declared that on each case must rest on its own merits. He did not think that the nature of the offence, character of the accused, or whether the court so a jury was in decision appealed. In his case they were not in doubt but substantial and men convicted of serious wrong-doing, and not engaged in legitimate callings in Montreal.

Barnard put in an affidavit stating 18 months and that there would on appeal be no delay with the case. The grave consequences unless he continued in business. He was married, had a wife living, D. McCarthy for Crown, Osmilbert consent to bail but did not object.

University Professor in States Has Added Cross-Word Puzzles to The Curriculum

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 3—A course in cross word puzzles has been added to the curriculum at the college of Engineering, University of Kentucky, it was announced by Dean P. Paul Anderson. Anderson says his opinion is that cross word puzzles are educational, scientific, instructive and mentally stimulating, as well as entertaining.

His senior students, therefore will hereafter spend part of their study periods in attempting to solve the squares.

Anderson claims the University of Kentucky department is the first in the country to institute such a class. His support of the puzzle feature goes and to his pupils' use given by Anderson as follows:

"Several weeks ago when I attended an educational meeting in New York city, at which university and college professors, scientists, doctors and many other persons of note in life were represented.

"Somebody told me that a number of these men sit hours upon opened at the cross word puzzle section, attempting to solve the puzzles. Every time I turned I was confronted with the same scene, until I decided to investigate for myself. I did, and realized then there was really a value, principally in developing the memory and recalling limited words to fit in to the troublesome little blocks. Anything which serves to educate and develop the memory is educational, and for this reason I am making use of the regular routine of class work and substituting in its place a class in cross word puzzle solution."

A WARNING

New York, Dec. 3.—W. E. Nathan is in jail today, waiting a cross word puzzle he was unable to finish in a restaurant, the proprietor of which called police when Nathan refused to leave after a five-hour attempt at striving the puzzle. THEFT IS CHARGED FOXBORO YOUTH

Story of Taking of Car Brought Out In Statement

Lively verbal tilts between defense and prosecution counsel interested, and provided much work for Chief Constable A. Kidd, who officiated as court stenographer, at the trial of Harry Titterton, dapper young Foxboro boy, who is charged with theft of a motor car owned by Mr. Ernest Hepburn, which auto life very owner.

Circumstantial evidence had been heard after one o'clock this afternoon, judge Deroche presiding, Magistrate Masson until December 13th.

At Armistice Day, accused made a statement to Chief Constable Kidd, also in the constable's room at police headquarters, which was read today, it was in the proving or disproving of the admissibility of this statement which caused the legal fireworks. Titterton's statement that he stated that Titterton supplied all the facts which he (Trumbull) had written into the two-page statement, after Titterton had been duly warned that anything he said might be taken down in writing and used against him at his trial, was denied. The statement must be voluntarily given.

Trumbull testified that when Chief Kidd had received a partial statement from Titterton, Trumbull had read, and then proceeded to secure a more full statement. Titterton from him, stating that it would be better for him to tell the truth and help him clear himself, of the mess. Accused testified that he had overdrawn his account at the bank, and that he did not know until he received a letter from the bank that he had been stolen. The pair drove to North Bay, Sudbury, Cobalt, Haileybury and Sault Ste. Marie, where they were employed with a construction company. Tuvay was to pay Titterton $5 per week and board. Titterton left Foxboro on November 10th.

Accused's counsel suggested that Tuvay motoring to their home and offering to work for board and lodging, were Tuvay money to boot. Tuvay was then driving Titterton's car.

William Titterson, father of the accused, testified that Tuvay had corroborated the evidence of his wife, Mrs. Titterton, salesman with F. C. Lee Motors, was also a witness who identified the engine number of the stolen car with the numbers of the car sold by him to Titterton. Titterton conveyed to Sault St. Marie and drove the car to Haileybury, where Titterton left the force taking him to where the car was stored in a garage. Wear identified the car, the engine also a witness for identification purposes.

AN AFTER-WORD

Speaking to a gathering of U.F.O. members the other day, provincial president W. A. Amos had the following to say:

"As president of the U.F.O. I see another value in co-operation along the lines of education. We have broken down badly, and must make a real effort in educational work. The hope of the country, in our movement, lies in an enlightened people. There can be no co-operative effort without education. One of our weaknesses is that we do not educate the people as we should. Our movement itself is the groundwork of this, because if our clubs are functioning properly, they will discuss all the problems pertaining to our calling and when they are discussing them, they are helping to enlighten the people generally. That is the basis of our movement. We cannot have co-operation or true political action without education. We never have a real vote in this country until the voters have a temperature of about 104. Then when they are heated up they go and vote, and think they are doing a real service to their country, although they are in delirium and almost insane.

"I witnessed that in West Hastings the other day, in the town of Trenton. The voters there were suffering from that very insanity, because they would listen to nobody. Even your member for South Oxford could not get a hearing when he tried to speak from the balcony of the hotel to a crowd on the street. The people had motored in from miles around to hear Mr. Meighen and Donald Sutherland, and they whooped it up until they had reached a temperature of 102, and then they went and recorded their votes. Then we wonder what is wrong with the political life of our country."

When Mr. Amos employs the words "delirium" and "insanity" and applies them to voters of Trenton at the recent by-election, the U.F.O. leader commits another of those grievous errors which have spelt the downfall of the U.F.O. political movement throughout the province. Irresponsible statements, irresponsible actions and irresponsible members have killed even the small chance of success the former political movement had. Mr. Amos would bludgeon the people into the fold of the educated with the ugly stick of insult.

Yet, when modified considerably, the point made by the U.F.O. man is worthy of consideration. The high pressure political campaign such as was conducted by Liberal Cabinet Minister in this riding certainly had the effect of diverting the attention of many electors from a study of the issue at stake.

A good antidote for last minute high pressure may be found in a thorough discussion of pertinent questions well ahead of the campaign proper, before controversy warms the riding.

ACCUSED AND COUNSEL.

Police Magistrate Jelfs of Hamilton is being widely criticized in the Ontario press on account of some caustic comment of his upon the methods frequently employed by lawyers in defending persons on trial, charged with criminal offences. The criticism is based on the position that the magistrate is supposed to be neutral, that a lawyer who defends an accused person against the Crown has a certain duty to perform, and that his client is entitled to every consideration as long as he remains in the position of the accused person, as guilty as the accused person.

According to the Hamilton Herald, Mr. Jelf's censure was hardly so extreme as that. He found fault with the habit of lawyers, in defending accused persons, against whom the Crown has a clear case, of attempting to tangle up witnesses with trick questions and to prevent the truth from being brought out.

Such comment is not unreasonable. But to the lay mind it should apply not only to lawyers who are defending a guilty person, but generally to the examination of witnesses. A cross-examining lawyer is warranted in doing what he can to elicit that phase of the truth which is favorable to his client, but not to distort the truth. In criminal cases it is the business of the Crown to present a certain set of facts—those which support the theory of the prisoner's guilt; it is the business of the prisoner's counsel to elicit another set of facts—those which tend either to demonstrate his innocence or to mitigate the seriousness of his guilt.

If the magistrate had said that a lawyer does wrong who undertakes the defence of an accused person against whom the Crown has a good case, he would have stated the ethics of his own profession. For what would that position imply? Simply that no person accused of a criminal offence, and against whom the Crown has a good case, has any right to be defended. It would imply that the only testimony given in his case should be testimony against him. Such a proposition is revolting to one's sense of justice.

HASTINGS NO VINDICATION OF KING'S VARIED POLICY

The Liberal press and a few disgruntled of the Quebec Conservative press, notably the Montreal Gazette are attaching an importance to the West Hastings by-election that is not warranted by the facts. To say, as has been claimed that it is a general endorsation of the policies of the King Government is absurd.

West Hastings has not endorsed the King Tariff policy and has no thought of doing so. In their heart of hearts the Liberals know this.

On the tariff, as on other matters, the King policy is to say one thing in the West and another in the East. To deny this is useless. The reason why the Progressives came into existence was because a large number of people who were sincerely low tariff advocates or free traders had become tired of the say-one-thing and do-another policy of the Liberals. Confronted by the low tariff plank in the Liberal 1919 platform Mackenzie King in the East, says—"Oh, we didn't mean it—we didn't mean that it would be carried out. We only considered it a kind of chart and compass."

Mr. Fielding being more conscientious ,refused to subscribe to a plank, which, though framed in opposition, he could not very well carry out in office. That is to say, he could not be a party to a policy of saying one thing and doing another. But this doesn't trouble Mackenzie King. With him the chief consideration is not what you say, but the interpretation you place on the things you say.

Just watch the Liberals turn another sharp corner on the tariff. Will they have the courage to proceed with their policy of tariff reduction? Despite all the promises that have been made to the West, that part of the country will be flim-flammed, if to do so suits the Government's purpose. It is all a part of the Liberal tariff game. There is no conviction behind it. It is a policy of anything to suit the occasion.

But this policy will not last. It is only a matter of time until the public becomes tired of it. In its own interests the public must know where it is standing. The matter what may be said to the contrary, the country will have to come back to the Conservative party's own policy or its chaos.

As for the effects of the West Hastings' result on the fortunes of the Conservative party, they certainly are not nearly as bad as were those following the defeat of the Government in Halifax and Kent a year ago. Nor has the position of Mr. Meighen been any more endangered than was that of Mr. King by those defeats. Time brings quick changes in politics these days. A year ago the Re-

Thirty Years Ago

Lumbering operations are quite brisk this season.

Wolves are reported to be unusually numerous in the back country this year.

On Saturday night the milkmen began their new system of delivering milk on Saturday or Sunday's use.

Not a place in the province, of the same size as Belleville, furnishes one half as much local news as purveyed daily in the local papers.

Wm. Johnstone, Inspector of Weights and Measures, has been looking over Peterboro and is in an interview with the Review of that town says the weighing system in vogue on the market there must be changed. Very little of the produce sold on the market is weighed there, but has the weight marked upon it. The inspector ordered several of the vendors to produce their weighing machines. Some of them will not comply and prosecutions will follow.

Kingston's Gun

(From the Peterboro Examiner)

Kingston has a grievance

For many years it has been the practice of the military authorities to fire a gun at 9.30 o'clock every evening year after year the boom of the cannon has been heard each night.

Kingstonians are used to the gun as a time signal and as a curfew.

They set their watches by it, and the children were trained to recognize the gun-fire as a warning that it was time to go home.

Honest old burghers, snug in their beds for years past, have before now sent for the cannon sounded and then dropped happily to sleep, satisfied that all was right with the world.

Kingston has rolled the gun.

Somebody at Ottawa, seeking to relieve the expenditure as fine as possible, discovered that Kingston's evening salute cost money, and the order has gone forth that the nightly ceremonie will be abandoned after the end of this month.

The Limestone City residents are up in arms.

They have grown to love that nocturnal thud, and they are afraid things will never be the same again.

According to one Kingston authority it costs only $35 a year to fire the gun.

If that be the case, let the cannon roar.

If Kingstonians can be assured at a cost of $3 per month, Peterboro would be the last city in Canada to complain about its share of the expenses of furnishing the medals old city with about the only excitement it ever experiences.

Stays Approval Of Book Week

Stephen Leacock Would Not Boost Canadian Writers Only.

DANGER IN MOVEMENT

Work Is Promise Rather Than Achievement He Says

Montreal, Dec. 3.—"Have a Book Week by all means, but why make it a 'Canadian Book Week'?"

This was the keynote of an address of the Canadian Club in the Windsor Hotel by Dr. Stephen B. Leacock, on "The Place of Letters in National Life". Dr. Leacock said that Canadian literature did not as yet fill the large place that could be wished for it, and that it was unfair to try to prevent Canadians from reading books written in the United States or elsewhere.

"We seem to have got into the custom, originated, I think, by our American friends, of doing things week by week," said Dr. Leacock. "Every week we devote ourselves to charity and all become philanthropists. Next week is mother's week and we remember with affection that that we have our mothers each year. Then comes father's week and we endeavor to think well of him. Then comes the others. This week it is book week and we are all pledged to buy more about books. No man is allowed to buy a book except in connection with the chorus girl and say that she has a book out.

"To this book week, as writer of books I give my earnest support. I write more while living. During this week I play with the orphan and the playwright every week by the orphan myself. And in this great week of book around the roots and eat a number of other orphans attracted by the same motives as myself, I hope you will not forget us as you go by.

"But if I do warmly support, this idea of a Canadian book week it is with certain reservations. I think that the secret ought to be out by this time and not on the word Canadian. There is always a tendency, as in many movements such as this may be, towards provincialism, towards magnifying unduly our own selves and losing sight of the great things elsewhere. The plain truth is that Yet Canadian literature does not fill the large place that one could wish for it. It has not yet numbered one name that belongs to the history of the world's literature. The inspiration of our country and its history is great but as yet our work in the field of letters is a promise rather than an achievement. I would like to say this also. There is a grave danger that the Canadian people as an anti-American movement, an attempt to belittle and even to penalize and to prohibit the incoming literature of the United States. In that form the movement is dangerous and deplorable, in that form it contains the seeds of infinite evil. In that form I for one will have nothing to do with it.

Republic of Letters

"If our people want to read books written in the United States let them do so. It is a thing that you cannot stamp or coerce, and in which interference can only do harm. The encouragement of national literature is a good, a noble ideal, but above it, and of a nobler kind, is the conception of the republic of letters, in a clouded world that light alone—the lamp of international scholarship, international art and literature—still burns bright. In a world in which division and antipathy has reached a point never reached since those forlorn outbreak of universal war, this one true hope remains; this one hope that springs from the fact that the people of western civilization in all countries and their literature and art still are one.

"There is any part of western civilization more closely united, more intimate and affectionate, united through literature, through the press and through the collegiate life of the republic and the commonwealth of Canada, than as see to it that every line of literature and our desire to encourage it in our studies and our readers and not weaken the ties that lie on our press and our men of letters in connection with the American. I admit it because I know it well and every day. I very need to publish here in competition with the publishers of the United States. The market is smaller, the costs are higher and the advertisements less intensively less. The conditions, in a word, are heavily against us.

"I will show you an example. Mr. Stephen Leacock, the professor at McGill University a Canadian Quarterly Journal of Economics. There is present no such thing in Canada. Yet everyone of the Canadian colleges and universities publishes something of the sort.

"Now I find on enquiry that the cost of printing such a thing in Canada is just nicely more than anybody would want to pay for it; that the Canadian circulation is only one per cent for it is just nicely less than the cost of obtaining it; and that the maximum amount any advertiser would pay to advertise in it is just below the lowest price at which one could afford to print the advertising. And finally when such a magazine is all printed I don't know that anybody buys it, except a few read it—except myself and Sir Andrew Macphail.

"Since I have looked into these figures I have all the greater respect for the men who keep the flag flying in the face of such difficulties and bring out such periodicals as the Canadian Forum and Canadian Magazine and MacLeans.

"But, I say, as against this handicap there is no use to proceed by moans and pains and penalties and prohibitive legislations. Let us leave that to Ontario. Preventive legislation as a "simlus to morals is wearing thin."

VERY COSTLY

New York, Dec. 3—Discussing the subject of trans-Atlantic radio telephone service the Atlantic Gen. James G. Harbord, president of Radio Corporation, said that the cost of transmission of one picture is between $30 and $40. This computation is based on the number of words that could be sent at toll rates during the 30 minutes required for the drawing of the picture. It is expected, however, that the sending time will be reduced considerably in the near future.

Erecting Hotel For Jews Only

To Have 1,000 Rooms; Snapshots of New York

New York, Dec. 3.—At Delancey and Clinton Streets, the heart of the East Side, the Libby Hotel is being erected. It will be the only hotel in that neighborhood and it will be exclusively for Jews. It will be a stories high and will have 1,000 rooms and will also have a shoe store—Jews of all walks of life will gather.

The Libby Hotel is Max Bernstein's memorial to his mother. Max was 12 when he sailed past the Statue of Liberty 24 years ago. His story is the typical one of the successful immigrant boy.

His mother died soon after their arrival. At 14 May had saved $30 and started a candy floor. When it became successful he started a restaurant and then another. He had the first self-serve restaurant in the Jewish quarter. He named it Libby, his mother's name.

The idea of a Jewish hotel came when he saw orthodox Jews there sleeping in restaurant chairs.

Bernstein's hotel will have working long hours during the big bull movement in Wall Street. The electrical force in some brokers' offices is on all night. The workers do not go home to sleep. Neither are they permitted to sleep. They know that a big bullish boomers, some of them at Thanksgiving, some at Christmas, some at New Year's. The brokers' offices in Wall Street receive newsboy's hours and salaries in New York. So the bonus system gives workers in the hotel the incentive to stay awake and work, and thus.

Three years ago Clar Long, now a Broadway producer, met a young fellow in Jackson Town, Miss., and married her. The fellow was no visitor. She gave up writing for a living and became a wife. She caught sight for her at the stage door, but Clar Long thought she was a child and ignored. Then the rest was found dead. The flight of Lindbergh put a new idea in her head, after last night.

The newest war of all might seem to be to become a professional co-respondent in divorce cases. Lewis Gore are taking that up. We are willing to be the "young lady" of the piece, and we will assume the sole ground for divorce in this state. Since only circumstantial evidence is necessary and since it is not necessary that the third party be corespondent, we boldly name the co-respondent particularly difficult to pick out. We feel confident in the outcome of the parties of the divorce, but in all cases it is guaranteed.

The cloak and suit houses have given up the idea of establishing a New York headquarters in Chicago and other western cities. Buyers prefer to buy here, and now that half of the fun before a buyer is in the amount of money he can spend in New York and its attendant festivities.

WORKING IN CANADA, VAGUE INFORMATION

Hamilton, Dec. 3—"Would you please help me find the husband? He's working in Canada and I'm anxious to find him." The attorney was confronted in a letter to Inspector Engstrom from Dorchester, England. The writer, Mrs. Edmund Waines, stated that her husband was working on a farm in Canada. How the letter came to be sent to local police authorities was unsolved mystery. They will write back to Mrs. Waines and ask for more explicit information.

PROBE MURDER STORY AT HAMILTON TONIGHT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hamilton, Dec. 2—The nature of sensational disclosures promised the municipal police at the inquest into the death of Joe Bayonnaise at Dundas House here this evening is not being strained. Bayonnaise's body was found covered with rocks on the mountainside near Albion Falls and discovery of the remains of Fred Greaves near the same spot short by after, heightened the mystery. A large number of witnesses is being summoned for inquest including several by friends and relatives of murdered men. A story has come to the ears of the police that one of Bayonnaise's friends was stopped on Sherman Ave., after murdered man disappeared and was told by stranger that he might "get what Joe got". The report has been carefully investigated. Provincial policemen Hammond and Boyd are working on the case.

EIGHT-INCH SNOWFALL IN N. B.

Fredericton, N.B., Dec. 3.—More than eight inches of snow fell here constituting the heaviest snowstorm of the present season.

"Sickness Stalked into This Happy Little Home"

"When Miss Harrow moved into the pretty little cottage at the end of the street, I thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife and his baby boy loudly voiced their approval. Everything seemed to be "breaking right" for him.

But those happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harrow. "It's just a pain in my back, nerves, rheumatism," she said. But Jim knew how a previous attack of pleurisy had weakened her, so he called in a doctor. The doctor looked her over and after his advised a complete examination. Jim took his wife to a specialist, who quickly confirmed the first verdict. "Consumption," he said. Husband and wife stared at each other in hopeless misery, but cheer was forthcoming. "Your wife can be cured," the specialist declared. "I have seen many cases like hers in the Muskoka hospital for consumptives and I know what I'm talking about, but she must go now—no delay."

A kindly neighbor offered her care of the baby boy and Jim left Mrs. Harrow at the hospital himself. Every few days the postman leaves a letter which tells how kind nurses, and careful doctors are doing their utmost to bring back the health that has fled. Mrs. Harrow writes that these letters will cease from her, for she is coming home soon to the little white cottage.

Would you wish to have a hand in such worthwhile work? If so, please send your contributions to Jim, c/o Charlie's Lodge, 1 Dundas Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Wife of Ponzi Is Loyal to the Core

Boston, Dec. 3.—The unhappy wife of Charles Ponzi, the so-called "Financial wizard," and get-rich-quick scheme promoter, declared on Saturday that if her husband should be deported to Italy or Canada, she would go with him. Ponzi was arrested and charged with being in the country illegally on a warrant from the Department of Labor at Washington.

The loyal wife raised the $1000 bond in which Ponzi was held by producing a Liberty bond of that denomination.

The dapper little Italian was loud in his protests against his arrest. He was taken to the immigration "pen" at East Boston, his wife following.

The move to deport Ponzi is the result of several months of investigation by immigration officers. Ponzi entered the United States from Canada in 1912.

Wild Cat Leaped At Motor Car

Missed Its Hold and Was Run Over Near Apsley

Apsley, Dec.3.—The force of that fierce old creature by which nature applaud and measure the fighting qualities of their king when they say "Three pounds his weight in wildcats" was brought home to Harry Tuttle of the village in an unusual and rather thrilling experience last Friday night when his motoring home such success.

A lynx had suddenly appeared in the glare of the headlights and settling himself as a wild cat can, and gathering for a leap flayed full on at the front of the car. Instinct prompted those that took the form of the fierce creature to swerve not toward him but toward the right of the road.

The animal missed it's foothold on the hood of the car and was hurled back by the impact and run over. Mr. Turner did not stop to investigate, but he returned later armed and with his brother. That it did not escape unhurt was evidenced by the fact that some of its hair was found as part of the underbody of the car.

Lynx are wildest as they are known locally, are more feared than wolves or bear, for they will assume the aggressive and follow whom they meet upon occasions, sometimes the others will seldom attempt.

HOLD-UP MEN BOLD

New York, Dec. 3.—Within a block of a police station five armed men held up twenty-nine girls and women and three men dancers in a social club and escaped in an automobile with money and jewellery estimated at $1,500.

Laborites Want to Buy Newspaper

To Spread the Gospel of Socialism If Difficulties In Path

London, Dec. 3.—Labor is taking active steps to lay the foundations of success at the next election. Recent proof of this activity is found in the statement of Frank Hodges, who advocates that Labor should have its own Sunday newspaper. There is, just now, a big agitation in the Labor ranks to secure Reynolds' Weekly, owned by Lord Ponsicl. It has long been recognized as an exponent of radicalism, but is not now regarded by Labor as expressing the official views of the party. The difficulty of such propaganda, however, lies in the fact that the British public will not buy a purely party organ, and Laborites realize that they must have a newspaper which is as attractive in make-up and in substance as the other Sunday papers, which have developed an enormous population and a proportionate influence since the war.

They demand a paper that will not only preach Socialism, but also give all the information about the doings of royalty and of the nobility in order that the women folk will buy the paper.

In the early hours of the morning the Choppers, the only inn in the village were completely stripped by fire, a few days ago. PLAYED MOVIES; RESULT A TRAGEDY

New York, Dec. 3.—The rain kept Joe and Mary Concoglia indoors Saturday and time hung heavy. Tony Cachilo, who, like Joe, is 16 and in the first grade at school, came over to their home at 1035 Stanley street, Brooklyn, and suggested that they play "movies". Joe would be the hero, Joe could be Montana outlaw and Tony, although only four, would be the beautiful heroine.

Joe and Tony agreed to cut to play the parts, but Joe outshone the others, for he had the best prop of all, a rusty automatic pistol he had found on a bedroom shelf. The pistol was in the living room across the Western badlands, and at last Joe was cornered in a canyon back of the parlor table. He pointed the pistol at Tony and pulled the trigger twice. When Tony still came at him he rushed the weapon on Mary, charge and the bullet struck the little girl in the forehead.

Their mother, Angelina, who had been ill and was resting in the bedroom, rushed out. She called a doctor, but Mary had been killed instantly.

BRICKLAYER LAYS 809 BRICKS AN HOUR

London, Dec. 3.—The latest world record claimed here is the laying of 809 bricks in one hour and 10 minutes a minute. The feat was performed by Christopher Hird, a bricklayer of Sheffield, for a wager of £16.

Hird was allowed four laborers to wait upon him, but nevertheless the performance was regarded as remarkable. His achievement meets with admiration among the trade unionists, however, and a union official is quoted as saying:

"The man's crazy and ought to be made to eat his bricks. A fair average is forty an hour."

The bricklayers say men could lay his daily, but that the average is around 500.

Most headaches due to lack of internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food wastes and are carried to all parts of the body. Headaches follow. Biliousness, insomnia, lack of energy, all result from constipation, which if unchecked will lead to serious results.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

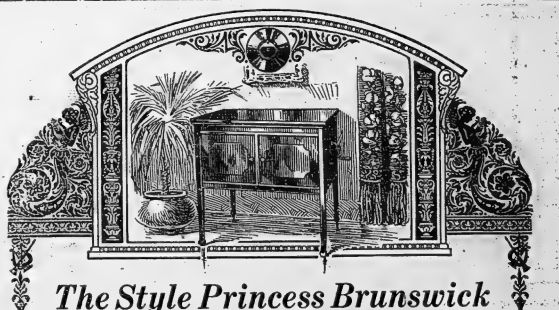

A noted authority says that laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food mass and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

GRIDIRON DESERTED

Kingston, Dec. 3—Queen's training quarters were quite deserted Tuesday morning following the definite announcement that there would be no playoff with the Winnipeg Victorias in Toronto on Saturday. No players, fed up with rugby, were anxious to go out of training and have more time in leaving quarters and getting back to their boarding houses. The last dinner was served Tuesday in the training quarters and the players will be in the regular dining hall, with all rugby forgotten for another year.

The players were busy early in the morning packing their belongings out of the cafeteria, which has been their home since they came into college in the fall. At noon every bed was cleared and all of equipment was being made ready to go back to where it belonged.

GREATER UNDERSTANDING

New York reports that big feet for women are the fashion today, which is good news for a lot of the girls who have been trying to wedge a No. 8 peg into a No. 5 A-A satin slipper.

The use of chlorine gas for the treatment of influenza has been given its initial trial at the Winnipeg General Hospital. According to medical authorities this is believed to be the first time experimental treatment by chlorine gas has been attempted in the Dominion. Tests have been made on dogs, doctors and nurses of the hospital staff with encouraging results. The experiment will be continued until the value of the gas by medical science is definitely ascertained.

A 23-year-old girl, who said she was Florence Gosselin of 256 Bishop Street, Ottawa was picked up on St. Hubert street, Montreal, Sunday morning in an unconscious condition. A bottle of iodine, in which she was taken she admitted having swallowed poison, late Miss Gosselin recovered sufficiently to state that she had gone to Montreal from Ottawa on Saturday with a man whose name she would not disclose. He, had left her Sunday, and she had decided to end it all, to which end she had swallowed a quantity of iodine.

Hockey Notes

The Preston senior O.H.A. team will be busy this week. Tonight and on Thursday night the squad will work out at the local arena and then play their first game of the season at Port Colborne on Wednesday. They enter the first S.P.A. game with that team.

Kitchener and Varsity seniors will be the senior attraction at Toronto Saturday night, and "Happy" Day, one of the most popular players in the game, will be on the Varsity defense. Lou Hudson who recently signed down a handsome offer to join the Montreal team, will be at center for the students.

In addition to the U.C.C.-St. Michael's game at Toronto this afternoon and the St. Mary's-Varsity replay on Saturday afternoon, there are the five other S.P.A. fixtures scheduled this week. Parkdale and Aura Lee open the schedule tonight and after what the Peddlers' all-star line-up will try to subdue Bill Hancy's smooth working machine of hockey players. Anyway the game will give the fans a line on the strength of two of Toronto's three senior teams.

The prospects for an intermediate O.H.A. hockey team are being discussed in St. Thomas. There seems to be plenty of material. Mitchell, formerly of St. Marys; McMillen, of London; and Dejardines of Windsor, are three new players who are located there. The meetings are still in the city and a real fast team could be rounded out.

Frank Hyde, of Woodstock, has been nominated for the O.H.A. executive

St. Mary's and Varsity junior teams opened the season at Toronto on Saturday night in an S.P.A. game, the final score being 4 all after ten minutes of overtime had been played. There is to be a second game at all the way with either team having an advantage at odd times. The goaltending on both sides was a big feature.

"AL" FISHER, late of Calgary and Portland Rose fame, who is getting a trial with the St. Pats.

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP?

Ten men are being carried by the Indians this winter in Stratford's quest for the Senior O.H.A. championship. Of that number three have played on championship junior O.H.A. teams, all representing different cities. Frank Carson played by the Stratford Midgets when they won the junior O.H.A. in 1921; Harold Gross played for Kitchener when they copped the silverware in 1923, and Graham Owen Scott, Greys champion last winter. Bill Carson and Frank Carson played for Woodstock in 1919 when they lost the junior O.H.A. championship to D.T.S., Toronto. They also played in the final series, the score being 8-7. Bowles Nesbitt, Kitty Griffin and Frank Carson were members of the Stratford Intermediate championship in 1923, while Bill Carson was with Varsity in 1921 when they won the Allan Cup. Bill played no senior championship but intermediate hockey teams at U. of T. that most people have lost track of, the latter. The students won the championship and will soon have that list was at T.C.D.S. and twice got into the Allan Cup finals losing to the Winnipeg Falcons in 1920.

HUDSON TO MONTREAL?

Louis Hudon, Varsity hockey star, is still a much sought player by the pros, and both Montreal and St. Pats would like to sign the Toronto boy. Dune Munro's team apparently has the inside track and it is within the realm of possibilities that Hudson will join the Montreal team in time to play against Ottawa Saturday. Or he might be available when the Hamilton franchise is moved to the Forum intact. Hudson should experience little trouble making the grade in the pro ranks. He was in Montreal on Saturday and had a conference with the owners of the Forum.

Notts County is still in the van in the First Division of the English League but is hard pressed by the Sunderland and Birmingham association football teams for the premier honor. All three are equal as to points, but Notts County have the best goal average. While the clubs are becoming more sorted there are still twelve teams within four points of the leaders. Rangers continue at the top of the Scottish First Division, one point in advance of Airdrieonians.

LINDSAY SPORTSMEN ORGANIZING HOCKEY

Lindsay, Dec. 3.—For the first time in years, probably for the first time in the history of Lindsay, the Mayor is calling a public meeting to discuss the hockey situation. This meeting will be held Thursday night, in the Council Chamber at the City Hall, at 8 o'clock.

A number of citizens interested in hockey gathered Monday afternoon in talk over hockey. It was found that there was material for two teams, junior and intermediate, particularly junior.

There was also a feeling that there should be a town hockey league to develop players and also to bring the older boys in shape. The idea will probably be worked out.

Mayor W. G. Graham, who was present, volunteered with the local boys and believed that the town should take more interest in wholesome sport. He had always encouraged clean sport. In fact, the town of Lindsay should be kept on the map along sporting lines, as well as along other lines of activity. He expressed himself as quite willing to call a public meeting.

It was also intimated that the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs should be interested in sport, and these two clubs will be invited to send representatives to the meeting on Thursday night.

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

"What a charming pastoral!" he said, with his smooth, oily laugh—"Adam and Eve, or Romeo and Juliet, in Goldsmith's poem—you know it, dear Lady Grace!—were never more poetical or touching! Really, one cannot help feeling grateful to the happy chance which enabled me to be a witness of so moving and charming a scene."

"Chance!" she said, and her voice sounded thick and forced. "You knew that they would be here when you asked me to come!" and she shot a glance of scorn and hate at him.

"I, my dear lady! Now, how was that possible? Do you think our engagement Cecil would confide his appointments to me? And not having the inestimable privilege of knowing the lady—"

"She is the actress—the girl we met last night!" she muttered, between her teeth;"an actress—a—a chorus girl!"

"Was she painted? Yes, I daresay; I am, alas! rather near-sighted," he said, smiling as he recalled the youthful bloom of Doris' sweet face. "Oh, yes, I daresay! But perhaps our dear Cecil is near-sighted too. At any rate, he seems very—uh—very far gone, does he not?"

"He is mad!" she almost hissed.

"You think, then, that he seems insane—literally insane? You know so much more of the world than I, dear lady—you can tell me if I am right in this interesting young creature?"

A light, yet hateful laugh at such a jest as shamed her womanhood—flashed for a moment in Lady Grace's eyes, then as it died out she said, moodily, scornfully:

"Oh, yes, he is mad enough for that! Oh yes, he seems—literally insane!"

"Indeed! Really! How charming! So romantic!" purred Spencer Churchill. "The future Marchioness of Steyle actress, a provincial actress! Clever, oh, certainly, and beautiful—ahem!—well with all her paint and powder—and I suppose innocent—quite. And the future marchioness! Let me see, when was he to be—uh—mated?"

His smooth ,suave speech almost frenzied her.

"Why do you exasperate me?" she exclaimed, between her teeth, and turning upon him. "Why have you brought me here? To laugh at me, to mock me with the—the scandalous scene? You know he will marry her, unless—"

"Unless!" he said, softly. "Unless an accident happens. And accidents do happen—alas!"—so often in this unsatisfactory, disappointing world! he added, and he spoke and sighed with a faint grimmer of hope on her face, which was still pale and exhausted by the fierce jealously which racked and tore her.

"What do you mean?" she demanded half-angrily, half-pleadingly.

He smiled unctuously.

"'Twas the cup and the lip. The old, old adage, dear Lady Grace. These young people, in the full flush of their mutual passion—"

She bit her lip till two red spots showed where the white, even teeth had pressed.

"Doubtless think that their path to happiness is ge'ne plain and smooth. Alas! I fear they will find that the road is stony and difficult. It is a pity, a thousand pities! It is so sweet to see two hearts that beat as one—"

"Cease!" she said, as if she could endure his soft, fawning voice no longer. "What will you do? What can you prevent—" She stopped suddenly and, stooping, picked up something from the grass.

"Ah!" he said. "Treasure-trove! What is it? A broken cigarette? No! A ring—the ring!"

She held it almost at arm's length, as if it were some noxious reptile, then with a gesture of scorn and hate she raised her hand as if to throw the ring from her, but instantly he seized her arm and his soft, fat hand slid down until it had reached and secured the ring.

"Dear sir, dear me!" he muttered, as he held it up. "How sorry he will be, how—" He stopped suddenly, and his eyes seemed to have riveted the ring; then, as he became aware of Lady Grace's fixed gaze, the heavy lids lost some returned to his face. "Actual ly lost it a few minutes after she had given it to him! Now, some superstitious person would call that a bad omen. Are you superstitious, dear Lady Grace?"

"Give it to me; let me throw it—" she said with malignant intensity.

He held it out of her reach, surveying her with smiling severity.

"No, really! you must not. Poor Cecil——" He stopped suddenly, and his smile changed to a look of horror. His quick ears had caught the sound of a horse's hoofs.

Touching her arm, he signed to her to follow him, and drew back behind the trees. She followed him, and looking over her shoulder, saw Lord Cecil galloping toward them.

He cleared the hedge, and dropping from the horse, walked quickly to the spot where they had stood, and commenced to search in the grass with anxious eagerness. He went down on his knees, and examined every inch of the spot where Doris and he had sat, dropped along the bank where they had stood, and hunted every likely spot.

They could see his anxious face, hear his half-muttered ejaculations of disappointment, and Spencer Churchill, with the ring in his hand, smiled sweetly.

CHAPTER XII.

TO WED AN ACTRESS

The ring was gone, never to be seen! Full of pain and remorse, Lord Cecil was obliged to admit to himself that it was gone beyond recovery. He might search for a week, a month, and not find it, for it might have dropped off his finger and fallen at any spot between the lane and the brook.

"My darling's ring!" he murmured aloud as he stood two minutes and gazed bear him where they stood concealed; "my darling's ring! I would give all the Steyle jewels to get it back!"

Then he mounted wearily and with many a backward glance, as if he hoped to find even at the last moment he might get a glimpse of it shining among the grass he rode off.

Then the thought of his happiness rose as a tide and swept away his sorrow for the lost ring, but Doris—beautiful, sweet Doris—was still his. It seemed too wonderful, too good to be true, and he recalled every word she had spoken, every glance of her love-lit eyes, that he might impress them on his memory.

The air seemed full of her; the birds crooned to sing her name: "Doris, Doris Marlowe!" all the earth, clad in its bright spring colors, was smiling a reflection of the delirous joy that burst like a flame in his heart.

Claim Dr. Jack Is Funniest Yet

Harold Lloyd Appearing at Griffin Theatre Starting To-morrow

"If a comparison is to be made of the funny business on the screen for the last year, honors must go to Mr. Lloyd."

So wrote Quinn Martin ,screen editor of the New York World, and judging by the screams of laughter which will greet Harold Lloyd's newest photo comedy in five parts, "Dr. Jack," at the Griffin Theatre Thursday to Saturday, this writer fully agrees with Mr. Martin and others to go him one better.

"Dr. Jack" is a delicious conglomeration of everything one could hope for in a super-comedy. And everything seems everlasting and one never knows what to expect, except that the next laugh will be louder than the first. As a funnaker, Mr. Lloyd has reached the pinnacle, but in "Dr. Jack" he has also established himself as a runner-up for honors with the screen's greatest lovers, as his love scenes with Mildred Davis seemed to us to be one of the most delightful we have ever witnessed.

Besides all this, "Dr. Jack" contains a real story—a story of the evil influences of a girl's struggle for health. The girl is played, of course, by Mildred Davis, and she aids Lloyd charmingly in the sentimental vein of the comedy. The uproarious part of the physician's daughter, Norman Hammond is excellent as the funny lawyer. Anna Townsend, seen as "Grandma's Boy," appears to advantage, and other roles are capably handled by Florence Mayon, Joy Winthrop, Oscar Morgan and "Auntie" Mackay.

SUES PASTOR FOR LIBEL AT WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Dec. 3—An aftermath of the Ontario Liquor Plebiscite is the issuing of a writ by Mr. Wm. Finkle of Woodstock, against Rev. Jos. Ryan, rector of St. Mary's Church, First Baptist Church for damages for libel.

The case arises out of a letter which Mr. Finkle alleges was written by Mr. Janes to the attorney general of Ontario complaining that the plaintiff had certified to having administered oaths to certain persons desiring to have their names placed on the voters lists for the Plebiscite, without seeing them or hearing them. According to a statement made by Mr. Finkle, Mr. Janes has already admitted to him privately that he wrote the letter which is the basis of the action being taken.

Big Dan at Belle Is Real Knock-Out

Story Strongly Told; Action Swift, Scenes Colorful

Charles Jones as a pugilist in "Big Dan" is an absolute knockout. The production will be shown for the first time at the Belle Theatre tomorrow.

Big Dan, as showed by Charles Jones, is a character worthy of inspection. The son of a famous prize-fighter, he served thelong gires up the ring for philanthropy. In aiding an aged man and the woman of his heart, but is prevented from declaring himself because of a marital entanglement. The story is strongly told, the action swift and the scenes so striking in line and color.

Well cast in support of Mr. Jones are Marion Nixon, Tyrley Clark, Ben Hendricks, Jackie Gladdon, Jack Herrick, Charles Coleman and other equally capable shadow performers.

The story is credited to Fred and Fanny Hatton ,the famous playwrights and it might be said that few more efficient thrill manufacturers never turned out a more creditable piece of work.

WALLBRIDGE WOMEN INSTITUTE

The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Chester Jones on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large gathering present. Mr. Atkin, the district representative from Toronto was present and gave a very profitable and instructive address on various points in the poultry flock. He also gave a consultation picture card which was equal to a notice show and was greatly enjoyed by everyone present. The ladies were asked for a fruit and vegetable flower for the Children's Shelter and a donation was given to the Ladies Aid. Mrs. Finkle our district president visited our Institute on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Westcott was to give her report of the Women's Institute convention held in Toronto, but owing to the hour afternoon the report was held over till the December meeting.

A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Jones. The next meeting will take the form of an Institute Rally of all the Institutes of the County of Sidney and will be held at Sidney town hall on the second Friday in June of the Institute of West Hastings assisting.

Mr. Allan Ketcheson of Sidney, will be present and explain all about the agriculture and stock judging class for the men and boys and the millinery course and Home Nursing and First Aid class for the ladies which will be held at Wallbridge after the New Year. There will be picture also. Refreshments will be served with chopped bacon, and brown in a quick oven. Pile on a plate cannonball fashion, and garnish with parsley.

It's Easy To Darken Your Graying Hair

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur, and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at all the cost, at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time—by morning all gray hair has disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, youthful and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

TORONTO HONORS BEATRICE LILLIE

Toronto, Dec. 3.—After last night's brilliant Women's Press Club theatre night, many of the members and their friends went to their Yonge street quarters, where Miss Beatrice Lillie was the guest of honor at an informal reception. Old friends had gathered for her dressing room after the performance, but at the Press Club Miss Lillie met still more among them was Miss Belle Thompson, she, as an elocutionist, had appeared on an extra programme with Miss Lillie here the latter was billed as a juvenile singer and dancer. Miss Lillie was much amused by an announcement next of the old Mary Pickford Bureau, on which were cuts of herself as fancy dress. Miss Lillie noticed—saying then show how her home province acclaimed her even before London hailed her. For in 1909 the Toronto World remarked that "Beatrice Lillie took the house by storm by her character songs. She is an exceptional ly clever artist and her manner is fascinating.

When telling us of her first audience with Charlot (who, by the way, will not see in Toronto, as announced, as he has sailed for England), Miss Lillie said: "I just sang all the songs I used to sing at home. Perhaps the reason I wasn't nervous about it was that I didn't dream I'd be taken." But she was, with a three-year contract.

Another guest at the Press Club whom Miss Lillie was delighted to see was Mr. Peter C. Kennedy, who was an old friend of her musical mother. He was interested to learn from Miss Lillie that her pianist sister, Miss Muriel Lillie, has also won success in London, where her musical compositions are quite in favor. Some of them have been sung by Miss Beatrice Lillie. One of the most charming asides to the latter is the way she insists on the pronunciation of Miss Gertrude Lawrence as her co-star. When Lady Peel entered the Press Club last night, a lovely picture with her presentation rose, someone hailed her as the star of Charlot's Revue. "And Miss Lawrence, too," she said, with a bow to one side as if Miss Lawrence were actually in the room!

THINKS FLOGGING BEST PUNISHMENT

Toronto, Dec. 3.—"My wife she take knife at me and I give her a few little kicks," declared Harry Rowcroft, a truck farmer in Scarboro township, charged with assaulting his wife.

"My man, he a tool man for five years. He put me on the floor and jump on me with his feet and kick me in the back and in the stomach," declared Mary Koomer, the wife.

Koomer was remanded in custody for sentence until Saturday morning.

"I think I will give him a flogging," commented his Worship.

NOT PERFECT YET

Washington, Dec. 3.—Clarence True Wilson, General Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, declared yesterday he had yet to meet "the first temperance man in the ministry or the laity who was satisfied with the way the prohibition law was being enforced." He made this statement in renewing recommendations for a change in the enforcement system before the annual meeting of the board.

A TERRIBLE CRIME

New York, Dec. 3.—Throwing her three-week-old twin babies to a courtyard from their home on the third floor of an upper Madison avenue apartment house yesterday, Mrs. Bessie Katz, 28 years of age, then jumped after them. Both babies died while being taken to a hospital, and the mother suffered fractured skull, from which physicians did not think she would recover.

Despondency caused by a nervous breakdown, following ill-health, was responsible for the woman's act, according to the police.

Edward Archibald, a native of Boston, Mass., and veteran of the battles of Bull Run, Gettysburg and Antietam in the American Civil War, but a resident of Montreal for the past sixty years, died in that city Sunday in his 85th year. He was president of Frothingham and Workman, wholesale hardware merchants and a well-known citizen of Montreal. Mr. Archibald was wounded at the battle of Antietam.

Remain Out of Union

A well attended meeting in favor of the continuation of the Presbyterian Church was held in St. Andrew's Church, Picton. Dr. S. Banks Nelson of Hamilton was the principal speaker. He stated that Parliament had been swamped with telegrams and resolutions from churches and conferences of the Methodist Church, thus introducing the menace. The Picton church is one of the doubtful churches in this matter of Union. Rev. C. L. Cowan, B.D., who presided, said that he intends staying with the Presbyterian Church that is to continue.

Pays Election Bet

Stirling, Dec. 3—Rolling a peanut with a hockey stick from Street Wm. J. (Bill) Whitty publicly settled his election bet Saturday afternoon in a humorous reflection of the result of the West Hastings by-election that amused the crowds of spectators to whom the penalty stunt had been duly heralded. Mr. Whitty started to "roll his own" from Marden Bird's corner on Front Street along the sidewalk to Whitty's hotel, "The Stirling House" on Mill Street. The village was had a big session at Mr. Whitty's expense and the incident served generally to relieve the partisan tension that surrounded the by-election.

Mr. Whitty is prominently known throughout this district not only as a businessman but also as a sportsman especially through his connection with the Stirling hockey club for many years.

Ready For Execution

Lindsay, Dec. 3—Everything is being prepared for the execution of Fred McCaughey at the local jail yard, Friday Dec. 5th. The scaffold is in custody of erection close to the prisoner's cell and in case the death sentence is carried out, the morbidly curious who plan to witness the proceedings from elevated positions outside the court yard, will be disappointed as the site on which the law will be carried out is so protected that no one save those privileged to be present in an official capacity will witness the final act.

Hangmen Ellis was here a few days ago to lay out the plans for the erection of the gallows.

No Protection?

Petrolboro, Dec. 3—Lioness Inspector Joseph Stewart presented his account to the City Council Monday night for a window broken when somone threw a large stone through it. Mr. Stewart's wife had a narrow escape from injury, as the stone just missed her.

The Inspector remarks in his application: "It looks as if there is no protection against such accidents in the city," and cites a previous case when four barns on his cellar windows were sawn off by men who broke in there to get a quantity of potatoes.

This account was also presented.

Close to Tragedy

Petrolboro, Dec. 3—Tragedy sought to mar the festivities at the entertainer yesterday, invoked by the criminal carelessness of some citizens and averted by the quickness of the men who were there.

The first warning the men had of trouble was when explosions from the rear of the hall startled them and whizzing bullets caused them to quickly seek cover. The hall was packed and there were uncovered, just about 300 persons into the building.

30 soft nose steel jacketed 303 calibre cartridges and 9 thirty-six shell for a 32 gauge shotgun.

Had these been cast into the fire they would have well have killed one or more of the staff before the cover could be reached.

As it was, shells that had been dropped through the iron door exploded and gave the men a nasty shock as the bullets came whizzing up.

Try Salts If Kidneys Hurt

DRINK WATER FREELY AND OFTEN TO KEEP KIDNEYS FLUSHED AND CLEAN

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally says, a well-known authority. Too much rich food forms acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in your kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is scanty, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a burning or scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grape and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. If all meals have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year, and draw this through your hair taking

Brighton Man Is Found Near Track

Shot Accidentally While Out Shooting Sunday Morning

Brighton, Dec. 3—The body of George Wall, of Brighton, who was last seen on Sunday morning about 9 o'clock was found yesterday morning by Clinton C. Pickle, near the latter's barn on Dead street.

Mr. Pickle stumbled on the body while working near his barn.

A bullet hole was found in Wall's stomach, and it is thought by the authorities that the gun which he was carrying accidentally discharged when he was getting over a fence near where the body was found.

After being shot he fell off the fence and rolled down a bank into a ravine.

When found the body was facing downward.

The gun which he was carrying was a borrowed one, and was known to be dangerous repeater.

Coroner F. M. Dure and Provincial Constable J. W. Connors were on the scene of the accident this morning, and after making an investigation had the body removed to the undertaking parlors of S. E. Brintell, where an inquest will be held.

Mr. Wall was last seen, he was carrying a rifle and was proceeding in the direction of the Pleasant Woods which contains about 1,000 acres of densely wooded land, and it was believed since that he was lost.

The pupils of the Brighton High School set out to look for their companion, but without result, until yesterday morning, when his dead body was discovered.

SETTELL TELLS COURT ABOUT RECENT ACTIONS

"Fed-up" on Work and Liquor He Planned Action

TELLS WHOLE STORY

Took Sum Equal to $15 Weekly Since Joining Hydro

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hamilton, Dec. 4—Declaring that he was "fed up," E. C. Settell, secretary to Sir Adam Beck, decided to take from the Hydro a sum equal to fifteen dollars per week, with interest at six per cent. for all the time he was employed, according to a story told by him in the witness box in Judge Evans' court here to-day. The case opened when R. H. Greer, General Electric Settled George Halgrow former M. L. A. for East Lambton, sought to sue to the character of accused. Mr. Halgrow declared that he had proved a heavy loss "against prisoner's reputation and reputation" that during the time he had been associated with Settell, he would have "trusted him with his life."

Fully fifty members of the old Ontario Legislature had visited Settell's Hydro office, he said, and many indeed before, he continued, there they were entertained by "arouse enthusiasm" and in the interests of the power commission. Settell then took the stand. In response to questions Mr. Greer asked, accused stated that he had joined the Hydro about twenty years ago. Shortly after becoming secretary to Sir Adam the organization he had become in situated with Sir Adam Beck's vision of power development. He was expected to use his friendship in Sir Adam's favor. He had at first was $65 per month, then later $90. During the period he drew $1,200 from the latter's estate and $1,000 from investments. An appetite for liquor grew. Accused said after a time he "just had to do without it," prisoner said. Referring to his duties he said there was he spent long hours at his office. He had continuously to get small money for various items which auditors did not see fit to pass. He was unable to get back $300 he spent during the radial campaign in Hamilton some years ago. Regarding the $29,825 check he declared that he had requested that to Sir Adam Beck and W. W. Pugsley, and that he thought that he was marked as payment for right of way. Settell's official had questioned him.

The soloists of the evening were Mr. Hugh Middlemiss, Dr. A. B. Hafner and Mr. Jos. Allen. These artists rendered selections with their usual charm and ability.

A pleasing number of the program was the singing of Scottish songs by the Scotch, was the Highland Fling by Misses Kitty Johnston, Irene Hilton and Marjorie Gayner, accompanied by Mr. Johnston with the bag-pipes.

Prof. V. P. Hunt was the accompanist of the evening and Kiwanis P. C. Marcellus acted as chairman.

DISCUSS NEW ROAD

Councillors Believe Corbyville Highway Should Be 18 Feet Wide

At Hotel Quinte this evening members of the County Council, County officials and other invited guests will be tendered a banquet by His Honor Mr. C. S. Rollins, Warden of the County. A rather extensive toast list has been prepared for the occasion embracing a number of prominent speakers in the city and county. Mr. W. H. Nurse, County Clerk, will preside over the gathering. The addresses will be interspersed with vocal and instrumental selections.

The special session of Wednesday afternoon session of the County Council was taken up with an address given by Mr. J. Muir, a Provincial engineer and superintendent of the Suburban Area Commission. Mr. Muir said it was contemplated in 1925 to construct a permanent pavement on the road from Belleville to Corbyville, a distance of 3½ miles. A preliminary estimate of the cost was $100,000 and it was intended to complete it in one year. The above estimate was for a 20-foot pavement in the centre of the road, the balance to be left as gravel. Should the final cost being bituminous. If the roads were paying their share towards surface roads leading into their cities. The suburban commission was composed of a member from the city and one from the County with a third selected by the above two. The corporate body with powers conferred upon them by the legislature.

After the conclusion of Mr. Muir's remarks, some discussion took place in reference to the width of the pavement, the general opinion appearing to be that it should not be less than 18 feet in width.

Mr. Muir in replying was of the opinion that 16 feet was a sufficient width. The Commission would, however, accept 18 feet.

On motion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Muir for the information supplied the Council.

Small's Sister Visits Doughty

At Portsmouth Penitentiary Discusses Millionaire's Disappearance

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 4.—Five years ago, Ambrose J. Small, Toronto theatrical magnate, was last seen in Toronto, his disappearance establishing a mystery that has aroused world-wide interest. By mere coincidence, but as though commemorating the day of his disappearance, Miss Florence Small, sister of the missing man, visited John Doughty, former secretary to Small, in Portsmouth Penitentiary, where Doughty is now entering the last year of his six-year sentence for the theft of $100,000 in bonds from Small.

What brought Miss Small to Kingston to visit the man who had worked all his life for brother, and who was considered by the police throughout all the missing man's theatrical activities, is a mystery. According to her she declines to state whether Doughty was there in order to communicate something of importance, or whether she is pursuing the course that she and her sister Gertrude have always followed in trying to solve what happened to their brother. Still further, it is not stated whether Miss Small has undertaken an effort to have John Doughty released from his incarceration on parole. This in time will be stated, but Miss Small, at present, is not giving out anything.

In Visitors' Cage

Official sources at Ottawa, however, granted the interview to take place at Miss Small's convenience, and consequently Miss Small stepped within the portals of the cold walls of the famous Penitentiary, in which Doughty has already spent three years and eight months.

Miss Small was ushered into the visitors' cage just adjacent to the offices of the warden's department in the penitentiary. Here Doughty, who was she remained a few moments when Doughty arrived in the prisoners' care. The two cages are in one room, but are separated by a heavy iron wiring that prevents anything but verbal messages between prisoner and visitor.

Prison Complexion

It was prisoner 31709 that stepped in front of Miss Small, a man who had become known throughout the theatrical world in Canada and the United States as the secretary to Ambrose Small. He was not the Doughty whom the Small sisters had known before October, 1919, when their brother disappeared. Doughty has already changed considerably through his three years and seven months within Portsmouth walls. His cheeks are sunken, pale and somewhat prison complexioned. His body is thinner, much more so than the heavy set figure that was the familiar figure at the Grand Opera Hour in Toronto, but all this, it is said, is the fate of every prisoner under such circumstances. Doughty wore the prison garb, a blue-ish grey uniform with cap.

Hesitated at First

At first he had hesitated when informed that Miss Small desired to see him, so the Warden said. But he finally agreed to be escorted from his cell in the shoe shop, down in one of the buildings of the group that nearly half-distributed among the poor. ing was most cordial, accompanied by a smile, for prior to Small's disappearance he had always been interested in the welfare of the two sisters whom Small had looked after.

"Hello, Florie," he greeted Miss Small. "I did not want to see you at first on account of such a meeting, but on looking back old times to me, and you know it is hard enough for any man in here.

His first inquiry was of Miss Small's sister, Gertrude. "How is Gertie?" he inquired and he smiled broadly when Miss Small informed him they were all well.

Asks After Children

Doughty's chief interest in the interview was regarding the two boys in Toronto.

"You know I have two boys who are growing up," he said. "It is hard on them," and as he said this grave cares to his face, and he looked his level away, looking back out into the large yard.

One thing outstanding in the interview is that Miss Small attempted to enlist the aid of Doughty in the hunt for her brother.

"What happened to Ambrose, Jack?" Miss Small earnestly enquired.

"I don't know," was Doughty's firm reply. "I am handed my lines and I come to some conclusion, but I have not thought of anything. It seems a mystery."

Enlisted in More

Doughty was anxious to know if the Misses Small had as yet received anything from Small's estate, and when informed that they had finally received an income following the settlement of affairs he seemed pleased.

"That's good," he replied. "Even now Ambrose always said he would look after you, but what you should get not more than that. Gertie and you are entitled to a good deal more."

He further expressed surprise to know that other than Small shares in the estate, "They would not have got anything if the Governor was alive," Doughty declared. "He would not let them have a cent."

A point in the case that has aroused much interest was also mentioned to the interview by Miss Small, in regard to whether Doughty had carried certain bonds that had secured at the Grand Opera House back to Mrs. Small.

"I never took anything to Mrs. Small," said Doughty. "I never took any papers or keys or anything to her. Mrs. Small used to rummage around the office, apparently looking for things. I do not know between you and I, I was protected his business matters."

Miss Small said that Doughty will be held liable for the $100,000 in bonds from the safety deposit box in the Dominion Bank. Doughty did not answer, but did he recall anything in regard to a coupon bond that was supposed to have taken place on Dec. 29th, 1919, between Mrs. Small and himself.

Miss Small suggested to Doughty that his case would be carried in the Supreme Court, but far distant from Small's knowledge here in Portsmouth, and, moreover, merely saying he had put in his claim over the signature but without success.

Unable to Help

"Is there anything that you can tell me that will help us to learn what has become of Ambrose J. Small asked.

"Nothing," was the reply.

Doughty showed further displeasure in the fact that Mrs. Small had referred to Small as a "scoundrel" and "unfaithful missing man.

"Why, that is not fair," said Doughty. "You know that was not the case, and you have always did all Mr. Small's private business."

$50,000 FIRE NEAR SARNIA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sarnia, Dec. 4—The business section of the village of Bowmanville in East Lambton suffered damage by fire this morning to the extent of about $50,000. The Tandor Block containing general store of John Rose, and barber shop also Beatty Block containing garage and Tailor shop were destroyed. The blaze was first discovered in a Motor...ore building at the rear of the Rose store.

Further inquiries were made by Mrs. Small, but Doughty said he had no interview ended.

"Good-bye," he concluded, "and give my regards to Gertie."

He turned, and up the window into the prison yard as Miss Small stepped from the cage, escorted by a guard, and then disappeared down a corridor, along a corridor when a guard turned the key.

Hoped for Parole

Doughty entered the prison to serve his six years' sentence in March, 1921, under the name of Thomas Cooper and in the prison, a man under a six-year term with good conduct, would serve something like four years and eight months, but with good conduct and good behavior in all probability, be paroled after serving about two years. This has not been granted Doughty, and the prisoner has been in the penitentiary since connected with the case in Toronto had been blocking his application for parole. Doughty will be eligible for parole at this time, he should be released in November, 1925.

CANADA AND THE IMMIGRANT

It is ridiculous to say that Canada, as large in area as the United States, is saturated with man-power when she has less than nine millions within her borders, says the Family Herald.

Canada, as all sensible men will agree, must continue her efforts at immigration, but she positively must second these with some practical scheme of colonization.

The immigrant who comes to Canada in the expectation that he will be met at the gangway with a brass band and be presented with a ready-made job on a silver platter must disabuse his mind of his day dreams.

Yet we need not let the pendulum swing to the other extreme.

If we attract immigrants to Canada, our responsibility does not end when we land the newcomer at the dock. In fact it only then begins.

There is obviously some job for which he is well suited.

The rural districts can absorb a million farmers who know the game, are prepared to work, and endure some hardship at the beginning.

Some comprehensive scheme must be devised for the training of our immigrants, some machinery set up for seeing that holes of all sizes and shapes are found for men of all capacities and skill.

This will be tackling our unemployment problem at its base, it will be advancing the well-being of the Dominion in materialistic fashion; and will attract to us the raw material of British stock and training which we found in 1914 so valuable an asset.

WORTH YOUR SUPPORT

The Belleville Rotary Club has under taken a most praiseworthy effort—that of helping Belleville crippled children to the path of usefulness and self respect. Carrying out a program similar to that of other Rotary Clubs throughout Canada and the United States, the Belleville Rotarians intend to see that those children who are deformed or otherwise handicapped in attending to the ordinary activities of life are cured or helped.

Specialists will examine the children, and prescribe treatment. City doctors will do their share without financial recompense. The best surgeons of the land will help by charging mere nominal fees. The main financial responsibility resting on the members of the Rotary Club is that of providing transportation to hospital and maintaining the children while under the doctor's care.

Citizens of Belleville will have an opportunity on Sunday evening to show their interest in this commendable enterprise by attending a gathering at the Belle Theatre at 8.30 after church services. J. C. McCarthy, the proprietor, has donated his theatre for the occasion and Percy Robbins will assist at the organ. Professor Hunt will direct a Rotary choir of thirty voices and Sandy Burrows will lead the community singing. His Honor Judge Mott of the Juvenile Court at Toronto will give the address of the evening.

It is to be hoped that the auditorium will be well crowded.

GENTLE ART OF MAKING FRIEND

It is the rule among the nations of the world that when an accredited representative of a government is slain in a friendly, not only must the slayer be brought to justice, but a suitable indemnification should be made. Possibly there is no such rule in the United States, but just the same, when that government was paid the United States government $130,000 for the killing of Vice Consul Imbrie by a Persian mob. Of this sum, $40,000 goes to Mrs. Imbrie's family, the balance into the United States treasury to meet the cost of sending an American warship to Persia for the body.

So far, the Imbrie case has all been in keeping with international practice. Now, however, enters the fine hand of American diplomacy. The State Department at Washington has announced an offer to Persia of a trust fund of its $110,000 share of the reparations, the interest of which will be used to pay for the education of Persian students in American institutions, providing this is acceptible to the Persian government. This offer parallels the action taken years ago with the indemnity paid by China to the United States as a result of the Boxer uprising. The result has been that hundreds of Chinese students have been educated in America, then returned home to put into practice what they learned here. This action laid the foundation of real respect for the American flag in China, and is the main reason why the Chinese governments is more willing to trust the United States than any other nation in the world.

The gentle art of making friends can be practised by nations as well as by individuals, and it consists in not striking indefinitely on the other fellow's chest when you bust him one. International good will is always more a matter of kindly courtesies than of hollow diplomatic professions.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

The other day a towerman who had been drinking lost his head and allowed a train to back into a crowded street car killing ten persons instantly, and injuring 40 others. Suppose you were placed on a jury before which this towerman was being tried for manslaughter. With all the evidence of the case before you, including the fact that he had been drinking, what would you do, convict him unconditionally or recommend him to the mercy of the court?

This question is a pertinent one so far as every man and woman in the country is concerned, for they are all liable to jury duty. It is pertinent for another reason, that while this towerman yielded to temptation emphasized by his appetite, he was supplied with liquor by some one who morally if not legally is primarily responsible for every one of the dead and injured in that wreck. If the tempted be punished to the full extent of the law, what about the tempter? What would you do if you knew who he was, and it was proved beyond the possibility of doubt that he sold the towerman the liquor?

MEDDLING IN IRELAND

Taxation thus makes Britain or her southern neighbor, as well as a world-key religious truce, the threat that all its old hatreds will be stirred to fury again is tragic. There have been intimations that the Irish Freedom Union and the Free State right resented the interference. But British intervention on the side of the Free State, now 4 years, does not prevent a 3-year relapse of the Irish problem than British intervention on the side of Ulster, attempted deterrously in the past.

ROAD TO RUIN

The whole economic history of the world shows that whenever, as before a lack, the ownership of property has been an instrument for consolidation, whenever, in fact, property, and the ministrance of property, are not reasonably secure, not only is there no wealth, but all chance are very poor. Now that a check has been put on immigration, the time may come in America when ditch-digging will be done by university men because of a dearth of labor. One of the great dreams of Socialism has been to amplify toil so as to release men's minds for other pursuits. Improved machine production, the abolition of child labor, the increase of wages, have all tended toward this release.

"Consumption Is No Respecter of Persons"

In one of the sitting rooms of the Isolation Hospital for Consumptives, Harry Williams occupies a bed right next to Jim Thom. Harry was studying Arts in the Toronto University, while Jim was a laborer in some city. Both found that they had contracted consumption.)

Harry is a fine, handsome young man, say about 22, and is particularly well versed in the Bible literature. He comes in to Western Ontario. Harry's brother was consumptive, and he knew that he was treated that way. Harry went back to school last fall, that he be thoroughly examined. The examination revealed consumption,—so Harry writhes from his room, packed up a few belongings and journeyed to the Hospital. He is very appreciative. "You know," says Harry, "consumption is no respecter of persons. Here I am, just as rich as my room-mate. He was a laborer and I was a student. He never heard of Jesus Christ while I never laboured four years in a Christian University without hearing about Him. I have been saved ever since birth. I can't understand it, can you?" And with that Harry smiled a little and settles down to let science and nature fight the battle resulted for his health.

Harry and Jim are but two of the many who are at present entirely dependent on the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. The Hospital itself relies on the generosity of its many friends.

Mc Gaughey Doesn't Realize Position

Lindsay Man Continues to Eat and Sleep Well

Lindsay, Dec. 4—Black as the pit from pole to pole appears to be the outlook for Frederick William Mc Gaughey, doomed to hang to-morrow morning for the murder at his 13-year old sweetheart, Beatrice Lillian Fee of Omemee.

Although no official word has been received in Lindsay as to the result of the cabinet conference at Ottawa over his case, it is stated unofficially that the sentence will not be commuted. In the absence of word from the capital Sheriff Vrooman is going ahead with preparations for the hanging.

Hangman Ellis has been in town since Saturday last, and the lumber for the scaffold is in the jail yard. A group of curious folks eyed on Ellis last night as he was sitting in the rotunda of a local hotel. To avoid these, window cases Ellis went to his room. Some citizens who live in the vicinity of the jail have already left town for Toronto, rather than remain here for the morning of December 5.

The scaffold will be erected in an alcove at the rear of the jail, in a manner that there will be no possibility of morbid outsiders spying on the operation from house-tops or trees. It is understood that Sheriff Vrooman has decided not to issue any permits to newspapermen from outside points, or even to local newspapermen.

McGaughey who has had frequent visits from his relatives, his spiritual adviser and jail officials continues to eat and sleep well, and at times converses affably. He appears not to realize that he stands in the veritable shadow of the gallows.

NEWS BRIEFS

A dispute with regard to the rate of pay of the crew of the British freight vessel the Volumnia that arrived after the tying up of the vessel at Fremantle, New South Wales, Australia, since October 28 has been settled, the owners having agreed to pay the crew the Australian rate. The Volumnia was chartered by the Commonwealth line of steamers.

Broadcasting of a university course of general interest, and intended to be of particular benefit to students, has begun by one of the Berlin, Germany stations as an experiment. The subjects broadcast will be a summary of questions studied by the university students during the week the lectures are given.

A serious disturbance was precipitated at Sydney Australia, by women who urged the members of the Waterside Workers Federation to kill "scabs". Two hundred men affected by the dockers' dispute, attacked fifteen strikers from the Ex-Service Men's Protest who are regarded as blackleg. Police separated the combatants and made three arrests.

As a sequel to the strike of the crew of the liner Paris, which left Havre, France, manned by sailors of the navy, the maritime tribunal sitting in Havre condemned the delinquents to various penalties. About twenty men, convicted of desertion in France and the rest found in their orders were sentenced to terms with hard labor in jail some with suspended sentences.

Fire at Bowmanville

Bowmanville, Dec. 4—Fire breaking out at 2 o'clock yesterday morning did $30,000 damage to the building owned by W. M. Hoover, almost wiping out the property.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have been caused by a chimney situated in the centre of the building setting fire to inflammable material on the third floor, where the flames were first noticed.

The building was a 40-roomed structure, the first floor being occupied by stores.

The property was insured.

Ralph Connor Is Strong Unionist

Early Church Hated to Leave Old, Safe Places

CHURCH NEED TO-DAY

Is Going Out Into the Open On Sheer Faith

Montreal, Dec. 4—Coming out uncompromisingly for church union, Rev. C. W. Gordon, D.D., known to millions of book readers as Ralph Connor, preached to a very large congregation at Laidlaw Presbyterian church. Many had to be turned away.

Speaking of the faith that looks up and then looks forward, he skilfully drew an analogy between a faith looking forward and the new United Church of Canada. Dr. Gordon was emphatic that there was not one clear-headed belief, not one tenet of the old Presbyterian church, that was not contained in the doctrines of the new United church.

Dr. Gordon began by saying it was a great pleasure to be once more in the pulpit of Laidlaw church, and worship with Rev. Mr. Dickey, a friend of many years' standing.

Faith Being Tested

"These are days when we are testing out our faith, and it is good for a church to be occasionally led into such circumstances as will force it to consider the fundamentals of its belief, and to thus get closer to God," he continued. "I wish to speak on the double aspect of the Christian church, first on its upward trend.

"Christ made clear to his people only one thing—the first and immediate necessity of moving the right way, In reply to the people's foolish questions, He said 'Wait at Jerusalem till you hear the promise of My Father,' and that promise was the Holy Spirit.

"It is good to know today that Christ is concerned with the comfort of His people. A fine house and a good bank account are fine to have but they don't make for comfort a bit. When a man eats riches or an auto it often adds only to his troubles. The comfort that comes from Christ is real.

Church Not Telling Truth

"That's where the wrong with the church today, it is not telling the truth about Jesus. Many Presbyterians, if asked about Christ today, might be very good Presbyterians, but very poor witnesses for Jesus. Yet, to tell the truth about Christ is the church's one business. The truth about Jesus is the one source of comfort to us all at heart. We all need to know a great deal more about Jesus.

"The first look of the church in obedience to Jesus' command is the upward look, one of the marks of the church. When the church is right, it is looking around, but looking ahead, looking at the horizon. It is filled with splendid discontent, always looking for more work to do.

"The early church was always walking with its head over its shoulder. It hated to leave the old, safe places. The forward spirit of the man of adventure going out into the open on sheer faith is that the church of today needs.

No wonder the early church in its pristine enthusiasm, said, 'This is poor! Let us remain here.' But one man could not rest there, and he exhorted them in the strongest that the church was not only the church of the past, but of the future. And they killed Stephen, the first Christian martyr, because he would go forward he was put to death, and there have been many like him since. All those who follow the marching God will suffer as he suffered. Peter did a new thing, and broke the practices of the old church when he ate with the Gentiles. Paul's experience he had with Peter, which called him to go forward. The man who has a vision and sees his way ought to walk to the end of his light.

"Sometimes the Lord does for us what the eagle did for its young. When they would not fly, the eagle stirred up its nest, and they simply had to fly. Similarly, the Lord caused persecution to prevail, so that His people might leave their best work.

Severing Old Ties

"I don't think much of the man who easily forgets his racial strains or traditions. But at Antioch, the old Jews came down from Jerusalem and dictated that the old order must prevail. All the fine things of Moses and the prophets were respected, but Paul's great plea for the new Christianity was the day. Henceforth nothing was to be imposed upon them except faith in the Lord and purity of life.

"It was the first victory for Christ's liberty that church refuse to be allowed hold down by the things of the past. Paul had to fight wherever he went for personal religious liberty.

"No person today can impose upon me ideas of some previous age. We have all our own ideas about minor matters, but we have no right to foist them on everybody.

"In shaking itself free from the fetters of the past, the church won the world for Christ.

"But then the church became powerful and comfortably entrenched under Constantine.

"There followed the black days in the Middle Ages, when the church was conceived with words, with forms, none of which mattered, for the word of God was the thing.

"I believe history has a way of repeating itself. The Presbyterian church has a wonderful history to it. The one thing the Presbyterian church in Canada has not done is either to break with the church or fail to follow in faith of its fathers.

Church Union

"Our church today is in adventuring into a new land. There are some of the Presbyterians who are not going to march with the church. They are the non-active feature of his remarks. Light is breaking through the clouds, and difficulties are greatly over-done behind us, bright spots begin to appear, and the buoyancy of confidence can be more generally felt. In itself the more cheerful tone taken by the President is an excellent tonic calculated to inspire faith in the future stability of business and to aid in recovery of commercial and industrial activity.

Many hurdles, however, have yet to be surmounted. Measurement of improvement is allowed to by Sir Vincent as deterrent of national progress, and unquestionably a quick and unexpected disappointment. One must reasonably have anticipated that the conjunction of restricted immigration by the United States and the numbers of unemployed in Europe would have caused Indo Canada a large and continuous stream of people. On the contrary, the stream has dwindled to a dribble, and at best population has been nearly stationary. Immigration is the foremost national problem of Canada, the panacea for most of our difficulties, since by immigration the weight of taxation is distributed, the volume of production is increased, the market for manufactures is enlarged, and transportation troubles removed. Sir Vincent, however, does not despair. So favored a land as Canada cannot, always call in vain for people to come and occupy it, and he holds faith that, when the reactions of the war have passed away, when economic conditions have been restored in Europe, and when the advantages of Canada are still more widely known, there will be a bursting in of people even in excess of the great incursion of twelve or fifteen years ago.

Canada and the Gold Basis.

To the subject of resumption of specie payments in Great Britain and in Canada, Sir Vincent Meredith makes an important contribution. In his opinion, the time is not ripe for this step. The question is essentially a banker's one, for those concerned with money and the mechanism of exchange, but the outlook will be lacking ed to the view that until Great Britain invests in a gold basis, Canada may prudently refrain from the risk. Certain it is, says Sir Vincent, that to resume specie payments and then fail to maintain them would be financial suicide. At the moment, Canada is uncertain as a gold basis, that is to say, our currency is at par with the gold dollar, and exchange on New York has ceased to command a premium, a situation which may continue for some time. The balance of foreign trade is favorable, upwards of $200,000,000 in the last twelve months, but foreign indebtedness is large and continuously increasing. New York being a receptive market for high-class loans, interest continues to command crowd the favorable balance of trade, and it is by means of fresh borrowings that credits are created in New York to bridge the gap and keep up the exchange value of the Canadian dollar. Moreover, the provenance of our gold holdings in the circulation is much lower than before the war, in celebration of the fact, the following comparative statement is interesting:—

Bank note circulation	104,608,666	163,413,680
Dominion note circulation	114,182,950	240,300,000
Specie held by banks	72,370,000	68,700,000
Specie held by Govern.	101,160,000	126,490,000

Ten years are the proportion of specie to note circulation was 73 per cent; it is now only 52 per cent. Return to the gold basis should, of course, be the ultimate aim of the government and the banks, as otherwise variability in rates of the paper circulation would be a constant source of embarrassment to business. Sir Vincent's presentation of the situation in Europe is interesting and instructive. Reconstruction and restoration are there making fair headway, the Dawes plan is being put into operation, tariffs are being adjusted, international conventions are in negotiation and production is rising. French production in Nord is now the subject growing confidence in the recuperative capacity of those countries and while unemployment is still serious in Great Britain, several departments of industry show increased activity. In the United States, the improvement in trade conditions appears, if only reviewed faith that the downward recession in commercial and industry is over. Encouraging above all else is the better circumstance of Canada's harvest, many of whom, especially in Ontario, have been of unusual excellence in marketable, at profitable prices. When agriculture prospers other industries will thrive. It is fitting indeed, that the farmer, who was first to suffer from the sharp decline in prices, should be first to participate in the reverse movement. All foodstuffs are substantially higher than a year ago, and while price fluctuations are inevitable under the law of supply and demand, the probability is that the new level of the past two years will not soon be again touched. Nor is there desire it otherwise. In fine, there runs through the authoritative address at yesterday's meeting a note of subdued confidence, and clear counsels to dispel gloom and to encourage hope that if we are to look for trouble we must look behind.

The General Manager's Address

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, sounds a note of the fullness situation in the last year or two. As all know, it has not been satisfactory, but, after reciting forward facts, he expressed his hope and belief that "we will emerge from our difficulties presently." Sir Frederick did not hesitate to enter the field of high politics and to place his finger on admissible one of the drawbacks under which Canada labors. In his opinion, there is too much apathy about public affairs, not party politics or administration, but public affairs in the larger sense. Taxation is heavy and the cost of living such how is this condition to be changed? More population and rigid economy by all governments are the sole means, and both should be employed. Whether or not economy is to continue in examinizers word, employed exclusively in platform oratory, is difficult to determine, and we fear Sir Frederick's is a voice crying in the wilderness. Until taxation comes down the cost of living will keep up. Governments do not control electors; they and their policies are a reflex of public opinion, and people invariably obtain under any constitutional system precisely the kind of administration they desire. None the less, the words of so prominent a banker as Sir Frederick ought not to fall on deaf ears. The desirability of a standard of the statement of public finances periodically published is self-evident, and conformance. FAMOUS DETECTIVE DIED WEDNESDAY

Montreal, Dec. 4—Sergeant Detective George Thibault, for many years a member of the Montreal police force, died at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning after an illness which has extended since last April.

Officer Thibault was one of the men assigned to the famous Bank of Hochelaga robbery in Montreal in 1912, for last, when Henri Clermoz was killed, for which crime four men have been hanged and three are doing penitentiary sentences for life.

He assisted in the investigations which resulted in the convictions of the seven men, but the very next day was taken ill and had been confined to his home ever since.

Thibault, in health, was a well-built agile man of about 45 years, but the years of absence brought him down from over two hundred pounds to less than one hundred.

ADDRESSED KIWANIANS

Montreal, Dec. 4—Prof. B. K. Sandwell, head of the English department of Queen's University addressed Montreal Kiwanians at the weekly luncheon today in the Windsor Hotel on the subject of "Who Wants Literature?" The address was in connection with Book Week.

Bank of Montreal Annual: Canada Offers Unusual Inducements to Settlers

Many Developments Indicate Improvement in World-Wide Conditions, Says Sir Vincent Meredith, President—Reviews Principal Changes in Canada's Foreign Trade and Discusses Possibility of Return to Gold Basis.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, States People Should Insist Upon Government Practising Policy of Economy—Canada is Favored Land.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal not only marked the closing of a very successful year, but was also features by comprehensive and informative addresses by Sir Vincent Meredith, the President, and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager.

The deduction to be drawn from the address of Sir Vincent Meredith is that Canada is slowly but surely emerging from the slough. That is the most striking feature of his remarks. Light is breaking through the clouds, and difficulties greatly over-done behind us, bright spots begin to appear, and the buoyancy of confidence can be more generally felt. In itself the more cheerful tone taken by the President is an excellent tonic calculated to inspire faith in the future stability of business and to aid in recovery of commercial and industrial activity.

Many hurdles, however, have yet to be surmounted. Measurement of improvement is allowed to by Sir Vincent as deterrent of national progress, and unquestionably a quick and unexpected disappointment. One might reasonably have anticipated that the conjunction of restricted immigration by the United States and the numbers of unemployed in Europe would have caused Indo Canada a large and continuous stream of people. On the contrary, the stream has dwindled to a dribble, and at best population has been nearly stationary. Immigration is the foremost national problem of Canada, the panacea for most of our difficulties, since by immigration the weight of taxation is distributed, the volume of production is increased, the market for manufactures is enlarged, and transportation troubles removed. Sir Vincent, however, does not despair. So favored a land as Canada cannot, always call in vain for people to come and occupy it, and he holds faith that, when the reactions of the war have passed away, when economic conditions have been restored in Europe, and when the advantages of Canada are still more widely known, there will be a bursting in of people even in excess of the great incursion of twelve or fifteen years ago.

Canada and the Gold Basis.

To the subject of resumption of specie payments in Great Britain and in Canada, Sir Vincent Meredith makes an important contribution. In his opinion, the time is not ripe for this step. The question is essentially a banker's one, for those concerned with money and the mechanism of exchange, but the outlook will be lacking ed to the view that until Great Britain invests in a gold basis, Canada may prudently refrain from the risk. Certain it is, says Sir Vincent, that to resume specie payments and then fail to maintain them would be financial suicide. At the moment, Canada is uncertain as a gold basis, that is to say, our currency is at par with the gold dollar, and exchange on New York has ceased to command a premium, a situation which may continue for some time. The balance of foreign trade is favorable, upwards of $200,000,000 in the last twelve months, but foreign indebtedness is large and continuously increasing. New York being a receptive market for high-class loans, interest continues to command crowd the favorable balance of trade, and it is by means of fresh borrowings that credits are created in New York to bridge the gap and keep up the exchange value of the Canadian dollar. Moreover, the provenance of our gold holdings in the circulation is much lower than before the war, in celebration of the fact, the following comparative statement is interesting:—

Bank note circulation	104,608,666	163,413,680
Dominion note circulation	114,182,950	240,300,000
Specie held by banks	72,370,000	68,700,000
Specie held by Govern.	101,160,000	126,490,000

Ten years are the proportion of specie to note circulation was 73 per cent; it is now only 52 per cent. Return to the gold basis should, of course, be the ultimate aim of the government and the banks, as otherwise variability in rates of the paper circulation would be a constant source of embarrassment to business. Sir Vincent's presentation of the situation in Europe is interesting and instructive. Reconstruction and restoration are there making fair headway, the Dawes plan is being put into operation, tariffs are being adjusted, international conventions are in negotiation and production is rising. French production in Nord is now the subject growing confidence in the recuperative capacity of those countries and while unemployment is still serious in Great Britain, several departments of industry show increased activity. In the United States, the improvement in trade conditions appears, if only reviewed faith that the downward recession in commercial and industrial is over. Encouraging above all else is the better circumstance of Canada's harvest, many of whom, especially in Ontario, have been of unusual excellence in marketable, at profitable prices. When agriculture prospers other industries will thrive. It is fitting indeed, that the farmer, who was first to suffer from the sharp decline in prices, should be first to participate in the reverse movement. All foodstuffs are substantially higher than a year ago, and while price fluctuations are inevitable under the law of supply and demand, the probability is that the new level of the past two years will not soon be again touched. Nor is there desire it otherwise. In fine, there runs through the authoritative address at yesterday's meeting a note of subdued confidence, and clear counsels to dispel gloom and to encourage hope that if we are to look for trouble we must look behind.

The General Manager's Address

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, sounds a note of the fullness situation in the last year or two. As all know, it has not been satisfactory, but, after reciting forward facts, he expressed his hope and belief that "we will emerge from our difficulties presently." Sir Frederick did not hesitate to enter the field of high politics and to place his finger on admissible one of the drawbacks under which Canada labors. In his opinion, there is too much apathy about public affairs, not party politics or administration, but public affairs in the larger sense. Taxation is heavy and the cost of living such how is this condition to be changed? More population and rigid economy by all governments are the sole means, and both should be employed. Whether or not economy is to continue in examinizers word, employed exclusively in platform oratory, is difficult to determine, and we fear Sir Frederick's is a voice crying in the wilderness. Until taxation comes down the cost of living will keep up. Governments do not control electors; they and their policies are a reflex of public opinion, and people invariably obtain under any constitutional system precisely the kind of administration they desire. None the less, the words of so prominent a banker as Sir Frederick ought not to fall on deaf ears. The desirability of a standard of the statement of public finances periodically published is self-evident, and conformance. The information, it is true, is already available to those who figures from various sources, but this laborious work the man in the street will not perform, and it is not unreasonable to require that the finance Department or the Statistical Office at Ottawa should undertake the task.

I WANT SOME BULBS." How often this request is made; yet to purchase electric lamps without specifying the make is like buying the proverbial pig in a poke.

For instance, two lamps may look exactly alike, but one may have a fine film of moisture on the inside, while the other is perfectly dry. The first lamp will have a much shorter life than the dry lamp.

Two gas-filled lamps may look identical, yet one may have argon and the costly gas known as argon, while the other has the cheaper, and not much less efficient, nitrogen.

CHINA LEHMAN IS NOW PROFESSIONAL

Eric "China" Lehman, of Hamilton, formerly of Kingston, has turned professional and will understudy Clint Benedict on the Montreal N.H.L. team, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Lehman, while attached to the A. S. C. here in 1920, played goal for the Kingston juniors, and was the sensation of the league. On the team that winter he had a defence composed of "Bill" McLaughlin, now of Ottawa, and Cecil Baker, while the forward line was Fred Brown, now of Hamilton; "Flue" Lane, Don Robinson, now of Ottawa; "Pete" Devlin, and "Jazz" Honey.

The next year he returned to his home in Hamilton and starred with the Beavers junior O.H.A. team. Later he played between the sticks for the same team when they advanced to intermediate ranks and was always recognized as a goaltender of exceptional ability. Under such a man as Benedict he should improve by leaps and bounds.

Lehman comes by his goal-minding ability honestly, he being a nephew of "Eagle-Eye" Lehman, veteran goalkeeper of the Vancouver professional hockey club. He has many years before him, but if he plays half as well now, and with an even break should add more luster to the name of Lehman.

St. Pats. Trounce Boston Bruins

Hockey Played Was Ordinary Brand, but Excitement Ran High

Toronto, Dec. 4—St. Patrick's opened their home season in the National hockey league last night by a 4 to 2 victory over the Boston Bruins in a game that was a typical early season affair as far as the hockey was concerned, but was a championship final, if the excitement among the spectators and occupants of the two playing benches are taken into consideration. The excitement, which came to be few in the second period after the Bostons had scored two goals to knot the count, resulted from Referee Odie Cleghorn calling back a play, ruling that Dye's pass to Adams had been completed outside the offside area in centre ice.

"I am quizzed, what was a somewhat slow, early-season game, became a battle royal, when Cleghorn overruled his opinion of the ruling in spasmodic-ally language and was given five minutes, but the penalty lid-not shut the fans from continuing the argu-ration, and he was given ten minutes making the locals two men short, with the score tied at 2 all. Whether the ruling was right or wrong regarding the play is not known to the fans themselves, but if the players offended as they claimed, no one can blame the officials, the rulings were rightly deserved.

Noble, Corbeau and Shiller were soft to give Boots protection and they made a number of fine rushes, but were be especially prominent. They made individual rushes, killed time, and performed their duties in a pleasing manner. Noble shot the puck down the ice after the bell at the end of the game had sounded minutes. Stuart replaced McCaffery on the left wing position in the second and final six. The Bostonians swarmed during the last minutes and while they had many chances to score, the plays were either nullified by the offside or Clarence Vezina had good stops. It was a hec ic five minutes; the crowd was in an uproar, and the tension was unmistakably apparent in the players' actions.

Good Goalkeeping

Cook scored on a rebound from his own shot, but it was disallowed because Mitchell was keeping Roach stationary in the local goal. Noble returned, and then Cooper went off for hooking, and the Bostonians came and Mitchell went off for buttending Adams, and when he threw his alive on the ice his penalty was doubled. McCaffery took advantage of the odd man to score and Noble was the defence and after sailing Fowler out, put

Bridge Defeats Christ Church Men

In Both Junior and Senior Basketball Fixtures at Y.M.C.A.

The opening games of the Sunday School Basket Ball League took place at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Both fixtures were played by the Christ Church and Bridge Street Church teams.

The juniors met in the first game which was called by Alexander of the Y staff shortly after seven This was a real snappy fixture with both teams battling all the way. Bridge St. took the lead in scoring Dalrymple and Gilbert doing the trick. Christ Church had difficulte in locating the "hoops" in the initial stages of the game but came on strong towards the end, Ketcheson getting two and C. Smith one. At the conclusion of three two minute, periods the score stood, Christ Church 7, Bridge St. 12.

The line up—Christ Church— Forwards, Fisher and Ketchesen, centre "Burchill, guards, W. Mouzen, J. Cook spare C. Smith and J. Mouzen.

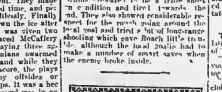

Bridge St—Forwards, A. Ridley and Dalrymple; centre A. Sprague, guard Gilbert and VanTassel; spare Elliott.

In the Intermediate comp game Bridge street took the lead early in the first period and were never headed. Kerr for the winners was running wild scoring nine of his teams' eighteen field goals. Berridge for the losers batted along with E. Holway did the lion share of the scoring for his team, each player found the inside of the ring on four occasions.

The final score read—Christ Church 31, Bridge Street 29.

The teams—Christ church — Forwards, Barriage, Holway; centre, G. Brown; Guards, Collins, L. Brown.

Bridge St.—Forwards, Decoche, Coleman, J. Kerr; guards, Hammond and Stickley; spares, J. Robertson.

his locals in the lead for the last time with a pretty goal.

Both teams were under mid-season form but that was not expected and the locals showed the best combination work of the evening. The visitors have not yet got their line working well, most of their efforts were individual ones and when they attempted to combine they had little success. With practice they will improve. The team was composed of six players with previous professional experience in the Pacific Coast of We ern Canada league and the players who were expected to play with the Hamilton senior O.H.A. team this winter. They showed well individually, and there were no outstanding star players. Jack Adams, centre, starred in a strong game with Noble, another player to watch. "Scooky" Harris was good in spots.

Cooper Dye and Alex Richards will be in their present company agin as they have been with Bridge for a few months and have proved to be a little short of condition and tired towards the end. They also showed considerable speed for the puck going around the rink and had tried to stop one-hander shooting which gave Roach little to do, although he was the goal he had to make a number of smart saves when the enemy broke inside.

QUEEN'S SENIORS TO PLAY AGAINST YALE

Kingston, Dec. 4.—It was announced at Queen's yesterday that the Queen's senior hockey team would play a two-game series with Yale University on Pittsburg on Jan. 31 and 2nd, these two games to form part of a hockey tour which is now under arrangement. It is customary for the Queen's senior hockey team to make a tour in the States early in the season and it was found that this has been of great benefit to the team. Last year the team won six other games and in addition to the two games in Pittsburg games, one each in Ottawa and Montreal direct where they were in time for an Intercollegiate senior fixture. It is not known yet what players will make the trip as the team will not be picked until the players have had several practices this month.

HAMS MADE IT TWO IN A ROW

Montreal, Dec. 4—Hamilton made it two straight wins in the National Hockey League when they beat the new Montreal team here last night, 2 to 0. Victory came after a hard, fast game in which the two teams were deadlocked for scoreless honors until the last five minutes, when Bouchard batted in the puck on a scramble before the mouth. It's a safe margin by going through on his own individual effort in the first period. It was as exciting a game as seen here in several seasons, though not brilliant hockey. Spectacular individual rushes, accurate shooting combinations and heavy checking all tended to add thrills for the 5,500 spectators.

Before, Not After

Two club men were discussing the relative merits of their wives, when one of them remarked:

"Ah! When you come in from the club?" suggested the other.

A Woman's Soul BY Charles Garvice

She was so beautiful! He tried to think of some of the girls that he had known, that he might compare them with her; but they all seemed lanky and colorless, beside the intense, spirit ual loveliness of Doris, with her deep, melting eyes, and grave, clear brow. And she was not only beautiful, but a genius. Every word she spoke was filled out of the realm of commonplace by her marvelous voice, with its innumerable changes of expression. Its touch of her small, smooth hand lingered about him; yet, like any kiss, of the warm lips burned upon his brow.

What had he done to deserve so great, so overwhelming a happiness? And as he asked himself the question, Cecil Neville's face grew grave, and a pang shot through his heart, a pang of remorse—and of shame—for some of the follies of his past life.

Doris was worthy of the best and noblest man in England; and here—

He set his teeth and breathed hard. He had sinned and he had suffered, he most contemptuously at passion, and now he felt that this was the one thing worth living for, and that rather than forfeit it he would undergo all he had to make at the stone wall before him and break his head.

Then he thought of the marquis and his many kindnesses. What would the marquis say? He laughed grimly as he pictured the scene before him. He could imagine the marquis's cold, haughty face turning to ice and steel as he listened, and the cutting, chilling voice bidding him to marry his actress and go to the devil.

He was entirely dependent on the marquis; was in debt, as bankrupt as even the heir to such a title and estates could be. What would the marquis do when he, Lord Cecil, told him that he could not marry Lady Doris because he was going to marry an actress?

"I wish to Heaven I were anything but what I am," he said to himself, with a sigh. "If I were only capable of earning my own living, a barrister, or a doctor, or an artist, or somethin', I could make a home for my darling then but I am simply a useless, worthless beast being who happens unfortunately, to be the next Earl of the Windsor Bicycles!"

What should he do, if the marquis ignored him adrift? His allowance would cease, his creditors would become pressing—he would be rulsed; and he would have to wait until the marquis died before he could make Doris his wife.

"She thought was rall and wonderful. Much as he disliked his uncle Cecil Neville was not the man to wish for his death. The marquis must live forever, if only Cecil could marry his darling.

"If he only had a heart in his body, instead of a flint, and could see that he thought, as he rode on, 'Why, it's were only a barrister or an artist, or anything that earns money enough to make my darling my wife!'

He was in no hurry to reach the Towers; it was far pleasanter to be alone, to think over his happiness, and he made a wide circuit, bringing Polly Jiks the stable-yard just before the dressing-bell rang.

"And after all his thinking, this was the result. That he must try some-how to win the marquis consent to the marriage.

He had intended going to the theatre; to feast his eyes and ears upon his beautiful love, but—with a pang—he resolved to dine and spend the evening at the Towers, and after dinner he would tell the marquis. Perhaps the old port would soften the old man's heart! Anyhow, he would tell him.

As he passed through the hall he smiled, in spite of himself, at Spencer Churchill, who was coming out of the marquis's apartments.

"Ah, my dear Cecil!" he murmured with a benevolent smile that set back. "What a lovely evening! Have you ordered your ride? You notice the sunset? Quite a Leader! You know those beautiful pictures Leader paints, all crimson and mauve?"

Lord Cecil nodded and strode up the stairs to his rooms.

When he came down into the drawing-room, Lady Grace was seated at the piano, playing softly, and she glanced up at him with a smile.

"What have you been doing with yourself all day, Cecil?" she asked.

"Oh, I've just been loafing about," he said, carelessly; "and you?"

"I am ashamed to say—I haven't been outside the grounds," she replied. "Mr. Churchill and I have been hard-working in the gardens. I told him that we really ought to do something in the way of exploring the neighborhood, but I couldn't induce him to go outside the gates. Are you going to the theatre to-night?" she asked, innocently.

He started and bent over the music. "I didn't know," she said. "I myself would like to go, and see that girl play Juliet again; it was wonderful."

"Yes," he said in his short way.

"Yes, she played it so remarkably well. Put it again, and you would spoil the impression, wouldn't you?"

"I daresay," he said.

Lord Cecil noticed that he was less bitter than usual, and that he refrained from striking the reserved and contemptuous remarks with which he usually adorned the conversation.

Spencer Churchill, too, appeared in his most benevolent and amiable mood and grew quite pathetic as he talked of his pet charity for distressed canary sweeps.

The dessert came, and then Lady Grace took up her fan and left the room, and Spencer Churchill after a single glass of claret, rose, and saying: "I won't let you disturb you two; I am going to ask Lady Grace for some music," glided out of the room.

The moment had arrived for Lord Cecil's announcement, and he felt ill, and his glass, his face grew set and white.

The marquis instead of rising, seemed to linger over his wine, and leaned back in his chair with half-closed eyes. Once he glanced at Lord Cecil curiously.

ARE MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS BORN IN U.S.A.

Washington, Dec. 4.—More lads than lassies are being born in the United States according to the Census Bureau. Of the 1922 birth, 911,321 were males and 847,000 females. The census bureau report says:

"The masculinity of births varies considerably for the different race groups. For example in 1922, for the whites, in the birth registration area the greatest masculinity (1.062 to 1,000 females), appears in children of mothers born in the United States and Ireland, while the lowest (1,031 to 1,035) appears for children born in unknown countries of birth.

"The negro year after year shows the greatest masculinity, which is greatest for this race in any year between 1916 and 1923 exclusive being 1.032."

The birth rate for 1922, the bureau says, was 22.5 for 1,000 population and the death rate 11.9 in 1,000.

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

THIEF IN BEDROOM

Toronto, Dec. 4—Awakened Wednesday morning at 1.30 o'clock, Mrs. Inkster, wife of Rev. John G. Inkster of Knox Church found a thief in her bedroom at 407 Brunswick ave. Mrs. Inkster shouted at the intruder to get out of the house, and the man rushed from the room about a hallway into another bedroom and out through a window onto the roof of the sun parlor, by which he had entered the house. After making an examination of the house, Rev. Mr. Inkster discovered that the thief had stolen $17 in money from his bedroom and den.

Buys Expensive Wedding Present

Charles Jones, Belle Theatre Star, Purchased Real Car

Automobiles motored Beamer into the roadster, the last model of his kind to reach Los Angeles was purchased recently by Charles Jones, William Fox screen star, whose latest production, "His Darb" opens a three day engagement at the Belle Theatre tonight, as a wedding present (celebrating his eighth anniversary) for Mrs. Jones.

The car is a special built job, designed by Roamer engineers after plans requested by the well-known actor. It is capable of turning over ninety miles an hour, but Charles Jones has been assured by his wife, who was formerly the world's cheapest familiar trick horseback rider, that she has not yet "opened" up the motor to its full extent.

In his own garage Charles Jones maintains a variety of motors ranging from a four-legged flivver to a twelve-cylinder limousine.

Lloyd Unspoiled By Film Successes

Comedian Appearing at Griffin Now Avoids Showy Life

Simplicity is the outline keynote of Harold Lloyd's life, and of his success. In the flush of his screen fame, followed he suspensive triumph of his first five-reel production, "Grandma's Boy," Lloyd never changed from the likeable boy he has always been. This is per haps the reason of a press agent, but the opinion of those who has come into contact recently with "The Boy," is the opinion shown on all.

Harold Lloyd is just "Plain Folk." He is human, and might be envied, were it not disappointing to those who figure that all movie stars live in castles. It is an unpretentious, ivy-covered house, and back of it is a swimming pool that is not at all unlike the one "at the moony. His automobiles are not flashy, though they are expensive ones.

If Harold had chosen to be a physician, rather than a motion picture star he would be exactly the same type he portrays in his newest Pathe comedy feature, "Why Worry," which will be seen at Griffin's Theatre now. A "sunshine doctor" is exactly what Lloyd would be, and that is the type he portrays in "Dr. Jack," — a jovial gentleman. And it's a keen characterization that Harold Lloyd gives.

"Sickness Stalked Into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harrow moved into his pretty white-washed cottage, he thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife and he had enjoyed lovely travel their pleasures, too, and they seemed to be "heading for Heaven" for sure.

But the happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harrow. "It's just a pain in my back, mayra-ther," she would say. But it grew worse, how a powerful magazine of pleasure and instruction, as he called in a doctor. The doctor hinted at "nervous trouble" and advised a complete examination. Jim took her to a specialist, who quickly confirmed the first doctor's opinion. Jim felt like a man condemned to death. He was in the depths of hopeless misery, but cheer was forthcoming. "Don't worry," said the doctor, "a year's treatment at the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives will put Mrs. Harrow on her feet again." Jim's heart sang for now was delay. A kindly neighbor is taking care of the baby boy while Jim is "keeping house" by himself. Every few days the postman leaves a letter from the wife. Jim reads and rereads these letters, all do their utmost to bring back the health that belonged to Mrs. Harrow. Shortly the letters will cease for she is almost "home" and soon will be in the little cottage.

We want you wish to have a hand in such worthy humane work, kindly send your contributions to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 123 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Markets

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 4—Declines in domestic winter wheat belt tended to east down the market today during active trade transactions here. Weakness of wheat quotations at Liverpool counted as a bit as depressing factor. Heavy offerings from Argentina, India and Australia were reported. Opening prices here which ranged from ¼ to ¾ cent lower were followed by rally that in some cases went above yesterday's finish. Corn and oats both showed strength. Stormy weather in corn belt, together with unfavorable corn crop reports from Argentina were responsible. After opening ¼c off to 3-8c up corn market scored good general gains.

Oats started at 1-8c to 1-4c higher and then continued to ascend. Provisions were responsible to upturn in corn and were influenced only in trifling way, by lower hog values.

TORONTO MARKET

Toronto, Dec. 4—Receipts light, trade steady. Heavy beef steers 6 to 6½c; butcher steers, choice, 5 to 7; butcher cows, medium, 3 to 4; calves 10 to 11c; lambs ewes 12 to 14; hogs selects off cars 1041.

WINNIPEG FUTURES

Winnipeg, Dec. 4— Wheat December 3-4 lower at 1.06; May 1-8 to one cent lower at 164 1-3 to 164; July 1-2 lower at 164. Oats December 1-8 lower at 58 1-2. May unchanged to 1-4 lower at 60 to 60 3-4; July unchanged to 3-4 higher at 64 3-8 to 3-4.

NEWS BRIEFS

The customs section of the Ministry of Finance of France has completed his revision of the existing customs tariff, considerably increasing duties on a large number of articles, says Le Petit Parisien of Paris. The new tariff will be immediately submitted to Parliament for endorsement, as it can be used in the current tariff negotiations with foreign countries.

The Atlantic conference held at Paris, France, and composed of representatives of the trans-Atlantic steamship lines, ended with members continuing to observe much secrecy regarding matters discussed. It was understood, however, that principal business taken up by the conference was the rejection of plans for the development of traffic to take the place of diminished emigrant business.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE OUTLINES IDEAS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—President Coolidge in his annual message to Congress today advised United States adherence to world court of international justice. Such decision the United States was not disposed to join the League of Nations and repeated the declaration that United States was opposed to any cancellation of debts owed United States by foreign governments. In the realm of domestic affairs the President advised that the most important work Congress could do, would be to sponsor a system of tight economy to make possible benefit or reduction of taxes for next fiscal year.

Women Students
By
Professor Norman W. De Witt. Ph. D

When the history of the nineteenth century comes to be so written as to include all the factors of life, one of the greatest events of that remarkable time will be recognized in the invention of the sewing machine. On the day that one Elias Howe in the year 1849, completed the first machine that would run a seam, the human race was doomed to revolution, for that little contrivance was destined to accomplish more for the emancipation of women than all the militant suffragettes that ever threw stones in a shop sign while their sisters made their clothes. It was not the talk that brought about the upheaval, and all the Susan B. Anthonys were mere strumpets in the real cause was the machine. Once I urged a fairy tale, about a hundred seamstresses, sewing all the week day, for two weeks to make a wedding dress for a princess. Nowadays one quick-fingered operator in a factory makes clothes for a dozen princesses who buy ready-made dresses and go to college, and the unrecognizable maid of today enjoys as much freedom of toilet and dress as the king's daughter of one hundred years ago. This progress was not due to argument it was brought about by a bit of machinism.

The way women march to freedom is one of the outstanding facts of our history. One hundred years ago there were only three occupations for women—housekeeping, sewing and nursing. At the end of the century the United States knows fifteen hundred separate occupations. Yet the inroads of women into the fields of higher education is practically a matter of the present century. It is little more than twenty years ago that the town of a certain crisis in Victoria College used to call their "Fair One Girls". For they rode on mule-back and at class recitations it used to be necessary to invite all the girls in the college if most of the men were to have partners. In things as these there is no need of any college men admiring the wall to want of company, and conditions are similar in all co-educational institutions. To the changed conditions the most pitiful opponents have become reconciled or at least are silent. I know of one the same with city life in general; the gentleman who said to a friend as he walked down Yonge Street in the good old days when the horse cars were all the rage: "Did you ever think it would come to this that you would have to teach women?" Since that day he has fawned many a class of mourners and found his fate endurable.

As we leave pioneer conditions behind us, under which every marriage were the rule, we find the age of marriage for both men and women perpetually postponed. The revelations for the medico-social schools are now call- ing for courses extending over five to seven years, which means that a man will be now in middle before he will be in a position to support a wife. It is not of course really makes it any easier for more people to look training in schools for their mind do sometimes and we read in the papers of new high schools before it is time to exercise on the true day of opening the doors. This makes it quite certain that we have not seen the end of the movement. If higher grades extend the B.A. school curriculum will eventually reach college, and more men will postpone the time of marriage, thus throwing more women on their own resources, of whom a great many will themselves look to further education as a preparation for life.

Those who spend their lives in college halls see other changes besides the increase of numbers. It is not many years ago that a college dame with a white shirt waist and dark skirt was pretty evenly divided by a lady student. It is not so many years ago that the first evening dress was first displayed in the women's residence. Now even the freshman girls have beautiful clothes; every other night they arrive, and a social function in the main hall is really a brilliant affair from the point of view of dress. In France we have often seen the women of the same age and similar station in society appearing with bobbed heads and long sheath skirts that the fashion was in this country many years ago. We are not given to extreme fashions, believing them to be French. However, we found not our students as a whole do less work than formerly. We are greatly pleased to out that the standard for all people are changing, and in the case of the women the changes are more conspicuous.

It was during the war, of course, that numbers of women increased till they equalled the numbers of men but the curious thing about many changes precipitated by war conditions is this, that they are permanent. Another remarkable fact is for male students in the dormitory. Even the military authorities who had charge of the residences during the war could hardly control the men in the crowd. Yet this inconceivable that the evening hours of the young women should be regulated according to their age and academic standing. Take a second instance: The men are free to do dance halls, although there never has been trouble on this score, but it is necessarily understood that the young women shall not do this. In brief, the very limitations that in the nature of things cannot be imposed upon the men are all the more necessary for the women for the very reason that the institution is co-educational. An escapade that might be overlooked in a girls' school might be intolerable here.

For real independence, a woman ought to choose a woman's college, a thing which there are several of in this country, and in any woman's paradise.

Gave Him Blood

Kingston, Dec. 4—To save the life of a little child, George Wood, 114 Ontario Street, gave two transfusions of blood at the General Hospital on Wednesday last and on Sunday the C.C. of blood being taken from his arm. Mr. Wood has been in the General Hospital for the last month and a half suffering from foot trouble. During last week it was found that one of the little orphan child ren was failing and in order that the child's strength might be regained it was found necessary to have a blood transfusion. He volunteered.

Cattle Poisoned

Petersboro, Dec. 4—Following an investigation in connection with the mysterious death of several head of cattle in Otonabee Township, Major F. E. Rogers, V.S., who makes a specialty of poisoning cases, has announced that the animals died from arsenical poisoning. The coroner had two valuable cows and two calves buried as the result of death. Dr. Rogers also discovered two dead animals and 22 others imbedded in one of the carcasses, and he later discovered that the man whose cattle were poisoned had had a dispute with a neighbor, who admits having put paris green out to kill foxes, and who also possesses a .22 rifle. It is expected prosecutions will follow.

Confiscate Car

Oshawa, Dec. 4—One of the largest seizures of liquor to be made in this township, about 1.30 o'clock just west of Whitby when provincial officers Milligan and Weinerbolder confiscated a Studebaker car containing 200 bottles of liquor of three different varieties. Three men in charge of the shipment, Max Merzlef and Joe Simon were taken into custody and on a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling and appeared in Court at the County Town Saturday morning were allowed out on bail of $2,000 each. The case will be resumed on Friday at 2 o'clock.

Radio Record

Oshawa, Dec. 4—Another radio record was made Monday evening when Mr. Frank Hall, 104 Queen Street, "heard" a concert broadcasted from Queensboro, Denmark. The concert was relayed through London and the entertainment was very plainly heard. Mr. Bell has a Branston three 'peanut' tube set wound with honeycomb coil and dry cells.

Esther Wagner at Kingston

Kingston, Dec. 4—Mrs. Ada Linzhamkleaver, pianist and manager for the Hart House String Quartette was in the city having made final arrangements for the concert Tuesday night. She is visiting with her daughter Miss Esther Wagner who is in her final year at Queen's. Mrs. Wagner played a program of piano selection which was broadcasted from the Kingston Hotel on Armistice Day and her playing was so enthusiastically received that she has been asked to repeat it on some other occasion.

A Queer Prisoner

Oshawa, Dec. 4—Wearing a wig smoking a pipe and with a broad grin on her face, Laura Addison, colored, sat waiting at the local "clink" for transportation to the County Gaol where Magistrate Major Hird ordered that she spend the next five months following her appearance on a charge of vacrancy. Laura is more or less a mystery and refuses to give information to enlighten anyone to any considerable extent. Judging by her clothes her suitcase does not contain the customary change of apparel. She is decidedly but a masculine outfit of at line also is tucked neatly away.

Laura first made her appearance at the local jail on Friday evening when she asked for a night's lodging, stating that she had come from Frederic ton N.B. The police officials graciously granted her the honor of sleeping in the council chamber of the "Blake City" and next morning the lady donned her own attire and was driven to Mrs Addison to set out a the city. Later in the day she return ed to the police station and asked for enough money to purchase some food She again was treated with generosity and was given "half a dollar". Laura visited the local C.N.R. station but fell asleep on one of the seats. After her "luck in" she missed the train she intended to take, and was found sneaking by one of the railway police officers, and taken by this official back to the police station, where she pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

CROWD AT HASTINGS COUNTY SPREADS BIG ROYAL FEAST FOR BOTH BODY AND MIND

Annual Function Outshines Anything of Kind Ever Held

SPEECHES WERE GOOD

Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P., Shows Need For St. Lawrence Power

Three hundred Hastings and Belleville men, prominent in all walks of life gathered in the Glen Ross dining hall to do honor to their good friend "Charlie" Rollins, Warden of Hastings at a banquet which marked the completion of his year in the Warden's chair. The Warden's banquet has come to be an honored institution in the county and past years have witnessed many notable affairs, but last night Charles B. Rollins set a mark which future Wardens will find hard to equal.

A fine spirit of optimism pervaded the big dining hall and a splendid array of speakers told of the many reasons that Canadians, and particularly citizens of Hastings County have for facing the future with confidence. The outstanding speech of the evening was that of the Hon. J. R. Cooke, K.C., the favorite son of North Hastings. Mr. Cooke's address was good. He gave the people his listeners something to think about in his half hour talk.

Heavy Debt Burden.

He stressed the fact that every family of five in Ontario was burdened with a public debt of $1,000 for municipal, provincial and federal purposes and an annual tax of $100 to pay on the public services of Ontario and Canada. But against this was to be placed immense natural resources of this county which enabled us to carry our load and fulfil up cohtented happy homes.

St. Lawrence Power.

The most interesting part of Mr. Cooke's speech dealt with the hydro situation in Ontario and as Minister of Power in the Provincial Cabinet he announced that the Ontario Government had approved the Hydro Commission's plans for the development of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers, erection of giant plants and the whole matter has been held up since last June awaiting some action by the King Government at Ottawa on the question which had to be referred as the rivers are boundary waters.

Mr. Cooke paid tribute to Sir Adam Beck and the late Sir James Whitney as the two most responsible for the greatest and most successful public ownership project in the whole world—the province of 400,000 homes the Hydro serves, had over 300,000 customers and not one of the 250 municipalities defaulted a year in their obligations—a fact most of the towns and cities built up since the inception of the Provincial Government had to pass a bill to regulate such surplus as they might have that must be invested in Ontario Government bonds.

Mr. Cooke paused a glowing tribute of the prosperity and progress which would follow the harnessing of Northern Ontario following the hard-hitting St. Lawrence address and that the Hydro Commission was eager to get the work on.

"Our own "Billy" Ireland, M.P.P., and Jimmy Ellis, M.P.P., for North and East Hastings respectively, paid some complimentary words to Charlie Rollins in short speeches.

Belleville's Mayor

Mayor Mikel gave one of his characteristic talks on the future of Belleville and Hastings as it may be, if the citizens work for the good of the community. He also paid a tribute to Mr. G. Herlity also replied to the toast in the city of Belleville with words of appreciation.

"Charlie" Rollins does not look as though a cause would be of more than casual use to him for a few decades yet, with the same energy of personality and skill with a gold-handled aid to walking we saw him through wife, the Virgins of Parnaby making the presentation, and their many friends and admiring conferees. Charlie promised to hand it down to his great grandson when he arrives at the age of his now away back in 1924 he was warden of the county of Hastings.

County Clerk W. H. Nurse kept the program moving easily and one of the long list of speakers and musical numbers brought it to a happy close at by midnight. The music was of a high order. The ladies were present to add to the festivities to do honor to the Warden and several of Belleville's prestige singers contributed. Dr. Hafney sang three solo numbers and Bugler Dunkler gave graphously of his physical vision and Bugler Dunkler and Jack Thompson contributed solos which were enthusiastically received. And then there was Claude Brown, the "Piano-leader in America" to keep the company together with his famous quartette sang again "Brown October Ale" without which a Belleville banquet would be sadly incomplete. Even Charlie himself was called on for a few honors all gracefully, although with some regret of "Little Jim Ellis" who presided at the had remained his usual.

Notables Present

At the head table were many other notable men in the community list. Honor Judge Wills, Col. R. J. Lane

WARDEN'S SOUVENIR

Never in the history of Hastings county has a more popular Warden presided than the one completing what C. S. Rollins, Reeve of Wollaston Township, who is piloting the councillors through their final session this Shire Hall this week.

On more than one occasion during the year his colleagues in the council have kindly remembered by him, and on Thursday, Warden Rollins again remembered the men hers just before council adjourned. Each councillor received a valuable knitted neck tie packed in a neat Christmas package together the explanation, "A souvenir from the Warden".

Mr. Embrey, Reeve of Bancroft on behalf of the councillors, expressed a few appropriate words of thanks and moved a vote of thanks which was seconded by Reeve W. J. Hall of Sidney Township. The motion was carried by a standing vote, following which everyone sang "For he's a jolly good fellow".

Warden Rollins thanked the members for their expression of thanks.

Family Driven Into Street By Flames

West Moira Home Badly Gutted Early This Morning

Disturbed from slumber in the cold bleak hours of this morning, Frederick Hamilton and his family were driven into the streets by a fire which destroyed the top story and roof of the large red brick house in which they lived in the centre of West Moira on Sidney streets. The Hamilton family were sheltered at the home of George Sinfield, 225 Moira street, who is a neighbor for the balance of the night.

The fire which was first noticed before 2.30 o'clock this morning, when the alarm was received at police headquarters, was fought by the occupants of the house who have started from the chimney in the attic at the back part of the house. But when it was noticed, the upper part of the house was in flames.

The fire fighters arrived on the scene but their efforts were hampered by after the alarm was sent in from a neighborhood phone. Pressure and three streams of water were soon play on the fire, but the roof fell in and burnt at the end of Louis street and from the hydrants at the corner of Sidney and West Moira streets.

While fire-men battled the blaze, a few neighbors who had congregated busied themselves in the removal of furniture and furnishings from the lower floors of the house. The furniture was safely piled on the yard, but all furniture in the upper part of the house was destroyed by fire and water.

The house which is a five old dwelling is well known here as the Donnelly house and the Hamilton family were famous to this city from Montreal, had lived in the house but two months.

A GOOD WORK

Older folk present at the oratorical contest at the County Building yesterday afternoon were amazed by the talent of Hastings young folk. Drawn by prizes offered by Warden C. S. Rollins, a large number of children from various points in the county gave speeches that for thought and expression were worthy of orators much older in years.

Ex-Warden Walsh and Warden Rollins are carrying on a good service in the general development of the youth of Hastings County.

A POPULAR GUEST

His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, the most welcome guest of Belleville to-day, is without a doubt one of the most popular Governors-General Canada has ever had. He is received with respect in this city to-day, by reason of the fact that he represents His Majesty the King, and that glory of Empire in which Canadians take pride. But more than that, Lord Byng is received with acclaim to-day by reason of his right to the title, "A Man's Man".

As a soldier, the distinguished visitor won the affection of Canadians overseas and at home. He was the type of man whose rank of Army Commander did not prevent him from getting in touch with the men up the line. He was known as a square deaer.

There is genuine pleasure in the eyes of the Governor-General and Lady Byng when they meet citizens of Canada. They are ill at ease. One is always given the impression that, far from that, they heartily enjoy the contact with Canadian individuals.

They are indeed thrice welcome.

DIRECTOR NEEDED

Reports coming from various Sources in the City of Belleville indicate a real need for Belleville citizens generally to come to the help of several families that the children and the grown-ups too, may have an enjoyable Christmas season. Many organizations are preparing to meet this need and it does not appear that assistance will be lacking. It strikes one, however, that a definite survey might be made and the whole work directed from a central body. This would prevent over-lapping and the possible omission.

NEWS BRIEFS

Provincial police rounded the home of Jake Levine, a junk dealer, Niagara street, Windsor, and seized a quantity of moonshine. The case was adjourned for trial until Dec. 8.

School Ma'am—Why was Solomon the wisest man?
Pupil—Because he had so many wives to advise him.
School Ma'am—Well, I declare! that is exactly the reason given in the Bible. I asked you, Johnny, why Solomon was so brilliant scholarship and how you can get the agency, and without any experience or capital that will pay you $5,000 per annum. $60 per month or yet get a cent. Keep going so that when the time comes for the real election the party will be fully prepared to throw its grit and energy into the contest and win back the seat for Sir Homer of the Canoe and bring Justice north on able supervision of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen.

FAIR PLAY.

SLAMING THE O.T.A.
(St. Catharines Standard)

The O.T.A. has been blamed for the loss of the Conservative seat in West Hastings. Why not blame it for the evaporation of the Mirage of Egypt?

BERNARD SHAW'S VIEW
(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

George Bernard Shaw declares that the British Government has destroyed the League of Nations by refusing to refer the Egyptian trouble to it. Some other people in England to take the view than an attempt to refer Egyptian troubles to the League would mean the end of the League's existence. This idea seems to be that the league may serve some useful purpose so long as it restricts itself to the affairs of the small-fry nations.

TO ERR IS HUMAN

A trust company official, Mr. Charles Gray, remarks that 75 percent of all opinions of everybody are erroneous. The average man's experience with race horses, stock and commodity speculations, and by-elections must convince him that Mr. Gray is right.

PUNK-TUATION
(Boston Transcript)

The poet had handed in his effusion and it warmed his heart to hear the editor exclaim again and again: "Capital! Capital!" "Capital!"

"Then you like it?" said the poet.

"Oh, I'm not reading it," replied the unfeeling editor; "I am only taking cognizance of the fact that each verse begins with a capital letter. From that I infer it is poetry."

"Let me out! Let me out!" screamed Pat. "The bash's goin' in at me."

"Ah, be silly will yez!" said the tiger. "I'm G'rith meself. Oi am."

Letters to Editor

Editor of The Daily Intelligencer,
WHAT LOST THE CONSERVATIVE SEAT IN WEST HASTINGS?

Sir,—I just pen a few notes that I think represent the recent election. As a member of one of the Conservative Party organizations in my old home town which was a Liberal stronghold I was of the Mother Country, but in which I have lived for a good many years and take, we were always on the alert and on the job ready for any election, and have held the seat for the Conservative candidate four times during the last 25 years. I note there is too much bitter sentiment and bad taste in the Conservative rank here and no good will exist if until the party is stamped out because a candidate is held a seat for a number of years. In same cannot be considered safe as it is unexpected can happen anytime. What is required now is a real live organization, live not up to date with all waiting in harmony with one another, and any slander or bad taste, let the other side do it. What is there required for? Only to let the present campaign go by with the best of good luck to C. B. Hanna M.P., but in the interest of th Conservative party keep the organization in full strength. Raise the stake and and the man will fully round it flag. There is nothing that stimulate like more than a good fight. Enthusi

Wash Poison From Kidneys

Drink Water All Day Long and Take Salts if Your Back Hurts

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, a term applied to poisons. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation, and as very probable again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple troubles to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help flush the kidneys and in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

They still exist even in these enlightened days of freedom of intercourse and absence of Mrs. Grundy, women who never meet a man except when they pay a visit to their dentist or their bootmaker. Young men have a habit of leaving the suburbs.

Fifteen years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed the best of health. About that time, Mr. of these years she began going to school, helping around home and at odd times working here and there to earn a little money.

Then she was caught in a sleet storm one day when coming home from school. Before long she was down with the grippe, which finally ended in Consumption. Of course, it was impossible for her to try the entrance examinations. "Another year, perhaps, but certainly not this year," they said.

Now reading at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Jeanne is losing shyness still remains, her curly, fair hair refuses to behave, while her cheeks vie with the red of the Muskoka maple leaves for brightness. "Sure," says the doctor, "she will be back in school only next year." "Why not?" she and the doctor says "Why not?" because the reason is the road to Waltsville.

Will you help her and others to get well? Your subscription to the hospital fund." Cheques may be sent to Hon. W. J. Hanna, President, 122 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

ANIMAL TEMPERATURES

Interesting Figures Relating to Farm Live Stock

Horses Are Relatively Cold-blooded —Poultry Have Highest Temperature—High Temperatures Indicate Fever — Wintering Bees — Select Sires to Give Balance.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto)

The temperatures of domestic animals are of interest, in that each class has a normal temperature range of its own.

Horses.

The horse in health will have a temperature not lower than 99.5°, or higher than 101.3°. There are exceptions, of course, to all rules, and a few animals may be normal at higher or lower temperatures than those given.

Cattle.

The normal temperature range for cattle is 100.4° to 103.1°, which covers the case pretty well. When a horrig animal's temperature goes above 103.1° it can be considered above normal, and that there is some disturbance within.

Sheep and Swine.

Sheep to be considered normal give a temperature reading between 102.3° to 104.5°. The same normal temperature can be looked for between 100.4° and 104°. Some individuals run high and others low, but all are steady within two degrees during period of health.

Poultry.

Poultry have very high normal temperatures, 106.7° to 109.5°. Such temperatures as these in poultry in health could not be endured by any other of our domestic animals for more than a few days.

High Temperatures Indicate Fever.

Any deviation from the normal temperature is taken as a source of information regarding the state of health of our domestic animals. High temperatures indicate feverish condition, while sub-normal temperatures indicate decline and weakening of the individual to a point of grave danger. Exercise raises the temperature, and rest lowers it, hence we get higher readings in the evening than in the morning.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

WINTERING BEES.

Every Colony Should Have a Queen —Have Enough Bees—Keep In a Naturally Protected Place.

Every spring beekeepers find from 5% to 50% of their colonies have died during the winter, or are very weak. There is no reason why the winter loss should be higher than 2% or 3%, provided the beekeeper will prepare and pack the bees properly. So says Prof. Eric Millen of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Every Colony Should Have a Queen.

The first step is to make sure every colony has a queen. As it is too late to requeen at this season colonies should be united with those having a queen. Place a clean newspaper on top of a strong queenright colony, and place the broodchamber of the queenless colony on top. Leave them for a week, and then shake the bees into the lower broodchamber and remove the upper broodchamber. It is taken for granted that no American foulbrood exists in the apiary. Otherwise, colonies should not be united, but rather destroy the queenless colonies and combs, if diseased.

Have Sufficient Bees.

The next step is to see that each colony has sufficient bees to cover at least three frames on both sides. Only examined on a cold morning when the bees are clustered. This will insure enough bees to come through the winter, provided the stores and protection are adequate. A very important factor of wintering is the question of food. Many beekeepers give every colony ten or twelve pounds of sugar syrup made in the proportion of 2 ¼ of sugar to one of water, and fed in an inverted feeder over the brood frames. This is done in many cases regardless of the amount of stores the colony has. Every colony should have at least 45 pounds of food to ensure successful wintering, and an opportunity to increase in strength in the spring.

Keep In a Naturally Protected Place.

Bees should be kept in a naturally protected place for winter, or a board fence should be erected around the apiary to form a wind protection. Colonies may be packed singly, two in a case, four in a case, or in any other way desired by the beekeeper. Three or four inches of packing should be placed all around the colony, and not less than eight inches on top. Dry leaves, planer shavings or corn chips make satisfactory packing material. If the beekeeper will see that the colonies are put away for winter in good condition, the winter loss will be negligible.

Select Sires to Give Balance.

If the dairy herd is made up of low testers and poor producers, it will pay to grade up by using a high testing ancestry should be chosen. If the females are too leggy, select a male that is compact and close to the ground. If the sow is too rough in the shoulder and short in the side, select a boar with compact, well-muscled shoulder and with length and scale.

The foundation of any enduring structure, whether of a business, a farm, or a life, is thrift.

Rebuilding is not always necessary to make most farm home attractive. Paint and shrubbery plantings will work wonders.

English Speaking Races Must Unite

Close Co-operation Needed For World's Peace, Col. Ponton Says

The Argyll Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire and a large number of their guests were entertained yesterday afternoon at the Armouries by the officers of Colonel W. N. Ponton, R.C., former Commanding Officer of the Regiment, who related many incidents and experiences of his recent trip to England, Scotland and France in company with Mr. John Elliott during the past summer. His graphic descriptions of the functions attended and hospitality extended to himself and other Canadians with his summing up of the characteristics of the people of these Old Lands were very interesting. Wembley and Canada's triumph made more effective by the C. P. R. and the C. N. R. Pavilions, were vividly described as the Empire's epitome in citizenship and energy, while the great Imperial Pageant was said to be the field of the cloth of gold multiplied by one hundred, depicting the web, the warp and the woof of the history and heroism of the British Race. Inverness, the Cameron Highlanders Culloden, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Oban, Paris, Amiens and Quebec were also mentioned with reminiscences and story and the description of the two Royal Garden Parties at Buckingham Palace added a delightful touch. A glowing appeal was made for the unity of the Empire, not merely with the old Mother Land but also with our sister Dominions, and the speaker emphasized that the permanent peace of the world—peace at the centre—must be governed by the close connection and co-operation of the English speaking races. "One-half the world united can make the world sure". It must not be forgotten also that we in Canada have two Mother Countries and we must not be content with quacking of the cement of Empire, we must also mix the mortar. We must not only wave the Flag but we must also live for it in loyal and law-abiding and progressive citizenship. The holding of the three great Conferences of the Chambers of Commerce, the Educational League and the Berth and Bar of Canada, the United States and Great Britain had done much for unity and understanding. Colonel Ponton exhibited several interesting souvenirs of his visit and some historical acquisitions which made old times live again. A hearty vote of thanks was passed and refreshments served.

SAFE BLOWERS GOT $290 AT OSHAWA

Oshawa, Dec. 5—Entering an entrance to the office of W. R. Dixon and Sons, coal merchants, of Albert street, and Ellen avenue, by forcing a window open and unlatching the door, safe blowers completely wrecked the safe and made a successful getaway with $90 early during Wednesday night.

The robbery was discovered by R. W. Dixon when he opened the office at 7.30 Thursday morning. Although the safe contained a total of $300 in cash and cheques, the robbers took only the cash leaving the cheques strewn about the floor.

The yacht "Onaway" and cargo, consisted of 316 cases of beer held under seizure, has been declared forfeited to the Crown, according to an order received by Customs collector Pilkey at Chatham yesterday.

Customs returns in Waterloo for November were $65,963.75 as compared with $82,044.37 for the same month of 1923. The October collection of this year was $54,303.56.

Stressed Need For Good Co-Operation

Members of this year's city council and Aldermen-elect for 1925 were today guests at a luncheon of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce in their spacious quarters on Front street. Mr H. W. McKeman, President and the Directors welcomed their guests. The luncheon was presided over by Mr. C. M. Reid, a Director. After luncheon brief speeches were made by Mayor W. C. Mikel, Aldermen H. W. Greenleaf, W. R. McCrone, A. Robinson, R. Gardiner and R. J. E. Graham of this year's council and Aldermen-elect J. H. Parrish, G. W. Dawes, C. Rutter and P. Harrison. The tenure of the remarks were that there should be hearty cooperation between the members of Council and the Chamber of Commerce upon matters affecting the city's interest and especially in endeavouring to secure industries for the city. The gathering was a very pleasing one from all that should be conducive of good.

BEAUTIFUL WORK BY CITY ARTIST

The leather bound address presented to His Excellency the Governor General this afternoon by Mayor W. C. Mikel (Ex) is a beautiful example of the handiwork of a Belleville artist, Mr. W. M. Mitchell.

Contained in a soft, black leather case, on which the words "FROM BELLEVILLE" are impressed in golden letters, is the four page address. The address was read by Mayor Mikel to our distinguished visitor, is printed in finished and hand-colored letters, and is beautiful to look upon. Red and ink sketches of the Armouries, St. Thomas church, the City Hall spire with flag, and two summer scenes on the Moira river, are perfectly realistic and with real colored maple leaves, adorn the pages, and set them off to perfection. Mayor Mikel's personal signature appears at the bottom of the address.

4 PAYS DEARLY

For failing to give his name and address to a cyclist who had been knocked down by his auto, a local man was fined $25 and costs in police court this morning, thus being the minimum fine for this offence.

The accident occurred last Sunday when a cyclist on his right side of the street was run down by the car which had turned in the street. The bicycle was badly damaged but the rider was not injured. When the motorist ignored an appeal for damages to the wheel and stated that he did not have to give out his land when turning in the street, the cyclist laid the charge.

Customs returns at Kitchener for November show an increase of $27,360.34; as compared with November of 1923. The latter figure was $175,071.56, while during the past month the total was $202,932.56.

Mrs. Maria Sreeed, one of the best known residents of the Mount Zion district of Brantford, died Monday morning after a lingering illness, aged 76. Her married life was spent in New Durham district.

There were 43 births, 24 deaths and 15 marriages in November in Brantford, as compared with 29 births, 23 deaths and 19 marriages in October.

The Chatham to Tilbury section of the Provincial highway is now open for traffic and sixteen miles of highway is now either concrete or macadam construction.

Brantford's market is continuing to gain, as shown by the collection's of $1,135 for November, compared with $1,024 for October and $977 for November of last year.

Granites Catch Second Place

In Ladies' League at "Y" They Defeated Ramblers

Last night at the Y Alleys the Ramblers and Granites staged their play off game for second place in the league and when the smoke had cleared away the Granites were up just 33 pins. In the first game the Ramblers went to the fore and had a lead of 111 pins, but the Granites, not to be outdone, came back in the second game and had a lead of 57 pins for the two games. The Ramblers turned right in to get this 57 pins back, but lacked the necessary punch and could only gain 24 pins. Mrs. Grear carried off the honors in both the single and three string with 256 and 524 respectively. The official scorer was missing according to Rambler players.

QUEEN'S PREPARING FOR SARNIA GAME

Kingston, Dec. 5—The Queen's intermediates are settled in to real hard work in preparation for the game with the Sarnia intermediates here on Saturday in the Dominion final and the coach has had the players going at top speed this week, trying out every play and perfected them as much as possible. The locals realize that they are stepping up to a real team on Saturday and they have taken their practice with more seriousness than ever this week.

Coach Hughes has arrived back from Montreal and yesterday he intended to put them through a stiff scrimmage practice and let them off with signals, today. It is expected that the regular intermediate team will start on Saturday with Frank McKelvey handling the quarter position. Norrie McCrimmon, Ellis, Howard and all the rest of the huskies will be in Saturday's game and the Tricolor will be at full strength. There are men in the intermediate ranks of Queen's who are fast enough for the senior squad so that Saturday's game should be of high class.

The Sarnia team will come here on Friday and will rest up before going into action. Little has come through from Sarnia about the team with the exception that the men have been working faithfully and hard in practice and have high hopes of trimming the locals. It will be a great game and a big crowd will no doubt turn out to see the battle.

A Womans Soul BY Charles Garvice

"Have you heard the news from Ireland, Cecil?" he said.

Lord Cecil started, and set down his glass.

"No, sir. I have not seen the papers."

"I was not alluding to the papers," said the marquis, with a trace of his cold sneer. "I rarely read them; there is plenty of fiction in the library, but I have heard from my agent in Connemara. The country is very unsettled."

"Yes?" said Lord Cecil absently; he had his own ideas about Ireland, and they would probably have much astonished the marquis, who was a Tory of the old and thorough-going sort. But Lord Cecil was not thinking of Ireland, but of Doris Marlowe.

"I imagine you know that I—I suppose I ought to say 'we'—have a great deal of property there?"

Lord Cecil nodded.

"I suppose so, sir."

"Yes," said the marquis, glancing sidelong from the corners of his cold, keen eyes. "You don't take much interest in the matter—at present. But you will be marquis very soon, and then—" he laughed. "I don't envy you your Irish property!"

"I am in no hurry to possess it, sir," said Lord Cecil.

"I daresay not."

"But I think the people have some reason for what they are doing."

"No doubt," assented the marquis, drily. "You, of the business, have the patriotic side."

I sympathize with the people," said Lord Melville, firmly.

The marquis poured out a glass of wine and smiled coldly.

"Yes—you are young," he said. "But I'll admit the time wasn't long enough into, and I'm too old to undertake the inspection."

Lord Neville raised his head. I did not want to talk about Ireland, but about Doris Marlowe. And now, he thought, was the time. The old port stood beside them, the door was closed, Lady Grace and the mother, Churchill were in the drawing-room.

He looked at the cold, haughty face and plunged at his task.

"I'm afraid I can't go into the Irish question to-night, sir," he said.

"Indeed?" said the marquis, leaning back.

"No," said Lord Cecil, quietly; "it have a personal matter I wish to speak to you about."

The marquis eyed him calmly and patiently.

"Personal matters claim first attention. What is it? Is it money?"

"I want your consent to my marriage," said Lord Cecil.

If he had expected the marquis to express surprise by word or gesture he was disappointed.

"Your marriage?" he said, quietly. "You intend taking my advice, I see. You are wise; Lady Grace is beautiful in every way. I'd marry her myself, if I were younger."

Lord Cecil colored, but he did not flinch.

"I am sorry, sir," he said.

"That I am not younger?" put in the marquis, with a sardonic smile.

"Well, yes, I'm sorry for that, if youth would make you any happier, my lord," said Lord Neville, and he spoke sincerely. The marquis eyed him keenly. "But it is not Lady Grace Sir. I think her a most beautiful and charming lady, of whom I am quite and entirely unworthy."

"For once I agree with you," was the caustic comment.

Lord Neville inclined his head.

"But there is another reason why I cannot venture to ask Lady Grace to be my wife. I do not love her."

The marquis smiled.

"I thought it was out of fashion to be in love with your wife; forgive me, I have been outside the world so long. Pray go on."

"And I love another lady."

"Indeed!" came the cold response. "There was no surprise, scarcely a trace even of displeasure, but the keen eyes pierced like those of an eagle as they rested on his handsome, manly face. 'Don't you think it would have saved both of us some trouble and many words if you had mentioned this rather important fact when we were discussing the question the other night?'

Lord Neville smiled faintly.

"I did not know it myself," he replied; "I had not met the young lady."

"Ah, love at first sight!" said the marquis. "Interesting, but rather incredible. You have known her and loved her, and want to marry her, all in—how many days is it?"

Lord Neville colored.

"I seem to have known her for years," he said, almost to himself.

"And may I ask—I don't desire to appear inquisitive—who this young lady is? I didn't know that you had visited any of the people here. Do I know her?"

"I think not, sir," said Lord Neville.

If so, you may as well decide to be rid of the annoyance. And having decided to dot it, DO IT. For eyes that are sensitive to light we have a special lens that in the large majority of cases gives relief. These prevent "movie" eye strain also. Glad to explain to you at any time.

"Her name is Doris Marlowe."

"Doris Marlowe," repeated the marquis, "a pretty name. No, I don't know it. There is no county family of Marlowe, that I remember, of the name of Marlowe."

"She is not a member of a county family; she is an actress," said Lord Neville.

He looked up steadily, expecting to see the cold, haughty face break into an expression of rage, fury, scorn; but there was not the least emotion displayed on the thin, cruel lips and glittering eyes.

"An actress, really! Dear me! This is very—entertaining! I was under the impression that only callow schoolboys ever fell in love with actresses. I should have thought—pray forgive me—that you were too old, if not too sensible, to be guilty of such a gaucherie."

Lord Neville pressed his foot down upon the Turkey carpet, and sat him self upright in his chair, in his effort to command his temper. He had received that sneer the marquis should not have should rouse him to anger or to retaliation.

"I am afraid I don't think the Stoyle's have ever had an actress in the family; and some of us have been pretty low down for our wives, too!" Lord Neville said to himself.

"If you knew Miss Marlowe, sir, I think you would scarcely consider that I was condescending in asking her to marry me."

The marquis stared at him as if he were some curious specimen, worthy of calm and careful consideration.

Trilby Clark Has Entered the Movies

Served on the Legitimate Stage in England and Australia

Making her debut under the Fox banner in support of Charles Jones in his recently started feature, "Big Dan," Trilby Clark, a vivid, vivacious blonde who came all the way from Sydney, Australia, to play in motion pictures, "Big Dan" is now showing at the Delft Theatre.

Miss Clark is well known in Australia and England for her stage work during the World War. Several years after the Armistice and after taking a needed rest, Miss Clark crossed to New York. She was given glowing write-ups by the Metropolitan reporters, and as a result, received some interesting stage offers. But her heart was set on motion picture work.

Coming to the William Fox Eastern Studios, one afternoon, she made so good an impression that a screen test was given her. She secured, and was accordingly signed up to a Fox contract.

New Lloyd Picture Funniest Ever

It Carries Laughs With it From Start to Finish

Harold Lloyd has again proven that he is the most consistent fun-maker on the screen, in his latest Pathe Comedy-Special, "Dr. Jack," which is seen now at the Griffin Theatre. There are no slapstick scenes to make exceedingly funny pictures, but Lloyd is the most consistent and dependable of the Sons of Laughter. "Grandma's Boy" seemed to be the best comedy combination we saw "Dr. Jack."

In "Dr. Jack" Lloyd has again given us a comedy with a serious vein running through it. The love interest is continuous and everlasting. Nevertheless, there anything funnier seen than Lloyd's acrobatic antics in his fight with Mike, a cheerful prize fighter. The poker game was a gem of cleverness, as was the comedian's attempt to shoot his friend's kid. Then there was his ride on the back of the bronco-like calf, and—but why enumerate. It was a laugh from start to finish.

Harold Lloyd is funny in the title role, that of a young doctor who cures ills by the "sunshine method." The fast and furious Lloydian comedy is interwoven with a charming love story, and here the comedian fairly outdoes all the "clever" Lovers on the screen. It's a great comedy and you really can't afford to miss it.

W.C.T.U. Banquets O.T.A. Workers

Citizens Should Help Enforcement Officers, Napanee Speaker Said

About two hundred guests sat down to a sumptuous banquet provided by the ladies of the W.C.T.U. for the temperance workers, in Bridge Street Church last night. The tables looked very pretty with red, white and silver decorations.

After the banquet, the Chairman, Mr. H. W. Ackerman proceeded with the program. Mrs. MacKinnon sang "Mighty Lak' a Rose" with much expression. Miss M. Young gave a splendid reading from "Purple Spring".

Mrs. Miller of Napanee then addressed the guests. She pointed out that the thing to do was to find out what the "vets" wanted and then work for the opposite thing. The training of the prohibitionists should start from the cradle, with a white ribbon tied on the wrist of the little baby, for after a child has been soothed with some form of liquor, he likes a drink when asleep, and this taste for drink was acquired right then, in the days when they were being fed and finished in a drunkard's grave. Mrs. Miller said that the people should ask the magistrate for stricter penalties. She did not see the use of paying provincial officers to round up those who broke the law, for later they were brought to court, and the latter they were then free for the magistrate to let them free again. She also asked that citizens show the police and all who were trying to enforce the law that they were helping them. One would rejoice to see a number of burglary or any other offence against the law. She contended that this law was kept as well. Ontario would never be dry so long as Quebec was wet, and the United States could not be dry while Canada was wet, as international question. Mrs. Miller hoped for a dry Dominion soon and urged careful organization.

Mrs. Osterbridge sang a very pleasing solo which was followed by an address from Dr. W. S. Hartley.

Mr. Thomas made a report of the

MRS. GERTRUDE WHITE

She also spoke a few words.

When smooth and bubbling, add one cupful of milk, a little at a time and stir constantly until it is smooth. Then add one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper. Separate the yolks and whites of six eggs. To the yolks add one-fourth cupful of the white sauce, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, and beat well. executive meeting of the Ontario Prohibition Union, to which he was a delegate. The suggestions for amendments to the O.T.A. were that a clause should be added to the effect that prescriptions issued by physicians; that the sale of native wines be prohibited; that committees on law enforcement should be appointed in every country; that one Sunday be set apart for the consideration and discussion of the great subjects of Temperance; that all liquor sold at Government dispensaries should be sold at cost.

"It is time" he said, "that the Dominion Government did something to curb the importation of liquor to the United States, and much of the liquor which is supposed to be exported to the United States is carried to bootleggers in our own country, and being sold by them, debauches and degrades our people. The people of this province are in no mood to tolerate the granting of clearance papers to boats which are said to be destined for Cuba, but which come back in a day or two for another cargo. There must be no compromise in this fight."

"The Government is quiet now, also, in saddling brewery licenses upon a province which has declared itself in favor of prohibition."

He pointed out the different agencies through which the subject of temperance could be considered—the pulpit, the press, the Public Library, the Y.M.C.A., and the home.

Mrs. H. N. Baker made a few remarks, and an interesting evening drew to a close.

SATURDAY PRESS OPINION
A FRIEND

(Border Cities Star)

It is announced tat Aemilius Jarvis will sail on Dominion Line yacht the next time the sporting Irish lassies try to lift the ju-jitsu Cup. By that time Mr. Jarvis will have finished the jail sentence imposed upon him for conspiracy to obtain $2,000,000.

Many times has he flimmed out of from this veritcan Canadian yachting territory, as skipper of the Shamrock. Each time Mr. Jarvis declared and successfully that sailor was sound, none of them successful in time, but all successful sailing races which brought no dividends upon the carry of the craft.

Sir Thomas this time might just as easily have found some other captain, either in the old Land or America. Instead, he seeks out his old friend in that friend's darkest hour, goes to the prison where he is incarcerated and there tenders the offer of an honor which would probably be welcomed by any gentleman in Canada.

Announcing Mr. Jarvis' engagement, Sir Thomas declares that nobody can make him believe that his friend is a sailor of note — which which Jarvis has charged. The courts, however, have said that Mr. Jarvis is guilty, and Sir Thomas' move is not the question here. The outstanding fact is that he has given supreme proof of his faith in his friend in the hour of friendship in its deepest and truest form.

A GRACIOUS PERSONALITY

(Buffalo Times)

Mrs. Harding was perfectly endowed with the qualities which fitted her for the position which destiny assigned to her—that of First Lady of the Land. Visitors at the White House during her husband's term of the Presidential office, were of one accord in their praise of her in her capacity of hostess and of the fine womanly solicitude which impaired the home note to her welcome by the conversation and her address.

Mrs. Harding's manner had a happy blending of charm and dignity. It was the possession of the innate qualities of an admirable personality—a nature which was tried by the most exacting test of all—that of the highest station—and which responded to its requirements with the accuracy of instinctive adjustment, and with a tact which has added a memory of distinctive grace to the recollections of Mrs. Harding, cherished by the American nation.

PROPRIETY OF CHRISTMAS GIVING

(Sarnia Observer)

Christmas gift-giving comes back into annual display. Some suggest that it ought to be abandoned. There is not much prospect of that. It is an institution that seems to become more strongly rooted as the anniversary that prompts it comes around.

There are some phases that could be improved. People of great wealth sometimes miss the spirit of the occasion by lavishing on their families presents that, because of their ostentatious cost create envy among less fortunate recipients. But that is a rare fault that cannot detract from the benefits of a general outburst of generous remembrance. There is an old Sanscrit proverb which says: "The only thing that you can keep of your gold, dead hands is what you have given away." It is a saying that gives support to the institution of the Christmas gift.

The custom and excise collections for the month of November at the Galt port amounted to $73,400.01, which, when compared with the returns of the corresponding month of 1923, show a decrease of $18 669.05.

Does your pen Qualify? Yes, it's a Waterman's

Any fountain pen's usefulness depends upon three things—the nib, the ink supply and the flow.

The nib must conform—the ink supply must be generous—the flow must be steady and continuous.

There is a Waterman's nib to suit every possible style of handwriting. The ink supply in every Waterman's is greater than that of any other pen of similar size. The "spoon" feed—exclusive to Waterman's—is the one method by which a steady flow of ink is assured.

It is because of these features—because of its ability to write properly at all times—that there are more Waterman's in use than all other makes of fountain pens combined.

FRANCE STEPS HARD ON ALL MALCONTENTS

Fifty Foreign Communist Agitators Started Over Frontier To-day

MORE TO FOLLOW

Action Follows Conference With British Foreign Secretary Chamberlain

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Dec. 6—The Herriot Government has decided to suppress communist agitation in France which was evidenced strikingly by the demonstration at Jaures Danilevon ceremony and more recently on the occasion of Ambassador Krassen's arrival from Moscow.

A large number of foreign agitators are to be expelled from the country, the first group of fifty being started over the frontier to-day.

To reporters late night Herriott said following his interview yesterday with the British Foreign Secretary, Chamberlain:

"Mr. Chamberlain and I readily agreed to the necessity of putting down the Bolshevik activities. We are obliged to employ in France a large body of foreign workmen and it is among them that the elements of disorder are recruited. We hope and will have peoper distinguished."

Premier Herriott pledged his Government to fight communist activities in France in a declaration before the Chamber of Deputies to-day after a severe session that brought into sharp relief the national issues of economic and finance to accomplish revolution by force.

The new team upon whom has fallen the mantle of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge are shown above, together with the newly elected Senator from Rhode Island. Left is William Bailey, of Boston, chairman of the Coolidge presidential marshine, and recently appointed as senior from Massachusetts, to serve out the unexpired portion of Lodge's term. Good Prices Were Obtained; Butter Steady At 60c.

A feature of the market to-day, which was largely attended was the quantity of dressed fowls offered for sale. It was noticed that Friday morning is approaching fast. Choir Delighted At Christ Church

Miss Lavoie's Direction Pleased, Many Assisting Artists on Program

Despite the inclement weather last night Christ Church Parish Hall was well filled with an audience which assembled to hear a concert given under the auspices of the choir of Christ church. The program rendered was of a varied nature and was most pleasing.

The work of the choir showed a leap of credit to the choir's capable organist and leader. The harmony, vocal effects and in care in technical generally, the choir rendered a very satisfactory appearance. The four sections blended well in their work and the soprano and alto soloists interpreted well the message contained in the music.

Miss Josie Tuite delighted all present in the selections she rendered. That talented young lady was never heard to better advantage.

Vocal selections given by Mrs. Dr. Stobie were all that could have been desired. Piano solos and duets were given by Miss Vera and Laura Jones, Miss Palmer and Mrs. M. P. Daff. Mrs. D. Yeoman also assisted in the programme.

The success of the evening, made possible by the efforts of the members of the choir, will do much to recompense members of the choir for many nights of hard practice.

LORD BYNG GIVEN BUSY TWO HOURS

At School, Armouries and Station, Reception Was Enthusiastic

It was an enthusiastic and royal welcome that was extended yesterday afternoon to His Excellency Lord Byng, Governor General of Canada. At no quarter was the welcome more hearty than at the Ontario School for the Deaf. From Principal Dr. Coughlin's address and able superintendence to teachers and pupils, His Excellency's reception was enthusiastic. In the three class rooms visited, the distinguished visitor was accorded a special. The work exemplified by the teachers and pupils was a revelation to one who witnessed it, and the interest of the Governor-General was most evident.

Dr. Coughlin, the superintendent, briefly outlined the work and results effected upon the school in having the Governor General, His King's representative in Canada, visit it. His address of welcome was splendid and the battlefield of the World War had proven to be a distinguished soldier, was appreciated, he said.

In replying, His Excellency stated that one of the duties the Governor General is to give the people a holiday on behalf of His Majesty the King, and he would ask that a holiday be given the pupils be given a whole holiday. (Applause from the pupils.) He was also spellbind and pleasure for him to visit the school and was delighted with what he had demonstrated to him.

Mrs. W. Campbell interpreted to the pupils the remarks made by the Governor General and the Governor General.

At the conclusion of the addresses the pupils sang a verse of the National Anthem and gave three hearty cheers for His Excellency.

The Governor General and party were given a motor escort from the school to the armouries where a reception was held. The distinguished visitor was accorded a hearty welcome by all present. In replying to the address of welcome by Mayor W. C. Mikel the Governor General replied as follows:

"Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen.

"As representative of His Majesty the King it will give me great pleasure to forward to him your message of loyalty and devotion. To all to the Crown stands as the symbol of all the ties that bind the British Empire together and in King George the people we have an example whose life is an outstanding example of duty to his country.

"It is indeed a very great regret to me that Lady Byng was unable to accompany me today, and to share with me the pleasure of visiting this city, which has always, however, much pleasure in conveying to her your kind messages.

"It is always a great pleasure to me to meet again my comrades of the Great War, and especially those who served under me, when I had the honor to command the Canadian Corps during the war. It is indeed a pleasure too to visit the homes and to meet their wives and mothers, who thought no sacrifice too great to make for the sake of not only Canada but the Empire.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, I thank you all once again for your very kind reception, and hope that this my first visit to your City, will have

British Are Losing Taste For Good Wine; London Expert Claims Whiskey Did It

(Associated Press Despatch)

London, Dec. 6.—The British palate for vintage wines is being assailed by the epidemic and radical craze, according to a London wine expert, who also finds that steady drinking of whisky will ruin any palate for the mellow products of France, Spain, and Portugal.

In the connection one of the leading trade publications says that the consumption of clarets of all grades "is a fifth of what it was over 20 years ago."

"There is now almost a thing of the past," a wine merchant declared, "and I should imagine that it is drunk by only a small proportion of those who drink wine at all. Those who do have been ruined by whiskey and soda. Young men nowadays do not know a really good wine when it is given to them, they prefer the inevitable small bottles and splash, even though it costs them more.

"More people, including women, now drink whisky and sodas than ever before in my memory. More bottles of whisky are sold at the present time than 10 shillings a pence than even in the days when it could be bought for 4 shillings 6 pence."

Radio Fans Get To-gether in City

First Meeting of Club Since May; To Make Test

The Radio Club of Belleville held a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night, the first meeting since last May, having discontinued their meetings through the summer months. There are 56 members, but owing to the position of the weather only the real fans were present.

Mr. Carl Reid, who was welcomed into the club as a new member, brought down from the Toronto Radio Club full information regarding the test which is to be held on Wednesday next. This set is extremely sensitive and very selective.

The Club have had an aerial put on the Chamber of Commerce so that any set can be hooked up to it. It was decided by the members to make a test as great number of Radio bugs in our fair City are complaining of electrical disturbances. They say X-Ray machines in town are causing it, that transformers and etc., as the secretary called Dr. McCreary on the phone and asked for a switch to be put in which he complied with. The Secretary went over to the Chamber and phoned up Chamber of Commerce and got one of the members on the phone. Dr. McCreary then turned on the X-Ray machine and the static disturbance experience restored some very distinctive noises which could be heard over the phone from the Doctor's office, the Doctor then turned on full power and the muscle in the big set was drowned out completely. The next test will be the spark, giving it a wide spark and gradually cut distinct sparks which could be heard over the phone in the Doctor's office coming from the Secretaryroom. This man is now in the new electrical equipment effects Radio sets, and at the next time in Dr. McCreary will be as kind as he was in assisting the Radio Club as to make the machine in the evening any force new members. Any one desiring to be other Doctors in our City and to Chas. Partington at the Hydro Electric Commission.

BUY BELLEVILLE CHEESE TO SEND AWAY TO FRIENDS is SUGGESTION

From Mayor Mikel there comes an interesting Christmas gift suggestion for Hastings County people. While seated at the Warden's banquet table on Thursday evening, His Worship expressed the opinion that city and county people could not do better than to send their friends a generous portion of Belleville Board cheese.

It was pointed out that such a gift would not only be appreciated by the recipients, but would carry a real Hastings County message. No better cheese is made in the world than that of this district.

While the idea may appear novel to most people, it is not new. Mr. John Elliott of the Standard Bank who makes the cheese industry a real hobby has been sending out many samples to his friends. He has had the Queen's Hotel in Toronto use Belleville cheese exclusively.

There is no doubt that the cheese could be parcelled attractively for gift purposes and that many citizens would seize the idea if given the opportunity.

SEES PULP MILL ON MOIRA'S BANK

Warden and Others Optimistic for Future of Hastings County

Discussing the report of the Public Works Committee, Warden Morrell yesterday Warden C. S. Rollins expressed the hope that some day a pulp mill would be located on the banks of the Moira. It was generally agreed that authority to date had been granted for the mill.

Mr. J. A. Moore chairman of the Bridges Committee presented a report in the work for the past season. The sum of $92,24.34 was expended on culverts and small bridges in various parts of the county. A bridge was constructed over the Moira on the boundary between Hastings and Prince Edward County. The expense was borne equally between the two counties. The bridge cost $2,843.44 and Peterboro has paid its fifty percent. Peterboro Council agreed to paint the bridge.

County Publicity

A report was presented by Mr. C. B. McGuire, chairman of Finance, I regret to have some matters that the committee had attended to since the June session including the work of the publicity committee.

Warden C. S. Rollins said that owing to the Presidential election this year, not so many Americans visited Canada. He thought the County Council, the publicity given to this year's work was splendid and that it was a credit to the county.

Mr. Moore said the work was good and brought excellent results. A pleasant call to Tweed and the Tamper sand industry, Deseronto, Madoc and Marmora, although the attention was quite dramatic.

Mr. Thomas Deed was a funny playlet with the scene laid in a hotel. The results were well taken and the comedy was splendid. Evelyn Mosher contributed a solo. Another very pretty dance showed a lover whose offer of a rose was refused by the coquettish maidens in all three dress. The vocal number entitled "Sweetest Girl All Adore Thee" was a fine exhibition of dancing, the solo parts being taken by Miss Dorothy Bowerman and Miss Mary Mayres. The performance was well balanced and well given. During the evening Miss Aubrey Mikel was presented with a basket of roses as a appreciation of her help given in teaching the children in a pleasing manner.

Much credit is due Miss Sheree for the excellent manner in which the various numbers were presented. Proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the Children's Aid.

Mr. Albert Adams and Dr. L. H. Hoard were the accompanists, the music which was enjoyed very much between numbers.

JESSIE FRALECK

The many friends of Judge and Mrs. F. B. Fraleck in the city and county will sympathize with them in the loss they have sustained in the death of their daughter, Miss Jessie, which took place at their home on Monday. Deceased was the second daughter and was born in Belleville where she resided all her life and had a large circle of friends. Miss Fraleck was a member of the Presbyterian church. The body will be taken to Picton for city and taken to the family home in West Moira street.

SIR GALAHAD

(Ottawa Journal)

In recent years, although not so much in recent months, the name of Sir Galahad has been much in the mouth of Mr. Mackenzie King on public occasions. By implication, if not by necessary inference, he seemed to hold himself up as exemplifying in public life the ideals of that Stainless Knight.

It is a rule not only of equity but of common decency that any person holding a position of trust shall not make use of it for his own personal profit. The principle has a still deeper significance in its relation to a public trust. Even the Liberals in the Committee of Privileges and Elections realized this truth as was evidenced by the pitiful squirming to prevent proof of Mr. Murdock's presence in Council on the occasion when the situation of the Home Bank was disclosed to the Dominion Cabinet. Mr. Murdock went from Council to his office and acting with knowledge acquired by him as a sworn public servant but not then available to other depositors, he withdrew from the bankrupt institution several thousand dollars which he caused to be deposited in another bank, not in his own name but in that of his stenographer. Afterwards, upon the demand of the Liquidator who had unearthed the transaction, he refunded this sum. There was a belated attempt to prove that Mr. Murdock had received an intimation some days before the Council meeting that the Home Bank was in difficulties. It is sufficient to observe that he took no action until after the Council meeting when he immediately withdrew his money.

During the recent by-election in West Hastings, which resulted in one of the most singular antics ever indulged in by a presumably intelligent electorate, the conduct of Mr. Murdock was brazenly and unblushingly justified not only by that gentleman but by the Prime Minister himself who made an astounding declaration. He asserted in effect that a Minister of the Crown has the right to use for his personal advantage any information obtained by him in his capacity as a public servant.

Democracy can reasonably expect no higher standard of honor and decency in public life than it is willing to sanction. The Prime Minister has laid down and West Hastings emphatically approved a new code of conduct which is pregnant with wonderful possibilities for enterprising persons holding positions of public trust. Henceforth it may be regarded as not only proper but commendable that a thrifty member of the Cabinet who has acquired advance information of proposed tariff changes should speedily and profitably utilize that knowledge upon the stock exchange; or a resourceful Minister of Public Works, with tender regard for his wife and children, may, to his vast personal advantage, acquire in advance properties essential to a proposed Government undertaking. To any Minister of Finance who may be happily endowed with a fine freedom from foolish scruples, wide vistas of opportunity and almost unlimited possibilities of sudden wealth will be temptingly open so long as the Prime Minister's declaration is held to express a decent regard for public honor and official duty.

But surely the excellent advantages of this new rule must not be withheld from other public servants. Deputy Ministers and Heads of Permanent Commissions, be alive to your sudden opportunities. The Prime Minister and his colleagues will hold you not only foolish but blameworthy if you do not utilize to the full for your personal profit all important information that comes to you in the trust of your official duty. Remember your wives and children and go to it; have no ridiculous scruples as to your sworn trust. Your endeavors will be fortified by the example of Mr. Murdock, safeguarded by the blessing of Sir Galahad King and crowned with the thoughtful approval of West Hastings.

JUSTICE IN CANADA

A young man of Lindsay was dropped into eternity yesterday morning. He murdered his sweetheart. 'The Canadian law demanded that he die also.

Not so long ago, four hold-up men met a similar fate at Montreal. Two of their companions are entering into terms of life imprisonment.

On Thursday afternoon, Sir Adam Beck's secretary heard a sentence of three years in penitentiary passed upon him. He attempted to steal over $29,000 of Hydro money.

Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer, is wearing a convict's striped suit. So is Charles Matthews, former deputy of Mr. Smith. A millionaire, Jarvis, is doing time at the Jail Farm, north of Toronto. Home Bank officials have been sentenced to various prison terms. They were officials who held prominent places in society.

The review is not a pleasant one. Little censure can be placed on the man who becomes pessimistic when he considers the wholesale betrayal of public trust of late.

Yet there is some satisfaction to be gained by reflecting on the manner of justice administered in these cases and comparing what has been done in Canada with the legal machinations in the United States of America.

APPRECIATIVE BELLEVILLE

This is the concert or entertainment season. Night after night in Belleville, city folk have one, two and often more programs from which to select, and the arresting feature of it all is that no outside talent has been required to draw crowds.

The fact that there are a good number of very talented people in the city whose work does not suffer by repeated appearances before the same audiences speaks well for the character of the community at large.

Belleville citizens know talent when they hear it, and better still, they are appreciative.

A BIG BOOSTER CLUB

When members of the City Council for 1925 were the guests of the directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, an important request was made. City Fathers, experienced and newly elected, were urged to co-operate with the Chamber for a bigger, better Belleville, industrially. The Aldermen are supposed to be merely the ratepayers' representatives, that urge might well be passed on to individual ratepayers throughout the municipality.

"How can I co-operate?" is a question one might naturally expect from the average ratepayers.

There is a way. If every individual talked about Belleville's advantages as he went about of his way to tell others what a good city it was and was expected to be, there would be the makings of a booster club that would render Charles Hanna's group indifferent by comparison. If five thousand men and women carried out a definite program of boosting their city, the results inside of two years would be nothing short of amazing to the outside world.

Visionary you say? Perhaps so, but not impracticable.

One thing is certain. A handful of Chamber of Commerce directors cannot alone develop Belleville in the way it should go. The city will be progressive only in the degree of interest taken in the development of the city by citizens generally.

WHAT INTERESTS PEOPLE

The higher a man goes in business or public life, the more interest do ordinary people take in their private affairs. That may be set down as a platitude, but it is playing an important part in newspaper work to-day.

English papers yesterday made a great deal out of the reported chagrin of Sir Robert Horne in not being appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer by Premier Baldwin. News writers pandered to the public taste for scandal by suggesting that this chagrin was responsible for Sir Robert's resignation from the vice-chairmanship of Baldwin's Limited, of which the Premier is the largest shareholder.

Statements are made every now and then that present day people have lost the old interest in biography, in the lives of great men gone before. If they have, real interest in the lives of the prominent living is in evidence. There are magazines which publish for no other editorial reason than to tell about the success of modern men. Take up almost any Sunday paper printed in Canada or the United States, and see how much space is devoted to stories about well-known men and to their history. Proof is abundant.

DOGS HURT WELLAND SHEEP INDUSTRY

Welland, Dec. 6.—In a resolution presented to the members of the Welland County Council, assembled in the council chamber, a proposition was made to memorialize the Government to take steps for the prevention of the destruction of sheep on the farm lands of the county.

The resolution was a protest from the aggrie ed farmers who claimed that the sheep raising industry had been practically wiped out owing to the ravages of urban dogs which attacked the flocks by pitch.

"It is not only the actual loss sustained," said the councilor, "but those that are left will not be fit for breeding purposes, as sheep are of a nervous disposition, and such a thing as an attack by dogs eventually ruins those that escape."

Reeve Nelles suggested that the Government should offer a bounty per head for dogs caught at sheep killing. Just as it offers a bounty for wolves in the northern parts of Ontario.

Council Philips, of Bertie Township, said that the farmers were practically discouraged in the matter of raising sheep, although it was accounted to be one of the most profitable assets of any farm, as sheep were one of the means of eradicating weeds from pasture fields, and for that alone were invaluable. The motion carried unanimously.

Story of Deadly Arizona Fued

"To the Last Man" at Belle Theatre Gripping Tale

Not a motion picture based on a story, but a photodrama which actually breathes the spirit of the original tale and personality of the author, is Paramount's new picture, "To the Last Man," a Zane Grey production, coming to the Belle Theatre next Monday, Mr. Grey spent several summers winning the confidence of the inhabitants of the Tonto Basin, Arizona, from whom he learned the story of the famous Pleasant Valley war, a feud of the late eighties which was fought out literally "to the last man."

Gaston Label, leader of the cattlemen and Lee Jorth, leader of the sheepmen, are old enemies. Both have come to the Tonto Basin from Texas with their sympathizers. Knowing that a fight is coming, Gaston Label sends for his son Jean who is a ranger over in Oregon. Meeting Ellen, Jorth's daughter, on his way to the valley, Jean falls in love with her.

After when Jean incurs cattle rustler's to the Jorth ranch, the Jorths refuse by raiding the label home in the battle, Guy Label and one of the children are killed. The following day Gaston is shot down treacherously and the labels pursue the Jorths. By an ambush, all the labels are wiped out except Jean, who carries on the fight single-handed. He kills the last of the Jorth sympathizers and ends by marrying Ellen. Thus the feud is ended.

This is the first of Mr. Grey's novels to be made into a picture under his new contract with Paramount. Mr. Grey was present when the picture was being taken. As a result of his assistance, the photodrama breathes the story of the out-of-doors. It is the story of the lives of cowboys mixed with primitive hates and a love of fighting. Lois Wilson, Richard Dix, Frank Campeau, Robert Edeson and Noah Beery are the principal players.

DEEP WATERWAYS SEEM MORE PROBABLE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Dec. 5.—Following a recent meeting of the board of engineers representing Canada and the United States on the St. Lawrence is very nice with cheese.

Deep Waterway project and an agreement by the board on questions for engineering study, an agreement has been turned over to the state department here for ratification. Canadian members of the board have returned home and will submit agreement to Ottawa. While the agreement is not given out officially, Canadians were successful in having included in the study, which is to be made, an inquiry into the effect of Chicago Sanitary District diversion of water on lake levels and the level of the St. Lawrence. The effect of Niagara diversion is not included. If Washington and Ottawa agree, the way will be open for final and comprehensive engineering study of St. Lawrence problem which officials here hope will lead to complete agreement for improving St. Lawrence waterway.

BERLIN PURSE MAKER IS HAPPIER NOW

Berlin, Dec. 6.—The lack of a standard size, of recent years, for German paper money, or rather of a standard that could be expected to endure, has made difficulties for the manufacturer going ahead full blast to meet an ocean of pocketbooks. They never knew the demand.

Son of the Sahara Is Griffin Picture

Scenes Were Actually Photographed in Village of Algeria

Sold as a Christian slave to Arab tradesmen!

That is the experience that lovely Claire Windsor undergoes in "Son of the Sahara," Edwin Carewe's picturization of Louise Gerard's novel, which will be screened at the Griffin Theatre Monday to Wednesday.

And what is more, the scene was actually photographed in the old native village of the village of Chinna Algeria where in days gone by human beings were actually bartered away as chattels.

The auction block scene is described as one of the most vivid in the picture. A large proportion of the Arab population of the community participated in it.

The incident takes place when Barbara, the heroine of the story, a recipient of the band led by the young Shiek Cassim, Jr., is put up for sale in accordance with his father's, his father, his avowed enemy.

But the young Shiek loves her, and secretly buys her. There is an extraordinary denouement when the young Shiek learns that he is in reality Raoul le Breon, a white man, and the girl takes a happier turn.

Bert Lytell plays the leading male role in the young Shiek.

DEATHS BY LIQUOR JUMP 200 PER CENT.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Deaths caused by liquor drinking have increased 200 percent in the last two years, Director's Chemist W. M. McNally, and a member of the faculty of the Rush Medical College said today.

In the period from 1916 to 1920 alcohol was responsible for the death of eighty persons in every 100,000 population. Prison house has claimed 247 lives in every 100,000 population since that time, he said.

"I believe the increase is due to the criminal classes taking to the habitual use of liquor-smashing," Dr. McNally said.

"The moonshine complex or an 'alcoholic psychosis,' has replaced delirium tremens as the direct cause of a majority of liquor deaths, according to the chemist, who attributes the new illness to the use of over-fermented liquor.

Dr. McNally said alcoholic psychosis was even more virulent than delirium tremens, and was marked by a state in which the drinker became fighting mad, and suffered vivid hallucinations.

The COACH As McLaughlin-Buick Builds It

THE Coach, as McLaughlin-Buick builds it, is a real closed car. See it and realize that McLaughlin-Buick has brought improvement to every single feature that previously has characterized "Coach" design.

The body is by Fisher. Wherever motor cars are discussed, the Fisher name stands for quality and durability. Take hold of the McLaughlin-Buick Coach anywhere and you'll find it substantially built.

The McLaughlin-Buick Coach comes on either of the two famous McLaughlin-Buick chassis—a Master Coach and a Special Coach. The quality is identical—the only differences are wheelbase, color and price.

The lines are smart and graceful, with no harsh right-angled corners.

The McLaughlin-Buick Coach is finished in Duco. Duco keeps its rich lustre, fadeless through weather, time or many miles. The body is larger. The rear seat accommodates three grown-ups in comfort. The doors are wider. Access to the rear seat is easy without the necessity of front seat occupants getting out of the car. The windows are opened by the most modern type of window lifter.

And this Coach is furnished and fitted with the luxuries of other closed cars. It has the new Fisher VV one-piece ventilating windshield, cowl lights, automatic windshield wiper, rear seat foot rest, rear vision mirror, dome light—everything! Four-wheel brakes are standard! The first Coach to have them! Before you decide whether to buy a Coach—before you decide what Coach to buy—see the Coach as only McLaughlin-Buick builds it!

BASEBALL SUPPORTERS MEET ON TUESDAY NEXT ; ST PATRICKS TRIMMED BY HAMILTON

Hams Swamped St. Pats Last Night

Offensive Work of Ambitious Men Too Much For Toronto

Toronto, Dec. 6.—Hamilton produced convincing proof last night at the Arena why they are at the top of the N.H.L. standing. They un corked a great burst of speed in the opening half of the first period, but the locals retaliated with a similar outburst in the second ten minutes, and the period ended with the two teams deadlocked with one goal each. In the second period the Irish went in front, but that was all, as Burch went through for the equalizer in thirty seconds, and from then on it was a case of "How Hams had increased their lead to 7 to 2, and they made it 10 to 3 before the game ended, and on the play the score gives a fairly good description of the difference between the two aggregations.

The leaders had speed to spare, and they came down three abreast time after time, and easily outdistanced the local back checkers, and when they struck the defence they generally outwitted the local defensive pair. Sometimes they used a fast passing combination as they struck the defence, and the wing who took the pass was able to work in close on Roach. Another time the puck carrier would split the defence wide open to romp in, and they varied this by driving one at the goal bewildering offensive that overthrown against the local defense, and without the aid of back checkers it took them bad. The best protection that was given Roach was that provided by McCaffery and Jackson in the closing minutes.

St. Patrick's—Lowrey, R. Roach, goal; Corbeau and Stuart, defence; Adams centre; Dye, right; Noble, left; Andrews, Reid McCaffery, Jackson and Spencer, substitutes.

Referee—Dr. Eddie O'Leary, Ottawa.

Newspapers Attack Lack of Sportsmanship at Football Games

(Associated Press Dispatch)

Buenos Aires, Dec. 6.—Argentine and Uruguayan newspapers have been severely lecturing spectators at football games for their lack of sportsmanship in the treatment of visiting teams from other countries. Throwing bottles and stones at opposing players, jeering them, calling them and their country names, are not calculated to enhance international friendship, they point out, and some editors in both countries favor the discontinuance of international contests on account of the ill-feeling they arouse.

The discussion was provoked by occurrences at recent games between the Uruguayan Olympic team and the Argentine eleven in Montevideo and the one Alone respectively. Stones are reported to have been thrown at the Argentine goal keeper in Montevideo, while in Buenos Aires the visiting Uruguayans fans walked off the field shortly before the end of the game, claiming the ill-treatment received by their players from the Argentine crowd was responsible for their failure to win. The Uruguayan sportsmen was further aroused when the best on which they returned rom Montevideo was bombarded by lumps of coal when it left the pier.

RED GREEN LEADS AS A GOAL-GETTER

"Red" Green, the flashy and tricky wing player of the Bouchard team, has taken a long lead in the scoring race for the National Hockey League by his net bulging spree of last night, and now has added five goals to his record, giving him a total of six. Pudgy "Jawn" Adams of St. Pats, minus a tooth of the poundage that decorates his system when he started practice has added four counters between the posts and stands second, while Bingy Burch of Hamilton, and Jimmy Poncher of the Canadiens, are tied for third with three each. Moosehead has scored but one goal in two games and that fell to the stick of Charlie Dunmore, the Toronto boy.

The following is the goal scorers' summary to date:

Hamilton—"Shorty" Green, 2; "Red" Green 6; Bouchard, 1; Langlois, 1; McKinnon, 2; Burch, 3; Roach 2.

Ottawa—Clancy, 2; Boucher, 1; Denneny, 1; Gorman, 1.

St. Patrick's—Adams, 1; McCaffery, 1; Corbeau, 1; Dye, 2; Noble, 1.

Boston—Harris, 2; Herberts, 1; Cook, 1; Cooper, 1.

Canadiens—W. Boucher, 2; Joliat, 2; Morenz, 2; Mantha, 1.

Montreal—Dunmore, 1.

RUGBY FINALS TO BE PLAYED TO-DAY

The final three games of the Canadian rugby season will be played this afternoon, the Dominion intermediate championship being decided at Kingston, where Queen's Seconds and Sarnia clash, the junior honors being at stake here when Ridgetown of Ottawa and Toronto Canoe Club clash at Varsity Stadium, while Hamilton and Sarnia Collegiates will decide which one will win the O.R.F.U. Interscholastic title and possession of The Mail and Empire trophy in a sudden-death game at London All three games shape up as very close affairs and as far as their records go this season it is difficult to name the better of the three pairs of teams.

GERMAN PUGILISTS IN CLOVER NOW

Berlin, Dec. 6.—Prize fighters in Germany are, for the moment, rolling in money. Instead of existing on beer and sausage and black bread, as was the case with many of them a year ago, the pugilists are again in their prime, living on milk and honey and splendid chicken. Paper mark days for the fighters were few, and a good many of them had to look to work. But with the stabilization of the mark the fight fans have developed an astonishing number, and crowd the sport halls.

Now the fans just can't get enough of the fight game, it seems. Samson Koerner, the champion heavyweight, has been appearing in vaudeville with Artie Knifflin, of Buffalo, N.Y., as sparring partner. In addition Koerner appears every day at noon at Berlin's largest sport palace, and fans jam the place to see Steverwald Hoyer punch the bag and go through other training and exercise movements.

Hans Breitensträter, the former German heavyweight champion, who was ed his first victory in San Francisco seven years ago, also gives daily exhibition of his training, as does George Cook, the heavyweight champion of Australia, who has been fighting in Europe for several years.

JUST PLAYED WITH HER FOR 8 YEARS

New York, Dec. 6.—"Newlie just played around with my affections for eight years, and then when he no longer could think of more business excuses to delay marrying me, he cooked up the story that he had been married for fifteen years."

Miss Jane Walsh, former "bells girl" at the Hotel Vanderbilt, said in talking of her $50,000 breach of promise suit against John Newton Marshall, great grandson of Chief Justice Marshall. He is uptown manager of Sloan & Winthrop, stock brokers.

Miss Walsh is now associated with Miss Maude Sylvester in a coat company on Broadway in the theatrical district. She told the story of her courtship by Marshall in the office of her attorney, Lucille Pugh.

The Indispensable Lemon

The early entry into medicinal prominence of citrus fruits was in connection with scurvy, at one time such a scourge to men of the Navy and of the mercantile marine. Citrus fruits specially by the lemon and the lime, helped to eradicate the disease. The fruit acts medicinally on the system, and the fact has been observed that the acid, which is so easily separated from the juice, is not nearly so efficacious as the juice itself.

Lemons are undoubtedly one of Nature's best tonics. There is probably no other fruit which is valuable in so many different ailments. The juice is of great use in diphtheria and gout, is an antidote against diabetes, and is regularly prescribed in cases of rheumatoid arthritis. Again, lemon juice in cold water is good for biliousness, and is fatal for chills or coughs. Lemon juice can also be used with advantage for cleaning the teeth as for rinsing the mouth and throat. In fact, the lemon, as one excellent authority recently put it, "is a medicine chest in itself."

A tablespoonful of honey mixed with the same quantity of strained lemon juice is recommended as an unrelieved cure for a sore throat. Beat up an egg with a dessertspoonful of lemon juice, add to a dessertspoonful of lemon juice, and drink at once. This is a good laxative for speaker's throat. Some people find headaches are speedily cured by drinking a cup of fairly strong fresh lemon tea, in which a slice of lemon takes the place of sugar.

A few drops of lemon juice in a glass of cold water are excellent for strength ening the eyesight, while the raw juice is almost a specific for chilblains. A well-known medical man recently expressed the conviction that "if every one took the juice of a lemon in water first thing in the morning instead of early tea the health of the nation would soon show a marked improvement."

There are few French-made dishes, soups, and sauces in which the lemon is not a source of lemon—does not form part of the recipe, and the number very which it imparts is gradually being appreciated and adopted by the cookery.

When bought, the lemons should be carefully rubbed to remove any moisture from the skin, else all powder will stirr. When clean and dry, they should be wrapped in paper, each one separately, placed in a cabinet, and then put some in a cool, dry place. All damp is fatal to lemons. Even if the border is dry, the vapours from food will affect them.

The rind of the lemon is almost as valuable as the juice, for from it we get the oil of lemon or lemon so much used in cookery. The peel is chopped up for kept ready for use, it will be found to be of immense saving in time when we come to make or a pudding is being hastily made, for a little used instead of lemon will add improvement in even the plainest of puddings and cakes.

Be lemon tree has the peculiarity of bearing almost all the year round, so that you may see upon it at one and the same time flowers, miniature green fruit, and fruit that is fully ripe.

Answers to Correspondents

Bridges—The rhyme you ask for is very old, but rather amusing.

Pink, your fortune will sink.

Married in blue, your husband is true

Married in brown, you'll live out of town.

Married in green, your husband is mean.

Married in red, you'll wish yourself dead.

Married in white you're sure to be right."

By the way, did you know that "Bride" is short for Bridget?

X. Y.—I do not agree with you at all. I firmly believe that a continuance of companionship with adults is leaving a child's schooling to the streets. I took of play with other children, which it should well lead to an every flow of the emotions in disobedience and fire-cracking. And it is very hard for the mother to face this truth but she must face it if she wants to have a happy, normal child. A mother cannot suffice for all the playtime of a weight!

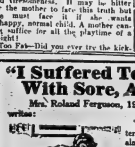

Tom Peb—Did you ever try the kick-like exercise? It is said to be a good one for developing the calf, and another to support yourself kick as high as you can in all direction. Climbing stairs (one at a time) is another reducing exercise, also walking "on all fours" on the floor. Do not eat starch, sugar and fat from your diet, but eat lean meat often considerably. Eat lots of vegetables and fruit, and drink quantities of water between meals. Do not eat or drink anything for one hour you do not go to sleep drink hot water or lean skim milk. Do not worry over your weight. Any food eaten beyond what your system requires will cause you to put on irritant. It is said that three-fourths of the whole population are overweight. All the balance (?) are ideal weight.

Yes, there is a rule to find your ideal weight. Subtract the number of inches over five feet (5 ft.) and the result is the shoes) by 5 1-2. Add 110.

To other words if you are 5 feet tall you may weigh 110 lbs. and for every inch over, you are allowed 5 1-2 lbs.

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost sick to death and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house.

A Womans Soul BY Charles Garvice

"I will take your word for that! At any rate, I won't venture to contradict you; but you must permit me to express my satisfaction that Fate has spared me to that extent! I have no desire to add an actress to my list of acquaintances."

Lord Neville inclined his head.

"This is exactly what I expected you to say, sir," he said, calmly. "But I considered it my duty to tell you, and to set your conscience at rest. I have asked my father's, had he been living."

"Thanks, you are very considerate," said the marquis, with a fine sneer; "and do not mind me! Pray unbosom yourself! Treat me as if I were your father, and dilate upon the lady's charms. Of course she is beautiful."

"She is very beautiful," said Lord Neville, quietly.

"And clever! Quite a genius, in fact, find equally, of course, pure and innocent as the driven snow!"

The words—the tone—almost maddened Lord Neville. He turned pale, then went pale, and his eyes burnt like fire as they met the keen, sardonic gaze.

"She is clever! She is a genius! Yes!" he said, controlling himself by a great effort. "She will be, or would have been famous. As to her innocence and purity, she has been brought up and carefully guarded by a man, a genius whom and whose memory I will not suffer to be dragged into the mire by a word."

"Well-deed! You are singularly fortunate!" came the scornful response. "Such devotion is rare, and better endeavor to discuss this matter quietly. If she is as you say she is, the reason why you should treat me to dramatic heroics escapes me. Of course I have no doubt you believe all you say; I am not prepared to dispute it, but I cannot see why you should trust me to dramatize it to you. You will be called to have no doubt you believe all you say; I am not prepared to dispute it, but I cannot see she is everything that is beautiful and innocent and talented, and that you are very much in love with her—and she has laughed, such a laugh of taunting scorn as only women can laugh has been echoed in Tonbet.

"Lord Neville turned into his chair again.

"And you propose to marry her?" said the marquis, after sipping his wine. "Well, you are full of surprises me! How fashions alter! In my young days such a thing we should have done!"

Lord Neville's face darkened.

"Even in your day," my lord, all men were not base enough to act as you have!

"No," said the marquis, delighted at having driven his nephew to fury, "but there were some fools—even in my day!"

"You can call me what you please, sir!"

"My dear fellow, what else can I call you? Even you will not expect me to applaud your choice! I see you propose taking. You are a Neville, you will be the Marquis of Stoyle, a peer of the three kingdoms; you will get, or you would have got, the Garter; and you propose to marry—an actress! an actress! If there is any man in England who would not think you a fool I should like to see him very much indeed. Why, my dear fellow, I remember upon it, no one thinks you more evidently a fool, than the girl herself."

"My lord, I—"

"By Heaven, if you only knew her!" broke from Lord Neville's parched lips.

The marquis laughed.

"I have heard again. But you'll excuse me, I trust! An actress! Come, I'm not a betting man—now, but I'll make a wager you a hundred pounds to five that before two months after you have been married you will admit to me that I was right and that you were a very great fool, indeed!"

"Take you, sir," said Lord Neville, grimly, and he drew out his pocket-book and scribbled something down the bet. The old man's eyes shone with a swift approval; it was a touch of his fancy of himself.

"And I make you another that in the same period the girl herself will be as eager that the bargain be off as you and made an elaborate bow.

"Which, as the old man's nature was very low and sharp. "Very well done, indeed. But you forget when you taunted me with the unhappiness of my own married life, that you were admitting that I spoke with experience."

Lord Neville flushed.

"By Heaven, sir," he said, quietly, "you drove me to my hand. I know little or nothing of your married life—I scarcely thought of it when I spoke—"

The marquis waved his hand.

"Don't scoff it by an apology," he said, quietly. "I am struck home and should be satisfied. My marriage was almost as great a mistake as your own will be. Almost, not quite. It ruined my life; it by a hair's breadth would have saved you from a like experience as I should have been glad to have been so; but I am not prepared to take much trouble. We will, therefore, it you please, consider that you have made up your mind to marry this girl from the gutter—don't ask for terms; a girl who is of no family is from the gutter—the pavement—and you have made up your mind to become the laughing-stock of all our friends, old and young; to chain your-self to a woman who will, while she lives, be notorious and stared at as 'the actress;' that you are contented to leave the society to which your birth and position entitles you, and sink into grim solitude or the companionship of people of her class. We will take it for granted, then, and, now, what do you expect me to do, if I may ask?"

Our National Character

In the course of an article in the "Empire Review" on "Pickwick and the English People" Mr. C. K. Chesterton writes:—

"What has really made the English apart from mere huge journalistic flatterers a success in colonies and in companies is a certain optimism, was a certain comic acceptance of the circumstances, a certain power to live English Cockney or cabet of continuing to be absurdly like himself even when, in the ritual formula, he don't know where he are. This is a national knack which the other national mystics, is gained at the expense of missing other things; of mission, for instance, the full stature of the citizen and the full inherited experience that comes of remaining rooted in very old civilizations. But in perhaps the best sense and still the noblest of all national virtues.

"Of all that great popular tradition 'Pickwick' is the supreme artistic expression, the masterpiece, and even the miracle. Its very faults are its merits; its very looseness and incoherence the full stature of the citizen and the full inherited experience that comes of remaining rooted in very old civilizations. But in perhaps the best sense and still the noblest of all national virtues.

"Of all that great popular tradition 'Pickwick' is the supreme artistic expression, the masterpiece, and even the miracle. Its very faults are its merits; its very looseness and incoherence thing; indeed it loses a great deal in not thinking out its own principles or facing fundamental truths. But it is the great glory and the great virtue of charity; both in the form of patience with comrades and in the form of humility before the ships are not broken up for the fuels of the public house. It is the very little recognition of the idea of truth, that is to say, valuable, and even sacred, of the idea of trust.

"Nothing in modern English or more characteristic in the Pickwick epic than the fact that the two most comrades are comic in their incongruity. They differ and do not quarrel or they quarrel and do not differ. There is an assumption and atmosphere of absurd tolerance about the whole of the relations between the two. Mr. Pickwick calls Mr. Winkle an impostor; but he does not call him a liar or a poseur. He denounces his followers for trifling and false attitudes, and then only laughs when the denunciation is turned against himself. There runs through the whole story an implication that the absurd company will go through all sorts of things in future; and that implication has been fatal to the literary romance of modern people.

"There must have been many groups of Englishmen in camps and colonial cities and countries consisting of men who put on with each other somehow that sense of comic equality which was enough as an individual. They were comic characters, if not to themselves, at least to each other, and even in isolation, any one of them who had with him a little had a blurred view of some of 'Pickwick', must have felt that he carried his country in his pocket."

THE NIGHTINGALE AND THE GLOW-WORM

By William Cowper

A nightingale that all day long
Had cheered the village with his song,
Nor yet at eve, his note suspended,
Nor yet when eventide was ended,
Began to feel, as well he might,
The keen demands of appetite.
When, looking eagerly around,
He spied far off, upon the ground,
Something that twinkled in the dark.
And knew the glow-worm by his spark
So, stooping down from hawthorn top
He thought to put him in his crop
Reached the worm at a mouthful down
Harangued him thus, right eloquent—
"Did you admire my lamp," quoth he
"As much as I your minstrelsy,
You would abhor to do me wrong
As much as I to spoil your song,
For 'twas the self-same power divine
Taught you to shine and me to sing.
That you with music, I with light,
Might beautify and cheer the night."
The songster heard his short oration,
And warbling out his approbation,
Released him, as my story tells,
And found a supper somewhere else.

An old, old, lady of over one hundred, had a Birthday Party recently at which she said, "Love is the most important thing in life. Happiness is not easy, but for true contentment I advise young women to marry wisely and for love only."

Well!

We read recently a pretty legend as to the origin of the lovely chrysanthemum. The story goes that one day, in a garden, a cherub found in the Black Forest found a tiny baby boy and took him home to his wife, where, remarked the little stranger was lovingly received and carefully tended. But after a time to the surprise of all, the child disappeared. The day after he was missed, the next passage upon which he had found the baby, saw a shed of beautiful flowers, yellow, pink and white. And this according to the legend was the birth of the chrysanthemum.

A POOR SHOWING!

The great Marshal once said: "That is the best government which desires to make the people happy, and knows how to make them happy." Statistics show that our people are leaving Canada by the thousands. If they were happy and contented, they would not be going away, which does not prove that we have not the best government.

NATURE LORE

By Wallace Havelock Robb

"Good morning, Mr. Parr," said I one bright, sunshiny Saturday morning we had our bird talk. "You here again," said Mr. Parr, a little impatiently. "You does not see golfers on the green before breakfast on Saturdays, as a rule." "Well," I replied, "I am again and ready to hear that bird experience of your's."

"I had quite forgotten about that," said Mr. Parr, "but I agree to tell you my secret, didn't I? You sure did get those birds names correct for I was there looking for them and heard you up."

Well now, if I remember rightly, you are to tell me how those June's do it," I said. "I am sure that is a small matter in all's well."

"Right you are," answered Mr. Parr "I find from the library, that I really am a nice little bird, and a favorite of Nature but I did not know it at be ever. Those golfers have called me silly name fate hung on them, were I not careful, they will be after me to dice at their grandmother's or some such place. I was down in the U.S. south, later on when the snow was deep, and saw golfers, their parents and cousins and grandparents guessed they were up here making their fortunes, for they were all dressed as man like me. I'll bet their ears were burning. Some terrible things my relatives were saying about their foolish ways in coming close to man.

"Did they actually come close to you, Mr. Parr?"

"Why yes, dear man," went on Mr. Parr, with great enthusiasm. "they got so friendly that they tried to steal my raisins and I'll tell you that was bait way from my lunch basket they would, if I were not so kind. They certainly tried to dazzle me with that little flash on their head, but they would hop on my head and then bump I would go, head first, down to be a terrible wind and flutter of feet as they all got after my food and all I could see was dark bird and white flashes. It all came about by a little bad luck as I see it.

"Well, you see, my friend," I went on, "I am not seeing if that was be) considering the friends you have made."

"Haw, haw, haw," said Mr. Parr, "that a compliment you are paying yourself! But I'll tell you what I'll permit but if you insist. I might say that I admit that some of the bird birds are concerned; them I know but you are new to me and I try not to judge men. I'll say nothing as in regard to. However, bad or good be the birds who have come to the new golf working on the course in the fall and the work went on all winter, for they had seven big buildings to move with wheels which were put under them on the grounds all winter. About the time the golfers started in the spring I had toothache and it bothered me every time I turned and bit on a hard piece of food. While eating raisins the shock one lovely day in Indian Summer I bit on a piece of shell (not summer, sentiment or romance), and it broke off. Now I am a lover of fibers in Nature and munching my bread and found the shell tooth. You know the rest I hit hard on a crust. Good night! I felt my apparent life was ebb. Well, I threw away some bread and cake and all that sort of stuff and sat back to think things out. I made out a pretty good case of comfort and sympathy in general and my tooth in particular, when I heard a new bird inquiring as he ran round here now, picking at the cake and not noticing me, for I was busy feeling sorry for myself to move. Well, the cake was all I liked their table manners, so I asked Mrs. Parr to give me extra food and I got some bird and well fed, then next day.

"Were they friendly then, Mr. Parr? "Friendly, nothing!" they were Mr. Parr. "They wouldn't trust me to move my jaw in the same time that way for several weeks but when they saw I was on the square I seem to be different and they stayed on all winter, and found a lair of your mother's best preserves that I was Johnny on the spot with the food and even when I was home sick with a cold for a week Bill Porter saw they were fed, so that is how it all happened over a bad tooth that I have some bird friends that love and know me."

"What about the tooth Mr. Parr?" I asked before I departed.

"Oh, the tooth" he answered in a questioning way, as though I should have known "Why, don't know what happened to it, it got birdiitis and died I guess, for it came apart and fell out," laughingly remarked my friend.

PETER PAN AND THE SOLDIER

Though blinded in the war a young Australian soldier named Peter Pan is to "see" the statute of Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens before he was sent home.

"I was asked," writes a contributor to "Country Life," whether I would like him to be taken on Sunday. 'You know,' he said, 'I'm to return to Melbourne in 3 weeks' time, and I simply must see Peter Pan before I go.' Then when the statue stands Penn put his hand upon it. 'Why,' he said, 'it's smaller than I thought it shall know it all.' Carefully he felt it piece by piece with little murmurs of delight. That took at this moment he would say, 'See this lovely little fairy, why, she is exactly going to speak to him!' Then again, 'You are quite sure that I am not misunderstanding?'

"Indeed I thought he was taking in more than may a man with sight. He was quite silent on the journey home but at last, satisfied that nothing had escaped him, he turned to me and whispered, 'Surely there are a lot of people near us?' As a matter of fact there were, but I had hoped he would not notice them. They stopped as they passed, seeing the tall young Australian soldier fingering so reverently the statue that all London knows and loves.

POEMS Old And NEW

MR. RAT

As Mr. Rat was walking out
One sunny summer morn,
He passed Alfred, by Ernest White's,
Whose barns were full of corn.

"Now, now," says he, "now is my time
To fill my sack so full,
For Mr. Farmer is away,
And Mrs. Farmer's ill."

So, waiting not for second thought,
Into the barn he crept,
And nothing (for his luck was he)
Of many colored candles,
But lo, who knows watched quently alone.
Have hidden away more
When be, a sound, an awful sound—
The dog he had not seen!

His slumber o'er, he rises up!
And gives a mighty yawn,
When, oh—lo! what does he see
Half buried in the corn!

To reach the spot did not take long,
He went with mighty bounds,
But, to his sorrow, there he found
That Mr. Rat was dead!

That yawn, that mighty yawn he gave
Woken from his sleep he woke,
Had caused greedy Mr. Rat
Whilst eating corn to choke.

Yes, there he lay within the reach
Of plenty and to spare,
But, Mr. Rat, he wanted more
Eat e'en his own small share.

A moral children, take from this Though morals are not nice—

Line a pie plate with pastry and bake but cover with a filling. Meanwhile, prepare the filling in the following manner: Soak one pound of prunes overnight in sufficient water to cover them, simmer until the prunes are soft and the liquid is reduced to one cupful. Put the prunes and cut up in small pieces, then add 3-4 cup sugar and 1-4 cup chopped walnut meats. Last, fold in the whites of two eggs beaten until stiff and pour the mixture into the pastry shell. Bake 20 minutes in slow oven. Remove from the oven and when cold, garnish the top with one cup of cream whipped until stiff, to which 2 tablespoons of powdered sugar and 1-2 tsps vanilla have been added.

RENFREW MAN SAW THREE-LEGGED DEER

Renfrew, Dec. 6—A check-up of the moose kill by hunters of Renfrew and district since their return from the bush discloses the fact several that fact that the most curious experience was that of Alexander Stewart, of Sand Point. Walking over a trail one day he came upon a deer with one horn torn off, with wounds all over its body, and with the deer making no attempt to move off as the hunter appeared. Mr. Stewart saw signs of a severe bear fight. He also saw from the appearance of the ground that a bear had been in close progress. He shot the deer to put it out of misery and allowed the carcass to remain in the woods. Several weeks later he visited the spot and found that the animal's body had been eaten, but the head and one of its three legs and the wound was completely healed.

Hunters are one in saying that the deer knew wolves to be so numerous, so they are at present. It used to be that at the hunting season the wolves were heard only at night. Now hours is heard day and night.

An Open Letter to Press of Canada

Frank J. D. Barnjum Fires One Last Big Broadside

The letter herein appended, addressed to the first instance to the Secretary of the Guelph Chamber of Commerce, may or may not interest, you. It is sent to you, in common with other editors of Canadian newspapers, not because I have any confidence that it will affect the situation one way or another, but because I am an editor, some of them I fear accused by partisan motives, have assumed that I am unduly pessimistic with regard to the forest situation in Canada which this letter attempts to summarize without comment.

More than one prominent forest authority in Canada has told me it is impossible to overstate Canada's disputable forest situation and it you will read the accompanying letter carefully I think you will readily agree with this view.

I have often been subjected to some criticism because I have announced my determination to cease my efforts in behalf of forest betterment in Canada, but it my critics were well advised of the fact that extent which my only surprise would be that I had not given up entirely, as I have long been against the stone wall of chicanery and public inertia.

The struggle-hold the explorers have for the publication of Canada's is too powerful for the Canadian people in their present state of nonchalance to contend with. I am not quite the first until I had found that the situation is hopeless for Canada.

I would be perfectly willing to continue in a fair fight as long as I live but in the Battle of Canada the conditions are unfair. Besides it is patent that the battle is a losing one. Lessons every day it's prolonged means that much less forest left to save.

When the last of the narrow fringe of our northern wooded area which covers only the inhabitable southern part of Canada from the cold winds of the Arctic north in sheep removed, Canadians will suffer all the like consequent upon the resultant climatic changes. Then will our summer days are becoming colder and drier, the winds are becoming stronger and more deadly and there are occasional extreme cold precipitation over small areas of such violence as to cause irreparable damage, and all because that regulator or safety valve, the forest, is rapidly being worn out of existence.

China offers convincing evidence and an everlasting warning of what happens to a country whose forests have been depleted. We are not dependent on anyone's theory as to what will follow the loss of our wooded areas. If additional confirmation is needed it is to be found in India, Palestine and Spain and in Persian Desert which is now an utter waste, was once crowded hit cities and full of cultivated fields. Mesopotamia and Syria were ancient seats of civilization. The old "granary of Rome" in Tunis is now barely arid and waste. Indeed, we need not go abroad for evidence because we have millions and millions of acres in our own Dominion where nothin ghut bare rocks are to be seen and not a living creature is to be found, where life is impossible because the land has been denuded of trees.

The most strikkae description of a forgalous country that has come to my attention is that contained in the following editorial from the Quebec Telegraph:

Why China Has Famine

"The terrible famine conditions for several years past in China are a matter of general knowledge. Yet that country once had a wonderful coverage of trees, the equal of the well-wooded portions of Canada, but China, poor benighted land that it is, did what we are doing in Canada, cut away its trees and allowed the land to be burned over. The vegetation was destroyed over great areas, then the water swept over the land and carried with it the fertile top soil. So there are millions of acres in China that can subsist a barren waste not capable of producing vegetation. China has one crop in seven years, and in the other years of that period must look to the world for substance to feed her teeming millions. China has become, and will remain for lost years, a land of perpetual famine, because she has destroyed her forest covering, subjecting herself to the devastation of alternating floods and droughts, and has suffered for forth ten and more of such a vast portion of her domain. A recent traveller relates what he saw in China

Do as Mr. Gard

Mr. Amos A. Gard, the well known Littérateur of Ottawa, called the Wanderer Yeates, gave us the following testimonial for ZUTOO Tablets:

"Zutoo Tablets stop my headaches so completely that I do not mind having them any more."

Sailing through the Yellow Sea, he was impressed by the fact that much of the water was of a deep chocolate color the result of soil that had been washed down from the hinterland. Looking out across the land he saw miles and mile of barren waste from which the soil had been washed away, because no trees were there. He told of having seen whole villages and entire walled towns vanish utterly, being buried beneath the countryside. The land bore a scant crop of human beings following the scrawny animals to pick up the droppings from those animals to be used for fuel. Think of a people reduced to such extremities! China was once blessed with a rich heritage of forests which were cut away, as we are doing in Canada. China is today paying a terrible and ghastly price for her folly. If we would avoid the same terrible conditions befalling our children it is for each one of us individually to become not only a protector of the forest against fires but an active planter of trees wherever and wherever the opportunity comes to us.

We are in the slightest hope left for what remains of Canada's forests, that hope rests with the public press of Canada. In a democracy such as this the newspaper is the court of last resort. Even the most unscrupulous or indifferent politician can be rendered amenable to public opinion through the press if the public opinion through the press is willing to take up the fight. Where individual effort ends, I am afraid that our forests are absolutely doomed.

Yours very truly,

FRANK J. D. BARNJUM.

ALLEGES STRANGE CAMPAIGN CRY

Toronto, Dec. 6.—Vote for union and a full dinner pail for parsnips!" Such, said Rev. E. Th mpson, chairman of a Presbyterian association meeting in Central avenue Baptist church, was a paraphrase of the unofficial campaign cry to him by a Provincial minister who was recently in the United Church of Canada.

Held in a Baptist church because, according to the speakers, the session of Bloor avenue Presbyterian church had "postponed" permission for the holding of that building, the meeting was composed largely of the Bloor avenue Presbyterians who did not see eye to eye with the Rev. Mr. Appleton at the numerous criticisms of many subscribers, however, by no means unanimous. The chief speakers were Dr. James Allen and Dr. Norman MacMillan, each of whom spoke for half over an hour.

Convict's Wife Suffers

Lindsay, Dec. 6—Mrs. Hazell, wife of John James Hazell, who is serving a two-year sentence in Kingston Penitentiary and who was on trial for murder at the Fall Assizes, is at present in the Lindsay Hospital in a serious condition. She had not been seen about her home since Sunday, and when Chief of Police Umphrey entered the house through a window, he found the woman lying unconscious on the kitchen floor. She was rushed to the hospital where it was found that she was poisoned and was suffering from exhaustion and exposure. There was also a scar on her face and forehead. The woman has been living alone for some time. Penic are entertained for her recovery.

Re-open Highway

Some time next week the Provincial Highway between Port Hope and Colborne will be re-opened for traffic. This means that until next Spring there will be no more detours between Cobourg and Toronto. The unfinished portion of the highway will be completed in the Spring, when work will also start on the filling of the gravel road between Port Hope and Bowmanville.

Last Yoke of Oxen Sold

George Savery, of Haslington, twenty miles north of Ayshe, thought he could return to Apsley with the intention of choosing of them. On the scales one weighed exactly 2,000 pounds, and the other over 1,900 pounds. They were a source of attraction to young and old by the latter residents of their early and poorer days, bringing back with inward glee memories of handicap, privation and toil unknown to the younger generation. This is probably the last yoke of oxen to be worked in the back country.

Woman Chairman?

Kingston, Dec. 6—For the first time in the history of the city there is a likelihood that the position of chairman of the board of education will be occupied by a woman. The names of two trustees, Mrs. Newlands and Mr. T. G. Bishop are being mentioned as likely to be elected chairman of the Board next year, and in this connection it is understood that Trustee Bishop would be loath to remain as chairman of the management committee, thus simplifying the selection and automatically placing Mrs. Newlands in the chair.

Sight Becomes More Precious With Age

EACH year you become more dependent on your eyes for work and for pleasure. And good sight in middle life, and beyond, depends in large measure on the care given the eyes earlier in life.

Eye strain is a subtle thing, often existing a long time before one realizes that it is present. For the eye works so involuntarily one is no conscious of extra effort being made.

To have and keep good sight you should have the eyes examined, by an expert eye specialist every 12 or 18 months. That is a service we have been rendering the public for many years.

To Dig For Body Of Ambrose Small

In Possession of $200,000, Sisters Will Spare No Expense

Toronto, Dec. 6. Five years after Ambrose J. Small disappeared under human sight the sisters of the missing theatrical millionaire are preparing to proceed with the digging of the Rosedale dump in a search for his body.

This announcement was made by Miss Eleanor Small, one of the sisters, who has just paid a visit to John Dooley, former servant to Small, in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

"We are going ahead to have that dump dug up" declared Miss Small. "We have wanted to do that for a long time, and have opened negotiations with a contractor to have a steam shovel put on the job. It may possibly be done in the next few weeks."

Miss Small think that if his body had been buried there five years ago last Thursday that it would be well keepsake dabs" she was asked.

"Yes, we do. He had a hammer too, you know. That would help to identify him."

The sisters were not satisfied with the digging done by the police in the vicinity of the dump. They say that Alfred Binkley, caretaker of Rosedale Hall, told the police he had seen a car drive to the dump on the night of December 2, 1919, and several men get out of it, but since told them that the police search did not couple the car number to the car. The police used a steam shovel in their previous but finally abandoned the attempt.

They said that if might cost $3,000 to do the job thoroughly, but the Small sisters are determined to do it, and they are willing to bear the entire cost themselves, now that they have had the $200,000 awarded to them in the settlement of the will action paid into court.

Five Children Must Holiday in Shelter

Father and Mother Are Doing Time on O.T.A. Counts

Hamilton, Dec. 6—Their mother and father in jail for violating the O.T.A., five small children none of them over 16 years of age, will spend their Christmas in the children's shelter this year. Inspector Cruickshank of the eastern police division told the kids' unhappy story yesterday. Arrested in him the father, Steve Doeritz, a good-natured foreigner living in the east end of the city, was sentenced shortly before the O.T.A. came into effect on a liquor charge. When released he returned to home and got a good job back. Some time after, he again ran foul of the law and was brought before the court for the second time. The third time he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. All his little family look after them selves.

W ife Is Caught

The wife, not seeming to realize the seriousness of the predicament, enjoyed the happiness of her little brood by continuing where her husband left off. On Hallowe'en night the home was raided and a quantity of liquor found. Unable to pay her fine of $200, she was sent to jail for three months, and the five kiddies were left to look after themselves the best way they knew how. When the inspector visited the home he found the children living in squalid surroundings. And scarcely able to find enough to eat to keep alive. The eldest girl, the officer said told him that they had been forced to kill two pet goats and eat he flesh to keep from starving.

The state law allows part time studies for minors, under 16, Dunlop explained, and Mrs. Chaplin has just been filed by Miss Margaret Peterson, tutor of the young bride, showing that she followed a 20 hour a week schedule of studies up to November 17 last.

She says:—"I had not been feeling well for some time and had been gradually growing weaker. I found it very hard to do my housework; had severe headaches and was very ugly. I took doctor's medicine for some time, but they did me no good. I was growing weaker and used to faint and take dizzy spells. In this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills and after a time found they were helping me. I continued their use until I found the trouble that affected me had gone and I am once more enjoying good health and strength."

CITIZENS RALLY TO THE ROTARY CLUB'S APPEAL

Sum of $475 Given at Belle Theatre Last Night

CROWD AUDITORIUM

President Tells of Work Accomplished; Judge Mott Speaks

About four hundred and seventy-five dollars was collected by the Cheerful Children's Fund of the Belleville Rotary Club at the Belle Theatre last night. Belleville people rose to the occasion splendidly and responded to the worthy appeal made by the Club in its efficiency and every detail worked out and the entire evening's programme was equal to the interest shown by friends who packed every bit of room in the Belle Theatre. Many who could not get inside the doors did not go away disappointed, Mr. D. M. Ross, in his remarks as chairman, Mr. D. M. Reid, told the audience that the Service Club believed in practical christianity.

"We want deeds, rather than professions," said Mr. Ross. He said the Rotary Club was to serve humanity.

"The Rotarian enjoyed in the work of the Service Club, he said, and the accomplishment of the Rotarians by the Order. Then also Belleville broke the interest of that organization in the Club.

"What is the Rotary Club going to be done?" he asked. For one thing it had planned to give the Club made Hundred visits to poor children with a view to getting them to attend Sunday School. "For years we have a boy in Belleville Hospital and he will be both lame and crippled. He was likely to die.

Miracles Have Yet

"But the days of miracles are not ended," said Mr. Reid. Two operations were performed on the Hospital for Crippled Children at Toronto and the boy stood up in bed. The Club intended building and all Rotary had to pay for was the expense of maintenance while at the hospital.

"That boy was a hundred per cent cure and last summer he attended a celebration procession.

"There was another case. A young girl, twelve years of age, did not have the use of either leg. She was another hundred per cent cure.

At present there were from twenty to thirty such serious cases requiring attention, the speaker said.

"We have done this work for two or three years and hospital treatment and operations have necessitated the expenditure of about $1,000. Now we are about to say to assist us in this work."

Before concluding, Mr. Reid mentioned the fact that the Rotary Club had bought a summer camp for the boys of the city at Moira Lake and that $400 was contributed every year to help maintain it.

Envelopes were passed around for the convenience of those who would give.

Music Was Good

The musical part of the service was entered into with enthusiasm by the large audience. Led by Rotarian Sanford Burrows and Professor V. P. Hunt, all joined heartily in singing the "Onward Christian Soldiers," "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," "Holy, Holy, Holy" "Work for the Night is Coming" and "I Love to Tell the Story." Percy Robbins, Belle Theatre organist, swung the singers behind him with the organ. In response to repeated encores Sanford Burrows and Professor V. P. Hunt, the two soloists, two appreciated selections were sung by the Radio Quartette, consisting of Dr. A. E. Hubbs, W. H. Sullivan, Harry Moorman and Fred Burke and the male choir of twelve voices added the final touch to the service of song.

There was no question but that the Belleville Rotary Club had a place in the heart of the people. His Honor Judge Mott said that no man or body should turn out for just such a meeting was, avoidance of the Saviour's word, "I am come that ye might have life" and that you might have more abundantly," the speaker said he did not wonder that the Belleville Rotary Club under the carrying out of such a motto as Rotary's "I profits more, give more and be better."

Every man should follow an ideal Judge Mott said and no one need be ashamed of being a cadine in the ditch. More than that, everyone should read good books including the Bible. Every man who read his newspaper only, he said, was never up to good, was never readie all he should.

Endeavor to control your thinking was further advice given by the speaker, "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Speaking to fathers he asked them to ever set God in the household and daily life, as fathers saw the world, so did their sons.

THE WEATHER

Strong winds and gales, southeast to southwest with rain.

Law With And Not Against the Boy

Is Message Brought to Rotary Club by Judge Mott

"The King pro the Boy" not "The King vs The Boy" is the underlying principle of the Juvenile Court, according to his Honor Judge H. S. Mott. This was the message he gave members of the Rotary luncheon today in which he explained the aims and purposes of the Juvenile Court is doing in Toronto. Incidentally Judge Mott urged that Belleville and every community in the Province of Ontario apply to the Government to establish Juvenile Courts. "The same clamory is all provided" he said "all you have to do is to ask for it." So far only eastern or western centres in this province have Juvenile Courts, except in Alberta and Saskatchewan they cover the whole province.

The purpose of such courts, as explained by Judge Mott, is not so much to mete out Justice as to find out what causes the boy or girl to get into trouble. "The causes of delinquency" he said "can all be placed under three heads or a combination of the three—that is physical conditions, mental deficiency or social conditions surrounding the child in it's home life. The court's duty is to find out carefully the in 90 1-2 % of the cases by removing the cause, along away. They were actually scattered by the police.

Judge Mott was loud of his praises for Lac ine and the Soviet at the basis, Toronto's Juvenile Court, established at St. Alas, Those Reds were also scattered by police.

FOUND IN GARAGE, MURDER SUSPECTED

Sudbury, Dec. 8.—The body of Alex Chorney, 46 years of age, a Sudbury merchant, found lying across a crossbeam in a private garage at Con lason and Lee Dubar, a fellow countryman whose attentions to Chorney's daughter, it is said, have had resent ed, is in the jail here on a charge of murder.

The body was found in a half kneeling position with a half-inch rope around the neck. The feet were where badly cut and the theory is that Chorney had become incapable for Chorney to have taken his own life by hanging, from the position in which the body was found.

This Rum Runner Used His Wits Well, To Fool Officers in North Country

Sudbury, Dec. 8.—This was sent as a true story from a certain thirsty northern district.

Rum runner approaches a farmer and offers him a case of rye for his barn for one day.

"What do you want it for?" demanded the farmer.

"Well, I'm bringing a carload of booze through tomorrow night, and I want to put it in your barn for a day."

"All right," says the farmer, who watches the rum runner out of sight and promptly notifies O. T. A. officers.

The officers watch the barn all night till the next day, and—of course—nothing doing, so they gave it up and went home.

A few days later the rum runner reappears and offers the farmer a gift.

"But, you didn't use my barn," protested the farmer.

"No," replied the rum runner, "but while you had the officers tied up here, I ran four loads down the back road."

Here's your money."

CAN'T USE OTHERS TO REACH HEAVEN

Message of Dr. McCrimmon At Baptist Church Anniversary

The fifty-first anniversary of Victoria Ave Baptist Church was celebrated yesterday, with Dr. A. J. McCrimmon, M.A., rochester, N.Y. McMaster University, as speaker, at both the morning and evening services. Dr. McCrimmon delivered his evangelical message in a stirring way with great sincerity.

In the evening he spoke on the great text, experience that ever come to the life of a man or woman, takes us by text. Everyone a man be born again he can not entry the kingdom of God."

"There," he said "you have a clear authentic statement with a definiteness of result. No one will be able to say on the Judgment Day that he did not know what the result would be."

Speaking of the changes that come Dr. McCrimmon said that more extensive advances had been made in the last century than in any other period of time. It was a great thing for the young person to find a place for himself where he could be a dynamic force, but a far greater discovery was to see and respect the place of our fellows. If it were always done, there would be no such thing as socialism there would be no harnessing of steel and iron will ensolve and Belgium there would be no disputes between employer and employe. But the greatest discovery was the discovery of God.

"To have a vital union with the Holy Spirit, to bring Jesus into one's life, to bend all secondary interests to the primary one, that was what was worth while.

Many Do Not Understand

"Many people do not understand the phrase, 'to be born again.' There are different births. There is first, the phenomenon of physical birth. Then there is the artistic birth, when one's mind into the aesthetic realm. And there is the spiritual birth when one learns to know God, to have the right attitude of mind."

The misunderstanding of this spiritual change might come slowly or quickly. In some instances that be retail, the person had been changed in an evening, others could decide on any certain time. It did not matter however. The great thing was to have such an experience—to pass from death to life. In the evening Dr. McCrimmon will preach again. Behind the emotions, the will the thoughts there was a great 'beneficial' of self. Some people called it 'Christian experience.' It was unconsciousness but no one knew what it was.

The transition was not a mere fiction of the imagination but a reality in experience. But a dark background life could not be brought before the presence of God, and expect to be accepted. Reformation was needed. Religious linked the soul to God; religion was the great organizing power in the history of mankind.

"To be born again means that the personality of man went out to God. It was not the part of mankind to operate the best years of life in the service of the antagonists of the Creator and then bring the dregs to offer to God.

Further, it was a personal experience. No one could get into Heaven on any one else's merits.

"Religion in this he told of a man working on a building on the third story, and seeing a man taking a drink to a bystand below him he called down to him "Take a drink for me, Bill." This was just as possible as to get into Heaven through another's service.

"Now," he concluded "is the appointed hour. Do not delay. Decide to hold you back, to jostle and delay you, for the path of heaven is the path of the world."

The music by the choir who were assisted by the Juvenile choir, was appropriate and well-rendered.

STRANGER IN TOWN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto Paper Sees Possibility

Mail and Empire Draws Con clusion From City Vote

The Toronto Mail ant Empire had the following to say about West Hastings on Saturday:

"The Liberal government braves are still celebrating their victory in West Hastings. In Belleville, in Ottawa, in Montreal, and in Toronto they are exhibiting the same joy as when John of Gaunt who raised the Tory seige of the riding and planted the banner of Lancaster on its ramparts. The time is not distant when Mr. Hanna's defeat will also be a signal for the relief of the Maid of Orleans. In the meantime, it cannot be wondered at if his success has turned the heads of himself and his party friends. The election was the by-election by the considerable majority of the Government, and to date who beat his opponent in the general election by 1,713 is something to boast about. It is something also for the Conservatives of West Hastings to be a bit ashamed of, but not disheartened by. On the contrary, it should teach the party pride in from and sting them into preparation for the recovery of the riding in the general election.

"How could they be downhearted? On Monday last in the contest for the temporarily in the office of Belleville four candidates appeared in the field—W. J. Mikel, K.C., the Financial Secretary of the Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association; A. W. R. Mercer another Conservative; ex-Mayor Bennett, Liberal, the candidate who was incarrest to him, beiee 1,649. The total vote cast for Mr. Mikel was 949 more than that polled for the other three candidates combined. Our Liberal friends ought to do all they can to relieve they can ever West Hastings between this and general election day. For a weak moment Belleville gave their candidate a majority of 427. When they look at the majority of 1649 by which the mayoralty was won three days later for the Conservative candidate as against the chief Liberal candidate, they may well regard the majority of 1,713 as something but the Conservatives in West Hastings have agreed to be reckless. The party recapture the riding. It must be well organized and the best man in the party can selected to carry its standard. Then, provided that the right kind of a candidate, it will wipe out the record of the 25th of November.

RADIO VS. X-RAY

Radio fans in Belleville as in other cities have found that the operation of an X-Ray machine seriously interferes with reception. A test made by city men on Friday night showed positively that one machine could almost completely drown out the programs of the air.

This finding raises an unique point of ethics. Shall the medical man take an X-Ray in the evening when air programs are at their best, when are most numerous, or shall he stay his business for the sake of pleasure-seeking radio set owners? Shall radio fan be content to disconnect when the X-Ray machine sets up a howl, or shall he voice a protest against this interference with his pleasure?

It is not an opportunity for the law to step in. Indeed if such a circumstance came out, the X-Ray as a necessity, might easily defeat the radio set, a luxury.

At present, it appears the principle of give and take should govern, for there are some cases which doctors must treat in the evenings.

If it comes down to a fine point, the cause of relief must fall on the radio man. His task will be to construct a set that will render the X-Ray invaluable. Science has accomplished much more difficult tasks.

FOREIGN AGITATORS

The French Government has put its foot down heavily on communistic agitators. Some foreigners who have been doing the agitating have already been booted over the frontier and a promise is made that more will leave the country under similar circumstances.

The interesting feature of this news from France is that Herriot and his colleagues decided on the course following a conference with the Foreign Secretary for Great Britain, Chamberlain, which may or may not be a coincidence.

Is Great Britain contemplating action of the same kind?

It appears almost as if the long standing tolerance of England must be modified in the near future. For years radical socialists and out and out Communists have been preaching revolution. The capitalistic class has been damned steady year in and year out. Speeches made in Hyde Park on a Sunday have startled Canadian visitors by their candidness. Outrages have several times been perpetrated while Englishmen smiled languidly and said it was all a necessary safety valve.

England has been wise in the past. The safety valve worked well. Wiseness will in all probability guide her footsteps in the future. But from this distance England will be happier without the foreign born disturbers of the peace, who forsake Hyde Park for the factory, mine and shops.

COMEDY IN REAL LIFE

Every once in a while something happens in real life so absurd as to suggest weird comedy stunts enacted in motion pictures. The following account of a court case in France and the events leading up to the case is a happening in point. It was published in the Tweed News:

"The Paris newspapers have lately related the account of a strange lawsuit which the Green Bag reports for the American readers. The complaint in the case testified that he was living on the terrace in front of a restaurant, enjoying the air as well as the food. He had just begun to eat his soup, which he found too hot for his palate. While waiting for the soup to cool, he took from his pocket a roll of bills which he had received in payment of a bill.

"In counting the money he accidentally dropped a hundred-franc bank note into his soup. He took it out of his plate with a fork, and saw the soup away. The banknote was saturated with the greasy liquid, and he laid it down on the tablecloth to dry.

"He was partaking of the second course, when a sudden gust of wind blew the note off the table. He ran after it, but a dog, which, although it were a collar, and therefore in all probability had a home, yet showed every sign of hunger, seized it. The taste of the soup on the paper made it palatable, and the dog swallowed the note in an instant.

"The complainant used all his persuasive power in an effort to get the dog to come back. 'Good dog, good dog! Come here!' he coaxed.

"The animal, pleased with the taste of the soup, was finally tolerant enough for the complainant to approach and seize the collar of the dog. By free use of the name and address of the owner of the dog, he dismissed him with a Scotch blessing.

"Then he sought his lawyer, and brought suit against the owner of the dog for the restitution of the hundred francs.

"The court decided that the owner of the dog must pay, holding that since the dog was property, the owner must be held responsible for an act committed by the animal."

All that was needed to change the story to a two-reeler was to have the dog sent to a sausage factory and the poor lovely heroine buy the sausage containing the hundred franc note.

MENDED LIVES

The Rotary Club of Belleville and service clubs everywhere do immeasurably good. Each club is or should primarily for others. The city club has been hiding its light under a bushel however, and Belleville folk have not known exactly what has been going on. Brief references of yesterday's meeting by President C. M. Reid at the Belle Theatre last night, opened the eyes of many present.

Yet Chairman Reid had to tell one story to justify the existence of Rotary one hundred times over.

There was a boy in Belleville, bed ridden. Both his limbs were incapacitated. Without attention, there was a grave chance that he would die. The Rotary club found him sent him to Toronto, saw him through two operations. This summer he walked in one of the United Empire Loyalist Celebration processions.

The bringing of this one boy to a life of usefulness, health and happiness was worth all the effort put into the Rotary club to date.

CHANGED HIS MIND

Editor and Publisher prints the following: Is a modern newspaper unfit to occupy 15 minutes of any minister's time?

The Rev. D. Stanley Shaw, of Tabernacle M. E. Church, Binghampton, N.Y., thought so, but now he has changed his mind.

Following the course of a recent sermon, Pastor Shaw made the above remark about newspapers in general and there was no question mark attached to his statement. He went further, and publicly referred to the Binghampton Press as a happy example of a newspaper unworthy of a Christian's serious attention.

The Press immediately challenged Pastor Shaw to produce a single paper for one day to demonstrate his idea of what a newspaper should be. The daily offered to turn over its entire plant and staff to his control and give him full co-operation in every way.

Dr. Shaw scoffed at the idea as a trap. As evidence of its sincerity the Press then offered to donate $1,000 to any activity the minister's church might dictate if he would assume editorial direction. The following morning at 10 o'clock Dr. Shaw notified the Press by telephone that he would arrive at noon to direct the affairs of a newspaper. When informed that it would be mechanically impossible, and that under the Press offer it would be required to take charge when the staff began work at 7:30 a.m. the morning, he immediately gave a statement to the Binghampton Sun & Republican paper, accusing the Press of unfairness.

Two days later Pastor Shaw called at the Press Office, expressing a desire to end the controversy, and after being shown some of the workings of the plant, he declared that he had made his remarks from the pulpit without fully considering their effect and without any general knowledge of newspaper making, and apologized.

Later, at his weekly prayer meeting he told members of his congregation he had made a mistake and praised the management of the Press.

Press Opinions

SIR HENRY'S TRIBUTE

(St. Catharines Standard.)

The good opinion held by Sir Henry Thornton of Canadian newspapers is one which they must prize. He declares that they have the highest ideal of patriotism, public service and country than those of any country in which he has lived, and he has had exceptional opportunities for making comparisons.

ALL WILL BE WELL

(Kincardine Review, Conn.)

The Montreal Gazette again records a change of leader for the Conservative party. Some allowance could be made for the excellent journal and its esteemed contemporary the Gazette for their unsettled state. It probably has to do something to earn its revenue and it cannot do anything more useful for the government than agitate for a change of leader for the Conservative party. The fortunes thrown in Montreal at the per cent leader is nothing, however, to the ridge that would come from all over the country at the devoted head of so adventurous a venture as the Gazette might name as a suitable successor. The fact is that the Gazette has fared well since 1921, so opposition ever won so much and lost so little.

A GERMAN CREDIT

(Buffalo Express)

German railways, state owned before the Dawes plan, privately managed, are to get a $10,000,000 credit from a New York banking syndicate and $5,000,000 in London. It is another evidence that, under the new regime, Germany can be trusted to meet principles.

The German state railways consolidate what is probably the largest system in the world, with 75,000 miles of line. Like nearly all state-owned railways, rolling stock is now public railway officials appear to buy locomotives by the gross, and freight cars by the express. The total capitalization of the railways is about $5,500,000,000. Values are estimated to be worth in excess of $6,000,000,000. So there is ample security for the credit which the loan asks, but prevents further political troubles.

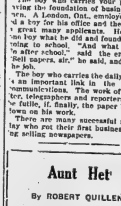

THE PAPER BOY

(Niagara Falls Review)

The boy who carries your paper is the most important man in your town. A London, Ont., employer went to a boy for his office and hopes were a great many applicants. He asked: "Can you read the old and found he was going to school. "And what do you do after school," the employer asked. "Sell papers, sir," he said, and he got the job.

The boy who carries the daily paper is an important link in the world's communications. The work of the writer, telegraphers and reporters would be futile, if finally the paper was not thrown on his work.

There was many successful men today who put their first business training selling newspapers.

To-day's Smile

The witness had been cautioned to give more precise answers.

"We don't want your opinion of the question," the judge told him. "We want it answered—that's all."

"You drive a waggon?" asked the prosecuting counsel.

"No sir, I do not," was the decided reply.

"Why, sir, did you not tell my learned friend but a moment ago that you did?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"Now, I put it to you, my man on your oath, do you drive a waggon?"

"No, sir."

"Then what is your occupation?" asked counsel in desperation.

"I drive a horse," was the reply.

This Letter is Thought Provoking

Montreal, Nov. 17th, 1924.

C. Colonel W. Simpson,
Secretary Treasurer, Guelph Chamber of Commerce,
Guelph, Canada.

Dear Colonel Simpson:—Your good letter of the 11th was duly received, for which I thank you. I regret, however, you say I still feel convinced that once having announced through the press that I have abandoned the fight for forest conservation in Canada, it would be wholly inconsistent for me to attend any of the Associated Boards of Trade. I definitely abandoned

The fight, but am not precisely my pointing out to you that AN EMBARGO ON THE MANUFACTURED WOOD IS NOT AN EXPERIMENT. It has been fully tested both in Ontario and Quebec with the result that the establishment of the great Canadian pulp and paper industry, which to-day has it second only to agriculture in point of importance to Canada. Further it was practically no such industry in the Dominion up to the time of the placing of an embargo on Crown land wood in the Province of Ontario and Quebec. If this action affecting, as it does, 85 per cent of our forest wealth, has been of such inestimable value to Canada, why should not the same reason be given for the remaining 15%. All of the arguments that are being used to-day against an embargo were used in 1910 and 1911 with even greater force, as larger interests were affected at that time. BUT THEY HAD NO WEIGHT WITH THOSE WHO CONTROLLED THE DESTINIES OF THE COUNTRY. The Emergency is very much greater now than then as THE WOOD THAT WE ARE NOW USING AND HAVE BEEN EXPORTING FOR THE PAST TWELVE YEARS IS BEING TAKEN FROM OUR MOST ACCESSIBLE HOLDINGS, AND IT IS THOSE SECTIONS OF OUR FORESTS WHICH ARE LEAST SUSCEPTIBLE TO FIRE HAZARDS AND WHICH ARE MOST AND INEXPENSIVELY PROTECTED AGAINST WHICH COMPRISE THE ONLY REMAINING SOURCE OF SUPPLY THAT CANADA STILL POSSESSES. In the very evidences that, under the new regime, Germany can be trusted to meet principles.

The German state railways consolidate what is probably the largest system in the world, with 75,000 miles of line. Like nearly all state-owned railways, rolling stock is now public railway officials appear to buy locomotives by the gross, and freight cars by the express. Thirty Years Ago

The Parisian style of wearing the hair parted down the middle, waved over the ears, entirely hiding them from view, and caught up in a loose knot at the nape of the neck, is more and more evident.

To-day is the fast of the immaculate conception, which is observed in the Roman Catholic Church.

The sleet on the walks this morning made pedestrians almost impossible. But when youngsters are allowed to coast on the walk as they are doing on Clarke's corner, there is no alternative but "walk in de middle ob de road."

Mr. John Nugent (formerly of Bath), a wealthy miner who lives in Butte, Montana, was in the city on Sunday. He says Belleville has improved wonderfully during his absence of seventeen years.

The new power house at the dam in Trenton is completed. The Mayor and members of the council with a number of citizens, visited it yesterday and gave it a thorough inspection before receiving it from the contractor, Mr. H. Weddell.

Are Happily Wedded For Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Latta of Latta Celebrate Unique Event

A very pleasant event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Latta, of Latta, Ontario, on November 24th, when their relatives gathered to celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding day. The old place was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and was very bright and cheery to the donor.

Those coming from a distance to present were two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wright and family, Missouri Valley, Iowa and Mrs. and Mrs. Mrs. W. Davidson and Miss Iona Latta, granddaughter, all of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latta, the former a son, and another son Cyril of Camp Lelilord, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Latta of Dartford, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Latta and Mrs. Frank Grills of Front of Sidney, nephews and nieces, were also present.

In the evening friends and neighbors were also invited and the happy old couple were then presented with a number of beautiful presents, with a purse from a purse of gold from the family. Among the congratulations was per at 7.30 o'clock the following address was read and presented to the happy couple at nine o'clock by Miss Bertha Thompson:

Latta, November 24th, 1924.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Latta—

We, your friends and neighbors, have accepted your kind invitation to celebrate with you and your family the fiftieth anniversary of your wedded life. We are pleased to have this opportunity to express our appreciation for your many kindnesses during these years. Fifty years, you have ever been loving, unselfish and thoughtful of your friends, you have proven always that you are friends indeed, which is a friend indeed. This privilege of being able to celebrate these fifty years of life together, is granted to but few and may this occasion bring back not the petty troubles of those years, but only the brighter and happier moments. We hope that this reunion of friends and family means much to you and that the love and esteem shown will inspire you in the days to come when perhaps you will turn to God and to Him find sympathy of your family and friends. We extend to you our congratulations and wish you many more years of happy life together. Both Mr. and Mrs. Latta made neat replies to the happy presentation, and the remainder of the evening was spent in singing, music and speech-making.

Labor Treated Badly By King

Winnipeg Member Claims Neither Murdock or Government Has Helped

Toronto, Dec. 8.—J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., of Winnipeg, speaking at the Labor Forum last night, charged the Mackenzie King Government with shrinking its responsibilities towards labor, particularly in the matter of enforcing the eight-hour day. He said that under the Treaty of Versailles it was expressly provided the eight-hour work day should be recognized by all signatory countries. Canada had signed that treaty, but was not living up to its provisions. Labor had at the last session of Parliament to have the eight-hour day reinstituted had been frustrated by the Premier and by Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor. They had endeavored to place responsibility upon the several provinces of the Dominion for the enforcement of the eight-hour day. Then when the unreadiness of that position was pointed out and they were requested to take a definite step and to make the eight-hour day applicable to all Government works, the Minister of Labor declined it could not be done because it would bring the Government into unfair contact with private interprise. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, on the other hand, expressed his willingness to have the eight-hour day applied to all public works.

That was not all, said the speaker. If further proof were needed that the Government was unsympathetic to labor, it was to be found in the fact that when Canadian Pacific Railway trainmen, affecting the workers, the Government did not hesitate to send troops to any part of the Dominion to crush the strike. Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, on the floor of the House, had declared the Canadian Army had to be maintained in its present strength, as it was needed to keep in check the workers. The Government would not consent even to a reduction in the present strength of highly-paid officers, because they might be needed to crush the workers. The Government could and did take advantage of every provision of the British North America Act to confer favors on the railways and other privileged corporations, but it was not willing to do anything for labor.

No Help To Unemployed

The Government policy was equally unsatisfactory regarding unemployment. It refused to take action, concerning the responsibility was upon the provinces and the municipalities. That was a ridiculous attitude to adopt, said Mr. Woodsworth. The Government was encouraging immigration, bringing people into the country, at a time when there was no employment for them. In employment, immigration and emigration were co-related. Millions of dollars had been spent on immigration, and yet the population of the country was not increasing because people were moving out faster than they came in. He had been told on good authority there were upwards of 100,000 returned Canadian soldiers in the United States, driven there because there was no work for them in Canada, and the Mackenzie King administration refused to take action looking to the provision of work for the men who had fought and bled for Canada and the Empire. Instead, it continued to encourage immigrants to come and swell the ranks of the unemployed.

Mr. Woodsworth said immigration should be stopped until the unemployment problem was solved, and in the meantime the Federal Government should be compelled to assume full responsibility for the maintenance of all immigrants for a period of two years from the date they entered the country.

The speaker also referred to conditions in the prairie provinces, and declared the farmers were under the control of the banks trust companies.

LISTEN!

You have often heard people say "Oh, I think Chiropractic is a good thing for some troubles, but I don't think it would help me." Well friend, people never down until you try, and why wait until it is too late.

Have your spine examined, because if the trouble is there, other things will never help you. For instance, two weeks ago I had a chap troubled with constipation come in to me. He had been taking as many as six in one day. He said to me: "Do you think you can do anything for me?" as he had heard of my results. I assured him I could, and after two weeks' treatment he was back at work again. He had previously been out of a job for over three months, on account of his trouble.

Don't keep putting your condition off, until you have gone beyond help, but until you have run down, and you need assistance. Consultation free. Write or telephone any questions you'd like answered.

People of District To Get Good View

When Total Eclipse of Sun Comes on January 24th

(Associated Press Despatch)

Washington, Dec. 8—The total eclipse of the sun on Saturday, January 24, 1925, will be visible in the eastern section of the United States if the weather is favorable, in a shadow path stretching from Minnesota, just east of Red Lake, extending over Michigan, part of Canada, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Naval observatory scientists say it will be the first time the east has been able to witness a total solar eclipse for many years. The central path of the eclipse will narrowly nearly through such centers of population as Buffalo, N. Y., and New Haven, Conn. The eclipse will terminate in the Atlantic Ocean, north of the British Isles. Communities outside the shadow path will witness the eclipse as partial.

In the Hudson River area the shadow path will be about 110 miles broad. The naval observatory believes while in Minnesota it will be about 83 miles.

Hastings County is in the shadow path and people of the district will be able to observe the eclipse from eight o'clock in the morning until about ten o'clock, providing the day is cloudless.

St. Lawrence Plan Is National Need

So North Bruce Members Tell Club at New York

New York, Dec. 8—The building of the St. Lawrence waterway has become a national necessity, both for Canada and the United States, declared James Malcolm M.P. for North Bruce, in an address before the Canadian Club Saturday.

Pointing out that the project is not a new one, but has been advocated from time to time by statesmen and individuals in both countries during the past 50 years, Mr. Malcolm declared the necessity for the waterway had become apparent within recent years and its advocates had gained strength until to-day the project was so strong that it had passed from the sphere of private negotiation to that of Government negotiation.

Mr. Malcolm said sectional opposition to the waterway, such as that which had been offered by Montreal and New York was fast diminishing, pointing out the benefit to be derived from the project through the development of power. Mr. Malcolm concluded the industrial growth that had followed the power development of the Ontario Hydro-Commission.

TORONTO CANOE CLUB WINS JUNIOR TITLE

Varsity Stadium, Toronto, Dec.8—Toronto Canoe Club are Canadian junior Rugby champions. The red-lingers representing the Ontario Union, took the title Saturday by defeating Ottawa Rideaus 7 to 1. It was a smartly played game, staged under adverse conditions, with a field covered with wet mud, which gave little or no solid footing to the players. Though beaten, Rideaus put up a real struggle, and the score does not represent the play. Toronto scored their touch in the first period, after Melmenly had knocked the ball into touch and three Toronto players sent it over. Rideaus had the same chance later, but Toronto held and a touch-down failed by Dickes. In the latter stages Rideaus forced the play, and scored their only point. Robertson, Boadway and McBride played well for Toronto, while St. Germaine, McInenly and Smith looked real good for Ottawa. A crowd of about 1,500 watched the game and enjoyed it.

BELLEVILLE ENTERS TWO O.H.A. TEAMS ; MUNROE'S MEN WIN ; NATURAL TREAD VICTORS

Belleville Has Entered 2 Teams

Ed. Thomas Attends to Entries at Toronto on Saturday

NEW PLAYERS HERE

Thirty-fifth Annual Meeting Of O.H.A. Held; Bar Professionalism

Belleville will have an Intermediate and a Junior team in the O.H.A. this winter, both teams were entered Saturday.

This was the information supplied the Intelligencer today by Ed. Thomas who attended the annual meeting of the O.H.A. at Toronto on Saturday and personally entered the two teams. The grouping will take place on Friday of this week when it will be made known what other teams the local squads will be playing with for group supremacy.

When asked if preparations had been made for the selection of teams, Mr. Thomas stated that there had been and that there would be, besides a number of last season's players otherwise who have located here but whose ability as puck chasers would be ascertain until they had been given a chance.

The players have not as yet started the 7 P. M. road work as beneficial to the condition required in a hockey player, as no doubt the unusually mild weather lends to the keeping of players in towns where the ice sheet is a thing of dependable appearance. Frost.

The Toronto Globe has the following to say of the 35th annual meeting of the O.H.A. on Saturday:

One hundred and thirty-three teams have already entered the Ontario Hockey Association for the coming season. Entries do not close until Wednesday, and it is expected that the races in the three divisions will embrace perhaps 150 teams. The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the association was held in the Parliament Buildings on Saturday, all of the clubs were represented.

"Hockey is synonomous with progress. The big league, always with an eye to the betterment of the association, accepted the proposal on Saturday whereby the line of "sport for profit" was drawn. Progress was further indicated when the proposal to allow professional coaches was given short shrift and all players in all series must have amateur standing, cards before applying for O.H.A. players' certificates. This latter clause, in reality, was not new, but in accordance with the Ontario Association, as it is provided for by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"There was no overwhelming majority against the employment of professional coaches. Paid intros already were barred when the proposal was submitted on Saturday, the club spokesmen stated asking that they be employed only after they had passed and been granted permission to coach by the Executive Committee. The objection is not to coaches as individuals but to the system, and the association decided to keep paid intros, under the ban.

Check on Itinerants.

Hereafter, when a player changes his place of residence he shall notify the secretary on form as provided for the purpose, said notice to arrive at the office of the secretary within two weeks after the change takes place.

Appointment of referees which hereto fore has been left largely to the conspectus of clubs will hereafter be solely in the hands of the secretary. The amendment is expected to do away with much tedious bickering.

An amendment whereby it was proposed to allow visiting clubs to draw players from neighboring towns where there are no O.H.A. teams was defeated.

Beaten intermediate and junior teams will engage in a consolation series this season similar to the Rounds Trophy games in Western Ontario, in which series group winners who have been eliminated are eligible to compete. The Rounds trophy is for junior players, but the association voted on Saturday to extend the consolation competition to intermediates as well.

ALBERT "TOOTS" HOLWAY

Graduate of Belleville and Brockville Intermediate O.H.A. teams, now with St. Patrick's professionals of Toronto, whose absence from the line-up in Saturday night's game with Hamilton through a knee injury, was very noticeable. Holway is a Belleville boy.

Montreal Team Beats Senators

Game Was One of First Surprises in N.H.L. League

Montreal, Dec. 8.—Montreal's new professional team provided the first upset of the National Hockey League this season when they defeated the Ottawa Senators on the forum on Saturday night 2 to 1. They piled up a safe lead in the first two periods and stood off the determined attacks of the Senators in the final session to score their first victory as a club.

Clint Benedict, Lionel, and "Punch" Broadbent, on the forward line, were the bright stars of the Montreal team in its triumph, the two former Ottawa players ja was practically the whole thing, giving their utmost to send their former team-mates down to defeat. In this they were successful, the Ottawa youth playing his first season of professional hockey. Fred Lowrey, Montreal centre earning sustained plaudits from the 2,000 enthusiasts for his spectacular play.

Of this trio Clint Benedict emerged as the main stumbling block to the Ottawa squad. The rangy net custodian was at his very best, displaying all the coolness and self-confidence under bombardment which in the past has earned him premier honors among the goalkeepers of the country. For the first two periods he turned aside every possible kind of shot and it looked as if he was going to blank Ottawa, but with three minutes to go in the final session and the local defence weakening, big Ed Gorman went through and beat Benedict for the Senators' one tally.

While Benedict was maintaining invulnerable the local net, Broadbent was sniping away at Connell in the Ottawa goal from every angle with the result that when the final bell rang his share in the victory was two goals, both coming after sporadic efforts, especially in that he was a closely marked player from first to last and his counters were made with opponents draped around him.

George Boucher Missed

Ottawa were without the services of their star defence player, George Boucher, who was sent off the game with infected hands. The team was further handicapped with Frank Nighbor-Laplaine below form. The brilliant Ottawa captain, holder of the Dr. Hart Trophy as the most valuable player in the league last season, had been badly used up in the first two games and never appeared on the ice with his face well plastered. Nighbor broke up many rushes at centre ice but did not worry overhard and was not aggressive in attack. At full strength Ottawa undoubtedly would have put a different complexion on the game.

Natural Tread Defeat Castings at Recreation Alleys

The Ever Ready won a game from the Belmonts at the Recreation alleys on Saturday night by 82 pins, the Ever Ready getting away to a good start, piling up enough pins in this game to carry them through to a win. Mrs. F. Domenico and Miss Way were high bowlers for their respective teams.

The Natural Tread won from the National Castings in a postponed league game to the tune of 2815 to 2626. Fred Benford hung up a nice three string score of 731 and 256 for his high single. For the Castings, Mr. J. A. Higgs was high bowler.

Queen's Team Wins Two Championships

Intermediates Beat Sarnia on Saturday by 25 to 2.

Kingston, Dec. 8—Queen's University won the senior Canadian championship this year when it defeated Sarnia in the finals of the Dominion Intermediate Rugby Union at the George Richardson Memorial stadium here Saturday afternoon by a score of 25 to 2. Queen's played a great rugby game and deserved the victory as they outclassed their opponents. The slippery conditions did not hinder the visitors as the Queen's players slithered all over the field displaying just enough knowledge in mechanics of the unseen left foot ball at the Hamilton Tiger-Cats' command to outdistance a defeat by Hamilton's Intermediates, Saturday when they scored the points with which to win the additional counter was attributed to poor ground conditions. Queen's at least, at one-head at the league. They did not disappoint in this respect, nor on their form Saturday, for they displayed anything but cleverness in both teams, they were missing in the first half and some time from one which converted penalty put the Forest on the scoring list.

While it was not surprising that Huddersfield town should defeat Sunderland, since the town are evidently determined to retain the honors they won last season, the magnitude of the score came as a surprise to Sunderland's supporters. The first goals of the game was evenly contested for, there was no scoring, but in the second period the home owners demonstrated their best and ran up four tallies in rapid succession. Duff Davis' play they were easily superior to the Durham men and outclassed them in the strenuous battle of the day.

Thirty thousand spectators, the largest gate of the afternoon, saw Aston Villa travel to Aston Villa's ground and take the Englishmen into camp by two to one. Len Davies was the hero on the Welsh team's success, making the Villa's first home goal certain by netting inside of Carditt's goals. Davies proved himself to be one of the finest players in the game this year and displayed outstanding merit throughout.

Birmingham Takes Lead in First Division English League

London, Dec. 8—Notts County yielded leadership of the First Division of the English League on Saturday and incidentally suffered the largest defeat yet inflicted on them this season, when they West Ham took them into camp by a score of three goals to nothing. The County's trimming was due in the main, to the irresistible attack of the Hammer's forwards. The ground was in a deplorable condition and was not conducive to good combination, every man adopted themselves per sonally to mud, making individualism the County players slithered all over the field displaying just enough knowledge in mechanics of the unseen left foot ball at the Hammers' command to outdistance a defeat by Hamilton's Intermediates, Saturday when they scored the points with which to win the additional counter was attributed to poor ground conditions. Queen's at least, at one-head at the league. Sleeping Sickness Death: Sleeping sickness was at a Boston inquest found to be the cause of the death of Marion Cross, three, who complained of feeling tired after a fall.

"Did He Leave Any Insurance?"

The first question asked by George Castle's friends when they heard of his tragic death in an automobile accident, was quite a natural one.

A grief-stricken young widow, two wide-eyed, wondering children, a little home partly paid for—here were proper enough reasons for the solicitous query of true friends.

And George Castle had—no insurance.

If your death came shortly would your widow be left in this position? Would she, after the first paroxysm of grief had passed, face long years of want, with dull despair crowding loving memory from her heart.

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

"To request me to leave this house, to discontinue my allowance, and to cut me from henceforth," said Lord Neville, promptly but calmly.

The marquis bristled.

"Y—es," he said, nodding, "that is my duty forcibly and concisely. This is what I ought to do; but all my life I have never done what I ought to have done, and have always done what I ought not. You are welcome to remain at the Towers as long as you please."

Lord Neville looked at him with faint surprise, and the marquis sipped his wine slowly.

"I shall double your allowance, and, as to cutting you, that would be tiresome and troublesome, not to say vulgar. Of course I shall keep to my resolve respecting the property, that will go to Lady Grace as I said."

Lord Neville's face flushed.

"She is welcome to it—quite welcome to it," he said at once; "I am glad that it should be so. I—I thank you have acted very generously to me, and I thank you, sir."

The marquis inclined his head, a faint smile hovering about his thin lips.

"You might be able to marry upon your allowance doubled, as I propose," he said. "You would not be very rich, but it might do."

"It will be quite sufficient," said Lord Neville, as yet unrecovered from his surprise.

"I shall not live very long, I hope—though, by the way, I should like to live long enough to see that first two pounds of yours!—Lord Neville smiled—"and then you will have the estates, such as they are."

"I ask you to believe me, that I am in no hurry. I—I do not know what I have wished for your death," and his face flushed.

The marquis waved his hand.

"Thanks, very much! But to return: I presume that you have not the slightest doubt of the stability of your feelings? You are sure that you won't change your mind—your heart, I should have said?"

"Quite certain," replied Lord Neville, Doris' face rising before him as he spoke. "My happiness is bound up in Miss Marlowe; I shall never cease to love her."

"Very good," said the marquis, "Of course you want to be married at once? Oh, I have no objection; it is a matter of indifference to me, I assure you."

"Then your kindness and liberality are all the more marked, sir," said Lord Neville. "I wish I could convince you of my gratitude; it is sufficient to make me forget—almost—all the hard things you have said."

"Ah," said the marquis, "gratitude is a fine sentiment—very fine, very beautiful to pass the wine, and that does not entail much sacrifice."

"I was not saying sir," said Lord Neville, gravely, "that I offer you more than all sincerity."

"Really? Dear me, I wish I could think of something. Ah!" he stopped and looked at Lord Neville's attentive face keenly, sarcastically. "Really, you say it! I ask you to go over to Ireland for me?"

Lord Neville's face grew grave, and the marquis leaned back and laughed with grim satisfaction.

"You see! Gratitude's a very fine thing—to talk about!"

Lord Neville flushed.

"You misunderstand my silence," he said, quietly. "I am willing to go over to Ireland for you, I'm to take anything that you—stopped—that could not join in the oppression of those poor people, my lord, even to prove my own sincerity."

The marquis toyed with his fruit knife.

"Charmingly put, my dear Cecil; quite fit for a political platform—for you misunderstand me. I know nothing of the question and care least; I hate and detest politics; they bore me, they always did. All I want is that I am told that my agent is a rogue, who has made himself rich by grinding down the tenants; I am also told that in the most merciful and upright of men. I'm rather curious to know well, scarcely curious, perhaps—which account is true. Will you go, Cecil, or not? I don't think you can call that a request."

Lord Neville looked up with quiet eagerness.

"Certainly I will go, sir."

The marquis inclined his head.

"Mind I don't care a brass farthing whether you return or not; I don't care about anything; and it is very likely that I shall be dead before you return, morning I shall have written to my solicitor what you have gone about."

Lord Neville looked at him, and Lord Neville, almost inaudibly. To-morrow I shall write to my solicitor, Mr. Doris, his interview with her guardian.

"Yes," said the marquis, carelessly, but sipping a glass, half-carnival, half-amused, at the grave face, "if you go at all it must be at once. Some one should have started to-night! The mail will collect the rents in a day or two; he should be stopped—or some other thing."

"Yes," said Lord Neville, absently, "to-night without seeing Doris! Without gaining her guardian's consent. His heart ran down with a dull ache.

"Yes, of course you see that. The early train would enable you to reach the Irish mail at Sandstone Junction—Ah, I see," and he laughed mockingly.

Lord Neville looked up inquiringly.

"You want to see Miss Barlow—Marlowe," said Lord Neville.

"Certainly, Marlowe. What time does the early train start?" he said.

The marquis arranged his shoulders, and looked at his watch. "In said, carelessly, "you mean to go, then?"

"Yes," said Lord Cecil.

The marquis laughed.

ALL ABOUT KISSES

There are some girls, says the Washington Post, who are never kissed. The Japanese lover, for instance, does not salute the betrothed in our fashion. He regards kissing as a European custom; it has no meaning for him. In China the kiss is openly disgraced.

But although the kiss is unknown, or at any rate neglected, in many parts of the world, it is certain nations has some form of salutation which corresponds to the European kiss. The Malays and the Laplanders merely rub rubbing noses. Among the Burmese, the form of greeting which denotes affection is to apply the cheek and smell a long deep breath.

It is true that the kiss is also used to denote a relation of kinship, as well as affection, or even respect. Children, for instance, are taught that they must kiss people for whom they have a strong antipathy, simply because it is the proper thing to do, and two women who hate each other will kiss for the public benefit.

Kisses are a degradation of one of the most beautiful modes of expression in the world.

In Ireland they do not understand the kiss as a mode of salutation, but it is regarded as something belonging to the supernatural. If a child is ill you will sometimes see its mother solemnly kissing the sole on the breast—an invocation to the Supreme Being that her child may be cured.

We are not altogether without superstition regarding the kiss. At one time many a gambler might have been seen kissing the cards to bring him luck, and the warrior, before starting out to battle would kiss the sword given him by his lady to insure victory and to enhance his safety. Until lately we knew of a man who always took the oath "to speak the truth the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

And who has not seen a mother take her child in her arms and kiss the bruise to "make it well"?

Over 150 of the prominent citizens of Woodstock and Oxford County last night attended the banquet tendered Sir Warden Peterson of Oxford County Council. There was a long toast list with the county members for both Federal and Provincial Parliaments the mayors of the different municipalities and scores of all townships speaking.

GRAY HAIR IS QUICKLY MADE DARK, GLOSSY

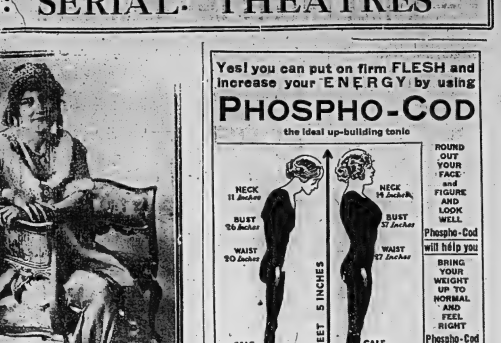

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because the change appears so natural. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. A little boy's mother can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and lustrous.

Gray, faded hair, though so disgraceful, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

Broke an Arizona Trail For Picture

Wagon Wheel Had Never Turned in This Valley Before

Civilization has entered the Tonto Basin, Arizona for the first time-Strange out in Indian Reddy a quarter of a mile, 42 persons and 53 pack animals comprising Paramount's expedition, broke a trail into this rugged valley where a wagon wheel has never before turned. It was the last outpost of the wilds in the United States to withstand the inroads of the motion picture industry.

Here was filmed "To the Last Man," Zane Grey production which will be released at the Belle Theatre tonight. The sheer cliffs of the "Rim" country and the pleasant valley below form the background for this Paramount picture.

The principal players are Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Robert Edeson and Frank Campeau. The story is that of a feud in the late Pioneer days, Mormons and whites men which was fought out literally to the last man. The story is one of the great epics of American history, Victor Fleming directed.

Living Skeleton Weds Fat Woman

Found. They Couldn't Do Cross Word Puzzles Alone

New York, Dec. 8.—What eight years of courtship couldn't do, cross word puzzles quickly accomplished, and the "living skeleton," weighing 85 pounds, and the "fat lady" weighing 467, got married at the municipal building, last week.

Peter Robinson is the man, and the "living skeleton" was the name he was known by in Bridgeport, Conn., and ma and pa, and she was Cora Fay, 41 years of age. But her parents said nothing doing, and they went on with their work, with Barnum and Bailey.

Peter, it is said, was too much for Pete kept on wooing and the war came. Baby said she couldn't marry anybody but a soldier hero. Uncle Sam, however could not see the fun-nerwerks, Pete got out and the two pounds more was all he could hide.

That ended it again, but only for a while. Then came the cross word puzzles. Between working hours they got interested. Then they found their rooming house. Baby finally confessed that she could do wiffle out Pete, and they solved their own puzzle by getting married.

Paul Panzer Is Make Up Artist

Plays Three Roles in 'Son of Sahara' as Griffin

Paul Panzer plays three roles in Edwin Carewe's "A Son of the Sahara" the First National picture which will be shown at the Griffin Theatre tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday. While with the company in northern Africa, filming the picture, he startled the employes of the Hotel Royal in Biskra, Algeria, where the company was then located, by the different varieties of makeup he wore on various occasions.

Mr. Panzer grew a luxuriant beard for his first part in the picture, that of a Turkish chief. Later when he whitened this beard and blossomed forth as an aged sheik, more than one employee's eyes popped.

But when still later he shed the beard and made up as Bert Lytell's chief lieutenant brother the valet and the femme de chambre on the floor knew him. As for the concierge, that worthy asked him to state his business and he done with it when he appeared at the desk.

Mr. Panzer prides himself on his ability with makeup and the reaction he received from the hotel help was immensely pleasing to him.

"Sickness Stalked Into This Happy Little Home"

Mrs. Jim Harrow moved into his pretty white-washed cottage he thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife and his baby boy fondly watched their footsteps. Everything seemed to be "breaking just right."

But the happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harrow. "It started with a pain in my back, or rheumatism," she said. But Jim knew how a previous illness had weakened her resistance, and called in a doctor. The doctor hinted at "lung trouble" and advised a change of location. Jim took his wife to a specialist, who quickly confirmed the verdict, "Consumption," he said, "has a firm hold on your wife's lungs, and she must go to a climate favorable for recovering. "Don't worry," said the doctor to Jim, "your wife can regain her health back the health that belonged to Mrs. Harrow. Shortly the letters will cease for she is almost ready to come back to the little white cottage.

Those who long to have a good appetite, a worthwhile track as this, please write to Nature Remedy Co., 223 College St., Toronto, Ontario.

Something Unusual In Fur Garments

Milady of Paris Wears Natural Sealskin Trimmed With Skunk

Paris, Dec. 8.—(By Associated Press).—Autumn's first chill wind has brought out the winter furs for the 1925 season.

But fortnight ago fur was a trimming, something women wore because it was chief fashionist brother the ruler ever by they had become an essential part of their wardrobe and not for warmth.

A natural sealskin coat trimmed with skunk was worn by one lady and was the sensation of the day. Paris has never seen such a seal coat before. Usually the sealskin as prepared by Paris furriers and worn by Parisiennes of a brownish color, the result of clever handling by the fur experts. This seal had undergone no transformation since its capture on the banks of Newfoundland or Behring Sea. It was grey, silky, shiny, in spots shading from grey to white, the seal in its natural state.

Other skin was one of the favorites. By some unusual process of the furrier a platinum blond has been given to the fur, which promises to be very popular. Fox furs acquired, badger, skunk and astrakan also are in vogue.

Ermine is the chosen fur for evening wraps when velvet is not used. Both these furs are popular for theatre, opera and coats. Chinchilla, sable and mink are being used for scarves, which are wide and long.

Where They Play Golf All the Year Round

At the Empress Hotel Gardens. At the top, four, a view of the Malahat drive, Brinw, one of the many Public golf courses for which Victoria is famous and at the right a photograph which shows the grounds of the Empress Hotel with a glimpse of the Parliament Buildings through the column.

Famed for a mild, equable climate, a scenic setting equalled by the choicest English beauty spots, a resemblance which has led to the appellation of "A Little Bit of Old England," and the up-to-dateness of a modern western city has combined to make Victoria, the Evergreen City, one of the principal tourist cities of the North Pacific coast throughout the entire year.

Victoria, which with its suburbs has a population of 60,000, is also the capital of British Columbia, the legislative buildings forming an attractive picture for the new arrival disembarking in the inner harbor.

The city, located on the southeast extremity of Vancouver Island, is practically in the same latitude as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and other eastern cities, yet because of the warm Japan current that frimges British Columbia's coast, Victoria enjoys the year round a climate unsurpassed in the Dominion. The mean temperature in winter is 42 degrees and in summer 61. Coupled with this is an average yearly rainfall of only 27.45 inches, less than half the average precipitation on the adjacent mainland.

With this salubrious climate outdoor sports are possible the entire year, five or six golf courses being available in and around the city.

For the motorist, not only Victoria but the entire Vancouver Island provides drives of varying lengths into a territory that has been named a "Motorist Mecca of Wonderland." Greatest of all these is the famous Malahat Mountain drive running north from Victoria and rising to more than 1,250 feet above the sea level, affording a view of sea and mountain unexcelled.

In and around Victoria are sufficient tourist attractions to keep the newcomer busy for many days. These include the Butchart sunken garden, transformed within the last decade into a veritable fairyland of flowers, shrubs, lawns, rose walks, waterfalls and lake; the aeroplanograph observatory, with the second largest telescope in the world, and 1,600 acres of beautiful parks featuring Beacon Hill Park virtually in the heart of the city.

Yet the summer more than a hundred shady beaches and romantic little bays dotted along seventy miles of water frontage lure the holiday maker. Some face the Straits of Juan de Fuca and open to the sweep of the Pacific Ocean tides, while others are almost landlocked, with clear, unruffled waters.

Travelling to Victoria from the mainland is one of the joys of a holiday spent in the capital city. An 82-mile trip through landlocked, sheltered waters past exquisite islands, brings the traveller from Vancouver. Frequent service on political steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railway is afforded to Victoria from Vancouver and Seattle direct, while a further steamer to Nanaimo affords an optional route. Rail connection is made between Nanaimo and Victoria.

As a further development of Victoria as a winter resort, The Crystal Garden, an elaborate amusement centre, is being erected near the Empress Hotel. It will be opened for Victoria Day Celebration next May. A steel and concrete structure with 75,000 square feet on glazed roof and sides, the newest feature of the Crystal Garden will be a huge salt water pool, 1,200 feet in length on the Pacific Coast.

Nearby the Empress Hotel, overlooks the inner harbour. Located in luxurious grounds, beautiful alike in winter and summer with roses, holly trees and other shrubs and flowers. This ever-really popular hostelry has been the temporary home for thousands of visitors.

To the tourist from the inland cities especially, Victoria affords a splendid opportunity to view the ever-interesting scenes of an ocean port. Practically all in-bound and out-bound Pacific liners make Victoria a port of call on their way to Vancouver and Seattle. In this way, the Victoria traveller may touch closely in touch with the movements of shipping to and from Australia and the Orient.

Fine Report Given By County Clerk

Passes Along Hints From Convention to Members Of Council

County Clerk William H. Nugent, who was appointed at the last session of the County Council to attend the Municipal Association Convention at Toronto on August 27th 28th and 29th, submitted his detailed report to that council Thursday afternoon.

Having attended all sessions of this convention and having attended previous and similar conventions, Mr. Nugent stated that this was the largest and best yet, its personnel being made up of municipal men who had made a study of municipal affairs.

A full report of proceedings appeared in October number of The Municipal World. One paper by Mr. W. C. Caughill, Clerk of the Township of Yarmouth on the "Relative Merits of the Statute Labor System and the Commutation System" was good, as also other paper on "Uniform Municipal Accounting" was given by Mr. A. E. Russell, Treasurer of the City of Brantford.

Mr. W. B. Doherty, L.L.B., City Solicitor, St. Thomas gave his usual paper on "Municipal Legislation of 1924". This is a most important paper and should receive the most careful attention of municipal men, municipal clerks and any supervisory officer as it marrets special attention to Chapter 32, 1924, Ontario Statutes known as the "Consolidated Municipal Act, 1923."

Before this act came into force in July 1924 in the case of a damage action in the court of law, it was found that the plaintiff had been guilty of contributory negligence it could not recover and judgment was accordingly entered for the defendant. Now it deserves that the plaintiff and defendant contributed to the accident it to be taken into consideration by the court fail in determining the exact proportion each are to be made to pay 50 percent. This is a very serious condition for municipalities as a certain amount of negligence is proven in all damage actions it will work that the municipality must fail in a very large proportion of such actions. The sooner the effect of the above act it will also entail an endless amount of law costs for municipalities, considering the expenditure in making and preparing said costs for the use of the public who make reasonable use of the Highway is not fair that the tax-payer to ask him to incur this expenditure and at the same time to damage to no the often times reckless driver who may meet with an accident largely through his own fault his experience has shown, nor should he be called upon to pay the expense of defending such actions.

It was further pointed out in the report that the County Clerk as a result of having given an address showing why a firm stand should be taken against further encroachment of power, two benefits had resulted.

One is that a conference has been organized between the Federal and Provincial Government to discuss the taxation problem. This conference has included municipal representatives as there should not be any overlapping and the only way to secure an equitable adjustment of taxation is to have the above departments of Government Federal, Provincial and Municipal represented at the conference.

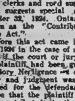

The other step of progress was instituted when the state of Florida by an act of their legislature made it an unlawful act to collect Federal Estate Income Tax on the state. "I do not believe in civil abolition of the Income Tax but it should be left to the municipalities for revenue purposes," he said. Then grade the tax so it will not discourage enterprise and will be a boon to the country. Some might argue that the Dominion Government receive the tax to meet Federal expenditure but this could easily be overcome. The duty of collecting the Dominion Income Tax and the distribution on the Provincial Railway last about equal the amount collected on behalf of the Dominion Government. Abolish the expenditure the income collection and wire rid the deficit on the C.N.R., and the problem is solved.

BOOTLEGGERS FILLING UP THE JAIL FARM

North Bay, Dec. 8.—Ontario bootleggers are finding it more economical to spend six months in Burwash than to pay fines of from $1,000 to $2,000, according to a Provincial Police officer who was in North Bay en route from Burwash where he delivered some prisoners. He declared that the capacity of the prison farm's accommodation has been severely taxed since the recent plebiscite and that another big camp is being erected to care for the overflow.

Editor at Kingston

That Canada has some real prosperity to solve and that the people must have a definite conviction of these problems and take concerted action to this end was the comment of Mr. J. V. Outdoors potatoes were selling a 75c a bag, apples 25c a peck, onions 40c a peck and cabbage 10c.

Appointed Postmaster

Charles Lechner has received his official appointment as Postmaster of Peterboro. C. Lechner, who has been on the local post office staff, succeeds Mrs. Corkery, former postmaster for thirty-five years and recently superannuated. His appointment has automatically led to a general raise in revenue standing of several of the other post office employees there.

Spoke At Napanee

Dr. Reece Taylor, Principal of Queen's University conducted both missionary services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Napanee on Sunday. In the morning Grace street church service was withdrawn and in the evening Trinity church did not hold a service as both the members of three congregations were given an opportunity of hearing the speaker.

FARM IMPLEMENTS ARE CUT IN PRICE

Hamilton, Dec. 6—With the announcement that the Internation Harvester Company has made substantial reductions in the price of its products comes a message of optimism for better conditions from M. J. Sullivan, sales manager of the company.

"We are doing business in getting better every day," he says. Of course, we cannot say that we feel the result of better prices for the farmer but they business we are in is very much behind us. The agricultural is meeting with some much better days and he has for past few year and collections are good all along the line.

The reduction announced by the Harvester Company are on the average about five percent. A similar move is made by Massey Harris Company for all lines made in Ontario. Quebec and East which will receive the serious consideration of those who attend. Dominion Express shipments are delivered more rapidly which is also a feature.

The most modern equipment including standard and compartment sleeping dining and observation cars. Also on cars are carried which, with the reduction in the running time and the numerous offices of service by all conveyances, makes this new service preeminent as the last word in transportation.

SUPERVISION IS A GREAT NEED FOR PRISONERS

Parole Board Chairman Gives Splendid Address To Kiwanians

SHOWS RESULTS

Many Benefit by Releasing Offenders From Jail Walls

A court sentence is a sentence for treatment and supervision.

This is one of many weighty statements made to Kiwanians today by Dr. A. Lavell, Chairman of the Ontario Parole Board. In a lengthy address which seemed only too short by reason of its interest matter, the speaker covered the field of criminal work in Ontario and pointed his finger at a far better method of handling offenders, than by merely matching the length of a prison term with the nature of the crime committed.

The speaker, who was introduced by Rev. Dr. G. Mackie, led up to his message by telling of conditions in prisons throughout the world a couple of hundred years ago. These made a sad contrast with work being done now in Ontario under the extra-mural system. Dr. Lavell showed the benefits to the country, to the dependants of the prisoner and to the prisoner himself as the result of allowing men out on parole.

The speaker was against the administering of the lash, but he said that the time honored spanking was beneficial. Those treated to this old not boast at the change generally.

"This vengeance business is all nonsense," he said.

The Great Need

Dr. Lavell declared that supervision outside was more badly needed that institutional life. One small step only stop crime by making punishment drastic.

Speaking of the treatment to be given the boy who goes wrong, he said, for example, he said,

"There is not one ear made which is so palatable that it is worth one year of a boy's good boy's character and life added with dirge and degeneracy."

Petty poverty of locks on your cars, he advised.

Seventy-five per cent of the young men sent to prison were good up lately. Yet they were sent to an institution and put cheek by jowl with five per cent of the rottenest men in the country.

The best prevention of crime was the support of schools, churches and enlightened governments, he said.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Lavell, moved by Charles Kaiser, K.C., and seconded by His Honor Judge Deroche.

In a short speech, Charles Hanna explained the reasons from the 1924 during the past two meetings, and said he was pleased with the interest Kiwanians all over had shown in his election.

EXECUTION STIRS THE CITY OF HULL

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hull, England, Dec. 8.—William M. Smith, a young painter, whose confederation to the murder of the mother of a woman last August aroused irresistible appeals for clemency, was executed at 9 o'clock this morning. In a last desperate effort to save Smith, a number of local notables, including the mayor's wife, this morning telegraphed to Premier George asking him to exercise his prerogative and spare the condemned man's life. Every conceivable effort was made to obtain reprieve from the King's sanctuary, but in vain. The populace was greatly stirred over the case and all bells of churches for hours while special prayers were said for the condemned man.

KILLS BIG OWL

Tamora, Wash., Dec. 8.—Another great owl that has long been killing poultry and wild game near South Bend, Wash., recently was caught and slain as a result of the pluck of Mrs. W. A. Wilson.

The woman, who lives on a ranch, heard men making a commotion, and she saw a great horned owl attacking it. She ran and grasped the owl and held on to it despite many jerks in its talons and beak. She called her husband who killed the marauder. It measured four feet five inches across the wings.

Two Artists Give Audience a Treat

Crowded Church Greeted Miss Pearl Newton and Mr. Leo. Riggs

To put on an evening's program, consisting of the art of but one woman and one man, and to make that program interestly interesting was the accomplishment of Miss Victoria Hayes' charity recitals last night.

The artist for the evening were Mr. Leo Riggs, organist, who has recently arrived in Belleville from New York City to take over the Management of Riggs Motor Sales and Miss Pearl Newton, violinist.

The church auditorium was comfortably filled when the two artists showed their appreciation of the ever by a hearty applause at the close of each number. A silver collection was taken and a substantial amount contributed toward the expenses of the church. Rev. Dr. Mackie was chairman for the evening and put in fitting words the high calibre of the artists, Miss Newton and Mr. Riggs.

Miss Newton, an old-time favor ho, the organ which necessitated mechanical alteration in the church, after the program had nicely started, and the evening's entertainment was under way. Miss Newton, who had come down from Toronto and was a bright violinist and feeling which sets apart the successful artist from the ordinary player.

Mr. Riggs varied his numbers to suit all tastes and showed to a rare treat to the Belleville music lovers.

Miss Newton, a stranger to most people present, made friends with her first selection. Her quality, her selections were well chosen and admirably rendered. Her encore numbers were in well most versatile and appealed to the audience as both serious and light numbers. Her rendering of "Nevin's Last Thought," "Songs and a Reel" in which she takes the part of the old fiddler of the west, was especially good.

Girl Operator Weds Man She Shadowed

Police are Surprised at Turn of Events at Seattle

Seattle, Dec. 9—Federal prohibition agents, after repeated unsuccessful attempts to nab Roy Olmstead, known to lawbreakers as the "king" of the rumrunners of the west coast, finally decided to "shadow" his wife.

So they hired Elsie Caroline Parsche, a stenographer, to do the trailing handed out by the owner of plays and the producer who had intended to stage piece entitled "Mr. A. or a Matter of State", has been compelled to withdraw it.

This is the ruling handed out by the court in which Mrs. Parsche was employed. Her duties were to keep Olmstead under surveillance, and to report to her employer, Mrs. Parsche, all of his movements.

Mrs. Parsche, who is 23 years old, was married to Olmstead on Saturday, after a romance which began when she was employed to shadow him.

BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS IS OPENED TODAY

Speech From Throne Foreshadows Naval Base Construction

TO AID EMMIGRATION

Will Also Submit Proposals in Imperial Preferences

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Dec. 9—King George opened Parliament today with a speech from throne full of important proposals dealing with foreign and domestic affairs.

Announcement was also made that the Government intended to proceed with a naval base at Singapore, and that the Prince of Wales had accepted the invitation to visit Australia next year, when he was also visiting South Africa.

The purpose of the Government, said speech, was to encourage empire settlement and trade, and proposals would be submitted to Parliament for further imperial preferences based on the proceedings of last year's imperial economic conference.

Pointing to a shortage of housing accommodation, speech declared that it would be laid for the coming rising costs of material as well as supplementing building resources of the country, which would permit rapid construction of houses.

Existing systems of insurance and pensions would be revised and extended.

New Factory Is All Ready Now

Mead-Johnson Plant Machinery Coming; Start Work Soon

The new Mead Johnson plant was completed two weeks ago, and is now ready to receive the machinery of this company. It is one of the most modern and up-to-date factories in this province and is a credit to the city.

During the winter a man who has taken charge, will keep the building heated—warm in fact—in charge of the plant until operations commence about April first next.

The local factory will take the place of the Detroit plant, but as yet the company has a lease on the Toronto building until April 1st next. The machinery will be moved down piece by piece so that manufacturing will not be completely stopped for any time. It is not likely that much will be done in the way of manufacturing here then until April first when the completed staff will be engaged to carry on here. The installation of machinery here will commence as soon as is leisurely manner right after January 1st. The Toronto plant will of course close down after April first.

BOAT IS LIGHTERED; GOES AGROUND AGAIN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sacket Harbor, N. Y. Dec. 9—Freighter L. D. Mactier, Miss Newton, coaxed from rocky ledge near Stony Island yesterday after more than two weeks of effort by wrecking gyrowas aground on the lighter-ship Captain Mallison Barrack. During the night, Mactier and lighter Isabelle Judd drifted anchor in rain that swept Lake Ontario.

An English girl who had come down from Montreal acquired a beauty parlor under the name of Vivien Pe-Elsie applied for a position as Olmsted's bookkeeper-stenographer. Only after a time the agents came to her to ask information as they gathered on the job.

Then Elsie had none to impart.

"Why, I cannot testify against him" she calmly announced "I am his wife!" And that is the why of Olmstead's Peter Rabbit, Rex Fox and wicked Bill Wolf stories from radio station KFQX were briefer than usual one day.

For, "Aunt Vivien" teller of bedtime stories, was Elsie Parsche, the girl detective who married Roy Olmstead "owner" of rum runners.

The Federal plan broke into the home of Olmsted former police lieutenant, while Aunt Vivien" was in the midst of her nightly broadcasting. And the thrilling adventures of Peter Rabbit were "continued until tomorrow" while "Aunt Vivien" listened and 16 others were attempting to escape jail.

But the children in Seattle and for hundreds miles around never knew. "Aunt Vivien" was back on the job next night. And she continues to broadcast on Wednesdays.

But the grand jury is listening in on her, only to a different kind of a story.

CONDITIONS ARE IDEAL NOW AT NEW FACTORY

Deacon Shirt Plant to Be Modern in Every Way

PLAN VISITORS' DAY

When All Belleville May See Through New Building

"From the front of the plant to the rear, a distance of 160 feet including the new addition, and from 60 to 65 feet in length, the factory, both upstairs and down, will be the most up-to-last word in modern machinery and efficiency, the result of an investigation provision for the comfort and accommodations to employes. The front of the plant is 35 feet wide but the new addition will be two upstairs, is considerably wider and more spacious.

In their new quarters, there is a splendid front window which will be constantly dressed with the fashionable garments of Deacon shirts, or bolts of material used in their manufacture. The rear entrance will be from the side of the store, which has been freshly painted and is now very attractive. The latest electrical lighting fixtures having also been installed.

Another fine feature of the building is the hardwood floors which have been laid throughout the plant to make it easy and comfortable for the large force of care as if it had been a modern office. The cutting department in the centre of the display window, and outside may prove a boon to ladies and fairy pass and watch the cutting. It will be privileged to see more than the visiting firemen.

Model Heating

The plant is to be heated by the most modern automatic Fyes oil burning system. The heat generated by the sewing room was 200 adjusted to 70 degrees Fahrenheit which is ample throughout the plant, and the heat will automatically remain at this temperature when it is reached. The furnace is lighted by the turning on of an electric switch which sets the electric motor inside the furnace in motion. The fuel oil which is used is almost a small pipe from the 300 gallon tank which is directly in the basement, and as the oil is drawn in, it is caught in the burner and ignited and the process it to a fine vapor. Underwriters which must be observed, and are admitted by a constantly burning gas flame in the basement. Underwriters also are satisfied with

If Sir Henry Thornton finally succeeds in pulling the Canadian National Railways out of debt, putting the organization on a paying basis and at the same time keeping the railroad a friend to all sections of Canada, he will have performed a task that will go down in commercial history as one of the most unique accomplishments in Canada. Sir Adam Beck's job looks comparatively easy.

As he is generally, Sir Henry has to fight those who would drag the system deeper into politics. He has assumed the head of a concern that has in its competitor one of the most strongly organized companies in the world.

The business must be made to pay at the same time as a policy of fair wages for employees is maintained. He must give battle to those who would block necessary branch lines. Equipment, much of it badly run down, has to be overhauled and renewed. As the chief of a public service, people of Canada look to him to lead the way in giving cheaper transportation. Some are demanding this. He must withstand the hardest of criticism, that which always will be aimed at a publicly owned enterprise. He has to match wits with C.P.R. heads who handle substantially the same business as the C.N.R. on one-third less mileage.

Now comes the latest and crowning touch, which follows the merging of the old Intercolonial Railway in the Maritime with the Canadian National.

Alarmed by the depletion of the population in their provinces, a stagnation of business generally and a feeling of isolation from the rest of Canada, a strong group of men in the Maritimes are insisting that profits be pushed into the background.

Led by the Halifax Herald, this group are pressing not necessarily for an unbusiness-like conduct of the Maritime branch of the C.N.R., but for freight rates so low that trade will be drawn inevitably to the port of Halifax.

That bare request made to Sir Henry Thornton might be easily answered were it not for one point made—a stickler.

As the Herald says:

"The I.C.R. was constructed to make Confederation possible: and if we are to accept the plighted word of leading Canadian statesmen of an earlier day, it was so to be used that commercial isolation of the Maritime Provinces would be impossible.

"For commercial and industrial purposes, the road might just as well never have been constructed, so to build it and charge prohibitive rates."

So that on top of every other obstacle, the President of the C.N.R. must surmount the traditions of Confederation.

Sir Henry certainly undertakes one grand job.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS

The Reichstag election in Germany does not promise much for stability in the national administration. The division of parties into groups functioning under the empire, and the process did not cease after the revolution. The Government under the past order usually had to hold two or more groups together to maintain a majority in the parliamentary chamber. If one of the major groups holds itself in opposition it may require a union of three or four or even more to carry the Government measures in that fast elected. Thereare only, it appears, two groups with a hundred members in the Reichstag, the Social Democrats with 127, and the German Nationalists with 104. There are ten other divisions of the membership, running from the Clerical Centrists with 67 votes to the Hanoverians with four. Some have their justification in religion, some in nationalism, some in social doctrines, some in the whims of a clever talker or two. It is a weakness of democracy that it creates opportunities for men of words only equal to that which men of thought should command. Italy, France, Britain and Germany have all had trouble from the multiplication of theories of government and their advocacy by men who to some extent command publicattention. In Britain the electors sultened them for a time. In Italy a parliamentary revolution drew them all away for a time harmless France manages to get along with the frequent changes in governments which they involve. Germany may do likewise. One promise of peace is that the great mass of the voter seem to have accepted the revolu tion and the republic. The empire collapsed when Wilhelm II. abdicated.

A LARGE BUDGET

President Coolidge has approve the budget for the next fiscal yea the amount of which is issued at Washington, $1,890,000,000. This is a round billion less than the amount for th current fiscal year. Of course, thi does not include postal expenditure interest on the public debt, an amount of same, but does include all other ordinary government ex penditures. If a larger amount is ex pended congress must assume the re sponsibility and it will be slow to doing now that the fiscal policies o the president have been approved b such an overwhelming popular ma jority.

To-day's Smile

The Professor was putting the finishing touches on his new concrete pathway, Tommy, aged six, had been watching the proceedings with great interest, and at length, deeming the time right for trial, started to cross before the mixture had time to dry.

When the Professor displayed his annoyance, a passer-by observed: "Why, Professor, I thought you liked children."

"I like them all right in the abstract," the Professor replied, "but not in the concrete."

Thirty Years Ago.

The important fact in European industrial politics this week is the return of the Prince of Wales to England. I am certain that the Prince's mission in Russia has brought about a rapprochement between Russia and England.

An effort is being made to induce Jim Burns, the Irish Labor M.P., to visit Belleville on his return trip.

A complimentary banquet is to be tendered G. T. R. Engineer No. 1 Campaign, G. T. R. Brigade at the Queen's Hotel on the evening of Wednesday Dec. 19th.

Toronto voted down Sunday street car and her city council chamber became a nest of hoodlums. Belleville passed the delivery of milk on Sunday and immediately her newspapers became to quiet for "sober sides" reads. The moral is more or less evident.

Mr. Frank Dolan came home from Brockville on Saturday to spend Sunday.

G. H. Gordon, Police Magistrate Deseronto, and wife, were in the city to-day.

Quietness pervades police circles.

SWELLED HEADS

(Galt Reporter)

Once a man attains prominence in he business world or is elected to public position his friends often jokingly tell him he will need a larger hat. Now along comes John Millen, a Brighton phrenologist, and tells he annual meeting of the Phrenological Society of Great Britain that a not at all a joke.

Provided a man does not slow down his mental activity, he says, the size of his head will tend to increasing even after the age of 50.

In support of his assertion the scientist gave two examples: "For nstance," he said, "the circumference of Lloyd George's head has increased 6½ millimetres in eight years, and the head of Sir Thomas Bath Kennedy, shows an enlargement of 18.8 millimetres in the last ten years, in the course of which his ran written eleven books."

SUCCESS CAME EARLY

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

The death at Brussels of Giacomo Puccini removes the most famous Italian composer since Verdi. Millions of people who had never had an opportunity to hear the stirring music of his operas are familiar with phonograph selections from La Boheme, Tosca, Madame Butterfly, The Girl of the Golden West, and others.

Unlike many men of genius, success came to him early, and remained with him.

A London Letter

BY PANTON HOUSE

For the Canadian Press

London, Nov. 21.—Eighteen hundred years ago or more, the Romans blazed a trail from Dover to London. On Nov. 19 the Prince of Wales marked the fulfilment of the task which was there begun, became witness to the wonderful continuity of British history, by cutting with golden scissors the tape and re-opening the great highway. "The ceremony," said the Prince, "marks the completion of the task bequeathed to us more than 1900 years ago by the Romans. They were the pioneers who built the long straight Watling Street through the dense woods and over steep hills to join Dover and London."

A Roman "street" used in distinction to "road" is generally restricted to ways which pass through cities, towns and villages. Watling Street was steep and narrow, but it must have served for many centuries as a pack horse track, until the growth of shipping drew the traffic to the River Medway and the Thames and left the hilly route took the place of the old street.

There are many of these old streets in the southern counties, which are unmistakeable by the geometrically straight lines they follow—no contour of the land could ever cause great soldier-engineers from the straight path—and the solidity of their construction makes these streets and roads almost indestructable. Two trenches were first constructed indicating the breadth of the road. The interspace was then excated until a solid foundation was reached. Slabs of stone were laid on the foundation and consolidated by mortar; the second layer consisted of broken bits, third of fine concrete, and the fourth of a finely fitted mosaic of polygonal pavement stones. The total depth of the construction was frequently as much as 4 ft. The width was usually about 15 feet. Pavements of about 7 feet in width frequently bordered the Roman way. Some of the ancient Roman roads are in a perfect state of preservation to-day, and others form the foundation for more modern ways.

The Highwayman

Film porters in London this week announce the picture "Claude Duval," which should interest Londoners, as Duval was one of the most thoroughly sacred, though picturesque, scamps that ever graced, or disgraced, the ancient profession.

It is somewhat difficult to disentangle fact from fiction in his life, but that he was a figure of the romantic in his lifetime, there must be doubt ed. It is said by some that he was a native of Lorraine, but it may be that others are right who say he came from France in 1659. It is thought that when he took to the road he lived in the vast queer district known as Whitefriars, which is south of Fleet Street, now the haunt of all the low down characters of the great city.

After the great fire Duval must have moved to more fashionable and but less safe, neighborhood of Covent Garden, in which he was finally captured at a tavern named "The Three Cripples" in Chandos street.

Most of his achievements were in and around London, it was on Hampstead Heath that he "stopped the coach" with a lady of fashion while the husband watched with interest once from the coach, afterwards paying £100 for the entertainment. don, is the scene of another coach robbery, the other side of Coventry Hold-up, where Claude is said to have terrorized a lady into one of his mistresses if he did not at once return to the owner a gold feeding-bottle, which had been taken from a pellicl infant passenger.

He was tried and tried at the Old Bailey in 1670, found guilty on six counts and sentenced to be hanged. Here he was roused one morning by the bell of St. Sepulchre's opposite which was provided by one Robert Dowe, who left £605 between 50 pounds for a bell, together with a fo to ring it at 4 a.m. on the morning o every criminal in Newgate under the sentence of death, of his approaching doom, so that he might have time to repent of his sins.

The condemned were taken in procession to Tyburn Tree—near the Marble Arch—to be hanged, a stone in the road marks the spot where the gallows stood. On the way to Tyburn the procession would make two halts. The first was at St. Sepulchre's, where the victim was presented with a pint of mead and nosegay of flowers.—The second was at a tavern, the landlord of which claimed the "privilege" of offering a bumper of wine to each criminal passed his doors on the way to the gallows.

The Curfew

King James in 1611 founded the Hospital of King James in Charterhouse as an "almhouse" home for 80 poor brethren and a school for 40 poor boys. Owing to a decline in the revenue the number is now reduced to 56.

Each pensioner is provided with a room, dinner "in Hall", a black gown to wear within the precincts and £52 a year. Here they live in peace, in the very heart of the city's turmoil, a brotherhood of bachelors, or widowers all over the age of 60.

At six o'clock in winter and nine o'clock in summer a curfew bell is rung and probably has been rung, with one short break, since the foundation of the convent. The custom is to ring the last score for every "brother" of the little flock, so if you listen some day when you visit Londo you will hear the strokes of the bell telling you if there is a vacancy should they not sound the full number, that is, bar accidents, for not long ago the bell-ringer caught cold, sneezing so violently that he lost count, rang short 80 strokes and caused much consternation among the old boys, who thought their privileges were being tampered with.

The bell is no longer rung as a signal to put the lights out, which was the purpose of the curfew bell of old, but to indicate closing time.

Seek Two Chests Of Spanish Gold

Said to Have Been Hidden In Cave 100 Years Ago

(Associated Press Despatch)

Manila, Dec. 9.—Two chests of Spanish gold said to have been hidden 100 years ago in a cave in the typhoon-swept hills of Claro Babuyan, one of the northermost islands of the Philippine group, is challenging the spirit of several venturesome Manilans who are preparing to go in search of the treasure. The gold, according to the natives, was secreted by an old woman who sought protection for her treasure from the frequent earthquakes and volcanic eruptions on the island.

The crew of a coastguard cutter which recently visited the island brought word that two brass cannons about five feet long and a ship's bell taken from a British warship wrecked there many years ago were found. The bell is used to summon worshippers to a dilapidated chapel which is without a priest. There are two volcanoes on the island.

Good Year Reflected At Annual Meet Of Children's Aid Society

More Work Accomplished At Great Deal Less Expense

That the affairs of the Children's Aid Society in the County of Hastings are in a most satisfactory condition was brought out in a definite way at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. A large cash balance was shown by the Treasurer, Mr. Ketcheson after a year of effort, surpassing that of the previous year. The great amount of work accomplished among unfortunate children of the city and county was revealed in a splendid report given by Inspector Ruston. Much food for thought was afforded in the address of the day presented by Rev. Dr. F. Malott.

Ladies were in a majority at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society which was held yesterday afternoon in the solicitors of the Bank building. Rev. Dr. A. Brown was voted to the chair in the absence of the President, Rev. A. S. Kerr.

The proceedings were opened by prayer by Rev. George Marshall.

Mrs. W. H. Nugent presented a report of the purchasing committee detailing what necessaries had been purchased during the year also bills paid for work done.

Mrs. (Dr.) A. McFee presented a report of the Management Committee which embodied the minutes of the annual report of Mr. T. D. Ruston, local superintendent.

Treasurer's Report

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, treasurer, presented this report for the year as follows:

As detailed reports of receipts and expenditures have been presented to your Society at its monthly meetings, I now give a summary of same:

Receipts—Balance on hand, $352.72; Donations and membership, $1,000.00; Maintenance, $5,467.28; total, $6,768.50

Expenditure — Maintenance, $6,080.24; salaries, $2,600.05; Equipment, furnace, $125.00; Sundries, $11.17; total as per hand, $277.39; total, $6,768.50.

You will note on comparing this statement with that of the previous year that the expenditures in connection with this Society have been considerably reduced There has been a reduction in maintenance charges and salaries of $17584.19. This is very gratifying when you consider that there have been many more children cared for in the shelter during this year than in the previous one. In 1922-3 the County of Hastings paid for maintenance $5,289.40 and in 1923-4 $3,674.03 a reduction of $1,725.27.

All accounts that have been presented to the Society and passed by same have been paid. You will note that we have a fair balance on hand and that there are no outstanding liabilities.

The bond holdings of the Society remain the same as in the previous year and no new sums have been paid into the Society account.

The balance on hand October 31, 1924, $71.39; interest on savings bank account to July 1, 1924, $12.66; Bond interest $125.56; making balance in trust account of Society $227.61.

Mr. Ketcheson stated that the past year had been the most satisfactory in the history of the Society and it had also proved to have been economical in administering the affairs of the Society. The report was unanimously adopted.

A motion carried that a grant of $10 be made to the Y. M. C. A. by the Society, also that Mr. E. P. Frederick, city treasurer be authorized to make an audit of the books.

Rev. G. Marshall presented the report of the nominating committee recommending the officers for the ensuing year, which was adopted. The officers elected are as follows:

Child Welfare

Child welfare work was the subject of an interesting and instructive address given by Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott, pastor of Bridge Street Church, in his opening remarks the divine stated that the reports presented indicated success and thoughtfulness on the part of those behind the great movement of the Children's Aid Society. Interest in child welfare dated back for a number of years. The greatest discovery of the 19th century was the discovery of the child and its place in the Society and passed by same have the world. Up to the middle of the century child life was not valued as it should have been. The great majority of children in England were treated as little adults in school and even commercially.

Olden Days

The growing energetics of the child were exploited by the manufacturers and even in a commercial manner. The cry of the children was however heard, and the conscience of England as awakened. Under the Roman law every child was compelled to live under his children and could even sell them into slavery. The position of the child in the Roman Empire was a child and was not regarded as a child. It was certainly not quite a great change and no child was left to exposure and death. A new spirit was inculcated for the child and education was begun for the children. It was a fact that years ago women and children were taken down in mines in England and compelled to work many hours. They were also compelled to work in manufacturing concerns. The people were aroused however and proper hygienic surroundings were made by most manufacturers for the children. Authority was responsible for the factory act in 1833 which act was followed by all children. It remained for many wrongs that had been inflicted upon children.

Dr. Malott stated that in the United States there were some 10 million children under the age of 21 years who were compelled to work. Wrongs are often wrought upon children by the parents, but in Great Britain we have good laws in regard to child welfare. Parents are compelled to educate their children, also to properly care for them.

Up to two years ago Ontario was considered to have had the best laws in regard to child welfare, but Manitoba has forged ahead. Ontario has a federation of Children's Aid Societies also service clubs that are doing good work for children. Toronto was one of the first cities on the continent to establish a juvenile court.

In concluding his address the speaker said the best place for a child was the home.

"We should try to help the home rather than break it up," he said. "But if this cannot be accomplished then institutions such as the Children's Aid Society must step in for the protection of the child."

A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. A. E. Bailey and seconded by Mrs. W. H. Nugent was tendered to Dr. Malott for his address which was also cordially acknowledged.

Votes of thanks were tendered to Rev. A. S. Kerr for his able services also to canvassers and others who have assisted in the Society's work.

The proceedings were closed by the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Dr. Malott.

The following report given by Inspector T. D. Ruston at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was well received:

"Every revolutuy year is the task of rescuing neglected and dependent children from cruelty, misery and depravity, demonstrates anew the wisdom and philanthropy of the pioneers in the Children's Aid Society work in the Province and are reverently thank our Heavenly Father for the privilege in and glory in the fact that the work belong to carry on that work. It is sometimes charged that this is an age of materialism and that Christianity is losing power and activity, and I think the great answer to that is the work that has been done by this Society and similar organizations in our City and County.

In every community there are people who's love for children is more than the average person's in the community Love has a vision of what might be, a vision of present need and future possibility. To love children is to see the here and now they may become, and to do that which is within one's power to do in removing hindrances from the pathway.

The Children's Aid Society of the City of Belleville and Hastings County have got that vision and are working harmoniously and diligently to remove the hinderances and to give every child the opportunity to grow up in environments that will lead to bless and help the child to become a good citizen.

Had Much Work

"We have had a great deal of work during the past year, new difficulties, new problems to solve, each case differing from the other, but with the help of the District Master we have been enabled to carry on.

"At the commencement of the year we had twenty-nine children resident in the Shelter. At the close of the year, October 31st 1924, we have thirty-one in residence.

Two hundred and fifty-seven children have been involved during the year, and we feel that most of these cases are directly due to indifference on the parent's part.

"Forty-three children were made wards of the Society, were committed to the boys Industrial Schools. Seventy-seven wards were placed in foster homes. Two hundred and thirty-four wards placed throughout the County have been visited and nearly every case conditions were found to be all that could be desired.

"I could take up considerable of your time relating interesting cases but will confine myself to just a few.

A Few Cases

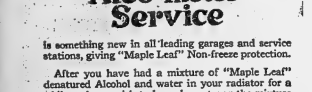

"Cliff—A fine healthy big boy, strong and able to do anything, was attending school regular and hopes to continue until he passes entrance. Latter parents well satisfied.

"Hilda—Foster parents delighted with child, and wans her for their very own. Do not know better home in the County and consider it a wonderful opportunity for a child.

"Elsie—A strong ethical child, has a very nice comfortable home and is progressing into a fine able child.

"Robert—We have hung in our shelter a picture of a little boy when he was admitted. A few weeks ago this boy called at our office and you could hardly realize that it was the same boy. Now a smart youth; man, doing well in life, a credit to anyone His sister was in the shelter, is now married to a fine steady young man, is doing well on a farm. This Society was the means of starting these young people on the right way.

"In carrying out this work we have travelled approximately six thousand three hundred and forty miles.

Brighton Boy Is In Line For Honor

Gordon Tapp Will Be Candidate For Premier of Boys' Parliament

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Matters of general industrial improvements in the province of work, plans for financing of work through the Province, and the policy of the Province and extend boys' work in Ontario are the subjects which the elected Ontario Boys' Parliament of Ontario will discuss when it meets at the Parliament Buildings here for five days, from December 18 to 31.

Approximately 100 candidates were returned from ridings all over the province for the elections held on November 29. The members-elect will choose their Premier by vote when Parliament meets. Gordon Lapp of Brighton, Ont., Independent, was returned by acclamation, and will be a candidate for the Premiership. The other two candidates are Frank Adams, of Lonsdale, Ont., leader of the Advance Party, and Edward A. Pickering, of Windsor, Ont., leader of the Ahmek Party. Until the premier is elected it is not known to which party was returned in the majority.

That the Boys' Parliament is not a holiday display, but a real means for expression of older-boy opinion, and providing constructive ideas of evolving plans to promote Christian manhood in the province, is the declaration of those interested in this movement. Incidentally, the parliament is a good training in practical citizenship, acquainting the older boys with actual workings of democracy on the legislative and executive plan.

The members elected on November 29 are expected to carry back to their local and district groups information and inspiration from the gathering.

SAYS NEWSPAPERS ARE DOING GOOD

Hamilton, Dec. 9.—Addressing the Hamilton Lions Club at luncheon today, Rev. Dr. Richard Whiting, formerly of Toronto, and now pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, declared that, together with church and Government, newspapers were to be given credit for their deep influence in guiding the community aright. A good editorial was worth a prayer meeting. Without the influence of religion, or of the press the country would not be worth living in, he stated. He spoke of the newspapers as a strong bulwark of stability.

MISTOOK YOUNG LAD FOR A RABBIT

Gannaoque, Dec. 8. — Stewart Wright, aged 12, and youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, South Gananoque, was accidentally shot in the town, on Saturday, was the victim of a sad shooting accident, when he was mistaken for a rabbit by one of the hunters when his head darted quickly up in sight and out again.

The full contents of the rifle entered his body and limbs, being distributed from his forehead to his feet. Fortunately, none of the shot penetrated deep enough to touch vital spot above the waist. He was rushed to the Kingston General Hos

Belleville Rowlers Made Poor Start

Hardware Five Didn't Do So Well on Toronto Alleys

The Belleville Hardware got off to a bad start at Kay's Head-up Tournament in Toronto last night and although they rolled 900 and 857 in the second and third games their first game of 723 held their score rather low compared with what they have been rolling on the local alleys.

Apparently the boys were victims of stage fright, for in the first game 160 was the highest single and the lowest was 137, but in the second and third the boys rolled pretty fair scores considering they were on strange alleys. The Hardware rolled 2520 for their total scores and had a handicap of 67 giving them 2587 all told. Players and scores:

Stratton	157	144	256—536
Hartle	160	179	174—513
Whalen	145	162	250—505

Anderson	145	209	146—500
Total rolled			2560
Handicap			27
Grand Total			2587

The bowling leagues at the Recreation alleys are pretty well wound up. Last night four teams finished their fall schedule. The Ramblers won from the Blues in the Ladies League, Miss H. Bland and Mrs. Tracey rolled the highest scores for their teams.

In the junior league the Canadian Nationals and the Natural Tread staged a close and exciting game all the way through, the Natural Tread winning the game by 9 pins and also making sure of second place. Steve Garvin led the way for the Nationals with 578 and Fred Benford was high for the Natural Tread.

Excelsiors Win Championship

Bowlers Lost Out at "Y" Alleys in Close Contest

Last night's fixture at the Y alleys between the Bowlers and the Excelsiors was the wind up of the Pall Winter League and ended the decisive game for the championship crown. It was one of those sterling games which occur periodically, in which the play is closely contested throughout, the outcome is undecided until the very last ball glides down the polished maple.

Excelsiors rather got the jump on the Bowlers when they rolled a total of 143 points in the first frame then added 12 more in the second. The third and final frame was all Dewitt in fact they came back so strong that the championship crown was in doubt until scorer Alexander announced that Excelsiors were League Champions by first thirteen points. However, all the honors did not go their way as in the third frame the Bowlers established an alley record when they piled up a total of the total of 1191. The play:

ST. PATS PRACTISE

Toronto, Dec. 9.—Ernie Parkes, former Kitchener and Parkdale centre player, took practice with the St. Patrick's Monday morning. His coming out to practice has caused many wild rumors to float around Ally Taylor's ice palace. Manager Powers made a statement that Parkes was the property of Boston and that they were trying to make a deal with the Arena club that would make Parkes a member of the Irish. One rumor has it that Boston wired the Saints last Saturday to make their own terms with Parkes. Another story has it that since Boston signed "Duke" Sparrow from the Western League, they have traded Parkes to St. Patrick's for one Irish player whose name is being kept a secret.

"Toots" Holway played for the Irish Monday morning. The big boy will not in uniform, but skated around for a few minutes. It is expected that he will start as a regular defence player in the game at Ottawa on Wednesday.

BROCKVILLE LOSES PITCHER

ARRANGE SITE FOR NEW BASEBALL PARK

Toronto, Dec. 9.—It was stated at the Harbor Commission offices Monday that the site of the proposed new stadium would be south of Fleet street and east of York. This does not interfere with the land that was set aside for radial entrances.

The proposal now before the board is that L. Solman put up $100,000 toward the $200,000 that the structure will cost and pay a commercial rate for the land a percentage of the receipts.

This is, for the new Provincial baseball stadium.

Canadiens Won In Tight Game

Boston Bruins Had Score Tied Until Last Minute

Boston, Dec. 9.—Canadiens, world's professional hockey champions, and the newly formed Boston Bruins met in the second game of the first time since the United States club was admitted to the National Hockey League. The appearance of the Stanley Cup holders was the signal for a fantastic larger crowd than that which saw the opening game a week ago, two officials are appointed for the game, Mr. Jerry Laflamme, Montreal and Mr. L. referee, being in charge while he was assisted by a newcomer to the ranks of official referee in Jerry Wright of Sherbrooke, P.Q.

Canadiens		Boston
Vezina	Goal	Power
S. Cleghorn	Defence	Cook
Mantha	Defence	Herberts
O. Cleghorn	Centre	Headley
Boucher	Wing	Harris
Joliat	Wing	Skinner
Morenz	Sub	Schnarr
Gagnon	Sub	Mitchell
Couti	Sub	Reading
	Sub	Cooper

Referee, Jerry Laflamme, Toronto; umpire, Jerry Wright, Sherbrooke.

First Period

The game opened with what was probably the fastest hockey that the hockey ever seen by Boston fans.

The champion Canadiens, widely heralded as speed fiends set out to live up to their reputation and for the first few minutes the Red Shirts were everywhere.

Morenz on an individual rush the fourth of the crisis scored the first goal in six minutes, 55 secs. Joliat, Morenz, Boucher and Couts shot in turn at long suffering Vezina before Pratt began to solve the attack. In 12 minutes, 29 seconds, Cook received a pass from Herberts. The Bruins were getting in some of their body checks and there were several penalties. Joliat put Canadiens over in 18 minutes, 20 secs. Just before the bell rang for the period a pass back from a mix-up in front of Canadiens goal gave Cooper his only chance of the evening. Canadiens 2—Bruins 2.

Second Period

The pace continued fast and torrid clean in the second period, with the 1,000 spectators keenly excited. Neither team appeared to have found itself and pow the Canadiens were on the defensive most of the time. Vezina's sensational work in the nets saved the situation several times. Once Herberts got in all alone and only a few feet. Vezina was there. It was Howie Morenz who played the first goal. On a brilliant individual rush he came through the Canadiens' defence and eluded Vezina.

Thereafter the Canadien net tender was under heavy fire. Accurate bredding raining shots at him. The visitors threatened many times at this stage, but it was generally on flashy individual rushes which were broken up by the Bruins' defence. Boston was sending in more replacements than the Canadiens and seemed fresher. At the period ended, the visitors were still on the defensive, with Canadiens, 2; Boston, 2.

Third Period

The deciding period opened with a rush, displaying the best hockey of the game.

In spite of the heavy condition of the ice, Canadiens awoke from their lethargy and repeatedly attacked three and four men going down the ice in concerted rushes.

Matz and Joliat were marvels of speed.

On one of their rushes, in which the entire attacking force took part, Joliat took a pass from Matz and scored in 5 minutes, 27 seconds.

With the score now tied at three all, Canadiens pressed again and Joliat repeated to put Canadiens in front 4-3.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Woman's Soul BY Charles Garvice

The marquis laughed.

"Will you kindly give me that gentleman's card?" he said.

Lord Cecil brought it to him, and the marquis took out some papers.

"Here are the papers," he said, languidly. "I haven't read them all; you can bore yourself over them in the train. And will you favor me by accepting this toward the expenses," and he laid a roll of uncounted notes on the table.

Cecil took them up and examined them.

"There is more than enough here," he said quietly.

"There is never more than enough money," said the marquis. "If you think there is too much, I'll add the trifle to the surplus among the poor people with whom you sympathize."

"Yes, I can do that—and will," he said.

"As you like. I will say 'good-night' and by the way I should say 'good-by,' for you may be shot!" he added, as calmly as if he were saying "It may rain."

"I am not coward enough to be afraid of that, or fool enough to think it likely!" said Lord Cecil, as carelessly.

"Good-night, sir," and he held the door open for him.

As he did so the marquis raised his eyelids and shot a glance at the handsome face; then, with a cool nod and cold smile, passed out.

Lord Cecil went up to his own room and, lighting a cigar, paced up and down, thinking deeply.

It was marvelous that the marquis should have acted as he had done. Double his allowance! He would be able to marry once, instead of waiting. Marry Doris at once! The blood beat in a tumult in his heart; the old dull weight seemed to fall upon him as he remembered his debts. And then, almost the luscious from him; something might be done respecting them—some accommodation made. Anyway, he would have an income large enough to marry on, and Doris should never be told her. Then, as he reflected that he should not see her on the morrow, he sighed.

"It almost seems as if my darling had some presentiment that we should not meet," he said to himself. "What will she say when she finds that I am not there, and goes to the room for the letter?"

Then he sat down to the table to write it. It was not easy, for he wanted to say enough to cover ten pages; but at last he wrote a few lines and left it.

My Darling:—While you are reading this I shall be on my way to Ireland—with my heart in Darton Meadows. I can't tell you in a letter all that has happened; only this, that, as he himself put it, the wicked marquis is not so bad as he is painted! Doris, when I come back, it will be to ask you to be my wife—not in a year or two, but soon, soon! I'm a bad hand at writing letters, and I could not, if I tried, tell you how I love you, or how I wish I were near you, to see and hear you, my beautiful angel! Ever yours,

CECIL.

P. S.—I owe my whole existence for he has behaved with unusual kindness, and this journey to Ireland is the only way in which he will let me pay him. I will tell you all about it when I come back.

He signed over the unsatisfactory explain and closed it; then reopened the letter and caught up his pen to tell her of the loss of the ring and ask her to look for it; but he hesitated, and put the letter back in the envelope with the sentence unwritten. Then he put on his coat and walked to the meadows. The night was dark, and he had to light a match to enable him to find the stone beneath the trees, but he found it and recovered the ring, and then, after standing for a few moments and looking round him sorrowfully, as though he were a prisoner, he turned and made his way back to the Town Hall.

The marquis had gone to his room, as was customary with him; his valet exchanged his master's dress coat for a velvet smoking-jacket, and the old man lay back in the chair looking at the wall opposite.

The room was magnificently furnished, but to a casual observer it would have appeared almost somber by reason of the dark, rich hangings and heavy furniture and the general portion of the walls.

Against the deep purple of the hangings the clear, sharp-cut face with its pallor and its expression of cynical scorn of a dead man's, and only the steellike glitter of the eyes spoke of the vitality which lingered in the body and located in the spirit of the most formidable, the Marquis of Sioyle.

Presently there came a soft tap at the door, and in response to the marquis' curse," in Spencer Churchill entered.

If anything he was smooth. Innocent faces looked more benevolent and charitable than usual, and the smile he bent upon the hard, cold face opposite to him was like that of a man whose son's delight is in doing good to his fellowmen.

"Well?" he said—or rather purred.

The marquis waved his hand to a chair, and Spencer Churchill dropped softly into it, and leaned back, his eyes on the ceiling, his fat hands clasped on his knee.

"You were right, you spoke nothing but the truth; the fool is in earnest."

"Dear Cecil," purred Spencer Churchill.

"He is so much in love that he bore all the insults that I could heap upon him—no! I wrong him. He struck home once!" and he smiled a strange smile.

"And he means to marry her?"

"Yes," said the marquis, with a cruel sneer; "he is even fool enough for that."

"Dear Cecil!" murmured Spencer Churchill again. "How delightful, how refreshing it is, in this practical, stupid life, to find—"

"And he will marry her, unless the scheme of yours answers," said the marquis, breaking in upon the smooth voice.

"And you doubled his income?"

"He will," said the marquis.

"And he will go to Ireland? To-morrow?"

"He will, to-morrow," said the marquis, watching Lord Cecil's face, false face. "Now that's very good of him," murmured Spencer Churchill; "very good, most charming and nice. To go to Ireland on the very day he has arranged a meeting with that beautiful girl Nora—

WHERE WILL YOU SPEND CHRISTMAS

In all the cycle of the year there is no time that brings families together as does the holiday. To wish you were at the ends of the earth, you would be free to be home for Christmas, and if it were at all possible you would be there. In the long ago when travelling facilities were limited, people journeyed many weary miles and endured great hardship that they might be with friends and loved ones on Christmas day. Today it is no different. The modern railway enables you to cross the continent in a few days in comfort. This year there promises to be the usual heavy Christmas and New Year travel, north, south, east and west, and in order that you may reach your destination as comfortably and speedily as possible, Canadian National Railways are making reservations far in advance. Anyone wishing to pay for the travelling expenses of relatives or friends from any point need only to place the money in the hands of the nearest ticket agent of the line; our representative will deliver the transportation free of charge to your friend, at the other end in a few hours. When travelling this Christmas go Canadian National Railways.

Send you Holiday Greetings by Canadian National Telegrams.

Send your Christmas Gifts by Canadian National Express.

Real Sahara Desert Shown In Thrilling African Story

A rare, picturesque and vivid motion picture has come out of the Sahara desert to thrill and charm patrons of the first drama.

It is Edwin Carewe's picturization of "A Son of the Sahara," which intersperses days engagement at the Griffin Theatre last night.

Made in the Algerian desert, there is nothing of the usual Hollywood Sahara about it. The magnificence of the true Sahara, with its giant sand dunes and its limitless horizon, unbroken except for the majesty of the Atlas Mountains in the setting for strong drama.

Gamel Carvara

In panorama of a great camel caravan, the clash of real Arab tribesmen with real Senegalese troops of the French government, serves in the capture of a great Sheik and the dancing of the Oulad-Nail girls, are features of the extraordinary scenes offering.

And though it all runs a powerful story interpreted by an exceptional cast Bert Lytell as Raoulin Breton, a young Frenchman, who plays a role in Arab strongheld she is rold as a slave in servitude to him. Raoula thrust to her father, but she is secretly bought by him. He loves her and wishes to protect her, and after many dramatic twists the pilot takes another step that solves the problems of both.

Fine Offering

Walter McGrail, as Captain Jean Duval, junior of Bambrea's men, makes a handsome and effective officer. Rosemary Theby as Rayma, the dancing girl, never gave the screen a finer contribution. Rayma's love portrays the roles of Sultan Cassim Ammeh and Colonel Barbier and Paul Panger. Paul Panger shows his remarkable versatility as Cassim. He is featured next as Cassim, Jr.'s aid, then as the auctioneer.

"A Son of the Sahara" is an adaptation by Adelaide Heilbron of Louis Gerard's novel. It is a First National picture and the finest offering of its kind that has yet been given the screen.

Would Shut Out Oriental Servants

Bill Mothered by Mrs. Smith In B.C. Brings Division

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 9.—Protests against the bill introduced by Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, Liberal, yesterday, to prevent the employment of Orientals in lumber mills where girls work, were registered with the government, by Miss Pau Reng, Chinese consul in Vancouver. He asserted that the bill passed, would be a drastic discrimination against his countrymen, and he claimed that such a measure was not justifiable in view of the "friendliness maintaining in British Columbia homes."

The Vancouver Board of Trade protested against the introduction of racial issues on such grounds as the bill Mrs. Janet Smith murder case offered. The former promised to consider the Chinese consul's viewpoint.

Among the members of the Legislature there is divided opinion over the proposed measure. Certain opposition representatives declare that the whole affair is a "tempest in a teacup," and that if the act is passed it will mean that in small country hotels the owners will simply exchange white girls and women and employ Orientals entirely.

According to Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith girls working in the better class homes in Vancouver where Orientals are employed, are leaving their employment in large numbers. Mrs. Smith says she has the names of 20 such girls, who left their positions following the murder of Janet Smith. She also says that other provinces are likely to forward similar legislation, and mentions receipt of a letter from J. T. Hair, member of the Manitoba Legislature, stating that he will introduce a bill similar to that now before the British Columbia House.

Amendments to the Adoption Act are being proposed by Mrs. Smith. They will strengthen the act considerably, and will make it possible for relatives of children to interfere with the actions of foster-parents in cases, after legal adoption, such interference is felt to be in the best interests of the children.

Grasped Sapling To Save Her Life

Belle Theatre Picture Star Had Narrow Escape on Location

A stout willow sapling recently saved Lois Wilson, Paramount featured player, from being thrown from her horse fifty feet down a rocky precipice while riding out to location in the Tonto Basin, Arizona.

Miss Wilson plays the role of Elsie Jordi in the Paramount production, "The Last Man," which will be shown at the Belle Theatre tonight and the accident was caused by an unsecure saddle cinch. As she felt the saddle slipping sideway, she seized a willow tree above her head which broke her fall and prevented both horse and rider from plunging over the cliff. Miss Wilson sustained only minor bruises and was rescued by Richard Dix, also a featured player in the production, who was hurrying along the trail.

Miss Wilson, who is an excellent horsewoman was riding "Senator" the white horse which attracted such notice in Paramount's epic picture, "The Covered Wagon," and other Texas production in which Miss Wilson play.

"To the Last Man" was directed by Victor Fleming from scenes which shot in the hills of Arizona, 200 miles from a railway station. The story is historical and deals exploitation of a sanctuary feud waged in the eighteenth. The cast of characters includes Noah Beery, Robert Edeson and Frank Campeau.

There are many scenes of great drama, however while the fire interests never lags. It is a most compelling picture. The supporting players include many artists of reputation and popularity.

YOUNG RUSSIAN GIRL IS SHIP'S OFFICER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, England, Dec. 9.—A weather-beaten ship, a Baltic wireless operator, a "Daily News" reporter, investigating certain rumors of mutiny agenda, found nothing abnormal, but something rather interesting. The ship carried 61 people, 36 of them cadets, who were learning navigation on the instructions of the Soviet Government. Classes are held in the chart room every day. One of the most interesting persons is a pretty Russian girl of about 22. She is fourth officer and wears workaday clothes to include many artists of reputation and popularity.

FOXES INCREASE AS ENGLISH HUNT LAGS

London, Dec. 9.—Application of the restrictions against fox hunting in certain districts, owing to the menace of outbreaks of foot and mouth disease among cattle, has resulted in a veritable scourge of foxes. Although the restrictions are in force in the Midlands, the Meynell, Pytchley, Belvoir, Cottesmore and other hunts covering a wide area have been forced to suspend, and while farmers armed with guns have made heavy inroads on the foxes of those districts, it is estimated that those districts, it is estimated that there are more foxes in England than for many years.

Both farmers and huntsmen have petitioned the ministry of agriculture for some relief from the restrictions, which are considered too drastic.

SOME DAY you are going to have an electric range, so you are therefore invited to come and see an up-to-date electric range at work under the hands of an expert cook.

A highly-trained demonstrator will conduct this demonstration. And there will be the additional novelty in this because it will be a demonstration of cooking by electricity, the method that every woman wants to know more about, and which, it is predicted, will gradually supersede cooking over coal or wood or other fuels, wherever, electric power can be cheaply obtained.

The Moffat Electric Range as used for this demonstration will be one of those we have for sale on the floor. No more coal, no more ashes, no more coal gas or dust, no hot, stuffy kitchen —a clean, efficient servant in the house, ready to work at any moment, and stop using power the instant your cooking is done. In fact, you can turn the switch and forget that the oven is done, because the Moffat oven is built on the thermos principle and holds the heat. Cooking goes on after the power is off.

All these things will be explained to you when you come. You will see how the elements of the Moffat oven are made in sections, so that if a break occurs, only the section affected has to be replaced. You will see the one-piece, electrically porcelain enameled ovens, the warming closet, its commodious shelf, and its drip tray beneath the burners.

The demonstration is being held at

Alleges Ballots Tampered With

Alderman-Elect Joe Nash of Kingston Demands Probe

WRITE W. F. NICKLE

He Points to Apparent Discrepancy in Sun-Division Figures

Kingston, Dec. 9.—Since noon on Saturday there have been many developments in connection with the action being taken by Ald. W. F. Peters to have Ald-elect Joe Nash disqualified from sitting on the City Council, Mr. Nash is making serious counter charges with regard to the manner in which the ballots were handled in St. Lawrence Ward, and is in communication with the Hon. W. F. Nickle in this connection with a view to an investigation.

Demands Inquiries

Yesterday morning the following telegram was despatched to the Attorney-General by Mr. Nash:

"I hereby demand an immediate investigation of the recent election and municipal election held here December first and would request that the Provincial Attorney be authorized to take charge of ballot box from St. Lawrence Ward number eight. A recount or scrutiny of the votes would not achieve the desired information. Open letter to you goes to local and Toronto papers today."

Joe Nash."

This telegram was followed immediately by a communication addressed to the Attorney General which read as follows:

"Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, Toronto, Ont.

"My dear Mr. Nickle:—

"I wired you this morning and now confirm same. My demand for an investigation of the recent Ward No. 8 is justified and I believe illegal actions have taken place which would warrant criminal prosecution by your department. I trust that you will agree to this in the matter will be both speedy and prompt. This is far more important than the O. T. A. enforcement striking as it does at the base of liberty, liberty, namely the franchise.

"A recount or scrutiny of the votes would avail nothing but this matter, particularly in view of open countercharges, demands investigation by your department's best men.

"You will note from the attached tabulation taken from the Kingston Standard that in wards where polling booths A and B were used that the ratio of votes in A booth were to one cast to those in B booth, I would draw your attention to the St. Lawrence Ward. In No. 7A and B more than twice the number of votes were cast in sub-div. A than in B in the case of proper candidate. In No. 9A and B in the case of Peters and myself the same difference existed.

"In No. 8, which is the booth for which I demand investigation, you will note the following figures:

	Mayor
	Milne Nash Peters Pike
A	106 63 84	1st
B	55 40 92	3rd
	Mayor
	Angrove Nash
8A	107	88
8B	55	40

Utilities

Campbell McFarlane Nickle

8 A	111	106	41
8 B	63	55	34

"You will note that the vote for Peters and myself exceeds the votes for them in the other sub-divisions of this Ward. This subdivision is the smaller city for all other candidates, which would have put Peters behind by 50 votes, and a decrease of nearly 50 per cent. and I have reason to believe that the ballot box was manipulated. Men were admitted in the booth and polls which were not entitled to be there. I am prepared to prove all the accusations that he was not sworn.

"I take the franchise above all other worldly possessions and sincerely believe that in the interests of others who do not realize, they have a most searching investigation made immediately.

Yours very truly,

JOE NASH.

Mar. College Book Store.

Accompanying the above letter was a tabulated form of the ballots as counted in all the wards of the city, which was forwarded to the Attorney-General with a view to corroboration of Mr. Nash's statement that the ratio of votes was not maintained in polling subdivision No. 8A and 8 B.

Speaking yesterday Mr. Nash stated, that he was taken this action just to show that I know all about the ring down in the City Buildings that is fighting me, and it is the first step to clean it up."

A Bit of District History

The seventieth anniversary services of Christ Church, held during the month of November have closed. The present church was built seventy years ago, but was not consecrated as it was too heavily in debt. In 1841, when the debt was paid, the consecration services were held by Bishop Strachan. There is a site of the Anglican Church that, to be consecrated, a church must have no debt). When there was no church, missionaries used to come and hold services in farm houses where they could find suitable. From 1791 onward both documentary and traditional. In 1835, on the 7th day of June, Rev. Mr. Harper came from Belleville and visited Seymour Township. Major Campbell was living in what is now Campbellford at the time. Mr. Harper rode up at his gate in the following words: "Do not day I proceeded in the Township of Seymour, which, through not within the limits of the Midland district, I was directed by the Lord Bishop to visit occasionally. From Major Campbell I met with the most kind attention. He accompanied me and learned that the inhabitants of the Township were certainly desirous of having a clergyman resident among them, and to which end a subscription would willingly contribute. They have also held the building at a church or churches in contemplation; but owing to some little disagreement about the proposed site, they have never yet been able to carry this plan into effect. They raised 70l. of another visit which he made on August 16th of the same year. "He officiated in the morning in a barn near Major Campbell's, and in the afternoon, in the house of Mr. Rose on the river, in the upper room of a grist and saw mill belonging to Mr. Rose. On this occasion Mr. John Tice kindly acted as clerk, both usually at and after noon. On the 23rd of August, 1837, communion service was held, at which there were twenty-four communicants. The last service preceding the present was held was near where the Agricultural Grounds are at the present raised up with props.

TORONTO MAY HAVE ANOTHER DRY VOTE

Toronto ,Dec. 9—Toronto may witness a "wet vs "dry" contest for the mayoralty when the controller, Colonel Stubbing, who has several times been mentioned as a possible candidate for Ward 8, refused to deny a report that he intends to oppose Mayor Hiltz on an anti-T.A. platform. He would not discuss the matter further than to say that he would make an announcement later. From other sources it was learned that Mr. Stubbing has already been conducting a canvass in the east end of the city to secure support.

Deseronto Man Discovers Gas

Flow Came When Drill Had Gone Down 40 Feet

Deseronto, Dec. 9—While drilling for water on the farming location of Joseph Ryan, Bellevile Road, last Thursday, gas was encountered at a depth of forty feet. There is a constant flow of gas from the well which, when lighted, Mr. Ryan reports will throw a blaze five feet above the casing surface. Mr. Ryan intends capping the well to determine if possible the quantity and commercial value of the gas flow.

The people of this territory are strong in their belief that gas in commercial quantities is to be found in this district, as in the drilling of numerous wells gas has been encountered in some cases, time, and the grist mill spoken of was on the opposite side of the river, somewhere near the First Dam. In September Bergson was again visited, when he found that they had decided to build two churches, one on either side of the river, and that the sum of thirty pounds per annum, for three years, had been subscribed towards the support of a resident clergyman. This was not fulfilled as Seymour continues on Dr. Bethune's list of "original stations" for 1840, 1849. Dr. Bethune was at that time rector at Colborne. Another journey was taken towards Bishop of Toronto.

A record given shows the year 1851, when Rev. Edward C. Bower was the missionary in charge of the districts. Mr. Bower resided at Grafton Campbellford at that time to be composed of three or four little log cabins, surrounded by a forest, and named Seymour Bridge. Mr. Bower held services in an old log building near where the Upper and Lower Town end. This building belonged to a dissatisfied Catholic named Brand, who built the post office. Mr. Bower lived in a small log house near Mr. Chas. Bongard's present home. While living there the settlers came to the house in large numbers to assist in helping the missionary with them. Later the place of worship was changed to an apartment over a store, then owned and occupied by Mr. John Gilchrist. Here Mr. Bower held his last services. In 1853 Mr. Bower was changed to another field, and Rev. Mr. Deacle, an old settler, came to Campbellford in his place. Mr. Deacle, on his arrival on the church was rented, but there were no pews, the congregation sitting on boards resting on blocks of wood, and the clergyman officiating from a small table.

"Worth $100 to Me Relieved Eczema and Piles"

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Saltburn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me,—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored joy health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

CANADA GETS MEET

The first international osteopathic convention to meet outside the United States, will be held in Toronto in July. A number of physicians from this province were among those who fought to get this meeting for Canada, when the profession met in Kansas City, Missouri, last summer.

Belleville is represented in the organization by Dr. F. D. Rutherford.

Although the osteopathic physician have never come north of the line for their international gatherings, Canadians have long held prominent places in the profession, and most of the provinces have passed laws regulating the practice of this newer form of therapy.

Woodstock Man Had Lively Time

Experienced Difficulties in Getting Away From China

Woodstock, Dec. 9—Albert I. Schultz former manager of the Breithaupt Leather Company, returned to his home in the city last week after more than a year's absence, during the greater part of which time he was in charge of a large leather manufacturing concern in Harbin, a large city in Manchuria, China. At the time of his departure from China, early in November, the Chinese civil war was in full swing and Mr. Schultz has several interesting episodes to relate as well as innumerable other varied experiences in the Orient.

In fact, Mr. Schultz is now congratulating himself on being able to return to Canada, at the time he did. Arriving in Pekin, the Chinese capital, at the other of his homeward journey, Mr. Schultz found that he would be obliged to board ship at Tien Tsin a port some 120 miles distant. He experienced considerable difficulty in minor admittance to the city, but the task of leaving was even greater. Due to the way no railway connections were possible but he was fortunate enough to fall in company with an American who was also desirous of getting out of the country. Effecting secure an airplane sailing Mr. Schultz went to the British consul in Pekin and his companion proceeded to the United States representative. The latter was able to obtain same only a document which would allow him to pass out of the city, while the British consul performed Mr. Schultz that he was unable to give any certificate. However, the two, chartering an auto with a Chinese chauffeur, decided to attempt an exit and they were greatly assisted by the interested passport in the possession of the American.

Took 12 Soldiers

Gaining access through the great gate in the Chinese wall about the city twelve soldiers being required for this to touch to their surprise they found the rest of the journey more difficult and perilous due to the fact that the territory on each side of the road was in possession of opposing forces. The driver was incessantly demanded to slow by army officers who on each occasion, searched the vehicle and its occupants.

Mr. Schultz experienced a great feeling of relief when he boarded the steamer at the Chinese port and he was all the more thankful when he learned that the automobile in which he had made the journey was the last one allowed to leave the city of Pekin and that but a short time after his departure the road on which he had travelled was in scene of a terrific conflict between the opposing forces.

HAS BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE IN GOOD SHAPE

Mayor Mikel Now Has the Names of Over 6,000 Loyalists

A COMPLETE RECORD

Work Now in Hands of Publishers; Out By Christmas

"How is your U.E.L. "Book of Remembrance" coming on?" Mayor Mikel was asked yesterday.

"Splendidly," replied the Mayor, and he proceeded to show some advance sheets.

"The type and paper are the best, said the illustrations will not be excelled in any Canadian publication. The Mayor said one of his chief merits is that it will record indefinitely the names of many of the noble pioneers who made this country. He has collected the name of over 6,000 Loyalists. He has also compiled the histories of several thousands of their descendants now living. An hereditary "Badge of Honor" was placed on all these by the Canadian Government. It was a distinction that their names should be preserved, he said.

"The Mayor added that there were still many Loyalists in Belleville and the Bay of Quinte District who had not yet sent in their names. The book will also contain a short, but interesting, record of the celebration of last June, and other interesting matter. Newspapers all over Canada have given the work good notices, and among such papers as the Toronto Saturday Night, Toronto Globe, Montreal Star, R. C. Colonist, Halifax Herald, Kingston Standard. The work is now in the hands of the publishers and it is hoped will be out by Christmas.

The Chinese Could Carry On Alone

Christian Work Advanced So, Says Speaker at Presbytery

The outstanding feature of the meeting of the Kingston Presbytery held in the James St. Church on Tuesday afternoon was an address delivered by Mr. Dr. Donald MacGillivray of Shanghai, China. Dr. MacGillivray is now one of the veterans among Presbyterian missionaries and for several years has been doing a very remarkable work in translating for the Chinese books which are published for the Christian Literature Society. He was a brilliant classical student in Toronto University, winning the gold medal in that department, and is now recognized as one of the greatest Chinese scholars in the world. There is no more important missionary work than that which he is doing for a more and he has taken hold of the Chinese, and it is impossible now to say fully what the need for books, and other Christian literature.

On Tuesday afternoon he gave a vivid picture of the Chinese people, of the awakened intellectual life and widespread outlook of the Chinese, and predicted that the time was not far distant when native Christians and not the foreign missionaries would be the leaders in the Chinese church. It will be necessary, however, for the foreigners for some time yet, but even it is hoped that the Chinese church could "carry on". They have passed through terrible persecutions and mighty conflicts but to-day they can feel all the more that love. We in Canada feel encouraged that the Chinese have had something to hold on to, enduring and greater order of things to come in China now, he said.

A letter from Rev. R. J. Simpson, of Stirling, containing the welcome news that he would be present able to resume his pastoral duties in his church immediately immediately. The Treasurer, Mr. D. A. Mitchell Gananoque, reported the finances in good shape, there being a substantial balance in the bank.

A cordial welcome was extended to the Rev. D. O. MacArthur, now of Ottawa, but for many years a member of this Presbytery.

Rev. Silas Brown, Moderator of Presbytery presided.

MR. LORNE YOUNG HONORED BY STAFF

Mr. Lorne Young who has been a member of the Intelligencer staff for more than ten years was presented by his fellow workers of the composite table lamp in the morning. The lamp is a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Young, who returned on Sunday from their honeymoon.

Mr. S. B. Bawden, President, on behalf of the staff, in a few well chosen words thanked Mr. Young for his past faithful work, and hoped that he and Mrs. Young would enjoy a long and happy wedded life.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Young replied very neatly, thanking the staff for their kindness.

STIRRING TALK IS GIVEN HERE BY MODERATOR

Dr. MacKinnon Tells John Street Audience of Opportunities

DELVES INTO HISTORY

Shows Value of Work Done By Those Who Risked All

"We have had an extraordinary privilege this year in visiting the Churches and seeing them at work. I have been personally impressed with the wonderful service rendered by the army of Jesus Christ. I have received the earnestness, the prayerfulness, the unselfishness of the Church and I have great confidence in her future."

Such were the opening words of a most timely, heartening and inspiring address delivered by the Very Reverend Clarence MacKinnon, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, at a meeting in the John St. Church on Tuesday evening. Dr. MacKinnon is a charming personality and a real orator. His address deserved a larger audience than the one which listened to it.

Continuing, Dr. McKinnon said that he saw opportunity is before the Church to-day. Sometimes it may be for us to think of our opportunity this or our obligations. Souls people are like a rubber stretched too much. A minister in Scotland entered the vestry of a church where he was expected to preach and while waiting there the beadle handed him a gown, the speaker said.

"Is it compulsory to wear that?" asked the preacher.

"Oh no," replied the beadle.

"Then I'll wear it," said the minister. So I would humbly say, in the words of a good judge of human nature. "Suffer the word of exhortation."

Missing Opportunities

"Where I live," said the Moderator, "the sea sometimes sends a tremendous wave over two hundred strong representative lads and men in the city and country points in Province.

In replying to the address Dr. MacMillan Ferguson made no direct reference to the beer and wine demand He expressed however that hotel men confer with the Commercial Travellers Association delegation which had already waited on Government with requests along similar lines and draft a bill for presentation to the House at the coming session. He stated that the Government would give the bill very consideration. Mr. Ord stated that hotel men would be glad to accept the suggestion.

TORONTO MAN UP ON PECULIAR CHARGE

Toronto, Dec. 10.—Charged with committing a breach of the Air Board Act, George H. Craven appeared before Magistrate Jones in the Police Court yesterday. Craven, it appeared, was the pilot of a flying machine that dropped into the lake during the Exhibition. It is alleged that he had no permit to fly the machine, and had failed to pass the necessary examination.

HOTEL MEN ASK FEW PRIVILEGES

They Want Business Tax Exemption; Would Serve Native Wines

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 10—Requesting the exemption from business tax for the years, on until such time as their business could be placed on substantial footing, and the right to sell beer not exceeding 2.75 percent by weight and native wines from Ontario grapes, a delegation from the Hotel Association of Province of Ontario waited on Premier Ferguson and members of his Cabinet at Parliament buildings today.

Headed by J. J. Aziz, K.C., and George H. O'Neil of Orillia, who is President of the Association, the deputation was over two hundred strong representative hotel men from all the cities and country points in Province.

In replying to the request Premier Ferguson made no direct reference to the beer and wine demand He expressed however that hotel men confer with the Commercial Travellers Association delegation which had already waited on Government with requests along similar lines and draft a bill for presentation to the House at the coming session. He stated that the Government would give the bill very consideration. Mr. Ord stated that hotel men would be glad to accept the suggestion.

Lived One Week Like Adam and Eve To Win Bet and Show it Can Be Done

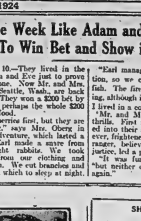

Seattle, Dec. 10—They lived in the manner of Adam and Eve just to prove it still can be done. Now Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oberg, of Seattle, Wash., are back in civilization. They won a $200 bet by their stunt, but, perhaps the whole $200 will go to buy food.

"We lived as Nature first, but they are not very filling," says Mrs. Oberg in telling of the adventure, which lasted a week. "Then Earl made a snare from twigs and caught rabbits. We took wood threads from our clothing and caught some fish. We cut branches and made a home in which to sleep at night.

"Earl managed to start fires by friction, so we cook our rabbits and our fish. The fires also kept us from freezing, although it was pretty cold at times. I lived in a costume of leaves."

"Mr. and Mrs. Oberg had their big thrills. First night out a cougar crashed into their shelter. Their yells, however, frightened it away. Then a forest ranger, believing them fugitives from justice, led a posse to their hiding place.

"It was fun," the bashful seekers, "but neither of us would care to do it again."

Brought England Right to Belleville

Fine Travelogue by Captain Slate Arranged by Canadian Club

"England and the Motherland" was the subject of one illustrated lecture given by Captain Slate to the Women's Canadian Club at the City Hall last night.

Starting with pictures of the Ocean liner, Empress of Scotland, by carried the audience across the ocean to the London of Liverpool. He said that these slides were not the result of a hop, skip and jump visit, but that he had had the pleasure of living three years in England before his home. He thought that the best way to get to know and living in to-day if there was to live there. The part played in history by this country of ours was an important portion to its size.

Further pictures were records of scenic beauties and historical legends, Neilson's Monument in London, which the speaker said was the scene of an incident which led to the fight Bunker Hill. He also showed the picturesque home of the poet William Shakespeare.

The Cathedrals were poems in stone, many of the beauties of which Loch slide presented a picture that tended to make one interpret. A thatched cottage, with a hawthorne hedge brought home the truth of the pleasant life that Shakespeare's father is his castle. Captain Slate drew a word picture of the inside of the home of old when the halls were filled with the best beer, the conversation was the sound of revelry, and all was noise and life, contrasting with the silence of the castles now. No place is quiet as these same old castles are.

Interesting slides of Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare were shown, and Holy Trinity Church, which attracts from fifty to fifteen thousand visitors every year.

The interior of Shakespeare's home showed the desk at which he is supposed to have worked. It has the initials cut into it. Anne Hathaway's cottage was also shown, about a mile from Shakespeare's, and there they lived for the first years of their married life, in a pretty little cottage with a thatched roof and with a wonderful garden which was cared for by Anne herself. The roses here are visions of beauty, and a close-up picture of one, was in full bloom, so one could almost smell the glorious fragrance. Such a thing of beauty is a joy forever, the speaker said in part.

Scenes from Oxford where some twenty-two colleges are located were very interesting. Everyone High

THE UNPREPARED

In the present report of the Mothers' Allowance Commission some 5,870 families are shown receiving allowances from the Ontario Government. In the case of each family the father is incapacitated or has died.

It is interesting to note that of these 5,870 fathers, 1,105 were lab'rers, 192 were clerks, 671 had a trade, 27 were professional men, and 124 were farmers.

These figures may show that while adversity hits all classes most of those affected are men who have not had the ambition to hitch up the brain with the hands.

THE ADVERTISING BUSINESS

Ontario and the Eastern provincer have been subjected within the past months to pages and pages of advertising sent from the west, and no agency is more active in this direction than The Vancouver Sun. Periodically, Eastern newspapers, commercial organizations and other bodies receive boosters for the West usually published in the interests of the people of Vancouver and Western Canada by The Vancouver."

Yesterday, the mail bag carried in more material from the newspaper drawing the attention of the East to The Peace River Country.

"More business for Canadian manufacturers" is the heading this broadside carries. Spread over a full page a strong argument is presented to prove that the opening up of the Peace River Country will immediately create a new market for Canadian manufactures double the size of the combined market of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. A great array of facts are given on the possibilities of that North Country.

We may take it that such advertising pays, for the Vancouver Sun and others have been working along this line for some considerable time and that pays is not the kind to throw good money after bad.

What a small group in the far west can do in raising the stock of one section of Canada is infinitesimal compared with what all Canada could do in advertising the whole country to outsiders.

The right sort of advertising, the kind that would challenge the spirited, healthy, athletic type of young man to match his ability with the hardship of mining and farming, would draw better results than some of the staid, departmentalized methods now employed.

MODERN MANNERS AND CRIME

At the opening of County Judge's Criminal Court, Judge H. A. Lavell, in his charge to the Grand Jury drew attention to the fact that the criminal cases on the docket were all related to offences against women.

"One hesitates to draw a hasty deduction from this," he said, "but I think it fair to say that in any indication of a general condition of this kind the cause is deeper than appears on the surface. It would not be too harsh in criticizing young people, but I think all are agreed that the manners of young people have greatly changed during the past few years and it is just a question whether this has not something to do with the cases now before the court."

One would like to have heard Judge Lavell amplify his criticism. If, as His Honor suggests, the manners of young people to-day have a direct bearing on crime, it would be of value to obtain some discussion on the point.

Doubtless there will be those who will rush to the side of modern young people in the defense that they are every bit as good as the young folk of a generation or two back.

As the Judge intimates many will have the opposite view.

This much seems apparent, however, that the manners as they are, there is an apparent lack of respect shown by the average young man to the average young lady. He may hold her in as much respect as his father did to the girls of his day, but he does not display it. In larger cities, this is more marked. Men rush ahead of girls to get a seat in the street car. They mill with stenographers and store clerks to see who can reach the cafeteria counter first. They smoke cigarettes on a crowded street, carelessly blowing out the smoke in the faces of the gentler sex passing by.

In smaller centres, the tendency is not so marked, though one sees evidences of it here and there, due to the latest by "treating 'em rough".

FINANCING CHRISTMAS

For many thousands during the past few weeks the Christmas saving fund has simplified and in some cases solved the Christmas problem, in the opinion of the Hamilton Herald. Through the medium of this most modern of money saving plans some millions of dollars were accumulated this year and are now available for pending or reinvestment. Without the Christmas saving clubs a very large percentage of those who have received checks this year would face Christmas virtually penniless. They have been helped to save and can enjoy the blessedness of giving the pleasures of Christmas shopping. And if thrifty, the satisfaction of reinvesting all or part of their Christmas saving checks.

But another Christmas is coming next year and money will be needed for more gifts. Christmas funds distributed this December will have been spent or deposited for permanent saving. To meet this future need those who must save to have should join the Christmas Saving Club now. Delay means getting behind in the small weekly payments. Also, the clubs should be joined now and not at the multitudes of object lessons in contentment and disappointment recorded, respectively, by those who did not join the 1924 clubs. Again next year there will be the envied and the envious. .

Perhaps the larger portion of the Christmas savings is expended for gifts. The economist might point out where great benefits would accrue to society if the Christmas savings fund in part was invested at interest, being a theorist the economist can not know the usurious interest in the joy of giving and shopping is extracted by the recipients of Christmas saving checks.

WELL NAMED

When Lord Lee of Fareham presented his estate comprising 300 acres to the nation as a country mansion for the Prime Minister he must have had a premonition that the name would prove appropriate in view of the vicissitudes of the office in the past three years.

LESSON LEARNED

(Quebec Telegraph)
The Home Bank probe will aid in allaying the smouldering revolutionary feelings of a large proportion of Canada's population who were becoming to think that the misdirection, ete and dishonest promoters and bank wreckers were immune from just punishment. Canada, for some years, has been a stamping ground for every description of unscrupulous company promoters. It is hoped that the lesson has been learned; that our banks will refuse to render further financial assistance of this class. It does not tend to the advancement of the country that not only the enrichment of a few insiders, or, the making of over-night millionaires. Through this process many flourishing corporations have floundered.

CHRISTMAS CHIMES

(Lindsay Post)
The chimes of the cash register have been ringing in the stores in anticipation that the customers have received from their scare and are buying again—not buying what they do not want, but buying what they actually need.

The touches of winter are driving shivering humanity to the stores for heavier, woollen socks, overcoats and the things they put off buying while the delightful Indian summer lasted.

In addition to this necessary shopping the Christmas trade is also at hand and there is no Christmas chimes so merry to the ear of the merchant as the chimes of the cash register bell.

It is needless to add that these bell chime most frequently in the store of the man who advertises.

A MEAGRE ALLOWANCE

(Peterboro Examiner)
Saskatchewan's new liquor law apparently has been designed for the benefit of the moderate drinker, the man whose proud boast is that he "can take it or leave it alone."

The Government of the Western Province, demonstrating its own lack of Government control, has decided to put a check upon persons whose trust is beyond the ordinary.

Therefore, it is decreed that for personal use a purchase by any one individual in one day is limited to one quart of liquor, two gallons of wine and four gallons of beer.

A moderate imbiber exercising self-control will not suffer, but the other kind will be faced with the dread thought that after the legal supply of liquid refreshment is exhausted it will be necessary to wait until the next morning to secure a new allotment.

It is true, as the St. Catharines Standard puts it, that Saskatchewan is a province of great distances, and, alas! great thirst.

KEEPING STUDENTS IN CANADA

(Kingston Standard)
To keep our own people in Canada is one of the great problems confronting us, and it extends in many directions. One of them is to keep our students at home. Every year scores that graduates go in large numbers every year from this country to the United land and the United States in order to take post graduate courses. An idea is on foot to have a central university for the Maritime Provinces, which should in some measure prevent this and keep the students there. It will prove a big task for which a great deal of time and money will be required, if it is to succeed. We must, however, realize the kinds of its success with such time as the population of the country more near approaches that of the Motherland.

SIR JOHN SIMON JOLLIES CHURCHILL

London, Dec. 10—Sir John Simon, one of the prominent Liberal members of the House of Commons, poked fun at Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech in support of R. D. Pinnock, the Liberal candidate in the by-election in Dundee, caused by the death of R. D. Morell, Labor M. P.

Sir John referred to Winston Churchill as a man who was the political sky, who would not long remain in a fixed position. He added that there was a new jazz dance called "the Winston constitution." You took a step forward, two steps backward, a step to the right, and a pause.

This sally was greet with loud laughter.

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

WHEN you are constipated, poisons are formed in the accumulated food waste, and such matters clog the body. The first results, headaches, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness", etc., serve as warnings of graver diseases to follow if the intestinal poisoning continues unchecked.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases known.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste, and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

United States to Enter Arms Parley

League of Nations Has Been Waiting Decision of Republic

Washington, Dec. 10— The United States Government has decided to participate in an international conference which will be held under the auspices of the League of Nations next April or May to consider the conclusion of an international convention for the regulation and restriction of the international trade in arms and munitions of war, the State Department announced yesterday afternoon.

Hugh H. Gibson, American Minister at Berne, has delivered to Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general of the League of Nations, a note from the State Department to this effect. This communication was in answer to a letter Sir Eric sent early in October asking whether the American Government would be willing to participate in such a conference if it was called.

Invitations Not Yet Issued

The formal invitations have not been issued, as the League of Nations desired that the U. S. should exercise participation. League officials have always taken the position that an arms traffic convention could not be operated effectively if the United States was not a signatory.

said, 'Barbarian nations have been caught in the swoop of our net. Even the British Isles have chalk altars to our Christ.' I can imagine one of the Edinburgh schoolmasters saying 'Come with a sneer, 'What a mistake to send Foreign Missions to Britain.' But today the British flag floats over one quarter of the earth, and wherever it floats there is peace and a goodly measure of prosperity. Some people are saying today, 'What an absurd thing to send missionaries to the heart of Africa.' If they would look back to the fourth century they would find the answer.

The Work of Pioneers

"Let us look," said the speaker, "at the planting of Presbyterianism in Nova Scotia. At the close of the American Revolutionary war some Highland soldiers were given grants of land in Pictou County. They had no schools, no churches, no ministers. They appealed to the Anti-Burgher Synod of Scotland and that Synod laid hold of a most gifted young scholar and poet and ordered him to go to Canada. He struggled with the problem all one night, but when the morning broke he had made up his mind, and to Canada he came. From that county of Pictou, where that gifted young preacher, James MacGregor made his head-quarters there have gone out 276 ministers, and many of them have occupied, and are occupying prominent positions in colleges and universities. Was it worth while for that Anti-Burgher Synod in Scotland to send James MacGregor to Nova Scotia?

Dr. McKinnon paid eloquent tribute to the work and worth of Nathan Bangs, a Methodist who laid the foundations of Methodism in the Niagara peninsula, and to Dr. James Robertson who did such a magnificent work as superintendent of Presbyterian missions in Western Canada, and who shortly before his death was able to boast that there was not a hamlet from the Great Lakes to the Rockies containing 12 families of Presbyterians where the Gospel was not preached.

Rev. A. S. Kerr, presided, and Rev. Messrs. McCormack, of Madoc, and MacTavish, of Belleville, assisted in the devotional exercises. An anthem was well rendered by the choir under the leadership of Mr. Nicholson, the new choir-master. Mr. James Bankier sang a solo which on usual was greatly enjoyed.

The ladies of John St. Congregation united with those of St. Andrew's to serve supper to the Elders and Managers of the united congregations and to the members of Presbytery.

Many of the gentlemen were accompanied by their wives, and all had the privilege of listening to a delightful after-dinner talk by Principal MacKinnon.

Church. The latter showed a screen Street, and the interior of Christ which had had a plaster wall built in front of it to protect it during a war, and then was forgotten and for three generations, until 1894, it was not discovered, until by accident a workman who was doing some repairing, knocked down a piece of the plaster and saw the original screen which was soon uncovered.

The church of Stoke Poges, where Gray wrote his immortal Elegy in a Country Churchyard, proved of much interest.

The rest of the slides dealt with famous places in the city of London, The House of Parliament, the historical spot of legislation for the British Empire; the interior of the House of Lords; the Westminster Abbey, the shrine of the British people, with its many sources of interest, followed in succession on the screen.

St. Paul's Cathedral, Sir Christopher Wren's masterpiece, and the Tower of London were historical landmarks.

Captain State showed views of Wembley which is situated about six miles out of London, and he said that while there he often heard the remark that Canada had the finest Exhibition of the lot. One picture was of the King and Queen, and the King of Italy entering the Canadian National Building.

He concluded by saying that England has a message for all visitors here and added that all should try to go there and hear it for themselves.

Wanamaker Insured For Six Millions

Now Merchant Has Agents Scouting Around For More Policies

New York, Dec. 10—The most heavily insured man in the world is Rodman Wanamaker, the New York City merchant. He is paying premiums on policies totaling $6,000,000, and yet he has agents scouring the world for firms who will sell him still more insurance. Specialists have declared that $7,000,000 is the limit of any man's insurance, and Mr. Wanamaker set out to reach this goal.

Mr. Wanamaker was the first man to apply for a million-dollar policy and, incidentally, pays all the premiums himself. In many cases the largest business men are insured by their firms, but not in his case.

Some one has declared that Mr. Wanamaker's desire to increase his holdings is somewhat of a mania, but Dr. H. A. Goodman, an insurance expert, says Mr. Wanamaker regards insurance as a sound and profitable investment. He holds that there is no better way of assuring to his estate liquid cash when needed in sufficient amounts for taxes and other expenses Mr. Wanamaker is now 61 years old, but physicians say he is in such excellent health that he is a good insurance risk.

Black Cat Almost Spoiled Burglary

Took Attention of Thieves From Business at Hand

New York, Dec. 10—Some burglars are superstitious, but the five who cut an entrance early Monday last into the Wellworth Pur Company on the fifth floor of the six-story loft building at 154 West 18th street can hardly be said to be that, because they spent fifteen minutes trying in vain to catch a black cat that "meowed" at them one flashlight.

The five men got into the shop of M. Sewell and Sons, dealers in embroidery and plastic, on the fifth floor and deftly cut a hole a foot and a half in circumference in the wall on the other side of which was the fur company. They spread a carpet for the fabrics to fall on to and then began to work. So intent were they work that two members of the Wellworth Protective Bells at 1:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon arrest, the Bronx, who were asleep in the office did not hear them. Bells and Epstein had worked late and had decided they would get more sleep in the office than by going home. As it turned out, they were wrong though they did make a good start.

Each said afterward that he knew he was dreaming when he felt a kick in the ribs and opened up to find Detective Bells. The leader of the bandits quickly proved that he was not fooling when he rose slowly—first to sit up and then to stand up—with their stock. Bells took a total of $400 in cash and Epstein of $10.

Then both were tied back to back over a cutting machine. As the burglars removed their coats to begin their real work, they heard "Meow, meow, meow" from of the fire mat's fur for a flying flash of black fur. Then whether it was the cat or the mat, they don't know. But the cat was too nimble.

The leader of the burglars became nervous. Suppose the cat should strike one of the electric burglar alarms! Supposing he already had struck one! He pictured the police coats worth about $7,500, called off the attempt, and with his four followers darted down the front steps and away.

Bells and Epstein freed themselves by rubbing their hands against cutting machines and then called the police. Detectives Sullivan and Costyrilla, Bells and Epstein went out to buy catnip.

Premier Stanley Baldwin appears to be confident that he will have a long sojourn at 10 Downing Street. He is making his residence in Eaton Square, the Eaton Square home of Mr. Baldwin (£10,000, but he is asking only £8,000 for it, as a quick sale is desired by him.

SWEDISH GIRLS TO TEND TO HORSES

Associated Press Dispatch

Stockholm, Dec. 9.—The horses of Sweden are rejoicing at the rise of the Red Star, an organization called the Younger Sister of the Red Cross, which devotes itself to the welfare of beasts of burden, especially horses.

Crown Prince Gustoff is patron of the society, which was started by Swedish women during the war and did excellent field work in Finland. A nation-wide drive is now being organized to popularize the movement throughout Sweden, to promote this humanitarian work during times of peace as well as to strengthen the organization for service in event of war. Society women are especially zealous, and the young daughters of some of Sweden's most prominent families count it an honor to be named a Red Star sister.

Men and women who register have to learn everything about the horse. Red Star depots are being established in numerous places, fully equipped with surgical instruments, medical supplies and all the necessary apparatus for the care of sick and injured horses.

Manager Tells Of Commissions

Ontario and Toronto Officials Only Ones Paid By Home Bank

Toronto, Dec. 10.—Counsel at the trial of R. F. Gough, Home Bank director, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Home Bank paid for deposits from Du, City officials and the Province of Ontario. Gordon L. Chapman, who was absolute manager of the Toronto branch from which the payments were made, commenced acquiring cheques payable to F. H. Richardson, as commission on deposits he was said to have secured from the corporation of the City of Toronto for the bank. He admitted to W. N. Tilley, K.C., that the buying of the commissions was unusual business practice, but added that there were many things done that were not according to Hoyle.

Pressed for reasons why he did not make a complaint or a report of the usual proceedings, Chapman burst out with the statement: "I did not think I was in a den of thieves, or that I was a kind of sleuth. I was a banker in the bank. If I had known then what was going to happen after I would have made a report. If I had reported then I would have been told quickly to get to other jobs.

Thomas Shoebet Richardson got about $13,500 in commissions. He prepared the cheques on instructions from A. E. Calvert, manager of the Toronto branch. He had seen Calvert taking money to the office of a branch manager. Then Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, was present. Witness understood that commissions were also paid for provincial deposits. Witness knew of no other consultation except Richardson and somebody for the Dominion government, who got commissions for getting deposits. Branch managers got bonuses for increasing their deposits. A man named C. E. Johnson had been engaged by the bank to get deposits and arrange loans. He was later a branch manager. Tenders for all were solicited to whom commissions were paid. Chapman said he was trying to forget all about the Home Bank. The trade, he said, were getting a fresh strain on him and he was about "fed up."

NOW PLANNING 88 STORY BUILDING

New York, Dec. 10.—New York is to have an 88 story office building, outranking in height the Woolworth building, which has 51 stories, according to a report in real estate circles.

The new mammoth structure will occupy an entire block in down town Broadway, it is said.

These Young Lads Are Not Spoilt

Their Fathers Rich, But They Start at the Bottom

Albany, Dec. 10—Although their fathers are wealthy and men of importance in the business world, two boys have begun working as cubs in a big department store at Albany, N.Y. The boys are Charles H. Babin, Jr., son of an internationally known banker, and Raymond McKee, whose father is president of a large eastern railway company.

The boys, who have been chums for years, recently graduated from college and made an 11-month tour of Europe. Returning home they decided to go to the business world. When they selected the humble jobs their parents objected but pleased. The fathers of the boys, incidentally began low down on the ladder and climbed to the top.

Charles and Raymond have rented small rooms near the store in which they work and have selected cheap eating houses. They are determined to live within their incomes.

"Whatever our wages may be we'll not tackle it hard," exclaimed the two boys as they set out for work the first morning.

Say Canned Heat Drinking No Myth

Toronto Police Declare Many Addicted to This Dangerous Habit

Toronto, Dec. 10— Are canned-heat drinkers a myth or a reality? Police officers, who have experience in dealing with men frequenting "the Ward" and the lower sections of the city, declare there are many addicted to this dangerous practice, despite having resulted while druggists and hardware merchants are of the opinion that drinking canned heat is "bunk".

"It is a falsehood, a story for the manufacturers of canned heat who are trying to interfere with the Attorney General with reference to having canned heat brought under O.T.A.," declares the canned heat drinkers have made inroads on the sales of the canned fuel because these will quickly be buying the product for household use in order to do so, declare that they may be taken by the vendors to be re-canned for drinking.

Sales Dropped

"Sales in canned heat have dropped off recently," said an official of one of the largest retail drug stores in the city. "That is why these people are crazy enough to drink it, for it's pretty hard to get it now-a-days."

Mr. Moorhead stated that the sales had fallen off recently. Responsible people are not buying it because they know the drug of dope fiends and hardware stores, thinking they may be be assumed to be canned heat drinkers.

THROWS A SCARE INTO PUZZLE CAMP

Baltimore, Dec. 10—According to Dr. Arthur P. Herring, chairman of the State Board of Mental Hygiene, too close application to cross-word puzzles is liable to lead to psychosis, a form of insanity. The puzzle craze, Dr. Herring added 'may yet give the scientists something to think of bout," for, he said, "it is quite possible that constant application to any story, over the elective action, coupled with nervous disposition, may produce what the mental experts know as psychosis and the layman knows as insanity."

"Cross-word puzzles wouldn't be the first popular craze which has resulted in psychosis. While I do not know of any specific instance, it could easily happen. The constant worry and fretting over the puzzles particularly if they are hard to solve, might easily unbalance a nervous mind."

Children's Shelter Makes Appeal

Needs Money Badly to Care For Neglected Children

As Christmas time draws near each year, the annual appeal is made for the neglected children who find themselves under the kind hand of fate and placed in the Shelter here. Tuesday Inspector F. B. Preston of the Children's Aid Society, launched the appeal and only everyone interested in this humanitarian work to assist by sending in a donation either to the treasurer of the society, H. F. Ketcheson at his office on 20 Bridge street or to the office of Inspector Ruston at 28 Cedar street.

No contribution is too small to this cause of caring for the children of today, and though the expenses of the C.A.S. here for the past year have been within the $7,000, there will be a heavy expense entailed in investigation work which must be carried out in the long county of Hastings, which has a goodly share of neglected children from year to year.

One thousand letters are being mailed to friends of the society by Inspector Ruston and an appeal is also being made through newspaper advertising and newspaper stories.

The following cash has just been received in a months one and should the serious consideration of every one financially able to assist in the work.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY COME AGAIN

Ottawa, Dec. 10— The announcement was made in the Irish House of Commons by the King's speech that the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada will be repeated. Already the Argentine on his conclusion of his South African visit is saying has caused much progress here as it is probable that he will pay a visit Canada next year on his way back from the Argentine. But in his second visit to Canada he had several of his friends that he would like very much to come back next year to his ranch. His wish was interpreted on honeymoon as more of a gesture of friendship than as any as his part in his Canadian friends. It is more than likely however, that the Prince has three of his contemplated visit to the Dominion and that it would be possible to pay a visit to Canada next year.

The problem of eliminating the excessive noise attendant upon airplane flights has been practically solved, it is claimed, by experiments which have been in progress in London for some time, according to the London Daily Express. A new device, the paper says, has been invented which permits the anti-machine escape of exhaust gases from the motor.

COULDN'T SUCCEED IN ENDING LIFE

Montreal, Dec. 10.—The strange story of a man who tried twice within 24 hours to commit suicide and twice failed, is told in a report of a lumber camp in charge of a mixed train on the Canadian National railways in Western Canada. The report was written to general headquarters of the system in Montreal.

The name of the man is Patrick McGinty, and as far as the Canadian National railways are concerned, he broke into the limelight when he refused to concede the right of way to a Junction. He was struck before the engineer could stop the train, and dragged a distance of three car lengths.

When he was finally pulled out under Conductor Dennis, the track walker sicked and said: "Guess it's no use. I might as well try to live. I jumped out of a hotel window last night to-day to kill myself, but I only hurt my foot."

WELLAND MILL IS BURNED; BIG LOSS

Welland, Ont., Dec. 10—Fire from an unknown cause yesterday morning completely destroyed the planing mill and large lumber yard of Samuel Lambert, on Burgar street, at a loss estimated at over a quarter of a million dollars,including 500,000 feet of lumber.

The blaze was discovered at an early hour, and although the flames were early on the scene, they were almost helpless against the flames, as they swept through the mill and lumber piles. Nickle and Burgar street, Toronto, are enveloped.

About $100,000 insurance was carried on the property destroyed. The plant was valued at $65,000, and the lumber supply at $100,000.

SILVER FOX FARM UNDER WAY NOW

(Associated Press Dispatch)

London, Dec. 10.—England's first venture in silver fox farming is to be set under way shortly, and already 20 pair of foxes have been brought here from Canada and installed on a plot of ground near Oxford.

The old manor house, which will be used for breeding purposes, are valued at $5,000. The promoter of the enterprise, a former Canadian army officer, believes that the climate of England is ideally suited to the rearing of silver foxes, and hopes to expand his farm to include several hundred foxes within the next year or so.

CROWN ATTORNEY WILL TAKE CHARGE

Kingston, Dec. 10 — On Tuesday morning, Crown Attorney W. J. Rigney received a letter from Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general, Toronto, prefering him to the charge registered by Ald.-elect Joseph Nash, that there were illegal acts committed at polling subdivision No. 8, St. Lawrence Ward on municipal election day, Dec. 1st.

Mr. Nash, when seen on Tuesday morning, stated that he had not received any word from the attorney-general with regard to the telegram and letter he sent to him outlining his charges and asking for an investigation. He said that if the provincial authorities saw fit to order an investigation he will be prepared to assist them Mr. Nash claims that some very ripe ribaldie and suspicious work took place at the above-named polling subdivision.

The crown attorney has the matter under consideration, but had no statement to make on Tuesday afternoon.

Last minute orders for Holiday trade.

Last year a lot of extra orders were secured for Holiday trade by merchants and manufacturers who telephoned retailers for them, offering immediate shipment.

Now is the time, when your salesmen cannot call on everybody, to supplement their efforts by Long Distance calls.

You will find that buyers who have been too conservative will welcome the chance to replenish stocks or add new items.

Retailers, short of popular sellers, can order additional quantities by Long Distance, for immediate shipment, and sell them while the selling is good.

BASEBALL SUPPORTERS PREPARE FOR 1925; NEW HOCKEY GROUP SUGGESTED FOR THIS SEASON

N.P. North Heads Belleville Club

Elected to Handle the Reins of 1925 Baseball Club

HAVE SMALL BALANCE

New Players Are Here; Small Cash Balance Shown

With a tang in the air and everyone buying Christmas presents wise Belleville baseball fans are preparing for the 1925 season and at a public meeting he'd last evening in the Assembly Room of the Y.M.C.A. everything was arranged for the season.

Belleville has won the Provincial honors, has been a close contestant on other occasions and has repeatedly won the Central Ontario League, and her ambition is to have a better team than ever on the diamond next May.

N. P. North, enthusiastic C.N.R. official was selected as President of the club last night, and last year's president Charles T. Hanna, K.C., now becomes Honorary President, while Mayor Bell, K.C., D. McMillan and M.P. Duff are the other three Honorary Presidents appointed. Newton Thompson the efficient and hard working secretary treasurer was again chosen for that position and A. E. Collins was selected as Vice-President

Manager Walter Grove was then re-elected and one of the players to be chosen by the players—still be a committee of management.

Secretary E. Thompson read the financial report which has been dealt with in committee and passed. The report showed a balance of some $23 in the bank as the balance of the season's receipts of $4126.46, and the opinion of the meeting was that money should be raised for the fund before the season commences.

Chairman Charles Hanna feels that the city council should make a grant of $500 to the C.N.R. baseball club, and offered to assist in every way any delegation which might be appointed by the interior the city fathers at an early council meeting.

"The ball team is one of the best advertising mediums which the prosperous and besides providing real enjoyment for citizens during the summer, draws much business to the city," he said. "In fact," he added, "the Retail Merchants Association should be willing to give them a grant."

Previous public spirited citizens have accepted the responsibility of a team's indebtedness and financing owing to the good work of the team during the past number of years, these men have not been called upon to make up any deficits, as the team has broken even always. This however it was felt is no guarantee that similar conditions will continue to exist, and the result was that the present officers were given power to add to their numbers if necessary and to arrange some money raising scheme.

A dance, concert and boxing tournament were suggested as possible propositions.

Robert Colling, veteran baseball enthusiast was present and made a strong plea for more co-operation between the C.N.R. seniors and the juniors—their league feeder system.

Juniors There

"We have a bunch of good boys" he explained last year's junior league President, and they have two and three years in junior ball yet, many of them. Only two of last year's nine are over age and their places will be ready been filled.

Following a suggestion by Frank Domenico that Walt Grove and Pennie Mills take charge of the juniors, it was decided to give the senior committee power to take over the juniors with power to appoint a sub-committee if necessary to assist in training the juniors.

Last year, it was pointed out, Spencer Grove and "Pennie" Mills had done much for the juniors.

Secretary Thompson called attention to the fact that R. Spoor, twenty-four year old second baseman, who has been employed as purser on the Wolfe Island ferry during the summer, and now unemployed, was willing to come to Belleville to play ball.

"All I desire is a good position where I can earn a living for myself and mother", he states. Hugh Bevan who has played with and against Spoor, says he is good.

A Preston boy transferred to Belleville by his firm, and who is now engaged in the district as a steel salesman, will also be added to the club. He is anxious to play and would have attended the meeting had business not called him to Deseronto yesterday. "Gunner" Arnott who has seen him play in Preston speaks well of his ability as an outfielder and eluster.

Keen To Be Here

Hughey Keon is located here permanently with the Consolidated Publishers and will be on the pitching staff next season with Jack Ouellet. Hughey attended the meeting with Wesley "Mike" Mills, Ingerman and Manager Gerow last night.

Charles Foster and Alderman Harry Greenleaf, Parks Board Commissioners were present, and the former informed the meeting that probably the new baseball park would be ready for the first league next autumn—providing of course the locals are in the finals.

The meeting was well attended with the present grounds, Secretary Thompson told of losing twenty or thirty dollars each game by persons who "jumped the fence."

Humorous discussion followed in which it was shown that the unwritten intention of the ball game drew men who had been appointed to watch the fence over to the diamond, and the watchful "Hand Jobs" were then at liberty to scale the old fence, and save the "stuff".

It was suggested that the fence "viewers" be placed on the outside of the park, and if so, was decidedly pointed out that men be hired to watch the men watching the fence.

They say it would shock a real fan to dictate to see the close of citizen to think it's time to save the fifty cents too. "Devil be stingier!" offsetted officials but no names were mentioned. The new fence will probably be made less after the fence at about the Consolidated Distillery—that is if the directors barbed wire nevertying.

Just before the meeting closed M. P. Duff moved a vote of thanks and appreciation to the retiring executive, Dr. Hanna M.P., and Robert Colling seconded the motion which was unanimously carried.

In responding Mr. Hanna thanked the boys for the help they had given him, and said he would be glad to do everything in his power to assist the club in every way. He also thanked the press for their co-operation during the past season.

He said it had been a pleasure for him to have done what he described as being but little for the club, and he hoped having done well had made him just that much more proud of it.

"I will do all I can for the promotion of sports in general in the future," assured the member-elect.

A letter of appreciation is to be sent to the family of the late William Spencer, veteran baseball player and enthusiastic fan who met sudden death last week a short time the city.

Would Group Three Cities This Season

Suggestion Comes from Port Hope; Belleville, Oshawa and Peterboro

Port Hope, Ont., Dec. 10.—The vexed question of where Peterboro is going to find a place in which they can play this winter is causing a great deal of speculation. There have been many kinds of rumors that they would be located in the Lake Shore group, which comprises Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, but as soon as this rumor was heard the Lake Shore clubs immediately came out with protests. This was followed by a meeting of the Peterboro club and later the Lake Shore clubs to consider things before they objected, pointing out that Peterboro would be a big drawing card, and that the enhanced gates the club would receive would more than make up for the extra expense the Lake Shore clubs would be put to in having to play overnight when they visited the Littlock City.

A New Suggestion

This did not make any impression on the representatives from the Lake Shore clubs, and their representatives raised things over last Saturday's meeting of the O.H.A. and strongly protested against the inclusion of three clubs. Of course the meeting did not come on officially, but last night Secretary Peter Lynch of the Port Hope club, wrote Secretary Hewitt suggesting a meeting be held immediately. It is that a new group be formed with Peterboro, Port Hope and Belleville as the contesting teams. This would be an all-city teams meeting, and would leave the smaller towns in the one group. It is pointed out that this would be a good thing for hockey in three ways. It would avoid the travelling advantage the cities have over the smaller towns in the way positions which the city teams occupy. The suggestion will certainly meet with the approval of the Lake Shore teams and would solve the difficulty.

Mah Jongs Lead All Way Through

Had Easy Time Defeating Maple Leafs; Exhibition Played

The Mah Jongs won from the Maple Leafs in the Recreation Alleys last night in a one-sided game, both teams of the ladies' leagues. E. Wilson's score was high bowler of the evening with 536, Miss E. Ethier was high bowler for the Maple leafs.

In a junior league the Durant-Stars were scheduled to play Starnis's but didn't show up, so played an exhibition game with the National Castings, the former winning out by 13 pins. Geo. Young's score of 455 and Ross Mosher's 451 were the highest scores for their respective teams.

PLEASED WITH START OF WOLF HUNTING

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 10—Master of the hunt, Duncan Fremlin, was well pleased last night as a result of the showing made by two hounds imported from Kentucky for the Algoma Wolf Hunt Club. The hounds followed a wolf through very rough country for almost four hours yesterday afternoon without being shaken off, only being called in when darkness made further chase impossible.

"I regard the eventual success of our campaign as a certainty, now that we have been able to get the dogs to keep the wolves on the move," said Fremlin.

English Golfer to Come Into His Own

Close Amateur Championship Arranged; Mistake of The Past

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Dec. 8.—The phenomenal growth of interest in the Royal and Ancient game which is now practically world-wide in its scope is expected to receive added impetus in England during the coming year. Matters of golfing legislation in this country have been placed on a sound footing, and the progress of the game has been steadily in the right direction.

Two desirable innovation of far-reaching effect has been adopted recently. The first of these, the institution of an English close amateur championship, confined solely to players who possess English qualifications has been definitely decided upon, the venue and date for the inaugural championship being Hoylake in April next.

The amateur championship of the English championship will be welcomed by all players in this country. While in the last 10 years the British Amateur championship—in which any golfer in the world with suitable qualifications may participate—Englishmen have been successful on nine occasions, only in four instances have Englishmen been in the finals. The point raised in connection with the British Amateur is that an individual may win this title and yet fail to be in the English team of the year, by reason of the fact that the date of the draw plays an important part in the final result. As illustrating this point, in 1921 the championship is often cited. A strong American contingent, including Bobby Jones, Watts Gunn, Jesse Sweetser and Jesse Guilford were drawn in the same half as practically all the leading English players, while the ultimate winner, W. J. Hilton, did not meet with serious opposition until he met Eugene Homans in the final round. In consequence there were many following of the game who were convinced that Hunter was the best of the English golfers.

It is quite possible of course that there may be similar happenings in the future, but nevertheless, it could not be such a "cut-throat" business and the championship is generally considered as the leading English player of the year.

Fix Scratch Scores

The second innovation to be introduced is the fixing of scratch scores for golf competitions through the British Isles for handicapping. Schemes have been drawn up by sub-committees of the British Golf Unions' Joint Advisory Committees. These sub-committees have met last these sub-committees have been engaged in investigation of the handicapping and results have been embodied in schemes which have been submitted to the National Union for consideration. When the Unions' observations have been considered the schemes will come up for final approval by the Joint Advisory Committee and then be submitted to the Royal and Ancient Championship Committee and Council of Golfers for ratification. This will probably be in January when the next meeting of the Joint Advisory Committee will take place.

Golf critics believe that it would be a good thing for the game if the Royal and Ancient Championship Committee and Council of Golfers would adopt the recognized best player in every club and place on equal terms all other handicaps so adjusted that players would be placed in their proper rates according to the official value of their particular course.

Mr. Fremlin last night, "Today's game was easy for me and I think I had no other object."

Wolf carcasses were seen by the hunters on the fresh snow of last night and this morning, but the hunt as only one wolf wounded after a four-hour chase by the hounds.

N. H. L. Gossip

Ree. Noble, veteran centre and left wing player of the Toronto St. Patricks, has been obtained by the Montreal professional hockey club, and will be in a maroon and green when the new season ends with Canadiens at the Mount Royal Arena tonight.

Cecil Hart, Montreal manager, slipped across on a quiet trip last week-end, and in Toronto yesterday closed for the services of Noble, veteran player, after what terms were involved in the Noble deal are not known here although it is reported from the Queen City that Hart was attempting to engineer a trade whereby Fred Lowrey, flashy young left player, would go to Toronto for Noble. Noble's withdrawal from the line-up played in the National Hockey League on the previous Saturday night, it is expected that his generalship, will be the outstanding punch of the forwards.

HUNDRED CURLERS MEET AT OSHAWA

Oshawa, Dec. 10—Over a hundred curlers were present at the meeting of the Oshawa Curling Club held in the new quarters Monday night when Mr. C. E. Hore, Chairman of the Membership Committee, announced that the rink court with the "famous stone canoe" would get under way with over two hundred entered for the clubs' list. This is an increase of a hundred over the membership of last year, one of the principal items of interest to local curlers is a letter sent by Secretary J. A. Thompson from Mrs. Albert J. Sykes, in which she stated she wished to donate a trophy in honor of her late husband, who was one of the first curlers that had drawn a stone on the recently erected rink in the hollow. This trophy will be competed for at the annual banquet of the Oshawa Curling Club.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Woman's Soul BY Charles Garvice

"Is she so beautiful?" asked the marquis who seemed to take the sactimous words as meaningless and not worth listening to. "I suppose she must be. He has seen many pretty women. He has seen many pretty women, many clever ones. What has caught him? What is she like?"

Spencer Churchill shot a sidelong glance at him.

"I'm usual thing, my dear marquis," he said, softly. "Just the usual thing! They make those face powders wonderfully well now—wonderfully well."

The marquis smiled grimly.

"The fool, to be caught by a painted Venus, old enough—I suppose she is old, eh?"

Spencer Churchill shrugged his shoulders.

"Ah, yes, of course! A young girl wouldn't have had the tact to catch him so easily. And he has written to her, I suppose?"

"Yes," said Spencer Churchill; "and goes to post his letter under the scenes. The romance is simply charming!"

The marquis eyed the fire thoughtfully.

"I am almost inclined to set him marry her," he said in a low voice. "I should enjoy the misery that would follow! Yes, I'm half inclined—" and an evil light flashed from his eyes.

Spencer Churchill watched him beblind the mask of a benevolent smile.

"Oh, no, no," he murmured; "we really must not, we really must not let dear Cecil ruin himself. My dear marquis, we should not sleep; our consciences—"

The marquis broke in with a cold, sardonic laugh.

"Yes, you are right! After all, it will be more amusing to thwart him—if we can."

"If we can," echoed Spencer Churchill with a smile.

"Oh, I don't doubt your ability," said the marquis with a sneer; "the devil himself could not be a fitter person for such work. What do you mean to do?" he added, with a half-contemptuous, half-weary gesture.

"Have you a letter of dear Cecil's?" said Spencer Churchill. "I really am half ashamed. It is only the conviction that I am acting for the dear fellow's ultimate good that gives me courage," he said.

The marquis pointed to a cabinet.

"You will find some letters of his there," he said.

"Thanks," murmured Spencer Churchill, and he rose and opened the cabinet.

Then he selected two or three letters, and, smiling and nodding at the marquis as if they were conspiring to do some good deed in secret, he went to a davenport and wrote.

After a few moments he came across the room, and with his head on one side, a benevolent smile on his insincere face, he dropped a letter on the marquis' knee.

The marquis took it up and looked at it with a careless air, then started.

"Forgery must be very easy," he said, with a sneer, "or you must have had a great deal of practice, Spencer."

"You really think it is like? Not a little like?" said Spencer Churchill, as if he had received high praise for a virtuous action. "Now, do you really think it is something of a resemblance?"

"It is so close a forgery that Cecil himself could not tell the difference that it is his own."

"No, flatly. But read it, dear marquis! The hand-writing is only of secondary importance. The style of the letter—eh? What do you say?"

The marquis read the note and his smile of sardonic amusement lit up his pallid face.

"Now, please don't flatter me, tell me your opinion, marquis!" purred Spencer Churchill, leaning forward and rubbing his hands together.

The marquis tossed the letter to him.

"It is a very good counterfeit," he said.

Spencer Churchill laughed softly.

"I tried to imagine the way in which our dear Cecil would write, and you think I have succeeded? Poor Cecil, poor girl! What a hard world it is! Now, why can't these interesting young fools be permitted to be happy in their own charming, unsophisticated way? Here a girl is in the seventh heaven, in the course of humanity and society, as they love to speak—and I spoke in their wheels!" and he stood up and began buttoning his coat.

"You are not going to take that letter?" asked the marquis.

"Oh, rest!" purred Spencer Churchill. "We mustn't confide our slow little plot to a servant."

"You are taking a great deal of trouble; why?" said the marquis, eyeing him keenly.

Spencer Churchill's eyes dropped, and a benevolent smile shone on his smooth face.

"Simply out of regard and affection for you, marquis, and our dear friend the honor of Stoyle, to which I am so much attached. Yes, I am taking the letter myself."

"Ah!" said the marquis, slowly. Then he looked up. "I should recommend you to keep clear of Cecil," he said, with a sneer, "He's as strong as an ox, and—well, between you and me, Spencer, if he should get an inkling, and catch you, I fear you would come off badly. Unless you are tired of life you had better keep out of his way."

"No, I am not tired of life," said Spencer Churchill. "But I shall take my pretty little letter myself. Adieu," and he nodded, and smiled himself out of the room.

CHAPTER XIV.
A BROKEN TRYST.

Doris went home with her heart beating, every nerve throbbing with the thrill of a woman's first love; and it was not until she had her hand upon the door that she fully realized the task that lay before her.

She had to tell Jeffrey: To tell him that all the bright dreams for her were shattered and cast to the winds; that, just at the moment of success, success won by hard, persistent work and unflinching effort, as pluck and luck, Doris Marlowe, who was to have been the actress of a day, was going to retire from the stage forever.

She scarcely realized it herself yet, and yet she knew that it must be. The future wife of the heir to the marquis' state of Stoyle could not be permitted to remain as an actress, to be gazed at by a slightly mob, to be cheered or hissed by a public crowd. Even the bare idea of the thought came home to her, not for herself and the sacrifices of fame, but, for Jeffrey's sake. He would not have to bear, very, very hard; but she did not doubt that he would be very concerned. As she had said to Lord Neville, Jeffrey could not be the heir and bear refuse her anything she wanted very much indeed, and even did want to marry the handsome young lover, whose simple touch had power to move her, very much indeed.

Prize Novel Has Been Picturized

"The Age of Innocence" is At Griffin Theatre Thursday

The effect that one Russian Countess has on staid, convention-restricted New York society will be shown at the Griffin Theatre, where the Warner picturization of Edith Wharton's popular novel, The Age of Innocence" will begin a three day's run on Thursday.

If the photoplay is at all like Miss Wharton's book, which was known to be best literary work in 1922 and awarded the Pulitzer Prize medal audiences will be more than fascinated by the devastating confusion that follows the arrival of Countess Olenska in the sacred circles of "the best people" as exemplified by the Archer and Mingott families of New York. Because the Countess has decided to live apart from her good-for-nothing Russian spouse, the arbiters of New York society look at her askance and when she turns the bread of their most cherished young hinsman, the trouble begins.

The Warner cast which usually means an excellent lineup of valuable players, is headed by a trio of well-Dexter and Willard Louis. The balance of the cast is composed of such favorites as Faith Roberts, Fred Huntley, Sinart Holmes, Rose dorsen via Maxine Elliott Hicks, Gertrude Normand, Mrs. Chas. G. Craig, and the noted dancer, Juan de Mera.

The adaption of Miss Wharton's novel "The Ars of Innocence," was prepared by Olga Printzlau and received on the screen by Director Wesley Ruggles.

German Housewife To Be In Clover

Will Have United States Groceries Delivered By Mail

(Associated Press Despatch)

Hamburg, Dec. 10.—The German housewife of the near future is to be given the opportunity of ordering United States food by mail and having it delivered to her doorstep by fast freight from a general distributing warehouse to be established in Hamburg. The promoters of the scheme promise that the system will be in operation within a few weeks, and this despite the opposition that has arisen among members of the grocery trade. Representatives who entered into the mail order business will work great hardship upon them.

The sale of United States lard, bacon, flour, dried fruits, canned goods, evaporated milk and a large assortment of other staples is to be handled by a common cooperative society organized for the purpose. It is proposed to serve families all over Germany.

APPLE MERINGUE PUDDING

One and three-fourths cups stewed apples, 1-2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon butter 1 cup, 1-2 cup sugar mixed with 1 teaspoonful cornstarch, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 2 eggs, whites only.

It will require three to five apples, depending on the size, to make the sauce. Stew in as little water as possible to prevent burning. When done press through a sieve. While hot add spices, butter, grated rind and juice of orange, salt and well-beaten yolk of egg. Best well. Mix sugar and cornstarch. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake covered for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Make a stiff meringue until stiff and dry with 1 tablespoon cold water. Beat in sugar and spread over pudding. Return to oven to brown the meringue.

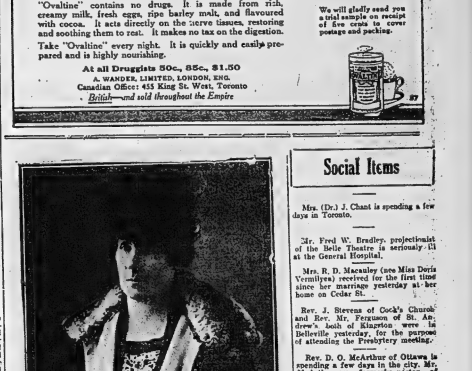

A cup of "Ovaltine" taken just before retiring will always bring a night of sound and restful slumber.

"Ovaltine" contains no drugs. It is made from rich, creamy milk, fresh eggs, ripe barley malt, and flavoured with cocoa. It acts directly on the nerve tissues, restoring and soothing them to rest. It makes no tax on the digestion.

Take "Ovaltine" every night. It is quickly and easily prepared and is highly nourishing.

PALENCIA CLUB WILL CHEER THE KIDDIES

Already the Christmas spirit has begun to permeate the air, and daily, local organizations are doing their bit towards providing Christmas cheer for everyone.

CHICAGO MARKETS

Chicago, Dec. 10.—For third day in succession all deliveries of wheat and corn sold to-day above previous quotations this session. Big buying demand both for wheat and corn was in evidence, with Europeans actively purchasing future deliveries of wheat, indications pointed also to liberal new export business in wheat. Opening prices for wheat here which ranged from 1 1-4 to 2 1-2c higher with May $1.56 3-4 to $1.57 1-4 and July $1.47 1-2 to 1-47 3-4 were followed by something of reaction and then by fresh upturn. Corn and oats were bullishly affected by continued hot, dry weather damaging corn in Argentine and by smallness of country offerings of corn here. After opening 7-8c to 1 5-8c up, May 1.29 1-2 to 1.30, prices quickly underwent moderate reaction and then strengthened again. Oats sympathized to 5-8c higher; May 1.03 3-8 to 01 1-2c. Later all sections showed increase. Provisions averaged higher responding to upturns in value of grain and hogs.

MOTHERS—Don't you know you can turn a hysterical, feverish, coughing child into a comfortable and happily smiling one simply by giving CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

No Narcotics

When Kidneys Hurt Consult Your Doctor

DRINK LOTS OF WATER ALL DAY AND TAKE SALTS IF BACK ACHES

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, backache, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from clogged kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is scanty and scalds, don't wait, inquire of your druggist or attending physician for a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the urine, so they no longer cause irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys active and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Prisoner Made Signals to Jury

Judge Stops It; Odessa Man Comes Up For Trial

Napanee, Dec. 10.—The court room was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon, for the trial of Orman Baldwin, the Odessa storekeeper, charged with wounding with intent to do bodily harm," to Percy Clark, a lad living at Odessa, on Hallowe'en night.

The case was before Judge Madden, at the resumed sessions of the assizes. The grand jury was given the case on the opening of the court. F. M. Wilson, crown attorney conducted the prosecution, W. H. Herrington, K.C., was counsel for the accused.

Judge Madden intimated that any evidence that might be offered in regard to the insanity of the accused, would have no bearing in connection with the taking of the evidence of the case. If evidence of this kind was offered it would be taken into consideration in the passing of sentence should a verdict of "guilty" be registered. It was intimated that a plea of "not guilty" would be entered in the case.

Made Signals to Jurors

Quite a sensation was caused in the court room, when the work of selecting a jury was being proceeded with. The prisoner was noticed making signals to each juryman as he was called. Judge Madden drew the attention of Mr. Herrington to the matter, and His Honor stated that the practice would have to be stopped.

It is understood that the accused is a member of three different fraternal organizations.

On being arraigned the accused pleaded "not guilty," and at three o'clock the case was proceeding.

Darken Hair! Look Young

NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU RESTORE GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

"Grand mother kept her hair beautiful by darkening glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When ever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. The simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down town druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—as a matter of fact, you simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy soft and beautiful.

SPEAKER TELLS HOW TO MAKE BUSINESS PAY

W. H. Farley Gives Valuable Pointers to Owners and Salesmen

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

He Mentioned "Is There Anything You Want?" As One

Merchants, salesmen and saleslades of Belleville who failed to hear W. H. Farley, authority on merchandising and salesmanship, and executive officer of the National Cash Register Company, in his address at the City Hall last night on business methods, missed not only a treat but an education in the opinion of those who were there.

Urging merchants to verse themselves in the fundamentals of their respective businesses, give more supervision to the business and also to overvision to the business and also to oversee the volume of the business, the speaker urged that the situation be studied at the end of the business day rather than at the end of a six months business period which may have been a continuous loss to the business.

"If you do not get from 2 to 5% on your investment annually you are receiving less than you could get on the same money invested in Dominion bonds, a safer investment than any business and furthermore you are working for poor clerks, rather than having them work for you," explained the speaker.

Any merchant who believed that he was the only man in the store who could be trusted to do small jobs which should be done by himself, must be supervised the business and attended to important details was in wrong, he said, and served to humiliate his clerks who feel they are a group of incompetent persons incapable of acting on their own initiative.

"Why does a department store never fail?" asked Mr. Farley.

"Simply because they analyze their business," he answered. "A merchant must understand the underworking of business. The result of analysis will be greater business volume, more customers, and instead of reducing the salary of dissatisfied clerks, the wise merchant will be able to voluntarily increase the salaries.

Commenting on salesmanship etiquette he was shown that no clerk had the right to argue with a customer, no matter how provoking the customer's remarks might be. He should immediately refer the customer to the owner of the business or to any member of the body.

Question of Worth

"Do not become headstrong and possess the idea that you are not as good as anybody else," advised the speaker in addressing clerks. "Remember that you are fully qualified to argue with a customer. You are not necessarily as good as anybody else."

To prove the point, Mr. Farley stated that Irvin Cobb received as high as one thousand dollars in a week for a speech.

"If I were as good as he is, I would receive that much," he explained. Then addressing employees he advised: "Do not step over on the other fellowwares, but on the basis of production." Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Farley believed that business was directly affected by the prosperity of those in the business. The "hard times" story was rejected and he declared an end to much unnecessary harm.

It was as much a business man's business to see that others was good as it was any outsiders' business to ask "How's business?"

The reason that Canadian department stores were so successful was because the owners did not confine the average sale of each clerk but endeavored to increase the number of people to whom they could sell.

From the time a merchant decides to enter business until he begins to actually carry stock which fits customers' needs, three locations are tried, the correct mean so much when the record of highly successful stores is analyzed and in some cases far from ordinary returns was considered. Stock, the second was important, as a merchant must carry ratock which his customers demanded. In the early old days, for certain lines, clerks should keep a note of enquiries for certain articles, he said, and if the demand was sufficient it was up to the merchant to stock that line.

Advertising was the third and very important step. Today the great majority of advertisers are not giving sufficient time and thought to advertising. They might be advertising in the newspapers, but they were writing their copy on the days which was not attractive and which did not get the public about all their goods.

"What are you spending your professional ed writer, who is always looking to get, and his services, are you," asked the speaker.

He stated that much about dry goods, hardware or any other line of

WOULDN'T STAND IT

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—"The jail was too cold, and I just refused to stand for a condition like that."

That is what Frederick Martin told police here when he surrendered to them and declared that he broke out of the jail at Langhorne, a nearby town.

Martin said he called the jailer, but got no reply. Then he knocked the lock off his cell door and tried to find the jailer somewhere. Failing in his search, he said, he decided to walk to Philadelphia and tell police there about his experience. He was returned to the jail—but the town was colder than it was when he would stay.

JURY STAYED OUT FOR SEVEN HOURS

Finally Brought in Verdict Of Not Guilty For Ellis

For seven hours last night the jury in the case of Daniel Ellis, of Marmora, charged with an indecent assault, wrestled with the evidence before returning a verdict. Court was opened soon Mr. Mikel, K.C., counsel for the defence, addressed the jury and Mr. D. C. Donnan, County Attorney, presented the Crown's side of the case. His Honor Judge Deroche summed up and at 4.45 the jury retired to consider their verdict. It was 11.15 at night before a unanimous verdict was rendered and it was "not guilty."

Twice during the tedious siege were the jurors summoned from their rooms and brought into court when they desired further information from them.

The verdict of not guilty did not allow Ellis his freedom, as another charge of a similar nature as that tried yesterday was preferred against him. The trial commenced this morning before a new jury, Mr. B. C. Donnan for the Crown and Mr. W. C. Mikel, K.C., for the accused.

Sees Success of The World Court

Republican Senator Makes Prediction Before Sen ate Meets

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Dec. 11.—A drive to force the United States into the world court will not only be made in the Senate when it reconvenes, according to Senator Swanson of Virginia, democratic leader on the foreign relations committee, and close friend of the late Woodrow Wilson, it is likely to succeed.

Senator Swanson will seek to bring the question up in the Senate at the earliest practicable time when it reconvenes, he declares, taking the view that with the democratic victory in the recent election, and the republican party committee in favor of the international court in its platform, a resolution to join the court can be passed and the votes can be obtained. He recognizes that delaying tactics, such as long speech-making, may block a vote this session but such action would probably not be successful if there was a demand for a vote early in the session.

The influence of Senator Borah, the new chairman of the foreign relations committee, and leader of the irreconcilable opponents of the League of Nations and the world court unless such reservations are attached as will practically serve to remove the court from practically all relation to the League, is regarded by Senate opponents of the League as a decisive victory. It is pointed out the developments in respect to the attitude of Great Britain against any interfer by the U.S. with Canadian affairs. They say that the inefficiency of the League has been fully demonstrated and that the United States can more than ever consider herself justified in that she is not tied up in the League.

Senator Borah's position is that the United States should not join the world court unless it is freed from connection with the League of Nations. Moreover, he wants the court governed by a new code of international law, which he says should be made by the powers. He holds, too, that if the world court is to be formed before the Senate this winter it will mean a long controversial battle and will stir up not only in not acting on the court but also the blocking of other legislation. It might also prevent passage of the annual appropriation bills and this would cause an extra session Senator Swanson would not oppose but he would prefer to have one brought about without blocking the appropriation bills.

Once Senator Swanson brings the question up, he will be backed by a long list of organizations in this country favorable to the world court, Senator Wilson declares in the Senate will urge passage of the world court resolution. A debate that is likely to run for a number of weeks is almost certain.

Surgeons said last night that the child would have died in a short time if she had not been found. They said last night she had fully recovered her strength and was sleeping peacefully She is a blonde, with blue eyes.

SIR AUKEN BECK IS ABSOLVED

Toronto, Dec. 11—Voluminous in itself and hand-used upon almost 1,000 pages of typewritten evidence, Judge Latchford's report upon the actuall charges of corruption against Sir Adam Beck, which was made public yesterday at the Parliament Buildings by Premier Ferguson. The comment of the Premier in releasing the report was that he had found it nothing in the report to reflect upon in the integrity of Sir Adam Beck or his in his conduct of his duties as Chairman of the Commission.

Judge Latchford, after some comment upon Mr. Gaby's action in selling his power plant to the Hydro Commission and upon the legal and the municipal agreements with the Hydro, makes no internal matters in the Hydro Commission over which the Hydro Commission has control, although, of course, the Government is in indirect authority, for Hydro Commissioners being responsible to the Government."

THEATRE OWNERS BOTH IN TROUBLE

Campbellford Men Stage Real War For Customers

(Special to the Intelligencer)

Campbellford, Dec. 11.—Campbellford seems to be in the throes of a theatre war, not exactly in reduced prices or superior attractions, but in methods employed to attract customers to the box offices.

Recently a theatre owner here was involved in a case where the government prosecuted an agent with the Maple Leaf Attractions carnival company who sold tickets to merchants. With certain purchases of the stores customers received a ticket which when produced at the box office of the theatre was equal to a certain sum of money on the admittance ticket. The sum was computed on a charge of not having more than a certain sum on the value of the tickets.

Now the owner of the Regent theatre T. Hyland is charged with conducting a lottery, also under the Act. In the future, The Regent theatre has been running gother bingo, blankets and other articles in a manner which is claimed by the crown to be a lottery. Mr. C. A. Payne, of Belleville, will defend Hyland.

Germany May Have Another Beethoven

Furtwangler Orchestra Director, Is Busy Composing Now

Leipzig, Dec. 11.—Will Wilhelm Furtwangler, director of the Gewandhaus orchestra, and successor to Arthur Nikisch, the late conductor of the Leipzig orchestra?

Musical circles all over Europe are debating this question in view of Furtwangler's decision to limit greatly the number of concerts he will direct outside of Leipzig. It is an open secret that he is busy composing, and that maestro has begun to put to music a new symphony before the concert season 1924-25 is over.

It took much urging on the part of his friends to persuade Furtwangler to take this step. He is of a modest, retiring disposition, and does not seek personal publicity. He is a pupil of Beethoven or will he time be limited so that of a worthy successor to Arthur Nikisch, the late conductor of the Leipzig orchestra?

CHURCHES HERE ARE VOTING SOON

St. Andrews Congregation Votes in January; John Street on 22nd

Yesterday, December the tenth, was the first day on which Presbyterians of Belleville, congregations of the union or the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches, or form in the Methodist Episcopal which will be called the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

There is no doubt that there is very strong feeling apparent among the supporters of either side, and it is a question how the local churches will break.

The church does not vote, it automatically goes into the Union. Provision has been made for a vote of this city, which is to be taken tomorrow by the sessions of both churches, and on Sunday next in each congregation decides the question for that congregation.

St. Andrews have set the date for their vote on January the fifth, and St. John Street on December the twenty-second.

The vote may be taken any time after yesterday until the tenth of January.

To pass a church votes itself out of union it becomes a separate individual unit, and will then have its vote itself into the new organization.

Canniton Church Renovated Now

Special Services Held to Celebrate; A Live Congregation

Special services were held in Canniton Methodist Church on Sunday, Dec. 7th to celebrate the re-opening of the church after recent renovation. A large congregation listened to the able and inspiring sermons preached by Rev. Dr. Brown, of Holloway St. Church Belleville, who expressed the good work that had been done by the people of the church to the glorifying of the work of Jerusalem, as shouted in the Book of Nehemiah. In every church we find, when any good work is undertaken, that on the building there may be the men of the congregation. A church opened to the public, and with a debt of $600 hanging over it. Today that debt had a kitchen built at the back of the church, and equipped with all conveniences. Later they had the grounds around the building levelled off, and now this last improvement, the erection of a fence in front and around of the church, is a fitting crown to the whole work. The scheme of soft brown shades in which the interior has been done makes the place a delight to the eye. The liberal Sunday-school collection had Sunday provided more than was needed for the sweeping reductions and the surplus may be used on the previous debt. Taking into account the fact that the Canniton circuit is more than five years old, and considering Rev. Mr. Farmer, the pastor, and the workers of the church are to be congratulated on the real work which they have accomplished these recent improvements.

Conservative. He was the late Sir Edward from his Liberal opponent. Sir Hugh was born in Belleville, Ontario city and had never made a public speech before he was nominated.

He was supposed to have left Russia just before the death of Peter Verigin in the Farron coach explosion in 1924.

Ten thousand Doukhobors are now arriving by the approximately seventeen and unless he has for some reason stopped in Saskatchewan, he should have to participate in one or more of the remaining "days of remembrance" for the late leader.

GRAND JURORS SAY ALL WELL IN INSTITUTIONS

Visits to County and Provincial Buildings Bring Praise

SUPPORT THE JUDGE

In His Remarks on Prisoner Parole System in Province

City institutions received high compliments from the Grand Jury in the report presented to His Honor Judge Deroche at the opening of the General Hospital, the County Jail, the House of Refuge and the Ontario School for the Deaf came in for a share of the praise handed out for efficiency and general conditions.

The Jury's report was as follows:

"We desire to thank your Honour for your very able, clear and explicit instruction in the matter in reference to the consideration of the criminal cases coming before us, and also in reference to our other duties. The various cases have favorably impressed with your Honour's charge and remarks in reference to the work of Parole Board of the Province of Ontario and we feel there is splendid opportunity for doing much good along this line, and in many cases much unnecessary distress may be saved to families and also that the criminal's crimes are not visited upon the prisoners' children.

"We desire to thank Sheriff Clark for his kindness and attention and also Mr. Donnan, Crown Attorney, for his efficient services.

"We visited the County Gaol and found it well managed by Mr. Ponton. The condition of every part of the premises is excellent. Also Dr. Mr. Ketcheson, Gaoler, Mrs. Ketcheson, Matron and Mr. Bateman, Cook.

"The House of Refuge was visited and we have desire to thank the County on this well conducted home and the inmates well contented. Also Mr. Creed and Mrs Leigh were very kind and courteous and showed us through every department of the Institution and deserve great credit for the good conditions prevailing under their supervision. We found eighty inmates there, all in good health.

"We visited the Belleville Hospital and were very pleased to find every department in excellent condition. This city and the Belleville Hospital and were very pleased to find every department in excellent condition. A new X-Ray plant has been installed this year at considerable cost. The Board were also thanked for increased help.

"We visited the Ontario School for the Deaf and were very much pleased with the management of the existing there. This institution, under the supervision of Principal Mc fects great credit on the Province. We found about 300 scholars in attendance there, too much credit cannot be given the teachers for their devotion to this arduous work."

UNDERGRAD WINS AT CROSS WORD PUZZLE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Princeton, N.J., Dec. 10.—Professor Warner Pite has offered a prize to the undergraduate who will best manufacture a cross-word puzzle from material in his publications. Such a puzzle the Professor says would test psychological value.

Professor Robert K. Root of the English department recently announced a prize for the best cross word puzzle as part of the team work in some of the courses. The professor could be found to construct puzzles sufficiently difficult for a test examination.

EDIT

Every once in a while some speaker bobs up with homely truths put in such an arresting form that it compels attention.

In Chicago last week, E. W. Hill, president of Rotary International addressed the International Boys Work Conference and delivered the following forceful comment:

"There are too many half-time parents.

Too many woodsheds have been converted into garages. In the old days the most convenient place to interview the boy was the woodshed.

"Don't be one of those parents who tie up the dog at night and turn the boy loose to run at will.

"I doubt if any man who has a son wants that son to be exactly like himself.

"I wonder if your boy can really find you when he wants you? No father can expect to hold the confidence of his boy if that boy thinks his dad does not trust him.

"Your boy is an investment that needs your personal attention and direction."

We have no argument to offer against these statements, but it seems more evident that if Rotarian Hill wishes his remarks to an International Conference of tax-worried fathers he might do more good.

THE KING'S SPEECH

Domestic affairs and legislation for their improvement received much attention in the speech with which the King opened the Parliament of Great Britain. The remark attributed to Lord Salisbury when he was prime minister that "we are all socialists now" continues to be justified under Conservative as Liberal rule, says the Manchester Guardian. Schemes for the relief of unemployment and to alleviate distress are promised; also plans will be submitted for overcoming the losses cost of material and supplementing the building resources of the country, so as to enable the rapid production of house and relieve unemployment. Existing systems of insurance and pensions will be revised and extended and the public educational system developed. A conference of land-owners, farmers and workers will be called to consider agricultural need. One feature will be the encouragement of the beet industry with the purpose of creating a home sugar industry. Enquiry will be had into the costs and profits in the distribution of milk and into the cause of high food prices generally. Prolongation of the rent restriction act is promised. Measures for facilitating land purchase in Northern Ireland and to encourage the principal and interest of the bonds of the Irish Free State issued under the Lands Act recently passed in that "dominion" are on the list. The latter may not have been generally expected, and makes it rather plain that in spite of what some extremist nationalists say Ireland is part of the British Empire. Legislation to improve family relations in an extensive way is also promised. The international conventions which Parliament is to be asked to sanction come within the same category, being for the regulation of seamen's wages, use of shipwreck, and medical examination and accommodation of young sailors. In its way the reference in the royal address in regard to co-operation with the governments of the dominions and of India in matters of industrial progress and to increasing the unity and strength of the Empire has its domestic side, the hope being that on such lines the bond of the royal power will there by be advanced, and the loyalty of its

by the system of preferences which are to be submitted to Parliament for approval. The hope is expressed that with good will, frankness and mutual confidence of all parties concerned in the industrial life of the nation, legislation on the suggestion limit may serve to remove some of the obstacles that stand in the termination of the war have retarded industrial and economic progress. There has been no such programme of social and industrial legislation submitted to the Parliament of Great Britain for many years.

Conservative and England provides one of the most radical situations in political life when one of its constituencies elects a boy of twenty-one years of age to represent the constituents in the British House of Commons.

The lad's name is Sir Hugh Lucas-Tooth. He represents the Isle of Ely. But a recent graduate of Cambridge University, he had never made a public speech prior to his nomination.

Perhaps it would not be good taste for Canadians to comment on the wisdom of the people who elected him, but one cannot but reflect on the spectacle of an inexperienced youth on one of the highest seats of honor Great Britain has to offer and deliberating with such men as Premier Baldwin, Lloyd George, Asquith and Chamberlain on such matters as imperial preferences, and other weighty problems facing the country.

An academic mind, unaided by extramural experience or even the ordinary experience of young manhood, is a foolish thing in a legislative assembly.

A POSSIBLE SAFEGUARD

It is understood that Belleville butchers will make a request to the Aldermen this evening that the license for farmers who sell meat on the market square be increased from one dollar to fifty dollars.

We do not know the definite reasons which are to be given for this request, and no doubt with all the facts at hand the City Council will act with all due consideration.

It is to be noted, however, that if the imposition of such a tax will make it easier to supervise the selling of meat on the market, it should be supported.

We do not believe the majority of the people of Belleville want to force the meat selling farmer off the market. But at the same time, those people want to be safeguarded in the matter of meat inspection.

With all his other duties, it must be hard for the present inspector to keep a close watch on all sellers on the market. There is always the danger that the irresponsible man will fail to pay the interests of his fellow farmers by selling meat unfit for human consumption.

A fifty dollar tax might have the effect of keeping out the responsible man on the market the man who wants to sell under the most sanitary conditions, and of freezing out the man who sells occasionally when he needs a small profit. Only on his hands, which he cannot get rid of in the ordinary way.

WAS WANTED SINCE 1913 ON CHARGE

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Wanted by the police for the past eleven years to answer three charges of theft of money totalling almost $4,250, alleged to be property of former clients, Frank W. Carey, a former Toronto lawyer, was apprehended in Montreal yesterday morning by the police there, according to word received by local police headquarters. Detective-Sergeant Jimmy Thompson will go to Montreal to bring Carey back.

According to the information at the police, Carey is charged with Emily H. Herbert, of Rosborough street, with the theft of $1,400 in September of 1912; by Gillespie, Thompson, and Ridley Gardens, with the theft of $1,035 in September, 1912; and by Thomas Sharpe, of Bartlett avenue, with the theft of $700 in July, 1913. The warrant was taken out in 1917.

Since 1912 the local authorities have been trying to locate the lawyer, and each time through some mishap lost track of the man's movements.

VETERAN DEMANDS A LOWER PENSION

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—The annual problem of a Northern Ontario war veteran insisting on his pension being reduced is facing the Dominion Command Great War Veterans' Association.

The veteran claims the doctors had him pensioned and that while his disability is set by them at 15 per cent., it should not be more than 10 per cent. He threatens legal action if something is not done about it.

Perhaps a light is thrown on the request from the fact that the sons of this veteran are commated, which is only possible in cases of from 5 to 15 per cent. disability. The G. W. V. A. will probably urge a fresh medical examination.

To-day's Smile

An old-time negro preacher was reading and commenting upon a chapter in the Bible which dealt with genealogy. When he came into the passage, "And seven sons did Miles bear," he paused and explained as follows:

"Now, brothers and sisters, dis jes' means dat dey run out o' milk at dat house—de cows had went dry, or didn't come up or somethin', and so boys went out and catch a heifer and milked her. Dem boys could milk anything."—Everybody's magazine.

TOO MUCH APATHY

(Lethbridge Herald)

It is well said that governments are what the people make them. If the people are apathetic, then we cannot complain if governments are apathetic. Apathy, if allowed to exist, will in time become a disease and end in being a canker to state, province and to city. It is well that we bear this in mind, particularly when it comes to those things in which the way they affect us are our intimate concern.

An electorate that is apathic has no right to criticize those who are in authority. It is well to remember this. Indolence in regard to our own affairs is the worst form of indolence.

(Hamilton Herald)

Canada is interested also, though indirectly, in the decision of the British government to proceed with the completion of the plans already made for enlarging the naval base at Singapore. This country has interests in the Pacific, and it will be to the advantage of Canadian trade in the Far East to have additional protection provided by the work at Singapore. But Australia and New Zealand are more interested in this matter than in Canada.

Detroit, Dec. 10.—Judge Stein and Police Commissioner Croul today issued warrants for automobile owners to lock their cars and take every precaution against theft, following a startling increase in the number of stolen cars. The police report that 67 cars were stolen in a 24-hour period ending 8 a.m. today. The fact that none of those has been recovered leads the police to believe that a highly organized ring of thieves may be operating.

NEW CANADIAN PACIFIC TORONTO TO WINNIPEG

3½ Hour Fast Service

The new daily 3.45 p.m. Toronto to Winnipeg service just inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Railway not only establishes a record in fast, convenient transportation but provides the transfer with a feature service to Fort William from both Toronto and Winnipeg inasmuch as the Winnipeg Special leaving Toronto at 9.45 p.m. every night and arriving at Sudbury at 5.30 a.m. arrives at Fort William at 7.05 p.m., leaving there 15 minutes later and arriving in Winnipeg at 1.00 a.m.

Returning, the Toronto-Montreal Special leaves Winnipeg at 7.00 p.m. arriving in Fort William at 6.40 a.m., leaving 15 minutes later arriving in Sudbury at 1.05 a.m. and in Toronto at the convenient hour of 8.35 a.m. Direct connections are made by travellers from Winnipeg for all main points in Ontario, Quebec and East, which will receive the serious consideration of those who desire efficient service. Dominion Express shipments are delivered hours earlier which is also a feature.

business, but if told about the highlights of the business and the goods by the merchant, he could write a more convincing "ad" with the proper lines "played up," than the merchant who was not a qualified advertising man. In the case of department stores where it was profitable to engage an advertising man in the store, the salesman was called upon by the speaker.

The customer was the last step, and the merchant who asked his clients to assist him in cultivating customers was a wise merchant.

Telling the Truth

Goods were bought by comparison and must be sold by comparison. When a woman went for a silk dress the clerk did not produce one exclaiming that others were the same. The wise clerk kept taking down silk after silk emphasizing the truthful points about the dresses until the woman could put down on which suited her.

It was Helen Keller the sunlit girl blind, deaf and dumb from birth, who when asked which of the three affirmations were most important that being a "bonehead" was worse than any.

"Bonehead" clerks who virtually asked a customer as he entered the store, step in preference to any other zone in town, cluttered up the article. "Has there something you wanted", often in an impatient tone.

Let's not be so lazy as we dare be", declared the speaker, "And be human in a customer. Remark on the weather or start some "human" conversation and by all means do not ask foolish questions."

Clerks who suggested new socks for a man who had bought a tie were out of keeping. If he bought a tie a collar should be suggested. If a woman bought a bag of flour, raisins, baking powder and other necessary ingredients which go with flour to make bread or cakes could be suggested. That was much more successful than arranging sales of three cans of baking powder for the cost of one, or the clerk to cover the cost of sale of one, for the clerk was immediately forming upon the woman a commodity which was used sparingly and three cans of which would overload her pantry shelf.

The speaker's talk was enjoyed, and no more was to small for such a school to offer the attention he failed to receive and suggestions received.

Conservatives are often grouchy if fathers who took a son into the business, should share the responsibility 50-50 with him, the speaker said. Let his mind rest easy, the speaker advised, and if he will not become a dependent person and is training his father's shoulder, if need be, let him lose some money as that he may correct the folly of his ways and many persons were hurled to the ground. The walls of the gendarmerie collapsed, injuring several persons. The roof of the adjoining.

London has its own "bobbed-haired bandit" according to police reports from many parts of London. These reports describe the woman as about 22 years old, a blonde with bobbed hair, and say she is working in conjunction with a man, allegedly her husband, and another woman. The trio pose as actors who are persons of means. They make short stays in boarding houses and leave in a hurry, but with the jewels and other valuables of guests. The man, the police say, uses numerous aliases. He introduces the bobbed-haired woman as his wife and the other woman as her companion.

Hunting scores from their beds and breaking window for a radius of half a mile, a terrific explosion destroyed the store residence of Sam Davis, at Masonville, Pa. The residence adjoining, owned and occupied by Frank Cayell, was also wrecked, with a damage of $15,000. The police suspect bootleggers, as Davis has been instrumental in liquor raid activities.

The steamer Princess Ena left New Westminster, B.C., with ten or more cartloads of liquor for the Yukon. This is the first consignment to be sent since the Federal Government, at Ottawa and Washington reached an agreement whereby the quality of the Yukon was to be relieved. The liquor goes to Skagway, to be hauled across the Alaskan strip to the Yukon Territory.

Says Air Travel Safe As Railway

U.S.A. Air Service Chief Tells Life Insurance Presidents

ASKS LOWER PREMIUM

Says They Would Greatly Aid Development of Flying

New York, Dec. 11—Major General Mason M. Patrick, Chief of the Air Service of the United States Army, believes that air craft transportation systems for passengers, mail and goods can, under proper conditions, compete for safety and reliability with the standards of railway train service or even surpass them. He made that statement this afternoon to the 18th annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in urging the life insurance companies to give consideration to the granting of insurance at regular premiums on the lives of travelers by air and the operators of aircraft. This association will give careful consideration to such an important matter.

"It is a fact that much has been done during the past few years to make flying less hazardous. This includes the consideration of many factors among them the improvement of the equipment, lighting and marking air routes and the creation of proper facilities along them. With landing fields at proper intervals, many of the risks of flying would be eliminated.

"That there are comparatively few casualties suffered by the air mail is marked evidence of the safety with which a well designated air route, one along which there are enough landing fields, may be traversed. There are mail pilots flew over 2,000,000 miles without a single fatality. On the British and Dutch air lines during the past three years the average number of passenger air miles to each passenger fatality was 2,622,000. Prior to 1913 for a number of years there was an average of one passenger casualty on our rail-roads for about every 2,000,000 passenger miles.

Safe Enough Now

"In fact it is believed conclusive evidence already exists that air travel under proper conditions can be developed with a degree of regularity, safety and dispatch sufficient to establish it as a significant additional channel of commerce in the transportation resources of a nation. Air transportation has passed the experimental stage. The knowledge gained during the last six years in the operation of services, particularly in Europe, has demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt that aircraft as agents of commerce have arrived.

"The following figures, recently compiled in my office will serve as a convenient measure of this accumulated experience: During the five years from 1919 to January 1, 1924, regular scheduled air transportation services have operated an aggregate mileage of over 20,000,000 miles. They carried a total of 1,241,000 passengers, 8,200,000 pounds of merchandise and 2,245,000 pounds of mail.

"During the past three years the Post Office Air Mail Service in this country has transported over 4,000,000 pounds of mail along the transpotation mail route between New York and San Francisco with a loss of only five one-thousandths of one percent. This may be compared with the percentage of registered packages lost in the United States during 1922, namely seven and a half one-thousandths of one percent. This air mail has already brought New York and San Francisco within about 30 hours of each other, lessening by at least two whole days the time otherwise required for the delivery of mail from one terminus to the other, and very soon it will be possible to mail a letter after the close of the business day in New York with the assurance that it will be delivered in Chicago by the time the next business day there begins.

"Briefly then we have concluded that aircraft, under suitable conditions and with proper management may be operated in regular transportation services for the carriage of passengers, mail and goods with equal or greater safety and reliability than exists at present for train service and with a great saving in time.

"Further as illustrated by this time saving, only a few weeks ago I was in Boston and wanted to send a package and message to New York. These were given to an airplane pilot who flew from the Boston Airdrome to the landing field at Mineola on Long Island, a distance of 200 miles. He waved to the message and was back in Boston in just 2 hours and fifteen minutes from the time he left there. On another occasion when in Washington it was necessary for me to consult with one of my men in Detroit. He was called over the long distance telephone, told to come to Washington at once. He left the Detroit field and landed at the Washington field just three hours and two minutes later."

Will Not Press Protection Policy

So Premier Tells Parliament Yesterday; Meet in February

London, Dec. 10.—Speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon, Premier Stanley Baldwin pledged himself to refrain from bringing forward the policy of protection.

"I will not introduce protection, nor use the Safeguarding of Industries Act as a wedge to introduce it," he said.

Premier Baldwin, speaking here, regarding the Singapore naval base, said the Government had not yet decided upon the length of time over which the work would spread, nor had any arrangements been made regarding contributions by Great Britain or the Dominions concerned, but communications in reference to the matter had already begun.

The Premier said that he hoped to discuss Debts-Allied debts next week, and that Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would participate in the discussion.

The British industries affected by the Dawes report, he said, were being close by watched, as well as what was going on regarding iron and coal in France and Germany.

After the members of the House of Commons heard the Speaker read the King's Speech, James Hope was elected Chairman, and Capt. Cuthbert Fitzroy, Deputy Chairman, of the House.

Lieut.-Col. Amery Secretary for the Colonies, then gave notice that he would introduce the Australian Treaty Bill to operate the treaty between Great Britain and Italy for the cession of Jubaland.

G. H. Ellis, Conservative, moved that an address be presented to the King, thanking him for his Speech from the Throne. The debate on this address will extend to Wednesday of next week. Notice will be exchanged tomorrow night, so that Thursday and Friday may be devoted to the passage of necessary legislation. On Friday, December 19, a motion for adjournments of Parliament till February 19 will be put forward.

USE ARSENAL FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES

London, Dec. 11.—Part of the great workshops at Woolwich arsenal will in the near future be used for private enterprise in the manufacture of goods instead of implements of war, it was revealed by J. Bendford, of the Woolwich Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce.

"When you are not making guns for war" he said, "in killing your enemy and blowing your kith and kin killed in return, these valuable workshops in Woolwich Arsenal are idle, and the duration is suffering.

He added that the chamber had persuaded the government to release portion of the workshops, and to lease their river frontage for private enterprise, and that "we hope in this way we shall be less dependent upon war and be able to develop peace industries."

CANADIAN PADDLER LEAVING FOR ROME

Paris, Dec. 11.—Lieut. Gabriel Smythe, of Toronto, who is paddling alone in canoe from London to Rome and was given a reception by the Paris Rowing Club on December 1, prepares to leave this city next week on his southward journey. He will paddle on the Seine to Saint Mammes, then above Melun, then along the Loing Canal.

Smythe does not expect to attain a greater speed than 20 miles a day against the current in the Seine River but later hopes to cover 40 miles a day if conditions prove as favorable as he anticipates.

HENRY WINNETT
President

Rich Manufacturer Was Joker as Well

Brian G. Hughes Was Peer of New York's Practical Jokers

(Canadian Press Dispatch)

New York, Dec. 11.—The recent death of Brian G. Hughes, paper box manufacturer and President of the Dollar Savings Bank removed a man who was perhaps the most famous practical joker in New York. In fact Mr. Hughes, who was in his 70th year, had earned himself something of an international reputation.

Probably his most famous stunt occurred twenty years ago when he invaded one of Manhattan's exclusive home churches with an ancient steed that had for years provided the motive power for a Madison Avenue street car.

He led first placed the nearly decrepit beast in pleasant pastures and groomed him with infinite pains. His entry had somewhat of a dejected appearance about him, but he ingreened horse show patrons and judges alike under the rather surprising name of "Pulteka Orphan" whose name was announced as "Metropolitan" was announced as the transit concern—the name of the horse's birthplace—and his dam as "Electricity." The entry was awarded a ribbon. Editors long treasured by Mr. Hughes.

A few years later he entered a fatally groomed alley horn that of questionable antecedents as competitor in a cat show. The dubious character also was awarded a prize ribbon.

On another occasion the banker-manufacturer secretly associated for the purposes, a plot in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn to the Borough Alderman. The body as solemnly delivered by the undertaker and proceeded thankfully to the municipality hall of the corpse until investigation disclosed that the dimensions of the plot were exactly by two feet.

Mr. Hughes was one of the organizers of the Dollar Bank in 1890 and became its president in 1915.

GINGER GROUP TO HAVE BUSY SESSION

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 11—The "Ginger Group" of the Dominion House of Commons have already filed enough resolutions at Ottawa to occupy every "private members'" day throughout the next session, according to William Irvine, Labor M.P. for East Calgary, who has just returned from Ottawa.

At a recent Labor conference, Mr. Irvine believes that the members of the "Ginger Group" will be the only ones heard during the session, except the government and leader of the Opposition.

DOCTOR ABSOLVED FROM ALL BLAME

Hamilton, Dec. 10.—A jury empanelled by Chief Coroner Iremle last night attached no blame to Dr. J. J. G. Grassett of Simcoe, after an inquest into the death of Mildred Gould.

The verdict was: "We find that the death of Mildred Gould was caused by peritonitis, the latter from causes unknown, and that from the evidence submitted any medical treatment given her would not have caused her death."

Miss Gould, a 19-year-old ward of the Children's Aid Society of Simcoe, died in St. Joseph's Hospital here early on the morning of Dec. 5. Before she died she made a statement in which she mentioned Dr. Grassett.

On the strength of this statement, Dr. Grassett was arrested at Simcoe last Saturday afternoon on charges of manslaughter. He was remanded for one week and was admitted to bail in the sum of $20,000.

Dr. Grassett was not present at last night's hearing. But he was represented by Arthur G. Slaght, K. C., of Toronto, and Percy Mackay of Simcoe.

Gentlemen! You are Invited To This Demonstration, too

THE ladies want the men folks to see this show. It will impress them. It will interest them. And it will convince them. Electric cooking is the system of today. They will see some real cooking by a real cook at this demonstration. They will see how a Moffat Electric Range works. It's all right to see a machine or an apparatus at rest, and have it explained. It is a whole lot better to see it with the power on and busy at work. Well, the power will be on!

An Expert Demonstrator Will Officiate at This Dealer's Electric Cooking Show

Real cooking will be done on a real Moffat Electric Range.

The men will see how modern science is taking the drudgery out of cooking and spoiling the trade in cinder dust.

They will see electric power applied to the boiling of the kettle and the baking of biscuits, cakes, pies, and all kinds of roasts.

They will see the famous one-piece oven of the Moffat—the ventilated, porcelain-enamled oven, with its mercury thermometer and three-heat switches by which the degrees of heat are regulated exactly, and easily instead of by the uncertain method of drafts and check dampers, such as the old wood and coal range only knew.

They will see how safe the Moffat Electric Range has been made. The copper wire connections are all so well insulated. No connections comes into close contact with the heat. No connections are made inside the oven.

They will see why the Moffat element heats up faster than other elements, by reason of the patent Moffat system of air circulation around the coils.

They will see the hardest of electrically porcelain-enameled iron—Armco Iron—making every surface as smooth as glass.

These and many other features will be demonstrated. And they will see some expert cooking and possibly taste a sample or two.

Come tomorrow at any time. Bring the ladies.

TIGERS 7; GNUINS 1

Hamilton, Dec. 11. — The Boston Bruins were humbled here last night on their first invasion, and were handed a 7 to 1 defeat to mark the occasion by Jimmy Gardiner's fast-traveling Hamilton Tigers. The locals scored only one tally of the first frame. Langlois doing it alone, and they added two in the second, while the Bruins secured their only shan. Four in the final ended the fun. The locals were miles the best, and Forbes was unlucky not to have stopped the only Boston goal. Lowrey played hard hockey, but lacked finish. There was considerable heated feeling in the game.

ST. PATS 6; SENATORS 3

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Toronto St. Patrick's sent Ottawa Senators down to a humiliating defeat here last night before a small crowd by a score of 6 to 3. Commanding the play for two periods, the Toronto team piled up a four-goal lead, and though absolutely outplayed from every angle in the final twenty minutes, they managed to stave off the terrific finish of the locals and relieve the pressure with two more tallies that settled the issue finally.

St. Pats had a three-goal margin in the final score, but had no three-goal margin on the play. For two periods they shaded the locals, but the Ottawa advantage was pronounced in the last stanza as to almost make the game farcical.

The police of a score of cities and villages joined Federal officers in the search for two tractors who escaped from Atlanta, Ga., Federal penitentiary. The prisoners, Alex Brawley, 31, and George Phillips, 22, disappeared while on duty at the prison honor farm at Featherville, ten miles from Atlanta. George Walker 27, another honor convict, walked off in a similar manner.

QUESTION OF RACING GETTING ATTENTION

Toronto, Dec. 11—The racing game in Ontario, especially as it relates to betting is in a peculiar state now.

At Ottawa Wednesday the forces against betting headed by Dr. Shearer made drastic inroads on Prime Minister King and members of his cabinet. The anti-betting crowd are away ahead of schedule this year and reports that they find the issue at Ottawa ripe for the introduction of new legislation.

Today at Dufferin Park at 2 p.m. Open race track owner, is asking Judge Biddell to grant him a fiat to get back from the Province of Ontario certain money collected by him in taxes from race track bettors.

Team Takes on New Life Following Change of Ownership

Toronto, Dec. 11—Now that new owners have taken over the St. Patrick Hockey Club franchise in the National League, there is every likelihood that the Arena will also be sold to the new owners. It is well known that the Montreal owners at present in control are not opposed to a sale, and if they can secure the proper price, will let it go freely. Several years ago, Messrs. Bickell and Nathanson were approached by certain parties with a view to purchase the Arena, but the deal never materialized. Now, however with the two interested in the sale, this latest deal into the professional game in a real way. The Arena end of the proposition has not been discussed as yet, but when the present deal for the St. Patrick franchise is cleared up, the other angle is likely to be dispatched.

In Stratford To-day

Charlie Querrie, former manager and secretary, was around bright and early Wednesday morning to gear up a host of details. He was out of the city in the afternoon, but returns to-day and expects also to have the signed contract of a well-known amateur player in his hands. If he succeeds this player, it will mean great strength added to the St. Pat's forward line, and a player who will be a star in pro company right from the start. And the player in question is likely to be "Bill" Carson, though Querrie refused to say so. So Stratford is likely Querrie's destination.

43,224 BASEBALLS USED IN NATIONAL

New York, Dec. 11.—The National League in 1924 enjoyed the greatest patronage in its history, according to the annual report of President John A. Heydler, showing a total paid attendance of 4,340,644 for the past season. This represented an increase of 239,827 paid admissions over the total for 1923 when the previous high record was made.

Despite the apparently general prosperity, however, President Heydler disclosed that the St. Louis and Boston clubs has met with financial losses and with Cincinnati, had suffered decreased patronage as compared with 1923.

Another part of the president's report disclosed that 43,224 baseballs were used during the season, an increase of 3,000 over 1923. New York purchased the greatest number 7,350 and Philadelphia the least, 2,450.

MONTREAL TO PAY BOXING COMMISSION

Montreal, Dec. 11.—Remuneration for the services of the Provincial Athletic Commission at the rate of $10 to each member for a six-round bout not exceed $200 a year, was first voted down by the city council last night, but upon reconsideration, the motion was carried. This course was approved upon the receipt of a letter from the commission in question, conditional that as the members of the commission had given their services for the years gratis, and as a result of their efforts boxing and wrestling in Montreal had been placed on a basis similar to that further result at which the city had benefited by increase in the extent of several thousand dollars, they were entitled to a fee of $10 for attendance at each meeting.

The Toronto newspapers all complimented Peterboro's intermediates on their defeat at Niagara Falls Monday night.

Leo Marsh in the "Star says:

Last spring the Falls team trounced Peterboro in the Intermediate O. H. A. final and the Quakers didn't see how they can secure the proper price, will let it go freely. Several years ago, Messrs. Bickell and Nathanson were approached by certain parties with a view to purchase the Arena, but the deal never materialized. Now, however with the two interested in the sale, this latest deal into the professional game in a real way. The Arena end of the proposition has not been discussed as yet, but when the present deal for the St. Patrick franchise is cleared up, the other angle is likely to be dispatched.

In Stratford To-day

Charlie Querrie, former manager and secretary, was around bright and early Wednesday morning to gear up a host of details. He was out of the city in the afternoon, but returns to-day and expects also to have the signed contract of a well-known amateur player in his hands. If he succeeds this player, it will mean great strength added to the St. Pat's forward line, and a player who will be a star in pro company right from the start. And the player in question is likely to be "Bill" Carson, though Querrie refused to say so. So Stratford is likely Querrie's destination.

43,224 BASEBALLS USED IN NATIONAL

New York, Dec. 11.—The National League in 1924 enjoyed the greatest patronage in its history, according to the annual report of President John A. Heydler, showing a total paid attendance of 4,340,644 for the past season. This represented an increase of 239,827 paid admissions over the total for 1923 when the previous high record was made.

Despite the apparently general prosperity, however, President Heydler disclosed that the St. Louis and Boston clubs has met with financial losses and with Cincinnati, had suffered decreased patronage as compared with 1923.

Another part of the president's report disclosed that 43,224 baseballs were used during the season, an increase of 3,000 over 1923. New York purchased the greatest number 7,350 and Philadelphia the least, 2,450.

MONTREAL TO PAY BOXING COMMISSION

Montreal, Dec. 11.—Remuneration for the services of the Provincial Athletic Commission at the rate of $10 to each member for a six-round bout not exceed $200 a year, was first voted down by the city council last night, but upon reconsideration, the motion was carried. This course was approved upon the receipt of a letter from the commission in question conditional that as the members of the commission had given their services for the years gratis, and as a result of their efforts boxing and wrestling in Montreal had been placed on a basis similar to that further result at which the city had benefited by increase in the extent of several thousand dollars, they were entitled to a fee of $10 for attendance at each meeting.

Discovered Runner In Finnish Army

Paavo Nurmi Who Will Race In Toronto Was Real "Find"

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Dec. 11.—The name of Paavo Nurmi, who will race in Toronto and possibly in several other Canadian cities this winter, is well known around four the world of athletics but probably few know how the "Flying Finn" was discovered as a runner.

Under the laws of Finland every young man between the ages of 16 and 20 must serve two years in the army. When Nurmi joined the colors he was assigned to a regiment of infantry and took so readily to military training that he quickly passed the recruit stage and was made a non-commissioned officer. He acquired a reputation as a good man on the marches and when an interregimental hike was scheduled, he was one of the men chosen to represent his unit. The distance was to be 20 kilometers, approximately 12 miles, and the only condition was that each contestant must carry full field equipment.

Although Nurmi had never appeared in a competitive event, his running prowess set their chief hopes upon him, but they were unprepared for the performance he was to give.

As soon as the field was sent away Nurmi broke into a run and without slackening his pace covered the distance in the astonishing time of 1 hour, 17 minutes, 30 seconds, only ten minutes slower than the world's track record, and that with a weight of 35 pounds on his back. When the crowd saw him start out at such a fast pace, it was NOT expected he would last long but he finished without showing any signs of fatigue and was twenty minutes ahead of the second man.

Among the spectators as one of the leading trainers of Finland who remarked after the race:

"If I could get that man under my care I would make a world's champion out of him."

The first part of the trainer's wish soon was fulfilled and the rest is now a matter of athletic history.

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

She opened the door. Jeffrey was seated at a small table, covered with papers and old letters. He was bending over them with an air and attitude of deep abstraction, and he did not hear her light footfall as she crossed the room, and laid her small hand rather tremulously upon his stooping shoulder.

"Doria!" he exclaimed, looking up with a start, and covering the papers before him with both his thin, gaunt hands.

"Why Jeffrey, dear, did I frighten you?" she said gently, "what are you doing? You look as if you were trying to write a play!"

He smiled constrainedly and began collecting the papers and letters in a nervous, hurried fashion.

"I—I have been busy," he said, "old papers and—and letters. Where have you been, what have you been doing?"

He did not look at her or he would have seen the color which suffused her face and noticed the suddenly downcast eyes.

"I have been to the meadows Jeffrey —I—I—to tell you something."

"Yes," he said, trying to be letters together in a bundle, and failing after a couple of rolls, time-stained parchments. "What is it? Is the news—I—I have been sitting here so long that I've forgotten." He looked at the old-fashioned watch, and rising hastily put the bundle of letters into his desk. He stood on the table. "It is time for the rehearsal; are you ready? I shall have to be a moment."

"Yes, I am quite ready; but there is plenty of time, Jeffrey, and I want to tell you—have you forgotten those poems? Are you not going to read them to us with the others," and she pointed to the desk.

He snatched them up almost jealously.

"No, no," he said. "I keep them—here!" and he placed them in one of the various carefulness in a pocket within the breast of his waistcoat. "I—I meant to show you to-day, Doria. I have been going to show them to you for—" he sighed—"years. But I've put it off from day to day, from year to year. They belong to you, and you shall have them—to-morrow, say to-morrow."

Doria started slightly. It was tomorrow the Lord Neville was to propose to see Jeffrey; perhaps he would give them to Lord Neville!

"How well you look this morning," he said suddenly, his eyes resting for a moment upon her lovely face with that air of admiration which women as you call them, must be wonderfully healthy. Where is my hat?"

She got it for him, and as she gave it to him she let her hand fall lightly upon his arm.

"And don't you want to hear what I have to tell you, Jeffrey?"

"Eh?" he said. "What is it? Nothing very important, I suppose? Are you not you're seen in the Barton millinery? Well, you can buy it. You can buy all the bonnets in the window now if you like!" and he chuckled grimly. "No more pinching and scraping, though we'll be careful still, eh, Doria? We'll be careful! Hard-earned money is too precious to be squandered. Buy your bonnet, Doria, by all means. "Come along!" and he was across the room and out of the door before one could summon up courage to stop him.

She would tell him after rehearsal, she thought, with a sigh; but after rehearsal he came hurrying to her to tell that he had arranged to go to the next town on important business for the manager.

"I shall be back to-night," he said, in his quick, stern voice; "in time to take you home, as usual," and he touched her forehead with his lips.

"You will be sure to be back to-night, Jeffrey?" she said, clinging to him for a moment.

"Yes, yes," he said, hurriedly, "if anything should prevent me—but it will be hand to his breast thoughtfully, and his heavy brow knitted; I am troubled expression; then he seemed to shake it off. "But I shall be back, if by any chance I should lose the train—"

"Jeffrey!"

"I said by any chance only, and it is not likely; but if I should I will come by the first in the morning. Mrs. Parkhouse, the dresser, will see you home if I am not here. Good-by, my child! Play your best part, that I am working for you; stone by stone I am building up the edifice of your fame—" He stopped, pressed her shoulder with his thin hand, and was gone.

Doria felt a strange sense of loneliness fall upon her. It was the first time he had left her for so many hours that his absence expressed her for a moment or two with a sense of helplessness. Then suddenly there flashed upon her the remembrance of Cecil and his love, and its oppression vanished. How could she be helpless when he was so near to love and protect her!

Was it strange that her feet should wander from the straight road home, to the brook in the meadows? Was it strange that she should linger on the spot made sacred to her by Jew love until the last moment, that she left herself barely time to dress and reach the theatre?

"Perhaps I shall see him to-night," she thought; "perhaps he will come to the cab and say one word, just one word!" But when she came on, her beautiful eyes wandered over the crowded house with an eagerness which she could scarcely conceal.

He was not there; and he did not come during the whole evening. She felt that she should know if he were in the house, and he was certainly not be able to see im, and she knew that he was not there. At the last once to the cab that she should not see him and Jeffrey had not come back!

"You feet tired to-night, Miss Marlowe," said Mrs. Parkhouse, as Doria leaned back in the cab, and drew her cloak around her. "Shall I come home and stay with you to-night? I dare say Mr. Jeffrey will not mind Mr. Jeffrey."

But Doria would not let her do that.

"I am tired," she said, "and I feel sure that Mr. Jeffrey would laugh at me for being nervous. No, you shall not come."

She sat up into the night looking at the stars from the window, which she threw open, for the air was baking with the breath of the coming summer and she tried to realize what had happened to her, all that was going to happen to her.

Miss L. Gendler of Newburg, Ont., is in Belleville visiting at the home of Mrs. S. Russell, George Street, and with other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pratt, 25 Pine street returned home on Friday, after spending six weeks with her parents at Rochester, N.Y.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Cleia Brueln when about 40 of her friends gave her a surprise-miscellaneous shower where she received many pretty and useful gifts. The evening was spent in games and contests, Mr. B. Bolton and Mrs. H. Boulter, being the lucky winners of the first prizes while Mr. H. Bateman and Miss D. Thompson carried away the consolation prizes. A very dainty luncheon was served after which all joined in wishing Miss Breen a very happy married life.

Last evening marked the close of one of the finest and most successful bazaars ever held in historic St. Andrew's church here, when from every possible viewpoint the function which was organized by the St. Andrew's Girls' Club, was a splendid success.

Throughout the afternoon large crowds thronged the hospitable rooms in the cheerful and cozy rooms, which had been transformed into a red and green effect by the young ladies. On account of the warmth of hospitality was evident.

Mrs. Percy Ranson, President of the Girls' Club with her assistants deserved credit for the distinct success of the venture.

The following ladies were in charge of the various booths:

Fancy Work Booth—Convenor, Mrs. Thompson; Mrs. Scott Mackay, Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. Mayhew, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Ross and Miss Ruth Ranson.

"Dr. Chase's Ointment also relieved me of eczema on my arms, which had bothered me for three years. My home is never without Dr. Chase's Medicines."

Prize Novel "Age of Innocence" Called for Clear-Cut Characters

Nothing less than the Pulitzer Prize novel, "The Age of Innocence" by Edith Wharton, furnished the story that will be offered many patrons by he Griffith theatre, beginning tonight at which time the screen translation of this popular book will be shown.

When it is remembered that Miss Wharton's novel, "The Age of Innocence," was chosen from amongst thousands of others as the best piece of literature published in 1921, the depth and merit of the story can very readily be appreciated. The plot is unusually interesting and deals with Countess, who attempts to acclimate herself to the conventionalities of aristocratic New York fashion romance existed about by aristocrats that were absurd and meaningless to her European code of living.

The novel calls for some characters of unusual type and stature, and it seems that Warner Bros. have been particularly happy in their selection of Beverly Bayne and Elliott Dexter both favorites of long standing, to portray the leads. Others around which Willard Louis, Edith Roberts, Stuart Holmes, Rosemary Theby, Noel Huntley, Gertrude Normand and many other notables appear the original story of love, that most poignant of all human emotions.

The direction of this powerful novel was entrusted to Luther Huggles and his assistant Dream Cox.

GYPSY LANGUAGE IS PUT INTO PRINT

Sofia, Dec. 11—The Gypsy language which is no regarded as a written tongue, has been put in print for the first time this autumn for political purposes.

It is printed in Slavic characters, but most of the words are unmistakably like a Bulgarian or any other Slavic-speaking tongue. Grammatical terms, however, are Slavic words.

An agrarian campaign document, printed in the Romani language, points out that the late dictator, Stamboulisky, was anxious to enfranchise the entire Gypsy race but the Democratic Union prevented the full enfranchisement by putting an end to the Stamboulisky movement.

Under the Bulgarian constitution the Gypsies enjoy the same rights of equality that are enjoyed by every other race.

WON'T GO BACK TO HER STEP-MOTHER

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Seventeen-year-old Mary Towle, of St. Mary's, Ont., was committed to Mercer Reformatory today on complaint from her parents that she had run away from home. Mary is the girl who is much older. She says they were cruel to her since her widowhood. Insisted, she appeared in Women's Court with a voluminous train, and was remanded until to-day in care of the Salvation Army, after she had confessed not to knowing what a vagrant is, and then pleading guilty.

While awaiting removal she didn't show any signs of repentance, saying that she'd be 18 next month and could then do as she pleased. However, she wouldn't go back to St. Mary's, she said, adding, "It's my stepmother wants me."

London Barbers Are Growing Rich

On Business Gained With Coming of Women Folk

(Associated Press Despatch)

London, Dec. 11.—Conservative people who almost despair of humanity because young ladies and old insist on having their hair bobbed, now have one more detailed vision of what the fashion may result in. They predict the new lines of modern masks and matrons will be blemished by policemen's peak, that rough and ready appearance has hind the cars so prominent among policemen, cowboys, golf professionals and farmers, and hitherto largely to the male of the species.

But the ladies, young and old, are still making this a golden year for barbers. In fact a London newspaper recently reported that one barber had not only bought a motor car, but had provided prosperous marriages for three of his daughters.

The accredited expenses of sporting a shingle, the British term for the new closely cropped bob are really quite small. It takes a lady's maid about a day clip back of the neck, in addition to taking care of the side pieces and the frequent trimmings, curing and shaving. A rival patron of one of the fashionable hair-arranging establishments may pay annual fees in excess of $200 to her barber, according to a Bond street practitioner of the shingling craft.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Wheat prices showed downward tendency today during early transactions influenced more or less by lower quotations at Liverpool and by selling here to realize profits. For at least the time being, buyers showed notable disposition to await setbacks before taking hold. Besides, movement of new Argentine wheat was said to be developing volume earlier than had been expected. Opening prices which ranged from 1-8 to 3-4c lower with May 1.67 3-4 to 1.66 1-4 and July 1.45 1-2 to 1.45 were followed by material further decline, rain in parts of Argentina and bearish effect on corn market, and also on oats. After opening at 1-8 to 1c net of May 81.38 to 81.38 3-8 corn continued to recede. Oats started at 1-8 to 3-4c decline, May 63 1-8c to 63 1-2c and later showed an additional sag. Provisions were weak, sympathizing with grain.

W. E. "Powyfoot" Johnson, prohibitionist journalist and globe trotter, recently arrived into Winnipeg, Man. his remarkable motorcycle figure. At three different meetings he proclaimed his faith in the ultimate victory of prohibition and declared that in spite of "noisy protestations the dry movement was steadily gaining support throughout the world. REVERSES DECISION

Peterboro, Dec. 10.—His Honor Judge Hayden was appealed to from the conviction of Police Magistrate Lansley, Peterboro, fining William Eastland $400.00 or the alternative three months in the county jail, and committing 4 cases of whiskey and 19 cases of beer found on his premises in North Monaghan, Mr. J. A. O'Brien, who appeared at the trial for Mr. Aker and Mr. Eastland, while Mr. Aker was acquitted, appealed the conviction of the Police Magistrate to his Judge and and the Judge allowed Mr. O'Brien's appeal. His Honor in giving judgment reversing the judgment of the Magistrate directed that Eastland who had started on his three month's term in jail, should be released, and that the liquor which was confiscated should be returned, and further directed that the security for costs, which had been put up by the applicant (Eastland) should be returned to him. Inspector Stewart's prosecution of this case now results in the exonerations of the three accused. His Honor held that O'Brien's contention that the liquor was not for sale by Mr. Eastland was correct.

At a meeting attended by thousands of Musselmans a "Bund al Ergaf" (universal) was organized in Baku. The executive elected includes a Turkish exile and a Persian, members of Persia and Turkestan, Bolshevik Pravdi, a delegate from a British trade union, announced that a similar movement would be organized in England.

Advised to Deport Italian Bootlegger

Magistrate Answers Ministers on Self-Confessed Lawbreaker Point

Hamilton, Dec. 11—Deportation of Rocco Perri, self-confessed bootlegger was the only advice Magistrate Jelfs could offer members of the local ministerial association when they appeared before the police commission Wednesday morning asking that some steps be taken following the Italian's recent public story of liquor dealings.

Legal police were powerless, declared the magistrate, as most of the activities concerned happened outside the jurisdiction of the local department.

However, if the reverend gentlemen would get up a petition asking the Government to deport him he would add his signature and as a police magistrate at that.

"But we are busy men and have not the time for that," replied Rev. Dickey.

"Well, I do not intend to do it, and the chief cannot do it," replied the magistrate.

"I find," he added, "that many people are willing to exalt their own little lights by drawing attention to the weaknesses of others."

Judge Evans gave it as his opinion that all that could be done by those in authority had already been done. The offences alleged boasted of by the Italian had all been committed many days three months ago and no charge could therefore be laid against him on their account at this date under the O.T.A.

PROTEST WAS MADE IN 1918 BY R.P.GOUGH

Against Manner of Business In The Home Bank, Evidence Today

LATE WIRE NEWS

Gompers Rushed to Hospital; Changes in South Africa

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 12—It developed at the trial of R. P. Gough, Home Bank director, this morning that in the spring of 1918 the accused and the late H. J. Daly had made vigorous protests against the manner in which the business of the Bank was being conducted.

Both on May 13, 1918, wrote letters to M. J. Haney, then president, charging that he had not done the right thing in making loans and transacting other big business without the consent of the Board. Mr. Daly claimed that some of the transactions put through by Mr. Haney would never have had received the approval of the Board if they had been submitted to it.

Mr. Daly in his letter made the definite statement that advances at that time to the Whaley Pulp and Paper Co. by the Bank in very precarious position and secured such dishonest gentlemen as Whaley, no further loan accounts be opened up by the bank. Letters were also written in the Gough trial just as the court adjourned at noon.

MAY DEVELOP CITY RE-UNION ON BIG SCALE

Proposal Is Made to Make Gathering a Peace Celebration

MEETING TO-NIGHT

Number of Distinguished Guests Might Be Counted On

It was learned to-day that according to present plans the Old Boys' Re-union in Belleville next year will be held on three days, September 3rd 4th and 5th, and that if present arrangements hold good and are supported by the people generally the celebration will assume a greater magnitude than the United Empire Loyalist Celebration held last summer.

According to Mayor Mikel this afternoon, it is proposed to make the gathering of former citizens of this city something more than a reunion to make it a great Peace Celebration marking one hundred and ten years of peace between Canada and United States.

Notables from the United States would be invited and such guests as Governor Mary, wife of Premier Lapierre, Sir Thomas Lipton and the Duke of York might be expected here.

It is understood that already some approaches in this direction have been made.

Proposed also is a mammoth parade in a bigger scale than anything ever attempted in Canada before, in which all residents of the war of 1812-1815 would be shown, the winning of peace by unarmed heroes and the subsequent growth and part of the later period of peace.

A public meeting is being held this evening to talk it over.

Navigation Closes Without Mad Rush

No Rush of Boats at Fort William To Clear Grain

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Fort William, Dec. 12—Everything points to this being the quietest closing of navigation that has been experienced at the head of the lakes for some years. There has been no rush of boats to clear away the grain from elevators and the fact that, one day prior to the close of navigation, a boat was lying there awaiting orders, shows how little demand there is for tonnage.

Few boats may tie up here with winter storage, but the elevators are not over anxious to be the first elevators to be filled with grain. There will be extremely little activity as navigation is closed. Holding open of one lock at the Soo till December 15th may allow some few boats to come up yet but there have been no symptoms of any rush to get here.

Old Boy's Reunion Organization Meeting Should Be Very Well Attended Tonight

Careful and early preparation nearly always is the secret to successful ventures, as organizers of experience will agree. That is why baseball is often organized in the winter, and this is the reason that hockey is organized when thoughts of ice are at the greatest distance from the mind.

Tonight at the City Hall a meeting will be held commencing at eight o'clock, which is an organization meeting—an early and careful preliminary meeting for the Old Boys' Reunion which is to be held in Belleville next summer.

As was the case in the successful and eventful United Empire Loyalist celebration last summer it was leaders who were assisted by faithful workers who made the event a unique success. The Old Boys' Re-union will also require active and aggressive leaders who, however, will not be effective unless they receive the whole hearted co-operation of real workers in the ranks.

This meeting then is everybody's meeting. It is for the public and suggestions will be gladly received there. Everyone who is desirous of making the Old Boys' Re-union the success the U.E.L. celebration was—and who is there who is not?—should be out to-night at the meeting, and either by his or her presence, indicate to others that they are interested in their city and its activities.

Six Men Hoisted Up Some 320 Feet

While Hundreds in Toronto Watched Ascent Lasting Breathlessly

Toronto, Dec. 12—Standing on an iron girder, holding on to a railing that had been built to it for the purpose, James J. O'Neill and six companions were hoisted up to the top of the Metropolitan Building, now in course of construction at Adelaide and Victoria Sts., where the girder—the last one—was put in place. It took about four minutes to cover the distance of about 320 feet, and several hundred of people on the streets breathlessly watched their ascent.

Those who accompanied Mr. O'Neill, who is the owner of the building, were W. P. Spalding, his architect; W. H. Imby, of the George A. Fuller Co., of New York, who is superintending the erection; George Evans, manager of the Dominion Bridge Co.; Thomas Wallis, erection superintendent for the Dominion Bridge Co.; Jack O'Neill, son of J. J. O'Neill, and William Wells son of Thomas Wells.

Took Personal Risk

Messrs. O'Neill and Sparling, at the request of Mr. Evans, had signed a statement relieving the contracting company of any responsibility in case anything should happen to them during the journey.

"I had made application for an insurance policy for $25,000," said Mr. O'Neill before going up, "and I was to sign up this morning. Although the company were quite ready to accept the risk, I did not think it fair to the company to ask them to assume the risk till after the trip, although I felt that everything will be all right, and that there is really no risk to it."

"Oh, it was all right. I test fine and enjoyed it very much" was Mr. Sparling's comment when the party returned to terra firma, and his sentiments were those of the others, too.

The girder is to be used in the construction of the next house, which will be 53 feet higher than the top of the "upper" storey.

As soon as the workmen had the big chains fastened around the girder, the seven men to make the ascent took their places. The hook on the girder were put on specially to give all parties something to hold onto, and not allow themselves to lose their balance. As soon as the man on the ground gave the signal to the man on top, the girder started to rise. After it was up about thirty feet, the crowds on the floor, and several of the men on the girder took off their hats and responded with a rousing shout.

Cavern Men Travel, Too

At the same time that this girder was being hoisted, another derrick was lifting a large box in which a couple of moving picture operators were stationed with their cameras. Both derricks began to operate at the same time, but the one raising the box travelled faster and before the movie men realized it they were several stories higher than the girder. The operator of the derrick landing the box stopped, however, and waited for the other.

In connection with the erection of this building wonderful progress has been made. Half of it now enclosed by the brick walls, and the cement floors have been poured immediately following the erection of the steel structure. The steam heating plant and plumbing is also being installed, and it is expected to have the whole building enclosed and heated by Christmas.

It is also stated that one-third of the renting space has been signed and final arrangements are being made for the balance of the space up to fifty per cent.

KING OF SPAIN TO TAKE DRASTIC ACTION

Paris, Dec. 12.—Orders to shoot down any airplane crossing the Pyrenees have been issued at Madrid, in an effort to prevent Blasco Ibanez, the novelist, from sending into the heart of Spain his pamphlets attacking King Alfonso and the military dictatorship.

About 2,000,000 copies of these pamphlets already have been sent to Spain, thanks being determined to overthrow the present Government if writing will do it. His planes have descended at points near San Sebastian, Pamplelune, Burgos and other cities in the direction of Madrid, unloading and returning to France.

The novelist has a huge operating speaky in Paris and Spanish destroyers patrol the coast to prevent his pamphlets from being brought into Spain by motor boat.

REPORTERS SHARE SIZEABLE REWARD

Chicago, Dec. 12—Two newspaper reporters, four laborers, a member of a rail road crew, and a night watchman were given most of the credit for the arrest of the Bobby Franks murder and kidnapping case and the confession of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, by a committee which distributed rewards totalling $6,000 offered for the apprehension of the slayers.

The newspaper reporters, James W. Nichols and Alvin H. Goldstein, at the time of the slaying cub newspaperers of the Chicago Daily News, were given $1,000 each, or half the reward.

The reporters positively identified the body as that of young Franks and later furnished clues which led to the discovery that Leopold owned the typewriter on which the ransom note to Mr. Franks was written.

FEARS COMPETITION IN HANGING JOB?

Winnipeg, Dec. 12.—An application for the "post of hangman Harry Tatarnuk who was convicted here recently of killing his aunt and condemned to die February next, has been made by Arthur Ellis, "Official hangman," to Sheriff Colin Inkster, and it is featured by a sharp refutation of "fees."

For similar "jobs" Ellis has been paid $250, but to-day he quoted the "prevailing price" at $100 and expenses.

No explanation of the reduction is given the application, but a local paper suggests that "fear of competition in the trade" may have brought about the lower tariff.

Interesting Play At Belle Theatre

"Does it Pay?" Features Miss Hope Hampton, Clever Actress

If any hard working little girl for a moment believes, after wearily walking back to her third floor rear room, that all would be well in this sometime dreary old world if she could but become married to some "lovely man with lots and lots of money," we suggest that she first visit the Belle Theatre and see the Fox Film Corporation offering of "Does It Pay?", in which the glorious little Miss Hope Hampton is featured and with remarkable artistic portrays the tragedy of a girl who acted too much for the money and too little for the man. We then hope that this same little working girl will pray only for the "lovely man" and just merely hope that she can help him some day to make "lots and lots of money." Surely she won't even thinking about men when she first heard the old truth that "All is not gold that glitters."

It is rather difficult, even with Miss Hope Hampton playing the part of Doris Clark, to feel very sorry for this girl who wanted money and gorgeous clothes so badly that with wide open eyes and a tightly closed little mother heart she worked lives and homes. You see Doris cannot be excused on the ground of being an innocent who "fell" for a rich married man, cause she most positively was not and did not. She was a cold-blooded little gold digging vampire who got her man and his money, an expensive New York apartment and many, many exquisite gowns —and eventually her very just deserts. And John Weston, the man with a family and an attractive bank account who soon parted with both to for a short time, languish in the seductive arms of Doris, doesn't deserve a great deal of sympathy either, but when you have seen him as acted by Albert T. Hoines you will find that he gets much of your sympathy.

Belleville Would Tackle Peterboro

In Hockey Group This Season; Arranging Groups To-night

When the executive of the Ontario Hockey Association will hold a meeting in the Evening Telegram office tonight at 8 o'clock, to arrange groupings among other matters arranged will be the group in which the Belleville latest candidates and Juniors will play this season.

Belleville hockey officials and fans are very anxious to have Peterboro Intermediates in the same group as the locals for more reasons than one.

Peterboro have for the past few years been in the "all" group with Lindsay town that sponsors junior hockey and the smaller town of Havelock.

They grab off their group in practice games so to speak, without injury or hard battles and are all primed for the next contender.

Belleville has always been in a tough group and by the time they have disposed of the Kingston, Brockville and Cornwall rough riders they show the scars of hard battles.

It is also felt here that with Peterboro in this group, the Arnott arena would not accommodate crowds which would clamour for admittance, so great would be the interest. Saturday will see all groupings made.

BUTCHERS REQUEST LICENSES OF $50

At a regular fortnightly meeting of the civic committee held last evening no recommendations of any kind were made. A deputation of the butchers of the city were present and, through their solicitor Mr. C. A. Payne, urged the members of the Council to increase the license fee cutting up meat on the market. If the practice was to be continued, the idea of the butchers is that a license fee of about $50 should be charged. The members of the Council present informed the delegation that the matter would receive consideration.

Paymaster Shot By Falls Bandit

Employee Shows Fight and Captures One of the Thugs

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 12—Howard R. Hull, paymaster at the National Carbon Company, across the river, was shot dead at 2.30 yesterday afternoon by one of two robbers who entered the company's office and attempted to steal the company's payroll of $9,000. Andrew Weaver, an employee of the company was shot through the arm by the bandits. No money was taken. Employees of the company captured William (Jake) Carpenter, formerly of this city said to be one of the bandits and turned him over to the police.

There men took part in the attempted robbery. A car was driven to the front of the office building and turned so that it faced out the way. Two men set out and walked into the building. Weaver was at the door and was being paid The men brushed him aside and swished a heavy automatic through the window, telling Hull to give up the pay roll, instead of obeying, Hull shouted "Robbers" at the top of his voice and one bandit fired, the shot taking effect in his heart and killing him instantly. A clerk, hearing the shots rushed out just as a shot was fired at Weaver. He caught Carpenter and wrestled with him, and other workmen came to his assistance and wrestled automatic from him. The other bandit rushed down the stairs and into the waiting automobile and drove away at top speed.

Later last night the police picked up John Noble on suspicion. Carpenter claims he lived no roots but one bullet in his body in his automatic. Carpenter has a prison record, and was paroled recently in the committal of alleged and the robbery of freight trains.

Police Looking For Heartless Man

Who Drove Away From Two Women Seriously Injured

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Campbellford, Dec 12—Mrs. Oliver Garnett, who lives near Havelock, at a farmhouse three miles this side the latter, is suffering from concussion of the brain and other severe injuries and her seventeen-year-old daughter Marguerite is also suffering from severe injuries following a runaway accident which occurred on the Havelock road at 12.30 o'clock Wednesday noon.

Police are searching for a middle-aged man accompanied by woman, driver in a sedan auto, which crowded the horse and buggy which Mrs. Garnean drove, into the ditch, causing the frightened and spirited animal to make a bolt for freedom.

The car, which is allected to have been travelling at a terrific speed, according to reports, approached the horse at a point at a sharp bend in the road, and bedding the road, scared the horse who bolted, upset the buggy into a deep ditch, hurled the occupants out, and became so enamoured in wreckage that severe injuries to the valuable animal necessitated his destruction by shooting.

The car did not stop when the accident occurred but another auto which drove along in a few minutes found the two women in the ditch. They were immediately taken to a nearby farmhouse and Mrs. Garnett's conditions is so serious today that she cannot be removed to hospital, Dr. Holcroft of Havelock was summoned and is attending the injured.

The driver of the sedan car, who wore a peak cap, passed safely through Campbellford but was traced to Belleville where the trail was lost. He has been seen on the Havelock road several times between Belleville and Peterboro driving in a reckless manner, according to Mrs. Oliver Garnett, husband of the woman now nursing injured has returned from his work in a lumber camp at Lake and is making every effort to apprehend the heartless motorist.

CHINESE FARMER IS TO BEAR BURDEN

Pasongin, Chili, China, Dec. 12—That the Chinese farmers, already taxed to the limit of his ability to pay, is to be called upon to bear the burden of the disastrous expedition, is the conclusion forced upon anyone who watches the present situation in north China. Closed schools surprise the educational funds are being diverted; income from railroads is being seized, and even taxes for flood relief are being "borrowed" to swell the war coffers, but it is plainly to be seen that the farmers, who constitute three-fourths of the population, will be made to provide the bulk of the necessary revenues.

No income tax, for example, has been devised by the warlords to compel private fortunes to contribute, and it is notable that the patriotism of the private citizen does not prompt him to support the cause of the central government. The warlords are, therefore, driven to invention and they invent one more strictly.

Girl Dope Fiend Gives Some Advice

Never Take First Shot, She Says; Wealthy Man's Daughter

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 12—There are a hundred places in Toronto and dozens here in Hamilton where you can get all the dope you want," declared Beatie Fraser, miss Edna Carrott, only daughter of a wealthy Winnipeg businessman, from her cell at the Central police station here as she waited for the officers to convey her to the Mercer Reformatory, where she was sentenced by Magistrate Jelfs to an indeterminate sentence. She has lived in Toronto for the past ten years.

"I will never finish two years at the Mercer, not if I have to kill myself," declared the pretty bobbed hair young woman as with arms bare fingers dug along to the cell lock.

"It is easy to get this dope," she was asked.

"Yes, you can get it anywhere. In a strange place it is always safest to get the lay of the land from the Chinese, but lots of colored people and Italians peddle it around.

"Have you taken much of the stuff?

"Yes, I started about ten years ago. Once in that time I was it out for a year, but even if you do get over it you always have the idea that it would be nice to start again. I began using cocaine. Most people start that way. Then I got to drinking laudanum and I was taking morphine pills. I have taken seven or 60 grains of morphine in a day; sometimes I did. I started The same old story. I ran away from home in Winnipeg with a man I fell in love with. We went to Toronto and after a time I started a store there. One day we thought we would see what there was in this stuff we heard so much about, so we both took some. That was the beginning. We had a good store with a good trade and pretty soon we lost it all.

"Well, we lost our store, and then he lost his love for me. He got in with another woman and managed to break off the habit, but for me—well, I guess he did not care what happened to me.

"What is my advice to others who would take dope? It is this, never take the first shot. I know, but don't waste any sympathy on me. Go and read about the thousands of others who have gone to court and have not done so yet."

The young women was arrested here in a looking room with a colored man. He had been using a boarding house in Toronto and had given this up. When police officers entered the room they caught her in the act of taking several "decks" of morphine. The colored man will be charged. Both, it transpired, had arrived from Toronto only a day before their arrest.

LINDSAY WANTS TO JOIN NEW GROUP

Lindsay, Dec. 12—At a meeting of the Advisory Hockey Committee held in the Council Chamber yesterday, it was decided to make a strong bid for entrance into the O. H. A. western group with Cannington, Uxbridge and Port Perry. The argument used by some of the above teams that Lindsay would be too strong has no foundation whatever, in fact, Port Perry and the other teams may prove too strong for Lindsay. In the other hand, Lindsay would have more games at home then in past years. Besides, the other teams should benefit by having Lindsay in the group. Lindsay should prove a drawing card for the above.

Y.M.C.A. Bowlers Banquet Last Night; Rev. McKechnie Speaks

That the members of the various bowling teams entered at the Y.M.C.A. take an interest in the game, was manifested last evening when the prizes won in the fall league were presented. The lady bowlers turned out in larger numbers than the men to the banquet which was held in the comfortable room of the Y.M.C.A. building. The ladies auxiliary of the institution provided the spread which was all that could have been desired. At the conclusion of the supper, a brief program was carried out before the prizes were presented.

Mr. H. Bryan, president of the bowling league occupied the chair. Below were given by Messrs H. Howard and A. Wright, with Mr. A. Adams playing the accompaniment. Miss Anne Lafferty gave two readings in a manner that was most pleasing.

Play the game and play it well was the keynote of the remarks given by the Rev. N. S. McKechnie, Pastor of the Bayfield Church. All should interest themselves in the game they indulged in, he said, and make it recreation and a benefit. Games taught or upheld teach self control, also consideracy. Team work was essential and every game lost was a lesson to come back after failure.

The biggest game of all was the game of life, Mr. McKechnie said. All should view life as a game and play it well even though there might be obstacles in the way and foes to overcome. The greatest Player in the game of life was Jesus Christ and all should follow His example, as He was the best of all captains.

Presentation of Prizes

The presentation of prizes was proceeded with, the annual competitions being as follows:—

Members of the Bellevue team, consisted of Misses Bessie Barnes (Captain) Margaret Geyer, Anna Lafferty (Capt.), Arthur, Evelyn Whalen and Frances Pot er were the winners of the ladies' teams and each were presented with a shield, the presentation being made by Mr. Frank Domenico.

The Gramby team were the runners up and each received a prize.

In the men's teams the Rizer Trophy, a beautiful silver cup for the single best score of the season, and the Chevalier team captained by Mr. P. Woodley. The cup was presented to the captain by Miss Bessie Sayers. The team is composed of Messrs. H. Woodley, L. Woodley, A. Henry, E. Nurse, G. Gilbert and W. Harden.

The second prize was won by the Bowlers of which team Mr. F. Liberty is the captain.

Individual Prizes

Mr. A. Herity was awarded the prize for the high single game 305 and Mr. F. Liberty the best three string, 745 was presented to the members of each team for the highest average of the games played and prizes were as follows:

Bowlers—R. Woodley, 205.

PORT COLBORNE TIED WITH INDIAN CREW

Port Colborne, Dec. 12.—Staging a third period attack in which they scored two goals, the local intermediate O.H.A. team overcame the advantage gained by the Stratford Indians in the second period and the exhibition game here last night ended in a 3 to 3 tie. On the hour's play the locals deserved the victory as they had a big edge in the first period when Dobson, in goal for the visiting seniors, had ten assists to his credit on the play. In the last two periods, each had it not been for the stellar work of the Stratford goalie the Ports would have romped home by a good margin. As it was, the visitors had to have the majority of the breaks to hold the Ports even.

There was no scoring in the first period, although the locals were the better team, but in the second Stratford went into the lead through goals by Cole and Bill Carson. Irwin and Kilpatrick were the successful local marksmen, Dobson was undoubtedly the star of the game, while Bill Carson was prominent at the line. Mralea also made a number of strong individual rushes. Mountain and Bozanko were the stars for the homesters but the remainder of the team turned in good games. The visitors appeared to be short on condition and most of their offensive efforts were of the individual variety. The locals showed some good teamwork and were in mid-season condition. The teams:

Stratford—Dobson, goal; Burke and Graham, defence; W. Carson, centre; Griffin and Gross, wings; Smith and Cole, substitutes.

Port Colborne—Moore, goal; Cousins and Kilpatrick, defence; Cuthbert, centre; Bozanko and Irwin, wings; Harris, Walton and Mountain, substitutes.

Referee—Burmister, Welland.

GOOD SPORTS

Toronto, Dec. 12—Actions like that shown by West End Y.M.C.A. senior basket-ball team are a great boost for sport. During the ball game each of their game against Osgoode Hall, a telephone message was received from the Western Hospital, stating that an effort to save the life of a young boy, a blood transfusion would have to be made and volunteers to offer blood were asked for. Immediately Howard Mitchell, captain of West End left the game for the hospital and the rest of the team were rushed there in cars at the close of the game. After the tests were made the blood of an uncle was found to be nearest to that required. This is how some fans that play for the big benefit game last season in aid of the Johnny Ducks orphanage fund. Little things like these show that the athletes of today wearing the purple and old gold colors of West End are holding the reputation for good sportsmanship made in previous clubs.

Was Discharged

Oshawa, Dec. 12—Alvin Sarlesbarred with criminal negligence and delay grievous bodily harm in Pte. Clifford resulting in the latter's death was discharged by His Honor Judge Ruddy at the general sessions in Whitby when the Grand Jury returned no bill against him. The late Mr. Clifford came to his death as a result of a compressed air tube being placed against his body, the tube being in the hands of the defendant at the time of the accident.

N. H. L. NOTES

Hamilton, Dec. 12—Art Ross is not yet satisfied with his Boston team. He is trying to secure some more strengthen it, so that it will be able to give a real battle to the other teams in the league. Ross would like to secure Joe Spring from the Hamilton team, and has made a suggestion which might result in a deal. De Charlie Stewart, who is under contract in the province of the Boston team if he decides to turn pro., but no one is in conference with Ross over the matter as yet. Some people say that the Hamilton club is not anxious to part with him, but Charlie Stewart can be persuaded to turn pro., and satisfactory terms are arranged with Boston, the chance is there some about it. It is reported that Hamilton wants Stewart but as the latter has been not very successful with the team.

The St. Pats are looking to get Cook Fraser, of the Ottawa Senators, from the Senators. Long this week, but Ottawa refuses to part with Fraser, and their hopes will be realized. The St. Pats Packers are not anxious to Boston while Adams is still head to go, owing to his fact that he still get an increase in salary.

Ottawa Journal—St. Pats showed its power improvement. The each took a second to Adams when the puck and left natural somewhat slimmer than usual, played a remarkable fine game with Ottawa, the driving force on St. Pats team. He convinced the first half on a fine dash through center his stickhandling was smooth, and he seemed get comfortable with his material was a constant thorn to Ottawa Walker a very master shop from the Cornells and Holmes played a hard checking game and Corbeau was particularly conspicuous although one of his best games.

Montreal Gazette—Bey Noble, recent ly purchased by Montreal from Toronto St. Pats, was used at a substitute forward last night, and, despite the handicap of a cut over the eye, received when he tumbled into the boards added steadiness to the forward line and played an improved game compared with some he showed here when with St. Patrick's.

Acids Cause Bad Kidneys And Bladder

DRINK LOTS OF WATER ALL DAY LONG AND OCCASIONALLY TAKE A LITTLE SALTS

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the system. Then the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 12.—With evidence all hugs that all current deliveries of December wheat contracts are being shipped out of Chicago promptly when they come today took an upward swing accordingly. Besides the fact that the most as soon as business began. Unexpected firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool tended also to lift values here. Besides there was renewed buying on part of houses that have recently been extremely bearish. Prices at Opening which ranged from ½c de cline to ½c advance with May 11.64¾ to 11.65 and July 11.44¼ to 11.44⅝, were followed by material gains all around. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength. Reports of general rains in Argentina had only transient bearish effect. After opening unchanged to ½c lower, May 31.26¾ to 31.27, corn market scored moderate general advance. Oats started unchanged to ⅛c off. May 42¾ to 42¾c later, all months showed gains. Provisions drew support strength when corn market went higher.

NOT STRICT ENOUGH DOWN AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Dec. 12.—The law, as at present construed, is too lenient to wards keepers of disorderly houses, in the opinion of Mr. Justice Coderre, who is conducting the investigation into Montreal police affairs, insofar as it demands a very difficult basis of proof regarding the keeping of such a house.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the probe, His Lordship stated that he did not think it should be necessary for a constable to go into such a place, bargain with the keeper and pay with the city's money, in order to have evidence of a disorderly house. When the police declared they had found in the house so many girls scantily dressed as of allowing themselves freely to be arrested, that should be sufficient evidence to satisfy anyone.

Nathan Gordon, one-time city prosecutor, gave evidence as to what he considered defects in the law and ways in which it might be made more

WHY PROTECTION

The Winnipeg Tribune tells this story of an industry in Hamilton:

"Down at Hamilton, Ontario, there is a modern, thoroughly efficient factory, one-eighth of a mile long, with its fires drawn and its windows boarded up. What happened to it makes an interesting story.

"It is a glass factory, the property of the Canadian Libby-Owens Sheet Glass Company, Limited. It cost more than $2,000,000 to erect and is one of the most complete and modern in the world. It employs from three years ago, 500 men and women; consumed £1,000 tons of raw materials, and shipped out 18,000 tons of glass providing 60,000 tonnage for the railways; used 50,000 of coal daily, 70,000 gallons of water daily and annually used 500 kegs of nails, 200 tons of straw and 3,000,000 feet of lumber. All the materials were bought in Canada. Its capacity was 15,000,000 square feet of glass per annum, and while it was operating it reduced our importation of Belgian glass from 24,500,000 square feet to 10,5000,000 square feet. At no time while it was operating did it have less than four months' orders ahead, and it was kept going constantly, day and night."

What killed this industry? The manufacturers there are banded together in a 'Mutualitie' to control the export trade. Through this association the manufacturers are able to raise or lower at will the prices to other countries. When the Hamilton plant started operations the Belgians cut their prices 40 per cent., dumped into the standard list. When the Hamilton plant, after a year and a half of this disastrous competition, ceased operating, the Belgian price rose to 27 1-2 per cent. premium over the standard list.

"In other words, the Belgian exporters cut the price 40 per cent., put the Canadian plant out of business, and with competition removed made the Canadian buyer pay an indemnity as the price of their victory."

Intelligent utilization of a Canadian tariff would have prevented this industrial casualty, says the Ottawa Journal. By preventing cutthroat competition it would have saved Canada an industry which, if the facts set out by The Winnipeg Tribune be right, meant a great deal to this land.

And the St. Catharines Standard says the fate of this Hamilton industry is being duplicated every day in some part of Canada. It has been duplicated 100 time since the last budget. Canadian workmen are thrown out of employment and drive on to the States; Canadian purchasing power is lessened; Canadian railways are deprived of traffic; Canadian farmers deprived of a home market. The Standard continues:

"It is unthinkable that Canada will commit economic suicide. Every other country in the world is armed itself industrially. The United States has given an overwhelming verdict to the Protectionist party. England by as great a majority has abandoned Free Trade. Only to-day cable from Europe tell of a general heightening of tariff. How long is Canada to continue tariff tinkering so that a party man may buy office from a selfish, sectional group?"

"AN UNPOPULAR MOVE"

A high official of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has taken occasion to rap motion picture concerns on the manner in which they portray the mounted police on the screen.

One interesting point this official makes is that "Get your man" is not the slogan of the force.

"For another thing," said the official, "if movie actors who impersonate Canadian Mounted Policemen insist on wearing a pill box hat with service uniform, I wish they would get a hair cut to begin with. A hair cut goes so much better with a pill box than the ambrosial locks now current on the stage."

Most Canadians of the East whose acquaintance with the Mounties of the west is nearly as meagre as that of our cousins across the border, have had a suspicion that the showy uniform worn on occasion could not be quite true to the type we have read about.

But why spoil our fun? Why persuade the movie man to put a real human before us when the fictitious type creates so much excitement? What boy wants to cheer an ordinary police man when he is shown hold ing "his man" by the back of the neck and kissing the girl at the same time?

It would be on a parallel with giving a boy Horatio Alger after he has had a taste of Nick Carter.

PROCRASTINATORS

Strong hints are made at Ottawa that the Liberal Government plans to launch legislation at the next session of the present Parliament in Janu ary to restrict the powers of the Senate. Another attempt at Senate reform is at hand.

The forecast is made by a Canadian Press correspondent, who explains the situation very nicely. He says:

"If the usual procedure is followed, the amendment would be brought down in the form of an Address from both Houses of Parliament requesting the Parliament at Westminster to amend the British North America Act. But such an address would meet with many obstacles. It would probably have to face some strong opposition in the House; there is doubt if it would pass the Senate. A likely argument against it is that Confederation was a part of the uniting provinces and that the terms of the past should be modified only with the consent of the provinces. On the other hand, the point has been raised that section 91 of the British North America Act contemplates definition by the Parliament of Canada of the "powers" of the two Houses at Ottawa. In any event lively fighting over the Government's proposals is expected. It is not unlikely that the upshot will be an issue in the next Federal elections."

Obviously such a task of reforming the Senate cannot be accomplished at one session. Perhaps that accounts for the action of Premier King in bringing on legislation at the last session. In the event that the amendment is not carried, his alibi to the public during the general election campaign will be much easier that if he had launched the move early in the life of the Government.

THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

(London Free Press)

The craze for the cross-word puzzle is here—for a time at least. Those who indulge in its delights might be licked off somewhat in the same way as one says, "Rich man, poor man." See of those nearly all indulge in some of interest that take the public from time to time and which the public takes quite seriously—for a time. It forms a new distraction.

No doubt for the many who seek relief from the stress of work, mental or intellectual, in games of various sorts the cross-word puzzle has a temporary place.

To bridge it has said: "Cross over," and to Mah Jong: "Move along and make room for me!"

There is no gainsaying why this form of entertainment has grown in favor so rapidly—for there is direct and indirect reference to this in the "hunch" that is so many ways compels us to "follow after."

Letters to Editor

To the Editor
Sirs:

Principal D. J. Fraser, President of the Presbyterian Church Association, has declared that he, neither a "Modernist" nor a "Fundamentalist". His complains bitterly of being classed as a "Modernist," and says that those thus classify him are "guilty of an unjust and unworthy act." What kind of an act does Dr. Fraser regard that of the authors of the notorious "Kew Beach Pamphlet," issued under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church Association, of which he is President? That pamphlet contained a most scurrilous attack upon his Methodist brethren. It declared "that the Methodist Church was an 'apostate' and 'corrupt' and other unjust and unbecomingly epithets of doctrinal views of Methodists. This pamphlet was circulated with the full knowledge of the leaders of Presbyterianism and for verification of its charges against Methodism. I in the antimonied newspapers. St. Andrew's clergy, Toronto.

Similar attacks have been made by ecclesiastical speakers and have appeared upon the platforms of Presbyterian synods, and no word of rebuke or correction came from Dr. Fraser's lips or pen. Such anti-unionism is significant that his present protest is published as a self defense merely. Dr. Fraser speaks of "the present acrimonious debate" and "acrimony was injected into the debate by those who started it"—by the same followers who published the slanderous pamphlet against the Methodist Church. "This distressing controversy" was started by the followers of Dr. Fraser, who have been most active in their letters and speeches, while the Unionists have refused to be goaded into evil and reasonable.

Allow me to place before your readers a statement of Dr. Fraser's position. Dr. Fraser himself is the author of no acrimonious spirits, with no intention of accusing Dr. Fraser of "bigotry" or "Modernism". I merely quote it and leave your readers to judge where Dr. Fraser stands between "Fundamentalists" and the "Modernists".

"A sign of the times is that thoughtful men are forsaking the church, because they are not intellectually ministered to. They find that the pulpit uses other making emotional appeals with little regard for scientific accuracy of statement; or that they are using the old terminology in which has not meaning to the modern mind. Our best religious leaders are feeling the urgency of training our preachers in modern criticism, the new psychology the latest science, in order that they may not insult the intelligence of their educated hearers."

The above is an extract from a sermon recently delivered by Principal Fraser in Knox Church, St. John, New Brunswick and published in the local papers. If I were asked whether I would class Dr. Fraser as a "Modernist," I would reply that he thus classifies himself in the above statement, but every reader has the right of private interpretation.

Let those Presbyterians whose minds have been disturbed by the accusation of "Modernism" against the United Church ask themselves whether they are strengthening their position as "fundamentalists" be leaving their sheep exposed by a new denomination under the leadership of Dr. Fraser.

Employment Bureau Work

BY

L. T. GREEN

If an Employment Office Superintendent receives an order to deliver a dozen or more men by aeroplane to fight a raging forest fire, he is not surprised. If a departmental store asks him to assist in dispelling the illusions of youth by hiring someone to impersonate old St. Nicholas he is likewise not perturbed. If a call comes for a "two-thinker" the Superintendent at once recognizes this as one of the many occupants in a paper mill rather than as an evidence of a mental or physical disability. In fact any request for help, however unusual it may appear at first glance, has only to be regarded by members of the Employment Service of Canada as merely a part of their own interesting occupation. Forest fire fighters have been unpacked by aeroplane from the lonely depths of the Service's domain. The same men obtained in two different cities in Ontario; while the "two-thinker" is retired for throughout Canada whenever pulp wood becomes paper.

But among these post-war years the citizens of Canada have come to face with the problem of unemployment, in all parts here, but only a comparatively small proportion are aware that some cases throughout the Dominion, machinery exactly equipment in all our plants is manned by Government unions maintained by the Employment Service of Canada through its Employment Service under the department of Labour.

The Employment in Service owes its inception largely to the report of the Special Commission on Unemployment which was issued in the year 1916 as a result of an exhaustive study of the question by the Commission during the previous year.

Each week to the war there were years in which the workers were most in excess of the jobs available, but our of the depression of 1913-14 strikes came to a head and the Federal and provincial Governments were forced to appoint commissions to enquire into the cause causes and make recommendations. In Ontario the recommendations made by the Commission were largely adopted by the Provincial Government, based somewhat on the experiences of the national system of labor exchanges of the United Kingdom which had been a successful operation during a period of nearly four years.

However, some of employment bureaus had previously been carried on by various agencies, notably by the Immigration branch of the Department of Agriculture, but their efforts were confined to the interception of farm hands at the Province of Quebec, however had practically ceased by 1910, and when they war broke out offices for the placement of workers were in operation at Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrooke. Municipal employment bureaus had been in existence, but their work was largely on a charitable basis.

It was therefore with the idea of coordinating all these separate endeavors that the Government of Canada established in 1918 a Dominion-wide organization to be known as the Employment Service of Canada, embracing within its fold all the employment activities carried on by various Government departments, both Federal and Provincial. The Act providing for a division of the costs as between the Government of Ottawa and the Government of the Provinces, but with complete co-operation and unity in the hands of each Provincial Government in every instance.

The system has grown till in 1924 there are 65 offices located in all the principal centres of the Dominion, with headquarters at Ottawa; with General Superintendents in six provinces with provincial clearing houses in the principal cities of the province and with interprovincial clearing houses at Ottawa for Eastern Canada and at Winnipeg for the West.

When an applicant registers in a local office the interviewer asks the question: "Are you willing to go to the North?" If the reply is in the affirmative, there is set in motion the machinery intended for fitting him into a job which may be waiting for him at some distant place, and of which he would never have known had it not been for the clearance system of the Employment Service. This service has brought together, with the minimum of delay, the employer seeking workers and the workers seeking jobs. A reduced railway fare formerly only to those who have secured through the Employment Service positions more than 117 miles from the office, greatly facilitates the movement of labor from point to point.

An erroneous impression regarding the Service is abroad and has become one of too firmly established. In many people's minds employment offices are associated with crowds of out-of-work belonging to the army of the so-called unskilled group. While it is true that the employment offices do serve this class very largely it is also true that many placements are made of highly skilled and highly paid executives, such a factory managers, salesmen, electrical engineers, etc., etc., as well as office help of all kinds, accountants, book-keepers, stenographers, etc.

The clientele of the Service is not confined to men, however, for the offices in the larger centres have attached to them a special section, dealing exclusively with female workers and staffed with experts in placing women and girls in suitable employment, while the small or offices emphasize this feature with their regular work.

Without wearying the reader with a mass of statistics, it might be pointed out that during the year 1923 the Employment Service was successful in placing some 462,000 persons in employment, of this number 109,642 were placed by the offices in Ontario.

The ordinary government department has a monopoly in whatever service it is rendering, such as mail delivery or customs collections. There is no monopoly connected with the handling of work and workers together, however, and it is an indication of a growing public confidence in the Employment Service that the number of employers and workers who make use of its facilities is greater each succeeding year. The part which an organized real co-operative service can play in reducing unemployment is relatively smaller recognition every month and the time will no doubt come when the functions of the Service will be as well understood by every citizen as the functions of the post office, or any other service-rendering branch of governmental activity.

Charged He Killed Twenty-seven Boys

German is on Trial For Many Brutal Murders

Hanover, Germany, Dec. 11.—Twice he called for a minister in order to confess, and each time the clergyman refused to answer, Fritz Haarmann, known of many murders, revealed in court yesterday.

The assertion was confirmed by police witnesses.

Testimony seemed to support the impression that Haarmann was a fiend in the hands of Lust Gruse, who played with human's money and later he gave her bodies with flesh on them.

Mockery of Gratitude

To the testimony of two scientists who examined bottles containing fat and testified it was impossible to determine whether it was human, Haarmann bowed mock gratitude and said:

"Thank you."

Although 105 witnesses will be heard, including the fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters of most of the twenty-seven youths he is charged with butchering.

Public excitement was at fever pitch Monday, many of prevalent rumor that the relatives of some victims had sworn to take justice into their own hands and kill Haarmann if the slightest opportunity came.

A policeman stood in front of the prisoner all day.

To Identify Skulls

Mothers of slain persons will be asked to identify clothing.

All of the witnesses yesterday, even the women, were thoroughly searched for weapons. The police spoke about the old court building were tripled.

The judge is swamped with requests of women's clubs and medical societies to exhibit the public from the hearing and to prevent pointing of details.

POLISH DEPUTIES ABUSE PRIVILEGE

Warsaw, Dec. 12—The 444 deputies and 111 senators all enjoy the privilege of free travel on Polish railways. In this way a good part of the time of Polish deputies is spent in trips all over the country having no relation whatever to legislative duties.

Objection having been raised in parliament to the privilege, it is believed that Poland will eventually abolish free passes of members of parliament only when they are proceeding to or coming from the capital.

Although it has been customary for the heirs of the throne of Great Britain to marry nobility, the Prince of Wales could lawfully marry a commoner without its affecting his inheritance of the Crown.

The apple tree is the longest lived of Canadian or American fruit trees. In many parts of the east it is not unusual to find trees healthy and bearing fruit at the age of 100 years.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

It was not of the little god rank that were to be here she thought, but of Cecil's love, and she stretched her long white arms out toward Fairies Towers, with a yearning gesture, murmuring, "My love, my love!"

The morning broke, not brightly and sunnily, but in fitful gleams glancing through khrew clouds; and when she came downstairs she found a yellow telegram envelope beside her plate.

It was from Jeffrey, saying that the merest chance he had spoken of had occurred, and that he had been detained the night, but that he would catch the eleven o'clock train, and asking her to meet him.

Her face brightened as she read it. Yes, she would meet him, and as they walked through the woods from the station, she would tell him of her strange meeting with Lord Neville and all that had sprung from it, and then they both could go and meet Cecil by the brook.

She hurried through a mere pretense of a breakfast, and putting on her hat and jacket, set out.

The day had cleared somewhat, and the sun, shining through the spaces of blue, touched the green leaves with a dazzling sheen.

As she went toward the meadows, her heart beat with an anticipation of joy, her mind was hard at work.

Perhaps, after all, Jeffrey would not be much mind her giving up the stage and the career for which he had so carefully prepared her. It was her happiness he had been seeking under her happiness, and when he learned that it was bound up in her love for Cecil Neville, he would not refuse his consent on the only chance in the way.

Looking at it in this hopeful fashion, she reached a spot where the footpath branched in two directions—one led to the brook ,the other to the railway station.

She stopped and glanced at the path to the brook wistfully; perhaps Cecil was already waiting for her. Consulting her tiny watch—a present from Jeffrey—she saw that there was just time to go round by way of the brook, and, with a heightened color and eager eyes, she took the path that led thither.

"After all," she murmured, when she reached the bank, and looked round upon the unbroken solitude; "I might have waited! He is not here! I dare say he has not finished his breakfast yet; and yet, if he knew that I was here——"

She sat down on the bank, and gazed dreamily about her. The brook rabbling at her feet; the branches of the trees waving solemnly above her head; the very air seemed eloquent of the lover who had stolen her heart and absorbed her life, and she fell into a delicious reverie. Then, suddenly, her eyes fell upon the big round stone at the foot of the tree, and a smile broke over her face.

"What a foolish, romantic girl he must have thought me," she murmured; "as if he would let anything prevent him coming."

As she spoke she rose, and, almost mechanically, knelt down and turned the stone over.

Then, with a start, she woke, for there lay a white envelope.

She took it up and gazed at it, turning it over and over, a dull, heavy disappointment weighing upon her, and examined the address, and the elaborate crest stamped on the back.

"Then it was not so romantic or foolish," she murmured, sorrowfully. "He is not coming!"

She sank down upon the bank, and looked before her with a vacant air the envelope still unopened. "He is coming! Not coming!" It was like the announcement of some terrible calamity.

Then, suddenly, hope sprang into her bosom.

"He has written to tell me why he cannot come," she said to herself, and the color rushed back into her face. "Yes, that is it! He has been prevented—his uncle, the marquis! Something has prevented him, and he has just written to tell me when he can come, and when I shall see him."

She tore the envelope open, and something fell upon the grass. She leaned forward and picked it up; it was the old pearl ring she had given to him.

She looked at it, turning it over with a vague aching sense of disappointment and trouble.

"My ring!" she murmured. "My ring! Now, what does this mean?" then her face brightened. "Ah, yes, he has sent it to remind me of yesterday!"

Eagerly she opened the letter, and her lovely eyes seemed to devour it; but as she read they grew dim and hazy, and she swept her hand across them with an impatient gesture.

"I—I can't read!" she murmured piteously. "I can't read it!" Her hands closed tightly on the thick, smooth sheet of notepaper, and she set her teeth hard. "I must be mad—yes, that is it! Let me wait a moment. Now!" and she bent forward, and, with knitted brows, read it out word by word, slowly, painfully, like a child reading a repugnant task.

Is Literary Gem In Motion Pictures

"The Age of Innocence" Something Well Worth Seeing

Literary gem in motion pictures! This statement may sound a bit strong but "The Age of Innocence," which opened a three day run at the Griffis Theatre last night, is not "another one of those pictures made from a book." On the contrary it is Edith Wharton's greatest novel come to life, a breathing vibrant thing of emotional and social struggle for love, untrammeled by narrow conventions.

It is a picture that will find instant appeal with all movie goers, containing, as it does, the elements of drama, exotic romance, vivid beauty and its evitable realism brilliantly interwoven and enacted on the screen by a host of Warner players, which, as usual, means the best in histrionic talent.

Beverly Bayne in the leading role of the Russian Countess Olenska is unbelievably lovely to look at and her interpretation of this character is nothing short of an artistic triumph. Playing the central part of her leading man to this picture appears Willard Louis in perhaps a very happy combination, by matching Beverly Bayne, in personalities by his own restrained acting and sympathetic personality, a third outstanding player is Willard Louis, the "Blutcher" of the story, who gives many laughable interludes by his inimitable drollery.

This latest Warner Classic was directed by Wesley Ruggles, and shows the results of some masterly work on the production. Under Otza Printzlau is the one responsible for the translation of the book onto the screen, with unmistakable success.

"The Age of Innocence" is actually a photoplay that no one should miss!

Use the large variety of pears canned in halves and drain off the syrup. Stick the round side of each pear half with salted almonds, giving the appearance of a prickly pear. Arrange two halves in each individual serving dish and pour some of the syrup around them. Salted peanuts may be used instead of almonds and are just as nice and less expensive. Halve the peanuts and insert the pointed end in the pears.

WANT NOTHING BUT JAZZ AT BERLIN

Berlin, Dec. 12—All the leading critics of Germany are having an epidemic of revues on the stage, and the oldtime actors who have nothing to offer the revue managers are in despair. With the exception of Shaw's Saint Joan there is today no new outstanding dramatic production to be seen in Berlin, and revues and moving picture houses monopolize the theatrical advertising.

The popular shows offer jazz bands and a great variety of foreign dancers, and are giving Germany a medley of London, Paris and New York.

CANADA EXPORTING MORE CANNED GOODS

Champion Wheat Grower Explains

First Prize Wheat 10 Years ago Would Come 16th Now

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Montreal, Dec. 13.—Wheat is growing bigger and better, year by year, claims J. C. Mitchell of Algona, Alberta, whose declared the world's champion wheat grower at the Chicago Live Stock Show, who is on his way to the old country on a demonstration tour.

With him at Mr. Mitchell who saved the coveted honor for the family this year by the spectacular rescue of their crop from threatened destruction by rain.

Each year makes a difference, he said, when interviewed at Canadian Pacific headquarters yesterday. Exhibits which came 15th and 20th now would have won first prize twelve years ago.

The secret of bigger grain, he said, is selecting the grain. Only by picking out the biggest and best in the growing can you produce something better than other growers. This selection takes time but is eminently worth while. The select wheat is not put through a machine, Mr. Mitchell said, but is picked by hand or trampled by horses. While in England Mr. Mitchell hopes to meet Prof Boffin of Cambridge, who has originated the finest winter wheat and now expects to concentrate on spring wheat and, various varieties.

Miss Bondfield Makes Her Report

Finds Conditions For Old Country Children Are Adequate

London, December, 13.—Miss Margaret Bondfield, who was parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Labor in the Labor Cabinet, and who recently headed a delegation to Canada for the purpose of studying child settlement, issued her report. The document stressed the fact that the Dominion of Canada is entirely responsible for the final selection of the children settling in the country, although in various parts of Canada, Miss Bondfield says, the immigration and the British authorities are responsible and that Canada is not used as a dumping ground for undesirables.

The report sets out that the delegation visited many children in homes and conversed individually and privately with them, and in no case was the visit of the British Government officials expected. It says that the demand in Canada for children from Great Britain is due in a few cases to the genuine desire of childless persons to have a child as a member of their family, but in the vast majority of cases the child is required as a source of cheap labor.

DIDN'T DODGE DUNCALFE!

On Wednesday afternoon, Chief of Police Charles Duncalfe received information from the Ontario Dept. to be on the lookout for a five passenger Dodge touring car bearing U. S. number 38-5000, engine 68650, which had booked in from Warsaw N.Y., but failed to check out in the required time. On Thursday morning the Chief saw the car safely cleared by Campbellford pending further advice. It appears that the car had been sold to a farmer residing near Blairton for less than half its value and the new owner making inquiries regarding Canadian markets furnished a clue which led to the recovery. As all parties connected with the deal are known, prosecution will follow at an early date.

"Battle of Music" Required Police

Rival Bands in Endurance Competition Became Unruly

Manilla, Dec. 12—Rivalry between two brass bands became so keen during a concert at Paris, Ont., last evening, it is said, that it was deemed necessary by the authorities to call out a detachment of constabulary and the entire police force of the town to preserve order.

The reason for this display of force was that the concert was a contest in ability and endurance between the bands, one from Tilsdrove, a nearby town, and another from Kawit, Cavite, the home of General Manuel Arnaiado, who were there in force, ready to defend their organization with fists if music failed. After playing more than 300 pieces during the contest which lasted from seven o'clock Friday evening until daylight the next Sunday morning, the bands agreed to call the contest a draw, thereby avoiding any disturbance. There were no judges at the affair, it being the custom in these contests for the bands to play until one admits defeat, frequently from exhaustion. The two organizations, which are considered among the best in the Philippines, have met on at least three previous occasions, and each time the result has been a draw.

One of the rules of the contests is that all selections must be played from memory without written music. Endurance and memory are tested to the utmost. One band plays five pieces and then the other has its turn. This program continues without intermission, day and night, until one side is beaten.

"Playing from memory has been an acquisition of Filipino musicians from Spanish times. Recalling an incident at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, where the Philippine Constabulary band played, a member of that organization said that the lights went out one night, while the band was giving a concert, and that when the power was turned on the music continued without a break. He said the band finished the piece and continued to play until the lights went on again.

Throwing "Babbit" On Silver Screen

Sinclair Lewis Novel is Attraction at Griffin On Monday

United States is made up of millions of "Babbitts." They are the backbone of that country; the practical schemers of commercial progress and civic development. But—in spite of their materialism, their souls crave the beauty and romance their lives have no place for.

The home of a "Babbitt" is the middle-class home built their presidents, judges, artists and literati have been built, and it is no less a photo-play than the Warner Bros.' latest picture, "Babbitt," as adapted from the great Sinclair Lewis novel of the same name that will be shown at the Griffin Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Deservedly, the book "Babbitt" has been acclaimed the greatest Republic novel, depicting, as it does, the life of Geo. F. Babbitt, his home, his family circle, his business and his friends, which is typical of the great army of Americans that make up the backbone of this tremendous country of ours.

Against a background of days that follow each other in a grey monotony of drab, petty routine, Geo. F. Babbitt finds his wife and family a constant source of irritation, and his life a dreary burden that threatens to kill his soul.

The role of Babbitt," as portrayed by Willard Louis on the screen, is a living picture of the pedlum common to all of us. Has romance a place in our lives? Babbitt is a bustling, prosperous real estate broker and a worshipper of Success, Ohio. A dutiful husband and father, he chafes under the ever-growing din of continuous quarrel and recrimination in his home and longs to be free to taste the joys he dreams of in his heart.

One imporiant fact that promises a picture of unusual merit is that Harry Beaumont, who directed the first Sir Gilbert Lewis novel, "Main Street," for Warner Bros., has also been erected to direct "Babbitt," and his summing up of this newest Classic of the Screen is very interesting.

James Myles of Sarnia wanted shelter at the police office and was not particular about the means. He broke a window in the Kinsella store and then walked across the street to the police station. Yesterday Magistrate Ponton Gorman authorized the jail authorities to take care of Myles for six months.

WATCH FOR THE MAIL MAN

MRS. PHILLIPS HONORED

About twenty-five members of the W. W. Club gathered at the home of Mrs. M. A. Ashley, 22 Pine street to spend a sociable evening in honor of her anniversary. The business of the club was conducted by Mr. W. Ashley in his usual manner. Games were indulged in Miss H. Fenn, Mr. M. Locke, Mrs. F. Miller carried away the prizes of the evening. Mrs Phillips was asked to listen to an address read by Mrs. E. Fenn while Mrs. E. Fisher presented her with a beautiful cut glass fruit bowl on behalf of the club. Though taken by surprise, Mrs. Phillips replied in a suitable manner. A dainty lunch was then served after which pro-radio furnished the rest of the program. The members then dispersed.

Statesmen Now Go Clean Shaven

European Leaders Discard Crop of Imperial Whiskers

Vienna, Dec. 13.—Style introduced into Europe during the war, by the clean-shaven men of England and America, together with the safety razor, have made trouble for European statesmen. There was hardly almost all the monarchs and statesmen of this part of the world were whiskered, and their faces were consequently relatively easy to copy or burlesque; but to-day King George of England and King Ferdinand of Rumania are the only bewhiskered rulers who cling to European thrones, and the latter is so over-shadowed by beautiful Queen Marie that he seldom figures in the world news.

There was a fine crop of imperial whiskers when the Great War began, but death and revolution removed and put to flight many of the bearded kings. Where democracy failed to remove them into power, older place precedents made way for clean-shaven men.

Among the bearded men of prominence to-day, whose faces are hard to caricature, are Friedrich Ebert, president of Germany, and Chancellor Marx; Herriott, prime minister of France; and the kings of Scandinavia, Belgium, Spain and Italy.

Mustapha Kemal, of Turkey, wears no beard and trims his moustache so closely that there is no excuse to give it an upper twist with a view to converting him into a terrible Turk with a knife in his teeth.

In fact, Europe is now quite generally ruled by men whose everyday appearance is regular and cheap, and lack the eccentricities and peculiarities which cartoonists thrive on. Even European diplomats have given up crooking out their arms and walking with a stoop and a limp. The monocle is relegated to prominent families which are no longer pensive, and fast-stepping young democrats and taking the places of the orats are taking the places of the white-spatted old-timers who were such excellent targets for the shafts of artists and dramatists.

HOUSE MAY NOT OPEN UNTIL FEBRUARY 1ST

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—January 22, as the approximate date for the opening of parliament, now appears to be too early an estimate. January 29, or even the first week in February appears to be more likely as the time for the opening ceremonies. Later dates are more probable in view of the fact that the cabinet has not yet completed the estimates for 1925. Last year parliament met on February 25, and in the previous year at the end of January.

Premier King has intimated that it will likely be early in February before parliament gets down to work. In this case the official opening would take place on Tuesday, January 27, followed by the customary week end adjournment until Monday, February 2, when the debate on the speech from the throne would commence. The summoning of parliament is always announced in the Canada Gazette one month before the actual date.

GERMAN TRAGEDY STRETCHES AFAR

New York, Dec. 13.—The sorrow and mental agony resulting from domestic perpetrated by Fritz Haarmon, Hanover butcher, were found to have reached as far as Staten Island, where the mother of one of his victims lives.

Put at Jakin Avenue, in the little community of Port Richmond, Mrs. Wilhelmina Grabsdorf is seriously ill as the result of the discovery that her boy Richard Fox one of the dozens of young men who became the prey of Haarmon "the vampire."

News of the death of her son, one of five children by the first marriage, came to Mrs. Drasdorff from another son, Otto, twenty-six, who wrote her that the clothes of Richard had been sold by Haarmon to a second-hand dealer and identified by him at the trial, and that the prisoner had confessed Richard Fox was slain by him.

"I never knew my boy knew this man Haarmon," she added. "We used to know loon as a detective on the Hanover force, and never dreamed he was the foul butcher he has turned out to be.

English Collector Finds Rare Books

Lionel Robinson Finds Old Chest Full of Rare Treasures

Newcastle, Eng., Dec. 13.—A number of rare old-world books, found quite by chance, are now on view in the Armstrong College of Science. They were discovered by Lionel Robinson, an expert who, visiting Wreburgh Priory, near Cranold, for the purchase of interesting volumes obtained information which led to his visiting another ancient domicile in the neighborhood.

Here, near the reputed tomb of Oliver Cromwell, Mr. Robinson found an old chest full of rare treasures, such as editions of Dante and Petrach, examples of fifteenth century printing by the first craftsmen in Rome, and specimens of the work of the great Venetian printers. There was also an interesting volume in small quarto, "Book of Hours," once in the possession of Mary, Queen of Scots, written on vellum partly in Latin and partly in French, with a peculiar work binding and ornamented with silver thread, supposedly the work of Queen Mary herself. Manuscript works included a 13th century "Vulgate" written in minute characters on vellum, with illuminated initials and other decorations dated 1321; "Speculum Vitae," a 14th century "officium Beatae Mariae," and a French "Almanach de Rose."

Other rare volumes included three folio copies of the "Bible," printed by Bodini at Parma; a folio of the opera "Lactantius," printed in Rome in 1465 with magnificent illustrations; an unusually rare illuminated manuscript "The Office of the Blessed Virgin"; the first edition of "Apollinaris Sidonius," printed in Milan in 1498, and the opera "Poliziano," a production of the Aldine Press printer in Venice.

Most of these volumes were collected by the First Earl of Guernsey, Ambassador at Venice, who married Mary, daughter of Oliver Cromwell, in 1657.

GRAPE GROWERS GET $105,000 PROFITS

St. Catharines, Dec. 13.—Approximately $105,000 was handed out to grape growers and shipping members by the Niagara District Grape Growers, Ltd., the co-operative selling concern of Niagara grape belt men, representing the second and final payment on the season's output. The grape men met in Queen's Hall, and it was the largest meeting of Niagara grape growers ever held in St. Catharines.

The season of 1924 has been a fairly profitable one, in spite of somewhat low prices, it was announced. During the year 770 cars of grapes were sold, as against 600 cars last year, an increase of 170 cars, or 1,700 tons. The shareholders this year received $40.70 a ton for grapes in baskets and $44 for winery grapes. Last year the shareholders got more, $53 for winery grapes and $39 for basket grapes. The difference represented the cost of baskets.

The reason for the lower prices paid members this year was the lower market prices and the fact that members were taxed extra to cover liabilities of the company. There are in the concern 500 shareholders and 800 shipping members.

A Scott's farmer employed a hand whose name was Smelly. Here Smelly said he one day, "pang iron" and gir the cows a calabaz each but mind ye the biggest to the cow that gives mair milk." Smelly departed in full confidence of his labors. Up a his return the farmer asked him if he had done as he was told and had divided out the calabazes according to merit. "Aye, maister," replied Smelly. "I sied roon a calabaz a head and hunt the biggest o the pump handle."

Who Will Take Astor Portrait?

Problem Amuses British House of Commons These Days

London, Dec. 13—An amusing dilemma has arisen over the disposition of Lady Astor's portrait which hangs on one of the staircases of the House of Commons. The picture was presented to Parliament by Lord Astor, with the approval of a former Government but parliament has found that it is "undesirable as a matter of principle" that pictures or statues of living persons should be displayed there.

During the controversy which leaked out some weeks ago the picture was covered with cloth and it still hangs under this shroud, neither Lord Astor nor the First Commissioner of Works Lord Peel, being willing to remove it. Lord Astor says it is not at his disposal, as it was accepted by the Commissioner of Works of the last Conservative Government while Lord Peel says he has no power to dispose of it and nowhere to send it.

Lady Astor is not as the least concerned over the fuss, and said laughingly to the newspaper men: "It has nothing to do with me. The House of Commons accepted it; let them do what they like with it."

It is reported that a request has been received for transference of the portrait to Washington. The city of Plymouth also wants it for its art gallery, and the present expectation is that Plymouth will get it.

Your Health

BEWARE OF EYE STRAIN IT AFFECTS THE WHOLE BODY

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

"Among the organs of the body requiring care, are the Eyes. They must be looked after or trouble is inevitable. There is no question that Cataract, Glaucoma (a very serious disease) and detachment of the Retina, are sometimes related to neglect of the eyes. Headaches, Neuralgia, pain in back of the neck, sickness of the stomach, dizziness, twitching of the lids redness of the eyes, a feeling of sand under the lids. All of these are among occasional symptoms of Eye Strain.

Many an office worker or business man has grown ineffective because of Eye Strain. The sufferer may not know what is wrong, he only knows he cannot concentrate, he dislikes his work, is cross and irritable. All these symptoms may be signs of Eye Strain. Each of us has just so much Nervous Energy, if we use it up fighting our Eyes to see, we have No energy left to do other things. You should have your eyes examined at least every two years, after forty certainly this is a necessity. Don't neglect your Eyes, they may be the centre of trouble which will spread out over the whole body.

Our personal experience with many patients verifies, and intensifies the above statements. But we quote this Medical Authority, thinking, some people might give more heed to the facts. We find two conditions in particular, that predispose the troubles stated above.

(1) Going too long without Glasses, (2) Wearing Glasses too long without changing.

The Common Stockholders of The Canadian Pacific

OWNERS of ordinary and preferred shares of the Company are the actual owners of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They own $260,000,000 of common stock and $93,335,000 of preferred shares.

The common stockholders have paid for their shares an average of $112 per share, and contributed out of surpluses which belonged to them, $31 per share, or $143 per share, a total of $371,800,000 in cash.

From 1902 to 1914, inclusive, the Company expended for double tracking, reduction of grades, terminals, freight yards, shops and other improvements chargeable to capital, $336,000,000.

Of that sum, $262,100,000 was paid by shareholders for $195,000,000 of stock, par value, or over $134 per share.

From 1899 to 1923 the Company's mileage increased from 7,000 to 13,600 miles included in the traffic returns, while the annual fixed charges were increased by only $6,650,000 more than in 1899. The bonded debt was reduced from $47,000,000 to $3,650,000.

Earnings of the road have made available for distribution to the common shareholders as much as 13 per cent on their shares, but only 7 per cent has ever been paid in dividends and the balance has always been added to surplus. No more than 7 per cent ever has been paid in dividends out of railway earnings and that 7 per cent dividend is equivalent to less than 2 per cent on the cost of the railway.

Hundreds of millions from the shareholders' surpluses have been spent on capital improvements, and that is one reason why the capitalization of the Company is at least $200,000,000 less than the actual value of the property, why fixed charges are kept so low that the public can and does get the benefit of lower freight and passenger rates than those of the United States—rates as low or lower than those in any other country in the world.

This, in face of the fact that wages in Canada are as high as those of the United States, that the costs of rails, fuel and other supplies are higher in Canada, and that the ratio of population to mileage of railway is lower than in any other country.

Canadian Pacific financial policies have benefited every citizen of Canada, and shareholders' co-operation in those policies has given Canadians the lowest freight and passenger rates on the continent.

Games Important In N. H. L. Tonight

If Canadiens Win They Will Be Tied For First

To-night's two games in the National Hockey League stand out as the most important to date in the schedule. Two league-leading Hamilton Tigers play their nearest rivals, the world's champion Canadiens at the Mount Royal arena, Montreal, while the new Maroons' team clashes with the reorganized Toronto St. Patricks at Toronto. Thus come together here the two clubs battling for the premier honors, while at the Queen City two of the more lowly clubs in the standing cattle, and both organizations will have a direct bearing on the standing.

Victory for Hamilton here will give them their fifth straight win and a commanding lead of two games over Canadiens, while a win for the Stanley Cup holders will place them on an even basis with Jimmy Gardner's Hamiltonians for first laurels.

Victory for St. Patricks will send the Toronto team into a good third position, while a win for the Maroons would send the newcomers to the ice cup to take the third place and place the sextette coached by Eddie Powers in fifth position. Games are also today, playing their scheduled fixture Monday night at the United States city.

Hockey Notes

Several players who have joined teams or who intend to join teams in the Border Cities Hockey league will be declared ineligible if the league is to maintain a purely amateur standing and keep its affiliation with Ontario Hockey Association, it was announce by A. A. Pilkington, president. These cases will be discussed at the next meeting of the league.

The University of Syracuse will send their senior hockey team to Smith's Falls on December 29th, when they will play an exhibition game with the local team. Arrangements are also under way for an exhibition game with Hull, to be played during the Christmas holidays, the date to be fixed later.

The Trent Valley Hockey league has completed its schedule and everything is in readiness for the opening games, which will be held on January 5. The league champions will play the O.H.A. intermediate series. Hastings, Campbellford, Havelock and Tweed are represented.

O. H. A. clubs are again reminded that they must make application to the secretary, W. A. Hewitt, Daily Star, Toronto, for permission to play exhibition games. Some members of the association have not been living up to this rule, and they might get themselves in trouble.

Harris, the St. Mary's sub-goalie, is a real find. He has four more years in junior hockey.

The Boston Hockey Club was defeated by the Boston Maples by a score of 5 to 3, in a C.S.A.H.A. game at the Hub. "Ty" Smith, former Hamilton star, is captain of the defeated club.

Brandon isn't worrying over the loss of several stars to the pro ranks. They still have sixteen high class players practicing daily.

While the Aura Lee trip to Sault Ste. Marie has been canceled, it is intended to send the Peterboro' team to the Soo later in the season.

Queens and Royal Military College opened the new Jack Harty arena at Kingston with a tie game, 2-2.

The suggestion that a new four club league, consisting of London, Woodstock, Ingersoll and Tillsonburg, be formed has raised the interest in Ingersoll. It is proposed to have the league classed as intermediate and play independently. Should the proposition goes through, as is likely the home game of the London team would be played at Ingersoll.

The Stratford Indians open their home season on Monday night, when they will entertain the London seniors. The Londoners have secured a block of 200 seats for the contest.

TOOTS HOLWAY IS MAKING BIG HIT

In the N.H.L. game at Ottawa in which Toronto St. Pats slammed in 7 six goals to the Senators three "Toots" Holway, former Belleville player, showed well with the wingers, considering an enforced absence from the ice for 10 days through injuries. Holway gave Adams the pass which Toronto's first goal and near the end of the second netted the Irishmen's fourth

Campbellford Boys Are Coming Out

Number Have Signed Up For Junior O.H.A. Group

The hockeyists of Campbellford have decided to enter a team in the junior series and have been accepted in the O.H.A. The members of the team will pay their own transportation expenses in connection with out-of-town games all other expenses, such as referees' fees, meals, etc., will be paid by the club from the gate receipts.

We learn that a more satisfactory arrangement has been made with Mr. Covert for the rink. This with the new method of managing the financial affairs will place the boys in a much better position.

Already a number have signed up, making two complete teams for practice, so that there should be no difficulty in selecting a winning set of players.

In the games are Bellefeuil, Trenton, Picton, and Campbellford. The convenors meeting will be held in Trenton next week to form a schedule for the group. Among those who are listed for places on the local team are: Gord. Rush and Cousins, Fredrick Johnston, Ingram, Lemyre, Flint; forwards, Pearson, Wood, McArthur, Arthur, Hall, Cunningon. The boys would appreciate the service of a good coach for the season.

THINKS GROVES WILL MAKE THE ATHLETICS

New York, Dec. 13.—Having sold to Connie Mack and the Philadelphia "Lefty" Groves for $100,000 cash, president of the Baltimore Orioles, now is predicting the pennant for the Athletics.

"Groves will make the Athletics," Dunn told Connie Mack and some other baseball magnates. "Connie has a coming ball club, and one great pitcher in Bommels. Another great left-handed pitcher will put the Athletics across.

"Washington will not repeat and the Yanks will slip a little further next year. Detroit still lacks something; the Athletics should improve to such an extent next season that they will be able to drive through."

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon of representatives from Oxford and surrounding counties it was decided to establish a district market where cheese buyers can purchase the output, James Morrison, Mr. Elgin, was elected provincial president.

At a meeting of the Stratford Rotary Club, yesterday, a statement showed that the amount available for the crippled children and Summer camp purposes was $3,355.

Girl Athlete Will Try Channel Swim

Lillian Harrison of Buenos Aires Will Again Try to Accomplish Feat

Paris, Dec. 13.—The "Ville of Cross-Channel Swimmers" is the size of that town's home out above the door of a ten-room wooden building on the extreme point of Cape Gris-Nez. France's most advanced point of land into the English Channel.

So numerous have been the attempts at cross-channel swimming in recent years, and so limited are the accommodations of the two small hotels overlooking the straits at Gris-Nez, whence most of the swimmers take the water, that William T. Burgess, who swam the channel in 1911, has purchased a villa at the Cape with the intention of placing it at the disposal of future candidates for channel honors.

Miss Harrison, of Buenos' Aires, has rented four rooms in the villa where she and her daughter Lillian, who made an unsuccessful attempt to swim the Channel last summer, will take up their residence next July and await a favorable opportunity to try again.

Miss Harrison is at present in London, attending a physical culture school and training in view of her 1925 campaign.

Burgess, who has accompanied most of the successful and unsuccessful channel swimmers of late years, is confident that Miss Harrison can do it. She was going strong this year when she met with an unfortunate accident and, with one more year's training, he is confident that the daughter-in-law will prove be the first woman to negotiate the treacherous straits.

LLOYD GEORGE IS HOLDING HIS POWER

London, Dec. 12—Those who heard the debate in the House of Commons on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, despite differing in political complexion, are practically agreed in holding the attention of the House Lloyd George has lost little, if any, of his power, whether his popularity in the country is overclouded or not.

When Lloyd George followed the former premier, Bonnar Mor[illegible] in the debate, there was a visible awakening of interest in the House, which previously had betokened a rather bored appearance. Mr. MacDonald, on the other hand, in addition to his customary air of nervous acidity, showed that he was still suffering from the strain which undoubtedly to result in a breakdown before he resigned the premiership.

Neither children listened to the criticisms of these Opposition leaders [illegible] the rate of 56 cents a vote to conduct a national election.

If Your Skin Breaks Out Use Sulphur

Just the moment you apply Menth-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing else ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the extreme rage, up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Menth-Sulphur at any drug store.

EARLY MORNING MILKING

The Country Correspondent of the Picton Times, who is without a doubt one of the most interesting writers in the weekly field of Canada at the present time dropped from a serious subject to a good story in farm life this week. This is his tale:

"An amusing incident took place last week when the man of the house, anxious to have the cows milked on time, rose while it was yet dark. Scanning his timepiece he said: 'It is five o'clock I think I had better get up." The wife sleepily asked, "Are you sure it is five?"

Taking a second careful look at his watch, he answered, "Yes, that is the correct time.' Accordingly he dressed, lighted his lantern, and went to the barn. In due season the wakeful wife heard him return, but instead of lighting his kitchen fire, he made his way upstairs to his room, saying with a laugh, 'I've milked the cows early enough this morning.'

"How is that?" she inquired, 'Oh!' he answered with assumed cheerfulness, 'it is only one o'clock. The clock has just struck.

"I thought the cows were giving a small mess of milk this morning," he went on, 'but did not know the reason until I returned to the house.

"Needless to say he crept quietly into bed and slept soundly until day-break."

The country correspondent branched off into another discussion at this point much-to-our disappointment. We would have liked to have learned how the cow viewed the proceedings. That animal is noted for its long suffering, but there is always a limit to patience.

In justice to her sisters, she should have made a big kick.

PACIFIC MANOEUVRES

The commander in chief of the Japanese navy urges the people of his country not to become excited over the prospect of American fleet manoeuvres in the Pacific. He points out that such manoeuvres are merely the result of a natural and commendable desire on the part of the people of the United States to be ready for a possible emergency, and he adds that the Japanese navy is doing the very same thing, and from similar motives.

To many people this will seem on the common sense of the thing, so the Stratford Beacon-Herald declares. On others it will have a disquieting effect. The latter will naturally ask if it is to be the end of this manoeuvring. In the present state of feeling between the United States and Japan there may be no danger to be feared; but what about the future?

HITCHING TO A STAR

Plans for the Old Boys' Re-union, while yet in a very rough shape, indicate a program which will make the event stand out from the ordinary carnival carried out in Canadian cities.

Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., Whose vision is a decided asset to Belleville, and who is a publicity man of the highest type, has suggested that the Re-union be made a peace celebration of such an ambitious nature that it will attract thousands instead of hundreds.

Our Dominion and ten years of peace between the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada is indeed worthy of a real celebration. We believe that many in the United States would take a deep interest in the event. Such international organizations as Rotary and Rivards might co-operate on a large scale to ensure the success of the occasion.

Belleville is a splendid location for such a celebration, convenient for those everybody.

Mayor Mikel deserves the heartiest support of all in this.

NOT THE ONLY PEBBLE

Natives of this district take pride in the traditions of their ancestors, in the fact that there are so many descendants of the United Empire Loyalists in city, town and country. But lest we forget, the Board of Trade of Saint John, New Brunswick, has sent along a little booklet, showing a picture of the market slip, Saint John, New Brunswick and reminding us that on May 1783, Loyalist refugees landed there; this slip now stands, and founded the "Loyalist City" of Saint John.

This booklet, which is attractively arranged, gives a large array of facts concerning the progressive city. It is part of persistent effort on the part of the Easterners to let other Canadians know what a fine country they have down there.

WITH MEALS

The request made by a deputation of hotel men which waited upon members of the Ontario government, that the sale of native wine and 2¼ per cent. beer by weight, at meals, be permitted, is not an unreasonable request as the Hamilton, Ont., Herald stated a full-lipped salute upon the cheeks of his opponent. It is not.

Such kisses are more than misdemeanors. They're positively criminal.

MORDKIN TO LOPEZ

(New York Telegram and Mail)

An unprecedented deviation from the strict classic form of the traditional Russian ballet will be made tonight by Mikhail Mordkin in his newly conceived Jazz Ballet which is now incorporated in the new Winter Edition of the Greenwich Village Follies at the Winter Garden. Mordkin's first inauguration by the Jazz Ballet came unheavenly with his arrival in Amsterdam, although he had visited jazz bands abroad, the dancer declared he had never before heard such perfect syncopation as the American jazz bands achieve. Mordkin was particularly impressed with the jazz manoeuvres of Vincent Lopez and feels that the structure of his new Jazz Ballet has been derived from hearing the Lopez band at the Winter Garden every night.

HAVE BIG FORTUNE IN LIQUOR TO SELL

Quebec, Dec. 13.—Liquor seizures having a total estimated value of from $500,000 to $600,000 and constituting every known brand, many of the seizures having been effected as far back as two to three years ago are at present lying in the Customs examining warehouse in this city awaiting suitable offers from the Quebec Liquor Commission or other authorized parties, it was learned.

Quite a number of offers have been made in the past for the huge quantities of wet goods now on hand, but, according to the information given out, these quotations have been ridiculously low in comparison with the value of the liquor, and it is believed that the city can strike will be taken shortly to dispose of the large stock under terms cold factory to all concerned.

Windsor Chamber of Commerce will, in a day or two, start a drive for the abolition of the municipal income tax on the ground that it cannot be equitably administered.

"Sickness Stalked into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harvey moved into his pretty white-washed cottage, he thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife said that they positively topped their pleasure, they were so happy. Jim's cup overflowed right from the start.

But the happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harvey. "It's just a pain in my back, maybe," she complained at first. But the pain grew more and more severe, and she had to go to bed, so he called in a doctor. The doctor blamed it on "nerves" and advised a complete examination. This revealed the fact that appendicitis, who quickly confirmed the diagnosis. Then followed a visit from the hospital for Mrs. Harvey, and a period of hopeless misery, but cheer was forthcoming. Operation was declared the doctor, "a year's treatment at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives is required." Mrs. Harvey's heart sank within her. "Oh, doctor, is there no other way—no delay?"

A kindly neighbor is taking care of the baby boy while Jim is "keeping house" by himself. Every time he does the pantries he sees a letter from Mrs. Harvey, and he looks forward to getting back the health that he knows is in Mrs. Harvey's heart. All the letters will cease for she is almost cured. Consumption has but little time to the end.

Would you wish to have a hand in such worthwhile work? Then please send your contributions to Hon. W. A. Charlton, Treasurer, 347 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

To-day's Smile

A man was arguing that Aberdonians had no sense of humor, and instanced a case where a man entered a cigar shop and was told by the dealer that if he bought 2000 cigars of certain brand he would get a pen and ink stand. "And another service, if 2000 he would get a gold watch, and if 2000 a grand piano.

"And," added the customer, "if I smoke the 2000 I shall probably get a harp."

The story was told to a man in Aberdeen, and it did not raise a smile. Two days afterwards the Aberdonian called upon the story-teller and said, "I see that joke of yours. It would be so much easier to carry a harp than a grand piano."

A man was in ekort this morning for the twenty-sixth time this year and was taxed $2 in ten days for assault. He boasts that he is the banner thirty, as his reputation is at stake.

Here and There

Of the 30,000 harvesters who went west this summer over Canadian Pacific lines, 14,000 are known to have returned east, according to C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, and it is thought that many others have returned, while several Americans are believed to have accepted positions in the west for the winter.

An indication of the increase in the value of effects being brought into Canada from the United States is shown in the latest report to the Department of Trade and Commerce. For April 1 to September 30, effects so classified were valued at $3,129,333, as compared with $2,666,467 in the same period last year, an increase of $462,872.

A feature which will add greatly to the attractions of Vancouver, B.C., as a winter resort, to say nothing of increasing its summer attractions, will be the new golf course to be laid out there at a cost of $120,000, exclusive of land. Work on the course will commence next spring. Fees will be merely nominal, fifty cents being charged for an 18-hole round, $2.50 for a month's play and $20 for a year. Play will be open to any member of the public.

Immigrants entering Canada during the 12 months ending October 31, 1924, totalled 134,185, as compared with 89,744 for the corresponding period of 1922-1923, according to the Department of Immigration and Colonization. These figures are more encouraging in that they include the number of Canadians emmigrating to the United States has to some extent decreased, while the number arriving from the United States is on the increase, according to the department.

On November 29th, Hon. Marqueen Shaughnessy, son and heir of the late Lord Shaughnessy, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, performed the launching and christening ceremony at the Clydebank yards of John Brown & Co., when the new Canadian Pacific S.S. Princess Marguerite, named in honor of Princess Patricia's sister, was slipped into the water. The Princess Marguerite is the second of the two vessels recently ordered by the Canadian Pacific for the company's British Columbia coastal service.

An entirely new service between Montreal, Winnipeg and Winnipeg, operating on the fastest schedule yet established for these cities, was instituted by the Canadian Pacific Railway on December 4. The new train, leaving Montreal at 8.15 p.m. daily, will reach Winnipeg at 9.45 a.m. daily, reaches Winnipeg at 9 a.m. 39 hours, 45 minutes after leaving Montreal and 36 hours 15 minutes after leaving Toronto. Express shippers are especially benefitted, as shipments reach the terminal cities in time for delivery on the second day after leaving, instead of on the third as formerly. Passengers gain a business day and earlier connections for more distant points, on reaching their destinations. As the eastbound train of this service connects direct with the Ocean Limited for Quebec city, passengers and express bound for that point also gain greatly by reduced time.

GASOLINE TAX

Ottawa Journal

And now we're to have a tax on gasoline. That is bad enough, but it will be worse if the Government doesn't see to it that the tax isn't taken advantage of to boost gasoline prices higher than the new levy warrants. The sort of thing has happened in Canada before.

"After the second or third glass," said the man of affairs, "I don't answer a letter as they are never answered!"

Queen Victoria stories appear to be unending and the latest one is an annual fresh crop of them. The Earl of Meath, who knew Queen Anne, is the inevitable and written his memoirs, tells of a dinner party he was a member of a party on the royal yact. The queen was served on deck. She noticed that the sailors were gathering in groups and talking and looking at her. She summoned the captain and asked what was the matter, was there a mutiny?

He replied: "No, ma'am, but Your Majesty is sitting just over the keg of rum, and this is the time when each sailor usually obtains a tot, and they cannot enjoy it unless Your Majesty moves."

So the queen moved.

THE RED TERROR

New York Herald (Paris)

Many European states are anxious to increase their trade in Russia. But it requires much publicity for any European government to assume that immunity for soviet communist propaganda can be secured simply by recognizing Russia as an independent member of the family of nations. The bolsheviks have no scruples when it comes to spreading their destructive doctrines. Sending them agents under the guise of their trip at home would only increase their capacity for work-after-all. They are international terrorists as well as national terrorists.

KISSING AS A CRIME

(New York Graphic)

A young Frenchman was arrested for kissing his fiancee in a restaurant in Nice. He was fined $10 and costs. The question: "Is kissing in public a misdemeanor?"

Let the artistic cease. Kissing in public is not a misdemeanor; it is only a mistake. Kissing before the audience is like drinking watered Scotch or playing billiards on a floor to slide on.

However, watered Scotch is better than no Scotch. So, if circumstances are such that one must kiss publicly or not at all publicity must be borne. There is a kind of kissing practiced over the French, however, which is a misdemeanor both in public and in private. That is the kind one administers the other night by Monsieur Sisk, alias Jacques de Lisniche, to the celebrated a full-lipped salute upon the cheeks of his opponent, Mr. Leo Ditrichstein.

Such kisses are more than misdemeanors. They're positively criminal.

"Sickness Stalked into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harvey moved into his pretty white-washed cottage, he thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife said that they positively topped their pleasure, they were so happy. Jim's cup overflowed right from the start.

But the happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harvey. "It's just a pain in my back, maybe," she complained at first. But the pain grew more and more severe, and she had to go to bed, so he called in a doctor. The doctor blamed it on "nerves" and advised a complete examination. This revealed the fact that appendicitis, who quickly confirmed the diagnosis. Then followed a visit from the hospital for Mrs. Harvey, and a period of hopeless misery, but cheer was forthcoming. Operation was declared the doctor, "a year's treatment at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives is required." Mrs. Harvey's heart sank within her. "Oh, doctor, is there no other way—no delay?"

A kindly neighbor is taking care of the baby boy while Jim is "keeping house" by himself. Every time he does the pantries he sees a letter from Mrs. Harvey, and he looks forward to getting back the health that he knows is in Mrs. Harvey's heart. All the letters will cease for she is almost cured. Consumption has but little time to the end.

Labor Party Is Not Downhearted

Claim to Have Gained 1,000,000 New Voters

London, Dec. 13—Labor is far from down-hearted over the result of the recent election. Although it lost nearly 50 seats, the party gained more than 1,000,000 new voters, demonstrating that the Socialistic movement in British politics is not only alive and kicking, but growing lustily as well.

After all, the sweeping change in party strength in the House of Commons, was due greatly to what Lloyd George and others have assailed as unfair and undemocratic anomalies in the British electoral system. In three-sided contests the existing system permits the election of a candidate by a man of the three wins.

A year ago the luck of the three-party fighting went to Labor and again to many of the voters as the kick against the Conservatives. This time the reverse happened. The Conservative polled less than half of the votes cast by the populace, but won more than two-thirds of the seats. In every seven votes that were Conservative, Labor got five. Yet more than three Conservative candidates were elected, while Labor won less than 60 seats. The Liberal strength shrunk at the polls from more than 4,000,000 to less than 3,000,000, and in the House this middle party withered to less than 40 members.

In consequence of the strange havoc that against them the voice of the nation the advocates of electoral reform pushing a new and still more emphatic chorals industriously. The movement for introducing proportional representation has taken on fresh vigor. The Proportional Representation Society has pointed out that had the system it supports been in use the Labor people would have only three-fourths of their present parliamentary members; Labor would hold more than 200 seats instead of 158, and the Liberals would have 100 members instead of a mere corpus has loafed of less than 40.

There are no indications, however, that electoral reforms are nigh. The Conservatives are satisfied, and it would hardly be human nature for them to push through reforms that would weaken their parliamentary position.

AIRPLANE RIDE HAS HELPED A MUTE

Chicago, Dec. 13—Miss Gwendolyne Caswell, a deaf mute whose speech and hearing were restored, partly at least, after a series of nose dives in an aeroplane Wednesday, continued to improve yesterday.

It is said she is talking quite intelligibly and that the hearing appears to be good. Trials to speak without hearing, she is startled and delighted to hear the sound of her own voice.

Miss Caswell has arranged with Pilot Burley to take her up every week She is confident her hearing will be fully restored.

LINER DOCKS

Southampton, Dec. 12.—The British Liner Arcadian, which went ashore near Needles in a dense fog yesterday floated this morning. She was refloated at high tide last night.

Here and There

Agricultural products harvested in British Columbia during 1923 were nearly $4,000,000 in excess of the 1922 total, according to the annual report of the provincial department of agriculture. Total production for 1923 was $69,159,795.

The ninth winter carnival at Sault, Ste. Marie, will be held from February 7 to 14, 1925. The curling bonspiel in connection with the carnival will run concurrently from February 9 to 14. Revelstoke has fixed its carnival dates for February 3, 4 and 5, 1925.

Tourists to the number of 100,000 are estimated to have entered the Province of Nova Scotia during the past season. These people have left approximately $7,000,000 in the province, an increase of 25 per cent. over the previous year. The number of motor cars entering the province during the tourist season exceeded 11,000.

Canada Book Week was held from December 1 to 6 this year. Addresses, radio broadcasting and special displays in stores throughout the country drew attention to the objects of the week, which are to promote the reading of good books generally and to foster Canadian literature. The week was, as usual, a distinct success.

The foolhardy recklessness of certain motorists was reputly striking illustrated on a public crossing on the Canadian Pacific Railway line at Blind River, Ontario, when a speeding auto approached the crossing so rapidly that the driver was unable to pull up, and ran his car into the side of a train which was passing at the time. Fortunately, no one was injured.

In recognition of its excellent exhibits at the 1924 exhibition at Toronto, the Canadian Pacific Railway has been awarded one of the medals specially struck off for presentation to the Dominion and Provincial governments, and to a limited number of other exhibits whose high class entries in the live stock and agricultural departments won them championship prizes.

The plans for the construction of an immense amusement centre at Victoria, B.C., to be called the Crystal Gardens, have just been announced by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is responsible for the scheme. The gardens will include a salt water swimming pool 150 feet long, and a series of dancing floors, with tea rooms and gymnasium. Great quantities of plants, vines and shrubs will be grown in the structure, which is on the lines of a vast conservatory, containing 30,000 square feet of glazed glass roof surface.

A considerable increase in the sheep population of Canada, which has declined since 1920 from 2,255,629 to 1,576,000, is expected as a result of the recent importation by Alberta ranchers of 400 Rambouillet rams. These animals are merinos, with fine wool, bred in France from Spanish merino stock. Louis XVI obtained the first flock as a gift from the King of Spain. A harem of 20,000 western range ewes will be provided for the Alberta purchase. The enterprise is important, on account of the prevailing world shortage of wool.

GREAT BRITAIN TO HELP FREE STATE

London, Dec. 12—The House of Commons yesterday agreed to a financial resolution upon which a bill will be based authorizing the Treasury to guarantee principal and interest up to £3,000,000 on any loan issued by the Irish Free State for completion of its plan of land purchases.

This is a measure arising out of the Anglo-Irish Treaty. A similar bill has been introduced by the recent Labor Government. It is expected that a companion measure for Northern Ireland will be introduced by the present Government.

MISS McPHAIL FINDS "IT HARD TO SPEAK"

Toronto, Dec. 12—For the thirdtime Miss Agnes McPhail, M. P., will probably have to cancel her engagement to address a senate audience on the subject, "The Schools and Peace."

Miss McPhail was first invited by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom to speak in the Central Technical School, but so intent was the outcry against the engagement that the Toronto School Board canceled permission for the use of the building. Canada's only woman M.P. was then billed to appear in the Labor Temple, but illness prevented her filling the engagement.

Within the last few days arrangements were completed for the speech to be delivered in the Alumnae Hall of Victoria College on December 15, but so strong has been the clamyoval expressed by war veterans that the college authorities have practically decided to refuse the use of the hall.

NATURE LORE

FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE KEEP STILL

At this writing, it happen to be just west of Chicago, Ill., on our way to California, in search of more bird stories to tell our nature loving friends both little and big.

The present little incident is not much of a story. In fact it just missed being a very very interesting story, by a mere matter of chance. However, I see that there are families leaving home almost every day from spring until Indian Summer, is passed, going by auto to some other state and living on the way, in the car.

This auto camping is a remarkably fast growing method of cheap and happy family travel. It is either a whole of a success at the end of the first week or a dismal failure. It all depends on the sort of mental twist one gives his feelings. There is no use trying roughing it. Nothing but the finest foods, all fresh and cooked just as they have always been cooked at home, can serve the table when the meals is ready to eat outside the one at home.

Well, we have all these things and consequently are happy, well fed, contented and conjured of the pleasure of auto camping, actually as we meet men of very fine station in business, doing the same thing.

Yes, we have all that we could plan for, but there are always little things that come along, things about which we may give a passing thought but not much more.

Such was one of these little somethings that I am now telling.

We were over in New York State, at a city park in an all and gas station, a lovely spot, with buildings for the public and all. It is a great surprise to see how the towns compete for the tourist business that goes over at this campsite, when it happens.

About three in the afternoon we stopped for coffee and sandwiches and made our camp. We have two stoves, so for light camping quite some in the spotlight, until my battery needs to be fixed, which is when we released the button and the lights went with the dawn and we would never know it had been there but for the egg shells.

We have tents now with screened in floor and all is shut up tight each night but the screened windows.

CHAPTER XV.

A TERRIBLE THREAT.

Half an hour later Jeffrey was making his way down the footpath through the woods, his thin, head lights throwing into a fantastic shadow on the tree trunks, as he walked with his head bent and drooping, his eyes fixed on the ground. Every now and then he stopped and looked about him, but as if he remembered that he had asked Dorothy to meet him; but he almost immediately again relapsed into his pre-occupied manner. Once he stopped and took the papers from the pocket in his breast and looked at them with a deep and thoughtful frown.

"Yes, to-day!" he murmured, "I will tell her to-day! Why should I hesitate? It will make no difference she will be my child still; it will make her my wife, and she will love me for it!" and he wiped his brow and sighed. "Yes, I'll tell her to-day. I—I'm not so strong as I once was; I can't go on like what might happen. If I died before I'd told her—"

The muttered words stopped suddenly and he looked up with a start from which swiftly changed to one of terror, and he stood, a motionless, shrinking figure stood before him, with placid but sensitive face, and sorrowful, benevolent air.

"Mr. Jeffrey, Churchill!" exclaimed Jeffrey hoarsely, his hands closing with a spasmodic action, his face white and expressive.

"Yes, dear Mr. Flint!" purred Spencer, his head on one side, his hand extended benignantly. "My dear Mr. Flint! What a delightful encounter! After all, nothing is more true than that we are always meeting when the world is a small place."

Jeffrey looked at him fiercely, waved his hand.

"Let me pass on!" he panted; "no! I will have nothing to say to you!" Then suddenly, "Is—is Dorothy with you?"

Napanee, Dec. 13.—The newly enlarged and handsomely decorated dining room of the Paisley House was the scene Thursday night of a splendid banquet given by the retiring Warden of the County of Lennox and Addington, W. They took in the County Council chambers as part of their journey, and when they got there they were welcomed by the Warden, even though the Council was not in session.

There was quite a few questions which required enlightenment, particularly that of the Campbellford bridge. After the information was given to the committee, we understand that the minister told them that the bridge did not come under the clause, and he did not think they were entitled to the Government grant of 40 per cent. on the construction, but the country are entitled to 40 per cent. on their share of the cost, which is 75 per cent. of the total, Campbellford paying 25 per cent.

SIDNEY WOMAN MEETS DEATH IN ODD MANNER

Coroner's Jury to Decide How Sad Accident Occurred

MRS. A. TITTERSON

Either Fell or Knocked Down By Motor Truck

Mrs. Amelia Titterson, aged 76, widow living with her son, George Titterson, at lot 24, concession 6, Sidney township, died at her home late Saturday afternoon, about one half hour after she had been injured on the highway which leads by the farmhouse.

The aged woman, who has been home following a fracture of the hip, had gone out to the roadway to receive groceries from a young man, Ernest Mott, who was in charge of a motor truck which is owned by Mott brothers grocers at Foxboro. Standing on the rear of the truck, the woman suddenly fell to the roadway sustaining injuries and shock, which proved fatal.

Whether or not the truck compelled to back down the incline which rises opposite the Titterson home, striking her, or whether she fell, will be determined at an inquest to be held in Gowsell's hall at Foxboro on Thursday night, December 18th.

Following the accident which occurred between 3 and 3.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Provincial Constable S. Elliott investigated, and later Coroner W. Boyes visited the scene and the preliminary inquest being called and adjourned until Thursday.

Names of Jurymen

The following men make up the coroner's jury empanelled by Constable Elliott: John A. Jeffrey, Frank Finkle, William Green, Robert Smith, Andrew Bertram, Charles De Mille and Everett De Mille.

County Attorney B. C. Donnan will conduct the examination of witnesses at the inquest, which will be in charge of Constable Elliott.

The late Mrs. Titterson, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anson Badgley, was born in Thurlow township and was a Methodist in religion.

Four sons survive. They are Wilbur and George of Sidney township, Edward of Wallis Fish Lake, and John of Foxboro.

Mental Diseases Not Hereditary

So Hospital Superintendent Tells Rotarians Here To-day

Dr. E. Ryan superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Kingston gave the Rotarians at tonight into the operations of the Provincial Government in caring for the mentally afflicted. His viewpoint was most optimistic, emphasizing the preventive side of the treatment for which declaring the gaps being all over the world.

Dr. Ryan explained that the Province is caring for over 9,000 mental defectives in Government institutions at a cost of over $7,000,000 annually and that over 2,000 cases in Ontario are not in the hospitals. But of 100 cases admitted to the Kingston Hospital last year 97 yielded to treatment and were discharged as cured.

"Mental diseases are not hereditary he said, "and can be cured just as physical diseases are." "They are not mysterious visitations of Providence, but have a physical cause which can be removed in most cases."

Dr. Ryan urged that every nurse before she graduates should undergo training in caring for mental patients as part of her course. In thanking the speaker for his address Judge Will-is & members of the local Hospital Board, asked if it would be possible to take a nurse from the Belleville Hospital each year for training and was assured by Dr. Ryan that such co-operation was what was needed and desired.

Dr. Ryan also urged that every school teacher receive some special training in child mentality with a view to enabling them to give extra attention to certain pupils where necessary, as it was in childhood that immature and traits of character which might later lead to trouble, were found ed.

An encouraging sign was the time given by students in medical colleges to mental diseases, declared Dr. Ryan and Queen's University alone one-fifth of the time is so given which will make our future doctors capable of examining and treating such ailments.

Dr. Ryan was warmly applauded. The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Charles Dolan and Dr. Bruce Judge Wills extended the club's thanks.

SIR BERTRAM HAYES, district grand commander of the White Star Lawn Majestic, who is to retire under the company's age limit at the end of the year.

BELLEVILLE FOLK ARE DOING WELL

Two Artists in the Limelight, Beatrice Lillie and Knight MacGregor

Just two weeks ago Beatrice Lillie, a former Belleville girl now leading lady in Andre Charlot's Revue appeared at the Royal Alexander Theatre, Toronto. Now a Belleville boy who herds a well known and beautiful show, is advertised to appear in the same theatre during Christmas week.

It is Knight MacGregor who will play the part of "Franz Schubert" in "Blossom Time." The name Knight who made such a decided hit with his singing at Rotary here and in Buffalo with the Belleville Rotary club last summer.

Knight MacGregor was born in Scotland, but came to Canada when very young and previous to leaving Belleville more than eighteen years ago was employed in the John Mecklatosh store here. He went to Edmonton from Belleville where he studied music as well as holding a position there as salesman. In Edmonton he later won first prize; being adjudged the best baritone soloist in Alberta in amateur competition.

Pursuing musical studies in Detroit, MacGregor was finally attracted to that Mecca of histrionic ability, New York City, where he was tutored by the famous teacher, Herbert Witherspoon, who has done much for him.

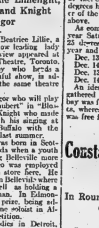

For the past few years engaged in ex cert stage work in which he has been very successful, MacGregor recently joined "Blossomtime" company for a tour.

MERCURY DIPS BELOW ZERO IN EARLY MORNING

Two Degrees Under on Sunday; Mild Winter Weather

BEATS LAST SEASON

Ice Four Inches Deep Formed on Bay; Open Last Year

The probabilities on Saturday were correct in every way but one. It predicted that Sunday would be a decidedly cold day.

Following a week of mild weather, the city and district is experiencing mid-winter temperature. During the early part of Saturday it was decidedly mild, with rain and sleet falling lightly. In the early part of the evening the mercury took a quick drop. A strong north west wind developed into a moder ate gale, making it very unpleasant for pedestrians.

On Sunday, while the wind was modera ate, it was very cold the temperature dropping almost to zero. At an early hour, the sell registering thermometer at the city pumping station stood 2 degrees below zero and for the remainder of the day it was from 2½ to 3 degrees above.

As compared with the same dates last year Saturday and Sunday was nearly 35 degrees milder. The figures for last year and this year are as follows:

Dec. 13th 1924—28.25
Dec. 14th 1924—25.4.
Dec. 13th 1923—32.25
Dec. 14th 1923—32.19.

An idea of the cold snap may be gathered from the fact that over the bay was formed to a thickness of 4 inches, whereas this date last year the bay was free from ice.

Constable Did Very Good Work

In Rounding Up Three Men On Trial To-day

Smart police work on the part of town Constable James Lovelace of Bloomfield culminated in the trial at three Bloomfield men at Picton today before Police Magistrate Ell Williams.

Gerald Morris and J. Harrison, two of the three men on trial for theft of Niagara Falls, were arrested at Wellington that city on December first and brought them back to Picton where they have remained in custody since that time, awaiting trial.

After a search the tall, hide and field when the only evidence which Lovelace continued to weave, enabled him.

Good work by the constable has divulged the plans of the men who are alleged to have stolen the heifer, killed and quartered her, hiding the tail and hide and entrails. Even the rifle believed to have been used in killing the beast has been found.

It will be remembered that Amos Hudgins, Hallowell Township farmer missed a valuable heifer from his herd. He valued her at $200.

After a search were found the tail, entrails were found in a field. Later Constable Lovelace found three quarters of beef hanging in a house which was formerly occupied by Morris and the meat is believed to be that of the stolen heifer.

RALLIES PUBLIC TO GREAT NEED OF COMMUNITY

Service for Victorian Order of Nurse at Bridge St. Church

MEMBERSHIP ASKED

Dr. Malott Directs Attention to Principles of Good Service

be evening service at Bridge Street Methodist Church yesterday was at a special nature, Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott taking occasion to draw attention of the members of that church and a large number of friends to the need for service along the lines of helping out in the work being undertaken by the Belleville branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Members of the Kiwanis Club, who were responsible for launching the work in the city, were present in a body and distributed cards, the signing of which together with the presentation of one dollar made one a member of the Order.

Special music was rendered during and after the service. Kiwanian Hugh Middleton sang a solo after the offering had been taken up and after the benediction had been pronounced a good musical offering was contributed by the choir and by Rev. Dr. Robbins. Mr. Robbins brought out splendid music from the organ.

Dr. Malott preached a thoughtful sermon on the subject of service, pointing out that there were four things to remember when dealing with the subject. In the first place there was the program to be considered, then came the practice leading to service, the spirit in which it was done and the equipment employed.

After discussing the program, which included the trial of suffering, Dr. Malott said that the motive of service was man's love to God.

"Man cannot divorce God and be true to his fellow man," he said.

The equipment needed, he said, was power and that power could be obtained from only the source—from God.

The presentation of the good work that the Victorian Order of Nurse did and made a strong appeal for all to make it a real community affair.

Victorian Order Nurse Just Arrived, Already Has Full Day's Work To Do

At This Early Date Many Babies Are Under Her Care

RECEPTION PLEASES

Deals With All Sickness Except Communicable Diseases

In a branch of the City Engineer's office at the City Hall, are the headquarters of the Victorian Order Nurse of this city, Miss L. M. Shand.

Miss Shand, who has come to Belleville under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club and Metropolitan Life Insurance has a most pleasing and attractive personality which is winning her many friends in Belleville. She has had an extensive training in St. Joseph General and the Montreal Maternity Hospitals as well as a post-graduate course in Public Health Nursing in Toronto.

Miss Shand first came to the city the Metropolitan had secured a nurse for her to start in, and ever since the work has been growing, and greater interest is being manifested.

At present Miss Shand has one maternity case and eighteen babies and a large number of babies who require to be weighed and cared for.

Miss Shand was pleased with her reception in Belleville, stating that it was all that could be desired. Her services have taken up to the start with visiting the city and having herself acquainted with the hospitals and other city officials. Many medical practitioners in Belleville are tiring and apt to impress that a good impression is being made for civil service or a car.

The duties of a nurse are many being cases to her, and her visits last on an average about an hour. These visits are often made free of charge to those who are unable to pay, and the maximum fee charged is one dollar.

This afternoon Miss Shand is assisting Dr. Proctor at a chest clinic at the City Hall. Dr. Proctor is specializing in chest diseases. Besides this work Miss Shand will also deal with all kind of disease except communicable diseases.

An important part of her work in instructing the people whom she visits in the rules of health and showing them simple necessary regulations in nursing the patient.

The blue uniformed nurses with her black kit bag is becoming a familiar sight on the city streets now, and everywhere she goes a message of helpfulness and practical service is carried.

Many Congregate For Unique Trial

Mr. Justice Logie Presides at Non-jury Sittings of High Court

The noon jury sittings of the High Court of Justice opened at the court house here yesterday morning, the Honorable Mr. Justice Logie presiding.

The cases were disposed of almost the docket in two of which a settlement was effected between counsel. Fraser et al was the first case and will probably attract the attention of the court for considerable time on account of the complicated issues.

The plaintiff, Harwood B. Scott of Foxboro village is a poultry man and bought several settings of eggs from Findlay & Phillips, agents in this city for Cyphers incubators, whose plant is located at Lincoln, Neb. Scott claims that eggs placed in the incubators, only about 25 per cent. hatched. His claim is that the incubators being defective were responsible for the loss he sustained.

A number of expert witnesses have been summoned to give evidence, one of the witnesses being from the Guelph Agricultural College, and others from Ottawa, and even from the Queen Incubator Plant at Lincoln, Neb.

Messrs. W. C. Mikel, K.C., and B. C. Donnan are counsel for the plaintiff, W. R. Smythe, K.C. of Toronto for the incubator company. O'Flynn & O'Flynn for Findlay & Phillips, and E. Cruikshank and Archambeault for J. Howland, a third party in the transaction.

GUARDS SEEK CREW OF ILL-FATED SHIP

Calumet, Mich., Dec. 15.—Coast guards from Eagle Harbor, aided by volunteers, continued yesterday their feverish search for bodies of the crew of an unknown steamer which drifted near here, when a 70- mile an hour gale swept the lakes Saturday night. Eight hatch covers have been washed ashore, and echo sounds over ship's fishing have now bearing any clue to the identity of the freighter, are the only indications that the ship was about 500 feet long, and probably a crew of 30 men.

Although apprehension is felt for the fate of a Canadian freighter now lying in the storm near Eagle Harbor Saturday night, it was thought that the ship cleared the storm, and that she is now safe in Superior [illegible] Ford fought a blizzard all night long. He Smuggled Girl In An Engine Cab

New Method Introduced For Getting Aliens Into States

Detroit, Dec. 15.—Samuel Newman, 28, of oronto, has introduced a new method of smuggling aliens into the country from Canada, as was revealed when he pleaded guilty to assisting in the illegal entry of a 20-year-old alien girl, Ida Dzaze.

Newman was arraigned on a charge of violating the U. S. immigration laws. He was given the option of paying the fine or going to prison. He paid the fine, $500 fine or serving one month in jail. Judge Charles C. Simons of the Federal District passed the sentence.

The method used by Newman was to hide the engineer and fireman of a Michigan Central train which runs from Windsor to Detroit, in the tunnel constructed under the Detroit River. The girl, Newman said, probably would have made the trip in the cab of the engine on the night of October 31, but that

They were arrested immediately upon their arrival. The girl, who is supposed to be a relative of Newman's wife, was detained at the next car. Her home is in Hungary.

Newman was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hurd on Aug. 21, and his bail was fixed at $2,500. He was came from Toronto to help him to make the bail.

According to Newman's story the girl came to this country to be with her sweetheart with whom she had been corresponding for four years. The sweetheart lives in Detroit. What the girl's entry was attempted at Detroit because it is the easiest place on the border to come in.

It is probable that the girl is in Toronto, as she was deported to Canada. Newman is on his way home.

FLAMES CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE TO BIG HOTEL

Estimate at Ottawa Loss of $250,000

LATE WIRE NEWS

Premier Herriott is Better; Welland Canal is Now Closed

(Canadian Press Dispatch).

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—Starting in the vicinity of the east wing of the hotel, fire early this morning caused damage of $250,000 to the Central House here. Some of the guests were forced to make a hurried exit in night attire, while others were rescued in a spectacular manner by means of ladders, some going through windows and down ladders. The temperature was two degrees below zero when first alarm was given at 2.29 a.m. and within a few minutes part of the roof fell in. At 4 o'clock the flames were brought under control. Firemen and those who got out first described the situation in rescuing guests. This apparently was accomplished on a check up of the hotel, revealed that all guests whose names were entered on the register were accounted for. There were some guests listed who were not in the city during all the time. About twenty-five guests were registered. W. P. Moore, Pembroke, was overcome by smoke and is being treated at the hospital. He was the last guest to be rescued, and is reported to be in satisfactory. TO BE CONTINUED

(St. Catharines Standard)

Says the London Advertiser:

"Brantford Expositor refers to the 'old shack' used by the C.N.R. as a station in Hamilton, making it possible for some person with a grudge to speak of the 'old shack' used by Brantford as a city hall. That, in turn, opens the way for both the C.N.R. station and the city hall in London being put in the 'old shack' class. It might develop into an argument as to which is the 'shackiest' city in the district."

If Hamilton and London want to enter into competition for which city has the most decrepit ramshackle railway depot, all well and good, but if Brantford is to horn in with an entry of its city hall, in an endeavor to win first prize for the best shack in Ontario then it will take some refusing on the part of the judges to reject St. Catharines' entry. The St. Kits entry, of course, will include the police station, lockup and dog pound, which are adjacent, the whole ensemble to be knocked down to the highest bidder at the close of the contest.

Well, if it a matter of C.N.R. station, City Hall and Police Station only Belleville might as well put in its entry. Most certainly they do not match the Court House, Library, Armouries, Hotel Quinte, Churches and beautiful homes of the city.

A COMMUNITY WORK

The newly formed Belleville branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses is reported to be started off on the right foot, but as being in need of several more members. The aim at present is to have one thousand memberships taken out at one dollar per membership.

This should not be a difficult task. Within a short period of weeks, the nurse has accomplished much. The very fact that she is the busiest young lady in the city these days is good evidence of the need for the work in Belleville.

Public nursing is now a community attribute. It deserves the support of everyone.

SAMUEL COMPERS

Samuel Compers is dead, and his passing removes from the economic life of this continent one of its outstanding figures. He was called the Grand Old Man of American labor, and his claim to the title was established in a life-time of service to the cause to which he believed and tried upon which, for more than half a century, his eyes were fixed. He was among the founders of the American Federation of Labor, now one of the most powerful organizations of its kind in the world, and he remained its official, active and directing chief continuously, with one interruption only, from 1882 up to the time of his death. He was looked upon by some, particularly in the ranks of organized labor, as a moderate, and his professions of hostility toward socialism, and his refusal to associate himself by dealings with the Moscow Bolsheviks, have frequently been cited as evidence of a sane and sober attitude.

If, upon occasion, his references to the aims of labor, and his approval, expressed or implied, of some of the more advanced methods of labor, caused consternation with the attitude before mentioned, his followers, at any rate, never complained, says the Montreal Gazette. Those who were not associated with him and who were, perhaps, counted among his admirers, nevertheless saw in him an able, strong and sincere man. He was a militant and powerful supporter of the Allied cause in the world war. "To the last man and the last dollar," he said, "America will give to achieve the destruction of the militarist machine." He devoted all his great gifts as an organizer and orator to the mobilization of American labor as a unit on the side of effective participation, and what he achieved at that time and in that service will remain his finest and most enduring memorial.

MODERN ORGANIZATION

Considerable criticism is being levelled at the modern tendency to organize, and perhaps we have not been caught in the "joining" crowd look upon that crowd with a certain amount of cynicism. What seems to bother these people most is that organization appears to be going around in a circle, organizing but getting nowhere in particular.

No one can gainsay the statement that the organizing habit has not gripped this North American continent. We have new societies and groups in our churches. With the Y.M.C.A. have come Tuxis Squares Hi-Y Clubs, Boys' Parliament, Trail Rangers, and others. New lodges are being formed. Service clubs have sprung into existence, Rotary Kiwanis, Lions, Gyros and more. Organizations for women's activities in this country is becoming crowded with presidents, vice-presidents and executive members.

Fortunately there is nothing the cynic can do to remedy the situation it would be practically impossible for the unorganized to disorganize.

If these organization did nothing more than to keep a large number of people interested in life in general, they serve good purposes.

DISEASE IS COSTLY

That there is a progressive decline in the number of deaths from diphtheria in Canada during the last four years, is indicated by the figures furnished by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The number of deaths from diphtheria in 1921 was 1297; in 1922, it was 1024; in 1923, it was 831. According to figures received at the Bureau for the present year, the expectation is that there will be still a decrease on the previous years.

It is generally estimated that the treatment of the contagious disease in hospital or at home, of a case of diphtheria, costs approximately $50. In the event of a case ending fatally it has cost $75, for the funeral, or a total of $125.00.

Then, the number of diphtheria deaths in Canada in 1921 was 1297, which, at the rate of $125 per case—$162,125; in 1922, the number was $1,024 which cost $128,920; in 1923, there were 851 cases which cost $106,375; or a total for the three years of $396,815.

Now, we think it would be a fair estimate to set the average number of non fatal cases a month at 800, which make up a total of 9,600 a year. At the rate of $50 per case, we arrive at a cost of $300,000, and for the last three years, of $900,000. If we add the two main figures, we obtain a total result of $1,296,315.

Apart from the personal and community loss which is incalculable, one can readily see what could be done towards the immense saving of human health and lives, as well as saving money to the citizens of the country.

To-day's Smile

A man by the name of Word met a man by the name of Barnes. "Good morning, Mr. Barnes," said Mr. Word. "How are Mrs. Barnes and all the little shekels?"

"Selling fine, thanks," replied Mr. Barnes. "How are Mrs. Word and all the little syllables?"

Thirty Years Ago

The "North Hastings Review" has issued a very creditable Christmas number.

Thomas Powers is receiving the congratulations of his friends to-day, His Christmas box is a boy.

The election of Hon. Mackenzie Rowell as Premier of Canada is of particular interest to the residents of this city, in which he lived for fifty years.

Rev. D. G. Crossley will conduct both services in the West Belleville church tomorrow. He will give a song sermon in the evening.

The scholars of No. 4 division of the Central School have been presented with a fine U. Urquhart, their teacher, on Bridge street, and after reading a very fitting address, presented her with a very handsome oak rocker. Miss Jennie McCullough, the pupil.

On the 13th and 14th of November a advertisement was inserted in the Intelligencer asking for the addresses of the heirs of the late Arch. McDougall. The McDougall Bros. of Bedford Con. Thurlow proved their relationship to the estate left by their late uncle and have been notified through F. B. Northrup, their solicitor, that they would receive their share of the estate.

Press Opinions

A PROPHECY OR A THREAT

Saskatoon Western Producer:

At no time in the annals of Canada or of any other country was there such a determined undertaking to overcome all the obstacles standing between the farmer and economic freedom as there is in the present time. When the farmers come to a full realization of their own responsibility at the same time learn how to use their power, there is nothing to say or nothing else is going to pay.

FALSE SYMPATHY

Detroit Free Press:

Imperialistic hypocrisy can be knee-deep enough, but seldom in recent years has it excelled itself as recently as in the British and French sympathy for Egyptian nationalism. Outcries against a British Word and iron policy on the Nile might be understandable were not Italy's policies in Tripoli one of grab and boycott and had not France so successfully expanded space, order and the foundations of material prosperity in her Tunisian, Algerian and Moroccan possessions only after a regime of ruthless operations.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Edmonton Albertan:

When one person complains about the size of the public debt in Alberta the amount of the annual expenditure it might be well to reflect on the fact that Alberta has 67,000 motor cars and that the aggregate annual amount worth in the aggregate annual amount worth in the provincial debt, and costing in maintenance, repairs and upkeep almost as much as the annual provincial revenue.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

London Daily Chronicle:

However much the main British problem may improve there will still always be one new problem after the other, as has been the case with regard to seasonal unemployment. Ever reasonable precaution we have now double that is the difficulty. The only remedy is a thorough system of unemployment insurance. Without this, distress must periodically recur, and there can be no sense of security for the worker.

A London Letter

London, Dec. 1 (By the Canadian Press).—Most visitors to London have been struck with the odd appearance of All Souls' Church, Langham Place, at the top of Regent street. The building with its spire, rising out of a sort of colonnade, looks like a huge nutcracker on end, and is known as the Needlestick. All Souls has just celebrated its centenary and the service which was conducted by Dr. Perrin, Bishop of Willesden, and formerly of British Columbia, was the same as that used on November 25, 1824.

It is interesting to recall that the queer character of the building led at the time of its erection to opposition in the House of Commons. A member asked the name of the architect "who had built a new church in Langham-place. It is the wonder of this city who this person can be. It is a deplorable and horrible sight. Never was there such a shameful a disgrace of the metropolis. I see a great number of churches building, but make every body wonder who could be the architect of them and fools of all of them." Caricatures, lampoons and abuse were directed against Nash, the architect, but many authorities found much to praise in the skilful use of the site. For practically the whole of its 100 years All Souls have been a centre of Evangelical teaching.

The Women Barristers'

There are now between 35 and 40 women barristers in England, but only a round dozen of them practice or even attempt to do so. Miss Helena Cobb, one of the latter number, is referring to the difficulty which some witnesses experience in the proper method to address a lady advocate, says she is sometimes addressed as "Madam," more often as "Sir," while one recent occasion a witness actually solved the problem by addressing her as "Sir Madam." Miss Cobb expresses the opinion that some women who have risen to the Bar have undoubtedly be prepared for a long wait before obtaining practice, but that every they can do is the early years is to learn the traditions of the profession.

When the women juror first made her appearance judges counselled need to experience difficulty as to how to address a mixed body of jurors in the old formula "Gentlemen of the Jury," used to come so readily to the tongue, but was of course quite inappropriate. The difficulty has now disappeared, the Bench and Bar making use of the term "members of the jury" without any difficulty.

New Tubes

The City and South London Tube, the first of these contrivances to be laid down here 40 years ago or thereabouts, has been re-opened after complete reconstruction. The Tube origin ally ran from Clapham Common to Euston. Later Tubes were planned with much larger tunnels, more commodious rolling stock, and with better ground-level equipment. The Bank and B. L. will enable the traveller to make a through journey from Clapham to Edgware, a distance of 16½ miles, and all for 10 pence. The opening was signalized by the company distributing 15,000 special free tickets in the South London district. A further extension of the line southward from Clapham to Morden, via Balham and Tooting, is contemplated. Prince Henry, who has recently been spoken of as likely to succeed to the governor-generalship of one of the Dominions as soon as the office becomes vacant, made a special visit from Cornwall to preside over a luncheon of the Executive Committee of the Child Emigration Society. The Prince assured the company he fully shared with his eldest brother his great interest in the work of the society. The Child Emigration Society has been in real more particularly with the emigration of children to Australia, whereits founder, the late Mr. Kingsley Fairbridge, established homes and farm schools.

Weekly Re-opening Popular.

The decision of the Executive Council of the British Empire Exhibition to hold another fair next year, if at all possible meets with general approval. There is little doubt that the main problem is to induce the Londoner himself to patronize the Exhibition more extensively. The country towns and cities sent their thousands this year, but London failed to crowd there to the number expected. Probably the distance from the centre of the City was the cause. The ever-recurring worry to avoid on one season's working is an organization with such enormous overhead charges—is really a strong reason for reopening next year. Another season on a level of success similar to that of the one just over would probably be enough to balance the accounts, if not to make a profit.

GILBERT C. THOMPSON

An attack of appendicitis with other complications caused death. Gilbert was a lovable child and a general favorite with his young companions.

MRS. JOSEPH LOSEE

At an early hour this morning the body was taken to Lindsay for interment. Lindsay was the former home of deceased.

MISS ANNIE CORBETT

The Vancouver Daily Province in announcing on the death of the late Miss Annie Corbett formerly of Belleville says:

Victoria, Nov. 26th—The funeral of the late Miss Annie Corbett was held on Tuesday, following her sudden and dramatic death. Miss Corbett was walking home from her office, Mrs. Percy Long Rickland avenue, Mrs. Pirne slipped and, falling on the pavement dislocated her shoulder. She was being assisted into Dr. Lennox's residence, when Miss Corbett, evidently excited by the accident, collapsed in a chair and speedily became unconscious. Three hours later she died of hemorrhage of the brain.

he late Miss Corbett was 26 years of age, and born in Ireland. She was the eldest daughter of the late Brig. Surgeon A. P. M. Corbett (Kilk Pro. Guide) and Mrs. Corbett. Besides Mrs. Pine, of Victoria, there are two other sisters, Mrs. Sowden and Mrs. Young, both of Source, Man.

There was a large attendance at the funeral, held from the Anglican Cathedral, and many messages of regret from friends in Vancouver, where Miss Corbett formerly resided for a time. Dean Quainton officiated and the pall bearers were Messrs. Sweet, H. Hepburn, A. Bainbrider, H. Hoskins, Captain Allen and Captain Stewart.

Four Boys Drown Playing A Game

Followed the Leader Over Thin Sheet Of Ice

HEROIC RESCUE MADE

Cadet Dives Into Cold Water And Saves Two

New York, Dec. 15.—A game of "follow leader" on a sheet of ice near Lake Mahopac, ended in the death of four little boys in Peekskill yesterday afternoon. The ice gave, way and left them floundering in water so cold that they were virtually frozen to death and, save one, who was rescued by an older boy and—was still breathing when he was brought ashore before a speeding ambulance could get him to the hospital.

That the tragedy which shocked the whole village did not take all five instead of four was due to Peekskill military school cadet who, braved his freezing ice when they heard shrill cries of distress. They saved two boys whose fingers still kept a slipping grip on the edge of the ice. Then one, tiring from the water, brought out another boy who was already numb and could not help himself. The fourth lad's body was not found for an hour.

The Dead

The dead are:

Anthony Riley, 9 years old, son of Walter Riley, at Simpson Place, Peekskill.

William Riley, 12 years old, brother of Anthony.

William Hauck, 12 years, old, son of William Hauck, of Hudson avenue, Peekskill.

Thomas Minnerly, 12 years old, son of Thomas Minnerly, at Simpson Place.

The four boys were followed with their two rescued companions had been reading the woods around the lake in Draper Park hunting for Christmas trees. It was about 3:30 that they tried to cut that, finding the surface of the lake slightly frozen, decided on the pretty game of follow the leader.

They ran and slid and were having great sport, when there came a cracking sound and a hole opened out under them. Their cries of alarm changed to screams of fear as they struggled, close to the edge to grab the edge of the ice and scramble out.

The ice broke too fast for them, the breaking cold ended their efforts almost as soon as they had begun and in silence four of them sank into six feet of water.

Boys at the academy back of the lake had heard cries and then came running. Heedless of their own danger they rushed out on the ice and snatched at the boys who had been the last to stir heads above water. The lads told them four companions were gone. Peering into the water, they could see nothing of them.

Plunged In

Geoffrey Gould, a 19 year old senior at the academy, and Cadet Lieutenant Range, N.J., a football player and all-around athlete, hastily shed his shoes, coat and trousers and plunged in. His chest, diver brought him to Anthony, and he hauled him to the surface and shoved Anthony to the edge of the ice. The boy hauled Anthony out and then Gould went down again. He brought up William Riley and then Hauck. By this time he was near exhaustion and had to be helped out of the water himself. Minnerly's body was recovered at 4:30 after-want with grappling irons.

Half the village was running toward the pond in response to a swiftly spread alarm by the time the three bodies had been dragged to the edge where there was no danger of a second break. A call had been sent to Peekskill for more ambulances and doctors. Dr. Gould's services with the third victim.

Died On The Way

Mr. Hauck and the father of the Riley boys arrived while the police and firemen were trying to revive the boys. A faint spice of life was discovered in Anthony, and he was hustled into an ambulance from the Peekskill hospital. He died on the way to that institution.

All four of the dead boys were members of the same local parochial school. The Rev. Father James V. Mealey, came to the lake as soon as he was informed of the accident, and while a few stood silent with bared heads administered the last rites of the church.

Geoffrey Gould was suffering severely from exposure in the cold water when a doctor from the academy got there. The youth was taken to the school hospital and put under the care of the physician and the nurse there. It was said that his condition was not serious.

Recent intensive campaigning against bootleggers and other illicit vendors of liquor in London came to light yesterday when fines of $400 each were imposed on six men. Those who paid $400 fines were Dr. H. E. Arkell, J. E. Swallow, Frank Brooks, Peter Gallagher, Wm. Sodawater and William Johnston.

TURKS COULD NOT READ OWN SCRIPT

Bucharest, Rumania, Dec. 13.—Turkish nationalists have gone to extreme measures, according to information received in this city, in their endeavors to bar all foreign languages out of the country. In preparing new passports for the Angora government Turkish officials insist that not a word of any foreign language be used, and print all the documents in Turkish script.

When the bearers of these passports tried to leave Turkish territory they were refused. No official could read the Turkish script; they could not tell whether the pass was a legitimate passport or a bill for groceries, and the bearers were refused permission to cross the border.

Run Over By Train, Not Badly Injured

Bath Woman Has Most Unique Experience To Tell

London, Eng., Dec. 15—To be run over by a train, be taken to a hospital fit and well shortly after, was the experience of Mrs. Paget, wife of a coachman, of Bath. She was standing on the station platform at Bath when the Cornish train steamed in. Mrs. Paget fell forward on to the track immediately in front of the engine, but fortunately she did not fall across the rails, but almost lengthwise in the permanent way between them, and the train passed over her. She was not bruised back, and some bad cuts on the back of the head was all right after a short stay in hospital.

Can't Keep Away From Own Tongue

English Speaking People Right at Home at Paris

Paris, Dec. 15.—The sign "English Spoken" is no longer necessary, or even advisable, on a shop window in Paris. American and English customs have become so plentiful that every first-class establishment pretends to have someone about who speaks a more or less vague version of the language.

Americans in particular run into their mother tongue so often that they try, now and then, to find one of those essentially French places, especially in the restaurant line, where there are no foreigners. They seldom succeed. When a new maitre d'hotel is engaged today in a restaurant, the first question is, "Can you speak English?" If he can, he has a chance at the job, otherwise not. When the person who thinks he has found a nice French place where they are no Anglo-Saxon waiters, he rarely fails to be spotted and addressed in English, and he hears as much English as French in any place where it costs as much as a dollar to eat.

Dressmakers specialize in English. They believe the American to be a good spender, and they capitalize the fact that the price of a gown seems low here. They forget to remind the customer that the duty will amount to not less than 70 per cent.

As for the 842 hotels, no one need ever speak French. In the music halls there is a line of legitimate theatres the programs are printed in both French and English.

TOKIO IS REGAINING LOST POPULATION

Tokio Dec. 15—Tokio has resumed her place as the fifth city of the world according to a police census taken here recently. After the earthquake of September, 1923, Tokio lost a number of her population and dropped behind Berlin, Paris, and Constantinople. But the city now has 1,317,000 inhabitants, a gain of 220,000 from the figures just after the disaster, and 260,000 less than before the disaster.

Money To Be Made With The Poultry

New Booklet Issued by Bank Of Montreal Shows How

"Take the poultry money out of a farm community and the country town merchants would wonder what had happened to their business."

This is one of the many striking statements in a booklet entitled "Poultry on the Farm and Home," just issued by the Bank of Montreal for free distribution from its various branches.

The first step forward in this booklet illustrated by scores of actual photographs, indicates that in many cases part of those who keep poultry could be made to produce much more money than they have produced. Also by actual demonstration, the booklet shows that a poultry unit capable of producing little beyond the cost of upkeep, can be an actual boon.

The booklet brings to mind the many welcome dollars which farmers' wives earn for household expenses and their families. It gives information as to the enormous amount of investigation into successful poultry methods by poultry experts and Experimental Farms all over this continent—information which has been beyond all doubt that poultry keeping can be made an important and profitable branch of farm business, even when carried out on a modest scale.

For the guidance of farmers and their wives who feel like trying out what has been put into plain language in this book, together with photographs of every phase of the subject, showing what is right and what is wrong.

Profit Only Test Counts

A farm census in the United States recently showed that the poultry year "hickens and eggs sold by the farmers threw brought $1,650,000,000, or 39 per cent of the total value of all live stock products. This illustrates what may be done by the constantly-improving methods of poultry-keeping. As mentioned at the Experimental Farm at Guelph, Ont., so the booklet states, however that one method of feeding poultry produced a handsome profit, while another method produced a loss. It will be seen, therefore, how important it is for poultry keepers to know exactly what they are doing, and why.

Taking Ten Years To Build New Bank

Famous English Institution To Be Made Modern Structure

London, Eng., Dec. 15—The passing of the old Bank of England Building, which has seen sons or the most stirring sights in London's ancient and renowned precincts, was associated with the Exchange clock struck 12 on a recent Saturday and the great doors of its doors at the main entrance closed out to re-open for at least ten years.

The householders have begun their task of demolishing the internal buildings of the Bank to make way for the magnificent factory structure to be completed in 1932. For the last few weeks daily consignments of papers and ancient records have been removed to temporary quarters in Finsbury Circus.

The wonderful interior of the Bank by Sir John Soane will remain untouched. The foundations will be laid 40 feet down in the ground and three years for building the great new vaults will be built below the street level. Five floors will rise 40 feet above the ground and two more slightly set back, another 20 feet. It is expected the foundations will be commenced in the spring of 1925.

Smuggler Captured

American prohibition agents in a speed launch captured a rowboat carrying whiskey across the river at Detroit. Five shots rang out as the agents approached the man in the boat. The two seven cases of whiskey were on board. Two agents jumped into shallow water and rescued the liquor. Another case was found in the boat. The man, who gave his name as Lawrence Dirkman, of Detroit, was held on a charge of violating the National Prohibition Act.

After all, it is profit, and profit only, that counts. This booklet tells just what to do to make a profit—the breeds to keep, the way to house them the food and care best to give the manner of preventing diseases and destroying parasites, the best eggs and market them—in fact, everything essential that a poultry keeper should know, put in language and pictures that anybody can understand.

The booklet is the most practical character as the one issued by the Bank last year on "The Cow the Mother of Prosperity," many thousands of which were distributed in all parts of Canada. The Bank's interest in the general welfare of the farming community is now further shown by the arrangement it has made for the printing of a special Canadian edition of this poultry booklet, which was originally prepared by the Agricultural Extension Departm nt of the International Harvester Company. Copies may be obtained free of charge from the local branch of the Bank of Montreal.

WANDERERS HAVE YET TO BE DEFEATED; TWO MONTREAL TEAMS WIN IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Hamilton Lost to Speedy Canadiens

Six Thousand Fans Witness Great Struggle At Montreal

Montreal, Dec. 15.—Hamilton's winning streak was halted at four straight games, the Tigers bowing their first defeat in the National Hockey League this season when they were trounced by the world champion Canadiens at the Mount Royal Arena Saturday night 6 to 2. Six thousand hockey fans packed the arena to capacity and witnessed the Stanley Cup holders demonstrate unquestioned superiority over Jimmy Gardner's sextette in the scrappiest struggle seen on the ice here this winter.

The victory sent Canadiens into a tie with Hamilton for first place in the standing in games won and lost, though the Habsheiders head the list by virtue of a better goal average in the five games played.

Hamilton counted the first goal of the struggle early in the tilt, and for a time it looked as if they might be returned victors in the most important battle of the league series so far this winter. But after ten minutes of play they lost control and in the two final periods were no match for the speedy, tricky, offensive Canadien sextette.

The crowd got a wealth of excitement out of the strenuous play, and were loud in their cheers as the local players had the better of heavy shoving or equally vociferous in booing when Hamilton players were caught at illegal tactics. It was a bumper gathering of fans and hundreds were turned away.

As a hockey tilt, the battle lacked anything in the nature of a close contest after the first period. Even in the initial stages of the game was slow in starting, as the opposing players carefully measured one another. When it speeded up and for a time it looked as if predictions were to be fulfilled and that a fast, clever exhibition was to be furnished. But heavy checking stopped the Hamilton forwards, and in the second and third sessions they made little attempt to get through close to Vezina, with the result that the Canadien net was seldom threatened.

The difference was clearly one of defence until the turning point of the game. Burch and the two Green established in the first session and stood up well against the dashing play of the Canadien forwards, Morenz, Joliat and Billy Boucher. Burch played the gaggedly irrepressible but the two Greens found the going too heavy. Try as they did they could not get by Sprague Cleghorn and Billy Coutu, their short, quick passing game being successfully broken up by the heavy body-checking of the stalwart local defence men.

Munro's Crowd Defeat St. Pats

Toronto Team Had no Excuses To Offer Saturday Night

Toronto, Dec. 15.—St. Patricks, "Happy" Day and all, lost to Montreal here on Saturday night by 3 goals to 1, and had no excuses to offer either. The steady Montreal aggregation stuck closely to a fine defensive game and kept plugging along at a pace that was not thrilling but nevertheless effective. A crowded Arena welcomed the puck-chasers and seemed pleased with the exhibition even if the Irish lost, as "Dunc" Munro "Dutch" Cain, Charlie Dinsmore, "Reg" Noble and Gaston Roberge have many supporters here.

Montreal won the game in the last period when they scored two goals. Until the break-up it had been the tightest kind of a fight, Toronto having any marked advantage. Montreal got the first counter in the opening period, when Broadbent's low, swift shot fooled Lehman as it came into later Dye went in alone to tie the score. From then until the last period it was a nip and tuck battle, and it was apparent that the team to count first would likely win.

Coach Eddie Gerard credited the victory with all the skill for which he is noted. He used a veteran front line composed of Billy Berlinguette and Broadbent, and relieved the latter with Dinsmore. Neither of the Aura Lee juniors, how ever, remained on the ice very long, although while they were out there St. Pats had a hard time getting away from their pestiferous checking.

The Munro-Cain-Noble defence was airtight, with Benedict playing one of his remarkable games in front of the net. Cain checked excellently all evening and also rushed well. Munro, who is heavy for his weight yet was mighty good most of the way, but on a few occasions was outgeneral by the attackers. However, he more than atoned for his few lapses by engineering the attack that accounted for Montreal's third goal. He made a clean getaway from the forechecking midway in the final period, and, flanked by Broadbent, raced in on goal, from where he faked a shot and then passed neatly to his right wing. So badly were the local defence men outguessed, that Broadbent skated right in and drove his shot under the surprise flipping the puck against the twine.

36½ Hour Feature Service

The new daily 36½ hour Toronto to Winnipeg service just inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Railway notably establishes a record in fast, convenient transportation. It provides the traveller with a feature service to Fort William from both Toronto and Winnipeg inasmuch as the Winnipeg Special leaving Toronto at 9.45 p.m. every night and arriving at Sudbury at 8.30 a.m. arrives at Fort William at 11.00 p.m., leaving there 15 minutes later and arriving in Winnipeg at 9.00 a.m.

Returning, the Toronto-Montreal "Special" leaves Winnipeg at 7.00 p.m. arriving in Fort William at 6.40 a.m., leaving 15 minutes later, connecting in Sudbury at 1.05 a.m. and in Toronto at the convenient hour of 8.35 a.m. Direct connections are made by travellers from Winnipeg for all main points in Ontario, Quebec and East, which will receive the serious consideration of those who desire efficient service. Dominion Express shipments are delivered hours earlier, which is also a feature.

The most modern equipment including standard and compartment sleepers, dining and compartment-observation cars, are carried which, with the reduction in the running time and the courteous efficient service by all employees, makes this new service prominent as the last word in transportation.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Woman's Soul BY Charles Garvice

"Fool," cried Jeffrey, rising with sudden despair. "For her sake! Yes you saw her—you saw how happy, how in love she was. All her life has been accent the lie! Oh, my God! What would happy and free from me, had it not been for it have been if I had yielded her back to the man who broke her mother's heart, the man who would have hated her for that mother's sake? Man, you don't torture me with your devilish smile! I did it for the best!"

Spencer Churchill laughed again.

"Dear, dear!" he murmured, "how dreadfully easy it is to deceive one's self! Now, here are you, a most excellent man, I have no doubt, my dear Jeffrey, actually persuading yourself that in robbing another man of his only child and depriving her of her rights, you have been committing a noble and virtuous action! Now I am sorry to say that I don't agree with you! I've no doubt you have become attached to the girl—"

Jeffrey put up his hand.

"Silence!" he said, hoarsely, "it is not for such as you to understand the love I bear her—my child, my child!"

"Pardon me, the Marquis of Stapleigh's child!" said the sneering voice.

Jeffrey raised his head and confronted the smiling, mocking face.

"Enough. You know my secret, and you alone—"

"Are you sure of that?" said Spencer Churchill, smoothly. "Are you sure that no one else shares it?"

Jeffrey made a gesture of dismissal.

"No one else. Not even she. To-day I had resolved to tell her."

A flash came into the watchful eyes.

"To-day—ah, yes!"

"Yes," said Jeffrey, with a deep sigh that was almost a groan, "I have brought myself to it at last, after such a struggle as you cannot understand. To-day she was to be told, was to take her future into her own hands; to choose—" his voice broke—"between one who has loved her like a father, and the man who broke her mother from his house and broke her heart!"

"Hem—yes!" murmured Spencer Churchill; "and you flatter yourself she will remain with you, of course?"

"You do not know her," said the tremulous reply. "You do not know her! My child—my child!"

Spencer Churchill watched him in silence from under his white, drooping lids.

"Yes, yes, my dear Jeffrey," he said softly, "did it ever strike you that supposing Lady Mary decided to return to her father?—to her husband, her father—that the marquis might refuse to acknowledge her?"

Jeffrey looked at him as if he scarcely understood.

"You see," continued Spencer Churchill, resting the foot on the chair, and leaning forward with a subtle smile; "it is such an extraordinary case that a marquis might be inclined to remark that he would require some proofs! I need scarcely remind you that he is not the most credulous of men; in fact that is rather inclined to be suspicious."

Jeffrey nodded grimly.

"I know him," he said, almost as if to himself. "I have thought of that, and am prepared with proofs." He put his hand to his breast pocket mechanically, and drew out the papers, and Spencer Churchill's eyes darted for them with a swift eagerness. "If—if Doris chooses to go to him, and leave me, it will not be in his power, to repudiate her! There," and he clutched the papers with his forefinger, and then put them in his pocket again; "these will establish her birth beyond dispute."

"I am delighted to hear it. That is quite satisfactory, quite. And so, my dear Jeffrey, you expect the young lady to renounce her father, the marquis—her rank and title, and all that would become hers—think of it—and remain with you; all will go on as before, and the father and his adopted child will be happy ever afterwards like the people in the fairy story?"

Jeffrey nodded, and the deep lines in his face grew lighter.

"Yes," he said in a low voice again, as if he were communing with himself rather than answering the other man's question; "yes, we shall take up our lives as before, my child, my Doris and I! She will be my Doris still, mine to love, and guard, and watch over! You see, there would be some, with suppressed eagerness, "there was truth in what you said, though you meant it insultingly; she will be a great actress—great! and it is I who have taught her—I, who loved her mother! You taunted me, Spencer

Churchill Wins Seat

Churchill with selfish aims in keeping from her this knowledge of her birth, was unjust. Tilda my child from him always—always. Jeffrey!" she said, "they were her last words. Poor Lucy!"

His head drooped, and he covered his eyes with his thin, gaunt hands for a moment; then as if remembering the presence of the other man, turned to him.

"You are here still! Why are you waiting? Go your way, and let me go mine. You know my secret—it is no concern of yours. Forget it, as you forget the wrong you did me. Go! I will be pointed down the path."

Spencer Churchill smiled blandly.

"My dear Jeffrey, doesn't it occur to you that perhaps this little secret of yours does concern me?"

The haggard eyes were raised to the smooth, mocking face.

"Doesn't it occur to you that, though you don't appear to, have my consideration to speak of, that I may not be so hardened, Oh, Sir, Jeffrey! You know, you really must know, what is in my duty to do!"

"Your duty?" repeated Jeffrey, in a low voice. "What do you mean?"

"Why, my dear sir, of course it is my duty to go to the marquis, and inform him of the existence of his child. Oh! and how sweet a duty," he murmured, "to restore a long lost child to its father's loving arms!"

Jeffrey sprang to his feet, and stood, breathing hard, his hand clinched tight at his side.

Spencer Churchill looked at him with an air of gentle reproach.

"I cannot think how it is you have't seen that from the first, dear Jeffrey. There is no law to say all cense of right as to conceal the fact of Lady Mary's existence but I—oh, my dear Jeffrey—I am a man of honor and must act as my conscience dictates. And how great a reward will be mine! To restore to a father the child he has mourned as dead! The dear marquis, I can picture his delight —" the smile grew sardonic for a moment—"his delight at recovering her, and his gratitude to you—"

She Woke to Find Herself an Heiress

Bebe Daniels Has Interesting Part in Belle Theatre Feature

"—and she woke to find herself an heiress!"

What an agreeable surprise the announcement which picture possibilities there are in such an event!

From gingham to gorgeous gowns, from a dingy boarding house on the Brooklyn waterfront to a palatial villa on Lake Como, Italy—and how you'll love Bebe in pretty Adele Clark!

"Dangerous Money" hings it all to the screen at the Belle Theatre tonight. The picture, Bebe's first starring production for Paramount, is an adaption by Julie Herne of the popular novel, "Clark's Field." In spite of a recent though unusually pretty young girl, who opened her eyes one morning to find herself heiress to more money than she ever even dared believe there was in the entire world.

Bebe does the natural thing—gets away from the boarding house and everything connected with it as quickly as possible, settles herself in material befitting a queen and lets herself abroad to acquire that "old world polish."

But what becomes of romance in the meantime? It has just begun, things Bebe for money can buy anything from love and happiness. And that's where she was wrong, for her little girl heart soon was aroused indeed, and when she realizes it—the picture shows it all in a delightful entertaining manner—and we would want to spend your evening's entertainment for the world.

Take a tip and take in the show at the Belle. Get away from the radio for one night, at least, and really enjoy yourself.

They don't make any better picture than "Dangerous Money."

SAYS I.O.D.E. IS NOT GLORIFYING WAR

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Dec. 15—In the occasion of the presentation of Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire memorial pictures to a school in Outremount Lady Drummond answered criticism which had been brought forward in regard to the fostering of a "love of war" spirit. She declared that the organization in giving and accepting the pictures was not the glorifying of war, but the inculcation of a feeling of hatred for it, coupled with the desire to commemorate the spirit of sacrifice and service shown by the men and women in the trenches through the weary years of 1914-18.

"If war should ever be the only way to save our country, we would have it, but, as we very well know it is our duty to think so and act that there will never be another great war.

"Mrs. A. W. Mitchell said in the I.O.D.E. we wished to remind the children who were coming after them of the sacrifice and service of the men who left their country to fight in order that the world might have peace and liberty."

Lewis' Novel Is True to Real Life

Picture at Griffin Theatre Now is Intensely Interesting

"Every day your wife kills a little bit of you," is the way Geo. F. Babbitt, citizen of Zenith, Ohio, describes about marriage. He goes on to say that "the women we marry in our youth are not suited to our years of discretion."

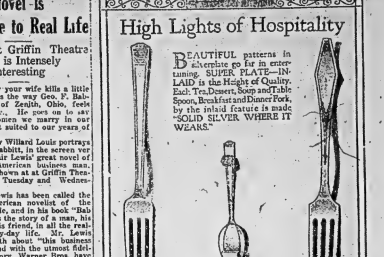

That is how Willard Louis portrays the role of Babbitt, in the screen version of Sinclair Lewis' great novel of the typical American business man, that will be shown at at Griffin Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Sinclair Lewis has been called the greatest American novelist of the present decade, and in his book "Babbitt", he tells the story of a man, his family and his friend, in all the realism of every-day life. Mr. Lewis tells the truth about "this business of living," and with the utmost fidelity to the story, Warner Bros. have produced a motion picture of vivid action and dramatic intensity.

The problem of Babbitt is your problem and mine. How overcome the drab, dream-destroying routine of materialism with the joyous beauty of romance and love. Sinclair Lewis, with his humane touch and sympathetic understanding creates Babbitt an active business man of the middle west, whose progressive civic spirit and family life is representative of millions of Babbitts throughout the country.

"Babbitt" is the backbone of America," says Sinclair Lewis, and in the Warner Bros.' classic of the screen you will understand the significance of this remark. Willard Louis whose remarkable work in "Drums Drummel" thrust him into the limelight of fame, plays the role of George F. Babbitt, the important man of business whose heart still yearns for romance in spite of his position in society as the husband and father. Supporting Mr. Louis are such screen favorites as Mary Alden, who plays the part of Myra, the wife; Carmel Myers a Tania Jedlicka, the fascinating woman of the world who sweeps Babbitt off his feet; Clay Clargendt as Paul Riesling; Raymond McKee, Maxine Elliott Hicks, Dale Fuller, Gertrude Olmstead and others of equal merit.

Sinclair Lewis' novel with the same title was adapted for the screen by Dorothy Farnum, while Harry Beaumont, who was the director that translated Sinclair Lewis' first novel, "Main Street", to the silver sheet, also handled the megaphone for this production, with the assistance of James Flood. The photographs was handled by David Abel.

CHEESE AT MONTREAL

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending December 12, 1924, were 7,197 boxes which were an increase of 154 boxes as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 1,650 boxes with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May first to date have been 117,216 boxes in excess of the same period of 1923.

A good steady business was done in cheese throughout the past week owing to the improved demand from foreign buyers, the higher prices bid and the steady upward tendency of sterling exchange of late. The market was fairly active and the undertone was stronger with sales of westerns, June-July make of white and colored goods at 13 3-4c to 13c per lb., and current receipts at 12c to 13¼c per lb.

Here and There

Rex Beach, the eminent American author, was recently in New Brunswick as a guest of W. G. McIntyre. On leaving for his home in the United States at the conclusion of his visit, Mr. Beach expressed himself as a strong booster for the hunting and fishing possibilities of the province, charmed with its scenic beauties, delighted with its people and solemnly promised to return with his gang next year.

The largest and one of the most valuable shipments of foxes ever by pass through Montreal, Que., by Dominion Express Company, was handled by that organization recently. There were 33 animals in the shipment, valued at $17,000, 30 being silverblack foxes and the rest black foxes. The former were destined for exhibition at Minneapolis, while the latter went to different points in the Canadian West.

The Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, which was so successful last year, will again be held at Quebec in 1925, the dates set being February 19th, 20th and 21st. As on former occasions, the distance to be covered will be 125 miles, at an average rate of 40 miles a day. Earl Bridges, Le Pas, Manitoba, now holds the honors won and awarded for the race and is expected to defend his honors. Many teams are already working out.

A decided acquisition to Trois Rivieres, Que., will be the new Trois Pacific Railway station, which was opened there on November 8th. The building is in Italian Renaissance and Macdonald, of Montreal, were the architects. Remarkable speed was made in the construction, as the contract for the work was only signed on June 2nd last. The opening ceremony was performed by Grant Hall, vice-president of the company, in the presence of many notables.

Three moose and one deer was the total bag of W. B. Leeds, jr., young American multi-millionaire, and his friends, Willie Pennoyer, Albert Hopkins, Paul Smith and Mortimer Davis, in the course of their recent hunting trip into the Kipawa district. The leader of the party expressed himself well pleased with the results, as he had not hoped for such luck. Great quantities of game of all kinds were seen.

That the Land of Evangeline (Nova Scotia) now ships over 2,000,000 bushels of apples abroad annually was the recent statement of F. G. J. Comeau, general freight and passenger agent, Dominion Atlantic Railway. A number of British apple growers and buyers are at present putting large trusts of land under fruit. With the apple growing industry increasing from year to year, at the rate of from two three hundred per cent per decade, only twenty per cent of the orchard land available in the province is yet under fruit.

Perhaps the most remarkable, certainly the first aerial stowaway in history was discovered by Pilot Caldwell of the Laurentide Air Service, operating in the neighborhood of the Rouge gold-fields, the other day. Caldwell, on rising for a long flight, found his machine so badly balanced as to be almost unmanageable. Cigarette butts and other clues led to the uncovering of the extra weight, which turned out to be a miner. As the man had taken this cheap but decidedly dangerous way of reaching civilization in order to see his sick wife, he was not detained or punished.

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Jeanne was one of the many children in New Ontario who travel miles to school. Her mother, a delicate girl herself, they trudges along two long roads eager for the little bit of civilization possible for them. Fifteen years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed the best of health during that time. Six of those years were spent in bed. Then she decided, getting around the house and at odd times working here and there to earn a little money.

One day she was caught in a sleet storm on her way home from school, before long a terrible cough set in. Then her mother got worried indeed. Of course, it was impossible for her to try the entrance examinations. "Another year, perhaps, but certainly not now," said the doctor.

Then Jeanne heard of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. Her sister-in-law strongly advised her to go there. Her mother decided to be brave, and her blue eyes with the aid of her lips radiate cheer and hope. "There," said Jeanne, "I'm going to High School." "Not there," said the doctor, "but there," and the doctor says "Why not?" because Jeanne is on the road to Wellville.

Will you help her and others to get there? Contributions may be sent to the treasurer of the Muskoka Sanatorium to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 215 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Be Beautiful! Darken Hair

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, gray or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is many and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, ready for use. Thousands buy it for its gredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Township Reports Shortage Again

Municipality of Kingston in Trouble For Second Time

Kingston, Dec. 15.—It was learned on Saturday morning that there is another shortage in the funds of the Township of Kingston which will probably be in the neighborhood of $4,000. This is the second shortage which has been discovered during the past year in connection with the funds of the township. The matter of the first shortage, which was discovered when H. H. Muir was engaged to audit the books of the township, amounted to about $2,000 and the township council was able to recover the amount from one of the officials responsible.

At the conclusion meeting held in the township hall at Cataraqui on Monday, November 24th, H. H. Muir made the charge to the effect that there was another shortage in the funds, and the members of the council who were present did not deny his statement.

It was learned after the meeting that A. H. Muir, auditor, who had been working on the books, was not in a position to state the amount at that time but since then he has put considerable time on the books with the result that a shortage which may amount to $4,000 has been located. It is understood that the audit has not been completed, and for that reason the question of the shortage will not be considered at the township council meeting which takes place on Monday although the township officials say nothing about the matter, it is learned that C. J. Graham, reeve has consulted certain legal authorities, and counsel for the township council stated that they would refrain from making any public statement until the auditor makes his official report and the matter is considered by council.

When Mr. Muir was first engaged to make the audit, his duties covered a period from 1919 to December 31st, 1923. It is understood that the second shortage is for the period starting January 1st 1924 and is for the first part of the year.

PRESCRIBES LAUGH TO CURE AILMENT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 15.—Speaking before the Canadian Club here, of which he was founder, W. Sanford Evans, K.C., of Winnipeg, and former mayor of that city, declared that the chief trouble in Canada today was lack of humor and sympathy in the particular problems confronting the various sections of the Dominion.

"More sense or humor," he said "more willingness to work, more care with national plans and more idealism in the first point every section of Canada needs to develop the sense of humor, the kind that carries its looking-glass and is not limited only to the funny things the other fellow does. Any east west audience would agree funny things were said and done in the west, but just as funny things were solemnly done and said in the east. The laugh separating may be dangerous, while to laugh together is the most wholesome thing in the world."

Mr. Evans said the west would join heartily in every laugh against itself provided the eastern provinces and all of the Maritime provinces as well as Ontario and Quebec would join in the whole economic, social and political breath would speedily be completely relaxed.

A pleasant surprise was handed out by the Brantford Board of Health. There will be a surplus of $1,000 from this year's appropriation for refund to the city treasury.

The condition of D. J. Nolan, injured in an automobile accident near Belle River Wednesday, was reported by Hotel Dieu, Windsor, authorities as "fair". Nolan's home is at London. He is a commercial traveller.

With the company running and the Malleable Castings Company having already one hundred men employed the outlook in Smith's Falls for a fairly busy winter looks promising.

Pastor Resigns

Oshawa, Dec. 15.—On Sunday, following the morning service at Emmanuel Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. T. L. Harton, read his resignation of the pastorate of the church to take effect after Sunday, December 28th inst.

Loss Revenue

Oshawa, Dec. 15.—It is said that informers in the employ of the various law departments of Ontario will be dismissed as a result of the recent amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act as the result of financial retrenchment by the provincial administration to the police in connection with breaches of the O. T. A., is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty of $50, with or without costs, at the discretion of the magistrate.

The act also provides to offer any money to obtain information regarding breaches of the O. T. A., police officers, money and persons accepting it are both liable to a fine of $500 or six months in jail.

Local opinion has it that a raid in Oshawa, in order to register a conviction would be a costly one, and would receive a policeman's pay.

Boys on Carpet

Provincial Constable C. F. Maker made a successful raid on a cottage in South township and rounded up four local boys who were holding before Magistrate Langley and remanded until to-day. They are: Ed. Woodcock, Stanley Scully; Leonard Minnecola, and Anthony Minnecola.

The quartette is charged with varying offences, one being failure to answer charge of breaking and entering a cottage on the 19th concession, South Township and carrying away from it property valued at $25. All the property was recovered by Constable Maker.

Conservatives Meet

Port Hope, Dec. 15.—The annual meeting of Hope Liberal-Conservative Association was held on Monday night at the Orange Hall, Garden Hill, when despite the stormy nature of the evening there was an exceptionally large turn out of the members.

That the spirit of Conservatism is still as faithful as ever was shown by the enthusiasm of those present, and when it is known that such stalwarts as Fred Osborn and George Agar "stuttered" all through the meeting, for fear of arrest, in a bright like last night, it augurs well for the continued success of the Conservative party in Hope.

The principal business was the election of officers, and the following were elected: President, Mr. James Beatty; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Harold Gardiner; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. Norman Hamilton; Treasurer, Mr. Stanley Gray; Secretary, Mr. Reid Wilson.

THE SCHUSTER CO LIMITED

Northern Ontario Reports Good Times

Big Increase in Exports of Products There This Year

(Canadian Press Despatch)

North Bay, Dec. 15.—Another proof of the wonderful prosperity of Northern Ontario at a time when business generally throughout the country is quiet is given in the report of C. S. Seltzer, United States consul at North Bay, showing the exports of products of this part of Ontario to the United States for the first nine months of 1924.

Compared with the export figures for the same period of 1923, those of this year show an increase of approximately 60 per cent., the totals for the nine months ending Sept. 30 last being $36,677,348, compared with $24,218,537 in 1923.

Probably the most surprising part of the record is the great variety of goods shipped out of this part of Ontario, the list including gold and silver bullion, lath, lumber, pickets, pulpwood, paper, railroad ties, chickens, furs, fish, Christmas trees, etc.

The biggest increase was in the export of gold bullion, which was valued at $17,718,045, as compared with $9,025,364 in the same period last year. Silver bullion jumped from $1,852,516 to $2,345,801. Silver ore showed a small decrease, but this was more than made up by the export of silver concentrates. Nickel showed a slight decrease, as did lumber. The pulp-wood export for nine months this year was 163,642 tons, valued at $2,530,424, compared with 147,188 tons worth $2,365,916 in 1923. There was a decrease in the export of pulpwood from the Cochrane district, 141,195 tons being the value of newsprint from $9,104,422 to $10,162,620. This showed a small decrease, as did furs.

JACK MINER IS TO PAY ALASKA VISIT

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Jack Miner, Canadian naturalist, accompanied by his wife and youngest son, will leave next July with George E. Buchanan of Detroit for a six weeks' trip to Alaska. Each year Mr. Buchanan takes the boys camping and Jack Miner has been invited to join the party. The trip will be spent in the interests of plant, bird and animal life of the various parts visited. While in the latter part they will go inland to the Yukon and Alaska gold fields.

MADE BEER GLASSES TO KEEP BUSINESS

Breslau, Dec. 15.—The manufacture of beer glasses has helped to keep the German glass industry on its feet during the last few months when there has been a lull down in many other industries owing to numerous other difficulties and the lack of ready cash for operating expenses. The demand has come chiefly from the home trade.

Manufacturers, however, believe that after some of the pending trade treaties with other countries have been agreed to the export business will gradually improve.

Last summer a suburbanite borrowed a neighbor's hen on the pretense that he wanted her to set. As soon as he got the hen he broke up the setting habit and got her layed eggs. In the spring six weeks later he returned three hens eggs which he sold for enough to purchase the hen from which he borrowed it to him. Now the question arises which is the original owner of the hen was fooled or not.

Walter A. Sadler, 45 years old, a Hamilton business man, was fined or suspended sentence by Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court, when he pleaded guilty to obtaining $300 by worthless cheques. "It never struck me there were not sufficient funds in my bank to meet the cheques," Sadler told the court. He says he was fooled or not.

Toronto, Dec. 16.— Charged with the theft of $18,000 the property of the Toronto branch of the provincial savings bank, three men, Vernon Herron, manager of the branch, Frank F. Smith, accountant of the bank and Fred H. Armitage of Parry Sound, head of the Frontenac Lumber Co., were arrested soon after midnight this morning in a downtown hotel. Auditors who have been examining books discovered the "loss" of $15,000 of which Armitage, it is alleged, has received. It is said that Herron is also vice-president of the lumber Company and Smith a secretary treasurer.

The alleged theft also involves certain transactions in the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, when Armitage, Frontenac Lumber Co., recently acquired the Hockey Lumber Co., and was also tendering on further timber limits offered for sale by the Provincial Government. Boost License For Market Meat Men

Fee Will Be $25 Instead of $1.00 Next Year

Commencing with the first day of January, a license fee of $25 will be charged to butchers who rent or lease upon the market. At the Council meeting last evening a recommendation to that effect was adopted, but two members voting against it.

Mr. C. A. Payne, addressed the council on behalf of the butchers of the city who made a request that a license fee of $50 be imposed upon those who cut up meat on the market. He said it was a matter of importance to the butchers, who should be protected, he said, as they were large taxpayers in the city. The meat was now sold on the market is not inspected in the same manner as meat that the butchers sell.

Ald. Graham—"A recommendation has been adopted in reference to the matter."

The recommendation was: "That a license fee of $25 per annum be charged for the cutting up of meat on the market, and license to commence on January 1st, 1925, and that a by-law be prepared for same."

Upon a vote being taken the recommendation was adopted. Ald. Foster and Ald. White voted against it.

Notice of Motion

In regard to the matter, Ald. Foster rose notice that he would at the next Council introduce the following motion: "That a license fee of $1 be charged Peters for cutting and selling beef meat on and rack on the Belleville market, when new beef quarters of pork has been raised by the said farmers, two farmer known to purchase beef, mutton or pork to cut and sell same as his own his license shall be revoked and no license be granted him at any future time."

IBanez Does Not Care To Offer Himself A Sacrifice to The Government of Spain

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Dec. 16.—Vicente Ibanez Blasco, Spanish author who recently came to the bombardment of various towns in Spain with pamphlets attacking the King and military directorate, laughed heartily when asked if the effect of summoning him to appear before a military judge in the Spanish capital.

"It is unnecessary to say I shall not go to the invitation," he declared. "I would just as soon take refuge on a cannibal island as to confide myself to government of bandits, now ruling Spain."

CHEST CLINIC IS OPENED IN CITY

Dr. A. D. Proctor and Nurse In Charge

A movement has been launched in Belleville under the direction of Dr. A. D. Proctor which is expected to mean a wholesale improvement in health conditions here especially in regard to tuberculosis. Belleville has been about the worst town in the district in this connection. Yesterday the first clinic was held at the City Hall, when Dr. Proctor, assisted by Miss L. M. Shand officiated. Previous to this work has been done but developed but it is expected to improve on the present conditions and to that very necessary undertaking.

Dr. Proctor has been over a year ago to start a clinic, but was not able to do so until the arrival of the Victorian Nurse. He hopes to have as early diagnosis, so that preventative measures can be taken, and those who are not in advanced stages may be cured, and the spread of the disease stopped. This work has been very beneficial in other parts of Canada and the States. Toronto has reduced her number of tuberculosis cases by one half since it has been discovered in some cities that 75% of the population may suffer from this disease, and this number has been reduced to 25% by the efforts of the Anti-tuberculosis Association.

The clinic is likely to be held every two weeks, and the hours will be of 2 o'clock. The meeting may be held oftener as the need arises. It is the aim to be made to form an Anti-tubercular Association to carry on the work, and many prominent men of the city are becoming interested in it.

LOCAL STORES ARE READY FOR THE BIG RUSH

Beautiful Christmas Stock Awaits Inspection of Shoppers

ONLY 7 MORE DAYS

Merchants Urge Early Shop ping—Business Slower Than 1923

There are seven shopping days before Christmas.

This fact will probably stare newspapers readers in the faces throughout the world to-day, and there's a reason.

Merchants are unanimous in their decision that early Christmas shopping is very advisable, and that is why they continually harp upon the idea that the shopping days are fast and vastly diminishing.

The "genius" of the newspapers' has had a decided effect too, within the past two years according to local merchants who have studied the situation for results. People do shop early. They do appreciate the fact that their time is limited—they do consider the busy life of the many salesmen and saleladies.

Probably before any reason mentioned however, they realize as never before that haphazard buying is not successful. They realize that it is much more satisfactory to avoid the rush and enable themselves to make a careful inspection and selection of the Christmas goods, the fact by arranged for their welcome perusal.

With a view to determining the volume and nature of the Christmas trade, The Intelligencer made numerous inquiries this morning at local shops. This was one of the interesting facts disclosed.

Christmas Trade Fair

With regard to the actual Christmas trade, the situation on the whole to date, appears to be, that as yet the great Christmas rush has not begun. Probably because shoppers have started their early buying because the absence of rush, but it is believed among the merchants that more activity will be experienced before the 20th. Outstanding merchants are not anticipated by some merchants however, who feel that as the year on the whole has been below last year's record, that Christmas trade will also fall in measure with last years' good record.

There is no doubt, Belleville merchants in every line of business, have made efforts to secure a Christmas adornment which are very encouraging to shoppers which are a credit to themselves. Many of them have established their stock for next city's work, in a successful effort to display their goods or produce in the most attractive manner possible. A glimpse at almost any Front street window will convince.

Dry goods trade might be summed up as being very busy and with still greater expectations. The grocery trade is expected to be appreciably compares very favorably with last year, while quarters in which the last that first and foremost the "inner man" must be catered to.

When asked if this year's business was up to last year's Christmas rush, one grocer stated that he had not kept a comparative account, but explained that heavy Christmas orders which had come in were still coming very rapidly.

Druggists are very optimistic and report good business, but candy stores are preparing for the rush which inevitably comes as Christmas approaches. The same is also true with tobacconists, who are well stocked with fancy and attractive lines, which await the "weeds of Lady Nicotine."

Toyland is probably the busiest department, and preparations are being daily made for the "Santa Claus act" of every household. Furniture stores which conduct toyland departments, report the big push in this department.

Stationery and novelty stores report good business but not up to last year's at the same time.

"There will have to be great increases before my year and Christmas to equal last year's record", one stationer said to Intelligencer.

Christmas trees are being purchased quite freely.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY MAY LOCATE HERE

Head of the Giffen Manufacturing Company Is In City

From present indic tions, the city of Belleville is getting another industry, the Giffin Manufacturing Company, now located in Toronto.

Mr. Giffin had come to Belleville to buy machinery for his Toronto plant. He said today that they were moving in Toronto, having outgrown their plant there, they had decided to go to Scarboro, and they needed new equipment.

In the city here, however, the proposition was put to him that Belleville was his logical location and instead of taking the machinery back to Toronto it will likely stay here. The condition is that the Belleville people was that city men would put up $25,000 to take care of the extra expense of moving the greater distance. Three quarters of this sum has been obtained and the remainder is said to be in sight.

Giffin Manufacturing Company makes hinges and this is expected to round out the manufacture of builders hardware in the community.

Mr. Giffin said that the company had orders now up to March of the next year.

INTERMEDIATES TO TAKE ICE TO-NIGHT

HONOR JUDGES AT BAR DINNER HERE MONDAY

Mr. Justice Logie and Mr. Justice Macaulay are Honored

HEAR HAPPY SPEECHES

Also Resolution of Sympathy to Judge Fraleck and Mrs. Fraleck

The Lawyers of this City and County met at their quarterly dinner at listed Quinte last night and entertained two distinguished guests, Honourable Mr. Justice Logie who is presiding over the Non-Jury Sittings of the High Court here, and Mr. Justice Macaulay who is on leave from the Yukon. It was recalled that just a few years ago a banquet was given to Judge Macaulay by way of farewell on his leaving the city to take up his great North Western post. Mayor Mikel, K.C., in the chair, very ably filled the chair during the early part of the proceedings and introduced W. N. Ponton, K.C., a former Prestiteal, during the latter part of which he was obliged to leave to attend to his municipal duties. The toast to the chief guest, Mr. Justice Logie, was felicitously proposed by Mr. Malcolm Wright and was happily responded to by His Lordship in the course of which he spoke often with many reminiscent stories. The toast to the visitors was proposed by Mr. Ponton and was responded some of the Scotch toasts heard by himself and Mr. Macaulay during the past summer, and the experiences in Prestiteal were particularly appropriate and genial. Judge Macaulay responded briefly to the toast of the past in Belleville and in the Yukon, in reminiscent vein.

Mr. W. R. Smyth, K.C., and Mr. E. T. Chesterton in Belleville and Mr. J. O. Corkery of Peterboro, all expressed their appreciation of the manner recorded them by the Belleville Bar and told many entertaining stories, as did also a number of the lawyers present among us takin' notes."

A touching expression of sympathy and regret was passed and directed to be forwarded to Judge and Mrs. Fraleck on the occasion of their recent and bereavement, and a fine up bute was sold by Colonel Ponton to the late Miss Madeline Fraleck in her capacity as the faithful and efficient Deputy Clerk of the Crown at the Court House, her loss being deeply felt by the whole Bar. Appropriate tribute was also paid to her memory by Mr. J. A. Kerr.

A toast to the newly married bride-groom, Mr. Robert Macaulay and his gerata wife, was humorously and appropriately proposed by Major H. D. Ponton who recalled the former visits of the late Chief Justice Falconbridge to Belleville. Judge Macaulay responded in gallant style and was welcomed heartily by the bridegroom.

Mr. A. B. Collins proposed the health of the County Judge, Judge Deroche, and Judge Wills replied in a thoughtful and felicitous speech.

The toast to the hosts was proposed by Mr. W. R. Smith, K.C., and responded to by Sheriff Clare.

The evening's delightful agenda was concluded by some most appropriate and feeling remarks by Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, and by a night song by Mr. Justice Logie.

Other members of the Bar who contributed to the success of the evening by their presence were Mr. J. E. Graham, Mr. Cherry A. Payne, Mr. K. D. O'Flynn, Mr. F. G. Cushing and Mr. J. G. O'Flynn.

Toronto Rejects It

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The Toronto City Council today rejected a motion condemning the proposals of the Canadian Deep Waterways Association to levy the cost of the St. Lawrence Canal deepening project on power users as well as the cost of power development. This step, however, came after the Council had adopted a motion asking the Dominion Government to approve plans of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario for power development at Morrisburg. The Hydro plan contemplates power to be available based on the cost of the power development only, leaving the question of improvements to be taken care of otherwise.

Tense time this Parisian young ladies are wearing St. Catherine's bonnet because they haven't found a husband yet. But they still have hopes. On her feast day, the French and French-Canadians celebrate the quaint ceremonies of honoring all the old maids. On this day, in Paris and many, protected by the bonnet of St. Catherine, can flirt and make eyes as much as they please. French and French-Canadians offer their opinions of a certain age as honored by St. Catherine," meaning either that they have donned St. Catherine's bonnet, or that they could qualify for the honour of wearing it some of St. Catherine's statue which is also a yearly gift. The ceremony is in honor of St. Catherine of Alexandria, who remained obdurate even to the impassioned wooing of the Roman Emperor Maximinus, by whom she was ultimately put to death.

RAISING AN ISSUE

Because it is a bigger issue than party politics, the St. Catharines Standard proposes to abandon its independent stand in the next federal election to raise the issue of the pulpwood embargo and support the party which will stand for the protection of Canadian industry and the manufacture of Canada's raw materials into finished products with Canadian labor. The Standard has been aroused by the revelations printed in THE FINANCIAL POST about the erection of the new paper mill at North Tonawanda to manufacture supplies from Canadian pulpwood for "Liberty," the big Chicago weekly magazine. It emphatically declares:

"If there is an election next year, this paper proposes to make this an issue in the contest. It is of vital interest to this district in which the manufacture of paper has been developed to such a degree of success. The people of this district want to know why it was possible for a large paper plant to be built across the river, to be operated from pulpwood from Canada's forests and to employ American workmen, when a national policy for Canada, in regard to natural resources, would have made the Niagara Peninsula, with its wonderful waterway system, the logical location of such a large and important addition to industry."

This declaration of the Standard is particularly significant. Formerly Conservative in its political leanings, it has for some years, following the discontinuance of the Liberal Journal, pursued an independent course in providing a news service for all classes in its constituency. It now proposes to take up the pulpwood embargo, not as a political, but as a national issue, and on that issue to abandon its attitude of being a mere reporter of political contests, After quoting the allegation as brought out by The Financial Post, the Standard explains its decision to fight for an embargo as follows:

"This paper has always stood for protection against unfair foreign competition with Canadian industry and the workmen engaged in that industry. Tariff protection, no matter how skilfully imposed, sometimes brings anomalies, and consumers may pay a higher price for commodities. None of the ordinary arguments against tariff protection can be adduced, however, against conservation in keeping Canadian pulpwood for factories built in Canada and for employing workmen who, per force, must live in Canada. The argument is bigger even than that of pulpwood embargo. We want people in Canada and we require increased traffic for our nationally owned railway system. We want to build up our lake carrier system. All the cardinal interests of the country would be favorably affected by an embargo on pulpwood. Is there anyone among the politicians who will arise and tell Canada that the disadvantages are greater than the advantages? What is this whisper of American retaliation against us? What does it mean? Have we all the cards he laid on the table? Must Canadians sell their heritage for a mess of pottage, or should Canada call Uncle Sam's bluff?

"It becomes evident, therefore, that those who stand for the upbuilding of Canada and the conservation of Canadian resources for the benefit of the Canadian people will have an opportunity of declaring themselves in the next election—before many months.

WHO WILL PAY THE COST?

At the Ontario Municipal Electric Association meeting held in Toronto Nov. 26th to consider the St. Lawrence development, Ex-Mayor Newman of Picton, presented a resolution pointing out that in a circular issued by the Canadian Deep Waterways Association, Government ownership and control of power development was favored as opposed to municipal ownership and also payment by power users of the total cost of a proposed ship canal from Lake Ontario to Montreal. The resolution, declaring the Hydro Association to be opposed to the methods urged in Deep Waterways Circular as being an attempt to interfere with municipal rights and to place an unfair burden on the power users of the Province, was passed unanimously.

At a meeting of the Canadian Deep Waterways Association in St. Catharines Nov. 29th, the President of the Association referred to the apparent conflict between the Hydro and deep Waterways Association and said he had not the slightest idea of interfering with the carrying out of the Hydro project. He concluded by pointed out that a canal system on the St. Lawrence without the power development to bear the cost was an impossibility, that neither Government would consider the scheme without the inclusion of the power development.

It is estimated that the deepening of the St. Lawrence will cost $252,000,000 and will save the West $12,000,000.00 to $15,000,000.00 annually.

The circular attacked by Ex-Mayor Newman after pointing out that the Joint Governments of the United States and Canada can borrow the money cheaper than Ontario can, reads "The people of Ontario (the power users) can well afford to pay the full cost of the whole project; in other words absorb as part of the cost of the power, the cost also of the canal system."

This is one of the big National and International questions! Should the Hydro Power users of the East pay a double price for power that the Western Provinces and Western States may have cheap transportation?

Showed Stranger Real Good Time

But His Toronto Friends Attempted to Make It Costly

Toronto, Dec. 1.—"We met at the station, they showed me their property, the C.P.R. Building, King and Yonge streets, treated me to wine, and after sleeping for 24 hours I found that my friends had disappeared and had emptied my pockets of $2,000."

Such was the experience of Mike Syniak, of Portland street, whose complaint at police headquarters on Dec. 6th resulted in the arrest of Nick Kuchar, Mutual St., at Sarnia on Saturday. When arrested, Kuchar had $1,200 in his pockets, and the victim of the robbery is satisfied that the $35 bills found on Kuchar are those which were taken from him when he was drugged. Huckvale will be brought to the city by Detective Gwerdie.

Syniak told the police that he made the acquaintance of Kuchar and another man at the Union Station two weeks ago, and being able to speak Russian they became very friendly. The friendship developed to the extent that Syniak asked Kuchar where he could safely invest the $2,000 which he had in a saving account in a Winnipeg bank.

The steamer Grenville, which ran ashore a week ago near Byng Inlet, in Georgian Bay, is tied up for the season, according to a statement made by officials of the Department of Marine and Fisheries. No possibility for her release until the Spring now exists.

Thomas Onslow and John D'Arcy, Montreal stock brokers, are charged with obtaining under false pretences the sum of $4,825 from Alex. Cameron, a farmer. Bail amounting to $10,000 from each accused has been granted until preliminary investigation fixed for December 19.

No Official Word

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—No official word of Premier Baldwin's expected intention to visit Canada in the coming year has been received here. There have been rumors that Col. Amery, colonial secretary, and one or two other British cabinet ministers intend to visit the Dominion, but nothing official has been arranged.

When James A. Garfield was president of Sturm College a man brought up his son to be entered as a student. He wanted the boy to take a course shorter than the regular one.

"My son can never take all these studies," said the father. "He wants to get through more quickly. Can't you arrange it for him?"

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Garfield. "He can take a short course it all depends on what you want to make of him. When God wants to make an ox, He takes a hundred years, but He takes only two months to make a squash."

A NEAT REPLY

Toronto Star:
One of the best of many good stories told of Lord Leverhulme turns upon a ready retort with which he once silenced an interrupter at a meeting he was addressing.

The question that was put to him was why he considered the most important factor in industry: Labor, capital or brains.

Lord Leverhulme replied with a twinkle in his eye: "Which is the most important leg of a three-legged stool?"

BEST BRITISH COMEDIANS

Montreal Sentinel-Review:
The British Lord Chamberlain, who has supervision over the staging of new and theatres, has forbidden any jokes at the expense of "Mr. Ar—W—." It will be remembered that a certain Indian who became involved in a sensational shacknabbing scheme. The British authorities tried to keep his name out of the papers, until they made themselves ridiculous. And now the Lord Chamberlain has put a ban on any reference to the gentleman.

The British comedians are not what they used to be if they don't get more fun out of the High Chamberlain than we could possibly have got from the Indian. It won't be necessary to even mention his name.

IRONY OF SACRIFICE

London Daily Chronicle:
Will the high prices paid for seats to hear Mme. Galli-Curci lead to such unusual consciences as disturbed two modern ladies of Mark Twain's (affectionate) acquaintance when Sarah Bernhardt visited their town? They greatly desired to see the great actress, but they also wished to spend $25 each on seats and in the end decided to stay home and give the money to a couple of poor relations. The poor relations went straight away and bought two tickets to the Divine Sarah.

Young People Hear Beneficial Address

Rev. C. E. Clarke Adresses Societies of City Churches

The combined attendance of members of Young Peoples' Societies of city churches at a pleasing hour was at the Y.M.C.A., last night was an unusual success, there being a record breaking attendance and a most happy time.

The following church societies were well represented:

Epworth League—Bridge St. Church Cherry Presidents.

Epworth League—Tabernacle Church —Lent President.

Epworth League — Holloway St. Church: Miss F. Wilson, President.

St. Andrews Guild—Miss McLarty, President.

Bayside Union—Ronald Dourthy, President.

Reformed Church, Benvolent Society, Robert Sautter, President.

Bridge St. Church, Friends's Association, Jack White, President.

Mr. Newton Thompson presided and Mr. Jr. Dourthy acted as leader. The devotional exercises by Rev. H. E. Kenny, and prayer was given by Rev. John McGie at the piano and Dr. Tough as organist. Miss Laura Reed a scripture lesson, Rev. E. C. Clarke, Bayside Christ Church gave an interesting address.

At the conclusion, a round folk rendered to the gymnasium where games and relics were enjoyed. An alphabetical race was won by Miss Irma, the judges Rev. Dr. A. Brown, Rev. A. S. Bayne and Rev. H. E. Kenny.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Rev. Clarke said that he wished to speak first about what the church was in right to expect of its young people's societies and then about how to make a young people's society successful. In regards to the first matter he stressed four points.

1. The church has a right to expect that its young people's society will provide a family atmosphere for the people of the church, particularly the young people, so that they may find a congenial atmosphere in the church where they worship. This is primary reason but the existence of young people's societies as separate organizations. Young people must have friends and one society should give them the right kind of friends.

2. The church expects rightly that its young people's society shall not be exclusive in its attitude, i.e., content to have the same members year after year. Have an exclusive club but rather that it shall be continually looking out for persons in the congregation and in the city. These should be colled up and invited to the meetings and made welcome by the whole society and tactfully and sympathetically made to feel at home.

3. The church has a right to expect that the young people's society shall be a training ground for leadership in the church work. To this end, most of the programmes should be put on by the members of the society themselves. The officers and committees should try to lead and plan for the whole year, help secure and develop talent latent in those who are too retiring to take an active part unless they are coaxed out.

4. The church also has a right to expect that the young people's society will be self supporting paying for the rent, piano, and heat, etc., that the church provides for its convenience.

In regard to a successful society, the speaker spoke of three things in prominence.

1. The officers must see that the programmes are varied, not being a mere imitation year after year, of the same programme with the same leader.

2. Each evening's programme should have something distinctive, making it stand out as different in some respect from other evenings. A society which the members of the society themselves, cannot be a real success any more than one that has a prayer meeting every time it meets with the same leader leading in prayer. An individual life makes people interesting, so a fascinating variety will make every evening interesting.

3. To make this effective the programmes must be founded out one which will the social side stressed, another with the literary element in the background, and another with a good missionary programme, etc., etc.

Officers must be optimistic, capable of leading and willing to take any amount of trouble to develop the talents of all he members in producing such varied and distinctive programmes.

The speaker concluded his address by expressing the hope that by occasionally visiting other societies and watching the weekly methods all might profit and the young people's work in the city might be continually strengthened.

Average Life Is Growing Longer

So Famous Physician Tells Life Insurance Convention

New York, Dec. 16—"Old King Tut died a young man. He died lastly because the doctors in ancient Egypt didn't know enough about medicine to save him.

"One woman in every ten is dying of cancer to-day after she reaches the age of forty.

"More has been learned about medicine and the disease of human beings in the last twenty-four years than has learned in previous twenty-four centuries."

So said Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., addressing the final session of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents' Convention at the Hotel Astor.

Reaches For Jump

The famous surgeon also said that the reason more people are dying now of cancer is that the life of the average man and woman has been extended to fifty-eight years.

At this period the body cells are wont to the point of less resistance to the cancer germ attack.

He said that twenty years was the average of span of life for man in the eighteenth century.

"Life is being prolonged for the individual to-day, he said, because more babies are being saved than were ever saved before in the history of mankind.

Dr. Mayo added that pure milk, especially guarded by competent health inspection officers in the big cities, is the most important factor in the battle against tuberculosis.

Diseases Ended

The distinguished physician also said that mass diseases like the black death that wiped out 50,000,000 persons in the fourteenth century have been practically eliminated, and that the limits of the most of medication is to save the individual.

He declared that Lotta Crabtree, the child actress, bequeathed $200,000 to oppose vivisection, had caused public policy because experiments on animals has resulted in saving an untold number of human lives.

He advocated a physical examination twice yearly for each man, woman and child. He said arms lost in the world war showed that the youth of the city suffers less from disease than the young man from the rural districts.

BRITISH LABOR RAPS GOMPERS AND LIKE

London, Dec. 16—Sympathetic obituaries, accompanied by pictures, in all the morning newspapers, testify to the wide spread respect which Samuel Gompers commanded here. Typical of one set of opinions regarding the United States Labor chief, is the Conservative Morning Post's description of him as "a real Labor leader, big in mind, generous of heart," and the intimation of his patriotism and opposition to Socialism.

How little Mr. Gompers had in common with present-day English Laborism, however, is shown by the Daily Herald, Labor organ, which remarks: "Labor and Socialism have now become, in European countries, two words practically the same thing. The issue proceeds to draw a contrast between the British workers and those of the United States, saying in the course of its comment:

"As Mr. Gompers and his like worked hard to prevent Socialism being interfered with, and set their faces against all ideas of change, they were regarded as pillars of the capitalist system, and that, indeed, is exactly what they are."

SHED FURTHER LIGHT ON TRADE POLICIES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—Advices from official Australian sources further lift the veil on the details of Canada's trade treaty with Australia. Only meagre details have been given out at Ottawa beyond the fact that Australia would be given the benefit of the full British preferential rate, but according to Australian information, Canada's offer to the commonwealth includes the following items. Canada will make the full British preferential rate ong cent per pound and the general tariff four cents. The present preferential is two, and-one-third cents. Canned meats—British preferential rate increased from 10 to 15% per cent.

Lard—New British preferential 1-2 cent per pound—present 1 1-2 and general 2 cents per pound. Bacon—British preferential one cent pound, and general tariff four cents, present general tariff is four. Good Ice at Tweed

Tweed, Dec. 16.—Stoco Lake at Tweed is a wonderful place at this time. After school hours the crowds are there to enjoy the rink. Mr. Morfit, owner of the high school, had about twenty of the girls practising hockey daily and a good high school team is expected to be formed.

Railways Shying At Labor Demands

Wages Have Been Increased 150 Per Cent. Since War

London, Dec. 16.—The formidable demands of the railway workers which were outlined two days ago have created no excitement so far. It is realized that the negotiations between the men and the railway companies will occupy several months before there is any probability of the breaking point being reached.

The railway companies assert that the men's demand for an all round increase of $10 a year in their wages, with extra pay for night work; a 44-hour week instead of a working week of 48 hours; 12 days holiday every year instead of six days; pensions at 60 years of age, and the daily mileage for engineers to be 120 miles instead of 100 miles, as agreed upon in the settlement of the last strike of the engineers, would involve an increased expenditure of £30,000,000 a year by the companies.

"The wages of sin is death, but the wages of a railway porter is 48 shillings a week," was written all over the railway sheds during the railwaymen's strike before the war, but since those days the porters' wages have been increased 150 per cent.

Trick Now Is To Sneeze Them Out

Stowaways have no Chance To Hide in the Hold

Manila, Dec. 16.—Manila's fame up and down the China coast as a happy port for beachcombers, where stowing away on army transports has been easy, is passing away.

Strange gas, furnished by the chemical warfare service of the Philippine department of the United States army, is forced into the hold of every transport for a period of 24 hours just before departure, thus making the hold uninhabitable. Not a single stowaway was found on the transport Chaumont when it touched at China on its last trip. On previous trips the discovery of 15 or 20 was not uncommon.

BOY TURNED FROM FATHER TO AUNTIE

Toronto, Dec. 16—"Father or aunt—with whom would he live?" The question was put up to a bright-eyed, 12-year-old lad in the County Police Court Monday morning.

The boy hesitated, whispered "My auntie"—then bursting into tears, he threw his arms around Magistrate Brunton's neck and was only comforted when his Worship assured him that he would stay with his "auntie."

The aunt had taken the child, whose father was a widower, for reasons of financial difficulties could not keep he boy longer unless his father promised something for his maintenance.

The father didn't want the aunt to keep the boy, because "she didn't believe in God."

The child was made a ward of the children's Aid Society, and left with the aunt.

The father was ordered to pay $2 a week.

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Reason was one of the many children who this year were taxed with being too sick to school, or bad weather or foul, they trudge along with the goods eager for the little bit of education possible for them. Fifteen years had passed since Jessie's birth and she had never enjoyed the best of health. Realizing that the life of her daughter would be spent in going to school, helping with the housework at odd times working here and there to earn a little money.

Then one day she was caught in a sleet storm on her way home from school. Before she reached home she was in a high fever and developed pneumonia. Of course, it was impossible for her to try the entrance examinations. Another year, perhaps, but certainly not this year, they said.

Now she is resting at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Gravenhurst, with the good prospects, very comfortable fair hair refuses to behave, while her blue eyes with the aid of her fine realistic cheer and hope. "Mother, says Jessie, "I'm going to get well right away, and get back to school right away, and the doctor says "Why not?" because Jessie is on the road to Wellville.

Can you help her and others to reach the goal, by contributing to the hospital fund? Send your gift direct to Hon. W. H. Charters, Treasurer, 223 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

PRINCESS ABETS EMERALD FAD

London, Dec. 16—Sapphires and emeralds have become the most popular jewels, apart from the ever-fashionable diamonds and pearls, among English women, according to West End jewellers, while for some unaccountable reason there is little call for rubies, and amber and jade have lost much of their popularity of a few years ago. Flexible platinum bracelets, studded with diamonds, emeralds, sapphires and rubies, are fashion's latest jewel fad.

Princess Mary is said to have been responsible for the sudden popularity of emeralds. Her engagement ring was a particularly beautiful emerald, and created as immediate and pressing demand for stones. Then it was discovered that sapphires combined strikingly with the green jewel, and they also jumped into favor.

One feature of the new fads, according to jewelers is passing of the choker necklace of pearls or large metal or colored beads. Rows of pearls, however, are as popular as ever.

USES HANDCUFFS FOR ILLUSTRATION

Milton, Ont., Dec. 16—Rev. C. W. Moore, illustrated his talk to the boys and girls during Sunday school session in the Bronte Methodist Church in quite a unique manner, when he used a pair of handcuffs loaned from the local constable, L. M Brew, on two boys, Alex Patterson and Donald McKinley, to symbolize the bondage of sin, as the handcuffs could only be unlocked by a special key, so the worker claimed could be the victim of sin be released only by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Mr. Moore contended the fact that people are so linked together that the sin of one makes many suffer.

"Toad" Edmunds Has Passed Away

Stratford Trainer was Prominent Member of Hockey Fraternity

Stratford, Dec. 16—Coincident with the close of the era of natural ice hockey in Stratford was the demise of Edward Percival "Toad" Edmunds, a Stratford hockey star of the early years of this century and one of the mainstays of the Ontario Hockey Association and O.P. A.A. in Stratford during the past decade. E. P. Edmunds was the son of Mr. Edmunds and the late E. C. Edmunds, and was born in Stratford 41 years ago. He began into hockey prominence in 1901 with Stratford juniors, who were runners-up to Peterboro for the O.H.A. junior championship. He was a member of the team the following year also, when they lost in the finals to Upper Canada College. The next season he was with the intermediate team, and in 1904 was regularly installed in the O. H. A. intermediate title. He played for the Moose Jaw team in 1907, when Bradford won the O.H.A. senior series. He played the local club the following year, when they lost the senior championship to the 14th Regiment team at Kingston. He played for the Stratford Imperials, and played for two years with Berlin in the O.H.A. senior. He was a member of the championship Berlin team, and helped to defend them in the defence of the Stanley Cup, but they lost a two-game series to the Ottawa Senators. Bert Corbeau was then a team-mate of "Toads."

After retiring from pro. hockey, he played with the Imperials, particularly in Toronto. He was coach of immaculate Imperials' team, which retained the O.H.A. semi-finals last year.

BOXER ALLEGED TO HAVE K-O'D COP

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Provided the story of Phil Rivers, his 175-pound boxer, is correct, Rivers has won one fight that he is not officially credited with, and it was with one of Toronto's 210-pound policemen. Details of the affair, which occurred on the night of Dec. 5, will be heard in Police Court Wednesday, when Rivers will be charged with assaulting the police, according to Inspector Charles Crowe, of West Dundas st. division.

Constable W. Simpson (231) alleges he was assaulted by three men, including Rivers. The latter, he was chasing Rivers along Dundas st., near Jarvis, when the boxer's wife, who was driving, ran up a lane. Simpson, who is over six feet in height, ordered that Rivers be standing about five feet six, bit him, and he took the count.

A telephone message was sent to form a doctor's office, and Sergeant Oxland found Simpson injured in the head, and maintaining he had been assaulted by three men. He is still confined to his home, recovering from the assault.

DRAFT SCHEDULE FOR GROUP TO-NIGHT

St. Pats Are Given A Real Shake-Up

Stan Jackson and Chris Speyer Have Been Released

Toronto, Dec. 16.—St. Pat's have released Stan Jackson and Chris Speyer outright. These two players looked promising near the end of last season, they did not display the pep expected of them. Jackson's release came as a surprise, as he was considered a smooth back checker. It is likely that he will find a place on the new Boston club.

The St. Pat's practice was wide open Monday and a goodly crowd of fans saw an even dozen of the Irish go at it hammer and tongs for the whole forty minutes. Powers' men didn't appear at all discouraged over the loss to Montreal Montreales and are hopeing to get back in a select berth for a six game the world champion Canadiens on Wednesday night. Two teams were as usual chosen from those on hand and the boys had a chance to try out the new system in actual play. Reid, Day and Dye made up the defence front line with Helsey and Corbeau as their defence. They were opposed by Cook Jones, particularly in Toronto. He was coach of immaculate Imperials' team, which retained the O.H.A. semi-finals last year.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Jeffrey drew nearer.

"You—you will do this?" he panted. "Almost immediately!"

"Yes," said Spencer Churchill; then with a rapid change of voice, and laying his hand on the quivering shoulder of the man he was torturing, he added, "unless you come to my terms, my dear Jeffrey."

"Your terms!" echoed Jeffrey, his face working, his hands clasping and unclasping each other.

Spencer Churchill nodded blandly.

"Yes—as I take an interest in this young lady; I have a charming young lady; I have a mother, you see—"

"Beware!" broke from Jeffrey's parched lips. "Don't—don't try me too hard!"

"And I should like to have a hand in restoring her to her proper place, or permitting her to remain under your care."

"You mean that her fate is to be in your hands?"

"Yes, exactly; and that it may do so most completely and satisfactorily, I think I will take charge of those letters, those papers which you referred to, my dear Jeffrey."

Jeffrey's hand flew to his breast.

"The papers!" he articulated, hoarsely.

Spencer Churchill nodded.

"Yes. Don't say you will not, my dear father, because if you do you will compel me to go straight to the marquis—who is at Barton Towers, by the way—"

"Barton Towers—the marquis—Doris!" muttered Jeffrey wildly as if with a vacant stare.

"Yes, Doris, who will not be your Doris any longer, but will have to remain with her father, the marquis, whether she likes it or not—"

He had gone too far! With a spring, like that of a wild man was upon him, the long, thin fingers fastened round his throat, while, with a shriek, the guest face was close upon the smooth, false one.

Spencer Churchill gasped, and went down on one knee.

"You—your hands off!" he croaked, suffocatingly, as he struggled to release himself; but Jeffrey thought the older man of the two, seemed possessed of the strength of an athlete, and after a desperate struggle, Spencer Churchill lay on his back, with Jeffrey's knee on his chest, and Jeffrey's fingers still choking him.

"You—are you going to murder me?" he managed to gasp out.

"I am going to kill you!" was the grim reply, while, fierce light burned in the hollow eyes, "unless you swear—not murders it. I kill you as I would any other vermin!"

"Jeffrey—let me go! Let me speak! I swear to keep your secret. I swear—my honor—"

An awful smile lit up the face above his.

"Trust her happiness to your oath!" he said, hoarsely. "Trust her to your honor!" the hands tightened, the grey grew black, the trees danced a mad carnival in Spencer Churchill's eyes, and they were closing for the last time when suddenly the steel-like fingers relaxed their hold; Jeffrey reeled back and throwing up his arms, screamed, "Doris, Doris!" and fell down on the man who, only a moment ago was at his mercy.

Dazed, sick with terror, and half-suffocated, Spencer Churchill struggled to his feet and staggered to a tree. He leaned against it for a moment or two, panting and gasping, tugging at the collar of his shirt, and regaining his breath, and at last he looked shudderingly at the prone figure on the ground.

Still shuddering, he went toward and knelt over it.

"Patricide!" he exclaimed, hoarsely. "Another moment!" a shiver ran over his sleet, white face. "Another moment and I should have been a murderer, that. The madman!"

He spurned the body with his foot. "Lie there and cool yourself!" he snarled, and was turning away, when he suddenly he started and put his hand to his brow.

"The boast has driven my senses out of me!" he muttered. "Of course! He, he, Master Jeffrey!" and, kneeling down again, he hurriedly turned the still figure over, and, unbuttoning the waistcoat, searched out the papers.

As he did so, something—was it the nameless terror of death, to which mortal humanity is and ever will be thrall?—something made him wince and shrink back.

He stared for a moment or two at the white face, then, slowly and with extended his hand, and trembling, laid it over the heart. The next instant he started back, and white as the face beneath him, cried:

"Great Heaven! He's dead!"

CHAPTER XVI.

THE PART OF A HYPOCRITE.

"Dead!" The cry rang through the wood and reached the spot where Doris and her full length upon the bank like a crushed flower. For a moment she thought it was an invention of her self-ordered mind, then she seemed to recognize Jeffrey's voice, and, thrusting the letter in her bosom, she sprang to her feet, and, with hurried steps, made her way, hatchlingly, in the direction of the sound.

A few moments brought her to the open glade, and with a cry of terror she was on her knees beside the still form.

She had never before been in the presence of death, and for a time she thought that she had only fainted and she raised his head and called upon him in accents of alarm and affection; then suddenly she heard a step behind her, and, looking round, saw the smooth, bland face of the man who had stood up in the boat at the theater—the man against whom Jeffrey had warned her.

She shrank back and clasped the dead man closer to her, as if to protect him.

"His anything happened?" asked Spencer Churchill, with, tender concern. "Dear me, dear me! afraid there has been an accident; the gentleman is ill?"

"Yes, yes!" panted Doris, "Help me! oh, help me!"

Spencer Churchill knelt down and examined the stern face with an assumption of

"Why, I know him!" he said, with a air of surprise. "It is Mr. Fleming—Mr. Jeffrey Flint, is it not?"

Doris made a gesture of assent without removing her eyes from the still face.

"Yes, is he—is he very ill?"

Spencer Churchill shook his head, solemnly.

"I am afraid—how did it happen, Miss Marlowe? It is Miss Marlowe is it not?"

"I do not know," sobbed Doris, bewildered as of the latter part of his question. "I—I was not here—I found him still; Oh, Jeffrey, Jeffrey, dear Jeffrey! Is he—is he—dead?" and she looked at the doctor. Some one——

Good Moral in Dangerous Money

Humor and Pathos in Picture at Bello Theatre

Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring picture, "Dangerous Money," which opened last night at the Bello Theatre, once again proves the truth of the old saying that "money is the root of all evil." As long as Adele Clark was a miserable little drudge in her aunt's dingy boarding house, she was contented to take it in the, muskiin of Tim Sullivan's love. The minute Fortune favored her, Adele's troubles began and her romance with Tim received a rude shock.

"Dangerous Money," which Julie Herne adapted from Robert Herrick's tripping novel, "Clark's Field," is a windy in vivid contrasts and picturesque backgrounds, ranging from the Brooklyn waterfront to a villa in Italy. All these subtle touches of humor and the pathos that were invested in the story have been cleverly brought out in the photoplay, and the result is a picture, full of keen interest that is bound to sound to the overwhelming majority of film fans.

Miss Daniels shows a performance little short of marvelous. Her sincerity, vivacity and personality are invaluable assets and stamp her as one of the most talented, if newest, of our screen luminaries.

When it comes to playing the part of a young and handsome Irish contractor, there is none who fits the bill more admirably than Tom Moore, and he proves it by giving a character'sticality fine performance. William Powell, in the same vein as Tom Moore, Cullinoli, round out an excellent supporting cast.

To Frank Tuttle, who directed, goes a generous share of credit. This picture marks his directorial debut, and if it's a sample of what he can do, we hasten to add, "Bring on the rest!"

German Girls Are Rushing to Stage

All Sorts of Respectable Persons in the Chorus Now

Berlin, Dec. 16.—The daughter of a German admiral prominent in the world war, daughters of school principals, physicians, lawyers, and musical conductors, and wives of thoroughly respectable bookkeepers and office employees form almost the chorus girls of the musical comedies and revues now running in Berlin. They bear evidence to the fact that the day is past when the chorus girl was looked upon as a person of doubtful morals on whom adventurous evenings could with their attentions.

So marked has become the change that German writers who are sought answering questions as to the home addresses of chorus girls, or who expect the mission of carrying notes or floral offerings from theatre-goers men to members of the chorus, are dismissed without further ado.

Advertisements for positions in the chorus nowadays point out that the number of responses from the educated middle class. Economic distress compels many young women who would formerly have remained at home waiting for a husband, to engage in some calling. To some girls the idea of keeping their lives behind a typewriter does not appeal. If they have a good figure and are youthful in their movements, they see no reason why they should not large capital out of these attributes and accomplishments.

Given a graceful figure and agility, Berlin theatre directors find that the girl of education usually advances much more quickly than does the girl whose only qualification is good looks. Many young women who were driven to the stage chorus for purely economic reasons have developed into first-class stars who now would not think of giving up their profession.

Picture As Good As The Novel

Babbitt Made Favorable Impression at Griffin Last Night

"Babbitt," the Warner Brothers picture which opened yesterday at the Griffin Theatre, proved to be a faithful mirror of Sinclair Lewis' towering novel.

The author himself chose this production company to picturize his book, offering it to them for less than the price many bim by another firm, because Sinclair Lewis wanted his biting sarcasm of the average American business man to reach the mass of people without any sugary falsity.

The drab people in "Babbitt," as Mary Alden, Mary Mrs. Babbitt, suits it, all have the souls of singing mockbirds, until the inner life is caressed, crushed, denied, screeches. The tragedy is a mental one, yet tenderly interest in its simple background of dining room, real estate office and Zenith's downtown room. Many a battle scene was fought in them.

Willard Louis, whose performance as the Prince of Wales in "Beau Brummel" is one of the sensational successes of the season, is perfect in Babbitt with the double psychology Sinclair Lewis gave him. You laugh at him, then a new comes before you—he's a fool, well, so am I. How's to both of you?

Dorothy Parnum has been equally as careful to keep close to the scenes every nuance of the book.

Harry Beaumont, the director, too, can face Sinclair Lewis and the critics with the already famous book, unafraid. He has violated nothing. Quite commendable were the scenes in the wives with its subtle undercurrent of impending tragedy.

Are the "movies" really advancing to genuine interpretative art away from distorting the sensational fare of great stories?

Well, "Babbitt" as it reveals itself in production, is at any rate.

The foreign colony of the city, friends, near friends and expectant friends of the Rev. Father Dugas, gathered in admittance to their dear wealthy friend to display before him their very sincerest love for him.

Incidentally it was by no means a fact that Jarcyz died, and the physician was convinced that he had a fair chance to recover, if the solicitous friends had been kept away from him, instead the unwelcome visitors drawn in hospital when the man was near death.

By a judgment issued a few days ago the Court one was upset, and the ruling in ruins to this effect likened the gatherers at the hospital bedside to "flocks of harpies."

(Port Arthur News Chronicle)

There can be little question that Sir Adam Beck's growing tired of the assaults made upon him and his many undertakings. The attacks made upon this or any other Province has unsettled the Province, and has tended to face investigations set on foot for the purpose of discrediting him, by men imbued with jealousy of his success, men who started to get a slant out of their way that they might profit personally from assailing the enterprise he had built; men who desired to reserve unto themselves the political benefit of the political benefit of themselves; men who are filled with hatred of the principles upon which Hydro-Electric is founded; men who have been shoved aside by Sir Adam in his determination that the best individuals should not be placed above the welfare of the communities and Province he is serving.

Croup at Night No Longer Feared by Canadian Mothers

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Relieves Congested Air Passages.

Many Canadian mothers, who in the past have worried over croup and children's colds, are delighted with the "external" remedy for colds, Vicks VapoRub.

You just rub Vicks over throat and chest for croup, children's colds, bronchitis or deep chest colds. When so applied the body heat releases the ingredients as vapors which are inhaled directly into the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and reducing the inflammation.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion. Croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

There is no denial in using Vicks. Simply rub it on and the fragrance of mint that draws. You just "rub it on".

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—With increased general commission house buying, all deliveries of wheat rose today to a new high price record for season. Reports of rain interfering with wheat harvest in Argentina did a good deal to encourage activity on part of purchasers. Much attention was also given to indications of shrinkage of domestic supplies and to predictions of continued demand from Europe. Opening which ranged from 3-8 cent to 1 cent higher was followed by slight sag and then by a decided upturn all around. Cold weather likely to increase feeding tended to strengthen corn and oats. Country offerings of corn on arrive were small. After opening unchanged to 7-8 cent higher, corn market eased down a little and then scored a moderate advance. Oats started at 3-4 cent to 3-4 cent up, receded somewhat and then went higher than before. Provisions like grain were responsible to slanged buying.

PRESENCE OF MIND AVERTED NEAR RIOT

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The presence of mind of a stationman and conductor averted what threatened to become a riot following a stampede among a number of theatre goers when were attempting to make their way through doors and windows when fire broke out in Eaton's clothier store on Queen street east and Homewood Ave. about 1.30 o'clock Sunday morning. One woman who was slightly injured fainted three times and had to be carried from the car, while a man in attempting to get out was badly lacerated about the hands by broken glass.

The generator near the motorman blew out and spoke ignited the street car. Furious flames leaped from the overhead blaze for a few moments. The passengers took freight at the way as the conductor leave the scene and rush from the car. They attempted to follow suit. The conductor had rushed from the car in order to take the pole off the wires and save further trouble. He also turned on a fire alarm.

When the firemen arrived they found the people still trying to get out of the car. The motorman and conductor had everything under control and the blaze with the aid of chemicals was soon extinguished and a damage of $25 was done.

International Dog-Sled Derby For February

In a cable to "The City of Quebec" one reads that among other sports Quebec is celebrated for is horse races, which for more than a century were organized and held under the wealthy officers of the British crack regiments stationed there on various duty, and that the organization of the Quebec Turf Club dates back to 1779. Horse racing is still a seasonal attraction to the Ancient City. The Fall meet brings horses and racing enthusiasts from practically all over the continent, and has done for years, but the native Quebecer is inclined to attend more over the trotting races that take place when the snow is packed hard on the streets. Then there are horses he knows and really belong to him. Horses from "way back", perhaps.

One has only to attend a trotting meet in Quebec to know just how much of the true sporting spirit is inherent in the French-Canadian. It is not always the one who has placed most money that is the most vociferous as the trotting race near the post. Hardly is in their blood. They excitedly shout their favourite name, and wave their arms for its encouragement, and if it gives well and right, it's a damn good horse, anyway.

So it is perhaps the enthusiasm for the sport known by the people of Quebec that is responsible for the continuance of the Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby, held annually in that city. The Derby is supported by winter sportsmen from all over the continent, and entries are made from all parts of the continent open, which now falls to pay for the season; but without the support, of the people of Quebec the event could not be the great success it is. On the three days for which the Derby is scheduled, everyone who can declares a holiday and sets as close to the streets' stand as is possible for the event, and when the dogs come pasting home, it is not so much the visitor at the Chateau as it is Jean Baptiste of Quebec who cheers them in.

This season's Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby has been definitely scheduled to take place February 19, 20 and 21st. As in former years the distance to be covered will be 120 miles, at the rate of 40 miles more or less each day. Five teams, winner of last year's Derby with the [illegible] team, will [illegible] this honour in the [illegible] competition. As American team won the gold trophy in 1922, and it is expected that several US teams will try to regain it for the United States. Possibly fifteen or more teams will try to keep it from going across the border, including one of five Alaskan huskies which is being entered by Ivy McGirr-Johnston. This is headed by "Dan Jo" which led three teams to victory in three consecutive years in the Yukon district last year.

1924 Christmas Seals

The National Sanitarium Association is to be congratulated on the splendid design for Christmas Seals now on sale in aid of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives.

To meet a persistent demand for a real Christmas Seal, not merely an advertising sticker, quite a new departure has been made. The seals, beautifully colored and embossed, ten designs, are put up assorted in packets of fifteen different designs.

Death Comes to Army Worshipper

Woman Was Singing When She Swayed and Passed Away

Hamilton, Ontario December 16 — "It's time to turn to Why will ye die when God is great mercy is drawing you nigh?"

These mingled with the Salvation Army band in the cold, old hymn at the Wellington street Citadel during yesterday's meeting. At the end of the two opening lines a woman was seen to sway in her seat and topple to the floor.

Fellow worshippers carried her to the anteroom where Dr. T. White was called, but the woman expired in a few minutes with heart failure.

She had sung long and most of this more for Salvation Army officials and police sought for friends or relatives of the unknown woman, whose identity has only learned late yesterday morning. The woman's name is Miss Jacobs who lodged at 37 W. Ingles street south. A sister, Mrs. McIsaac was booked at 67 Chatham street. The woman carried no marks or papers to assist in her identification. Friends at her rooming house became uneasy at her non-return and yesterday morning identified the body at the morgue.

Previous to Senator Yeo's death the oldest of the Liberal appointments left is somewhat difficult to compare the Conservative majority in the Senate is the greatest known, numerically but body may be regarded as much more independent, in the view than it was years ago, since there are several Liberal appointees of more or less political leanings.

Magistrate Jelfs Asked To Resign

Has Sat on Bench at Hamilton For Thirty Years

Hamilton, Dec. 16.—George Frederick Jelfs, police magistrate of the City of Hamilton for the past 30 years has been asked by the Provincial Attorney-General's Department to tender his resignation at the end of the present year.

No reason for the request is ascribed in the communication, which, however, is understood to be optional. No reference is made to any pension, but Mr. Wendy stated yesterday that while he had no definite plans as yet he would in all likelihood take up private practice.

Magistrate Jelfs, born in England, arrived in this city as a young man about fifty years ago. He and a boy friend were the same district came together at after a few months in Hamilton his friends left for the United States where he settled in California and is now a wealthy business man. Once a year these two old friends find a correspondent have exchange reminiscent letters.

The second day of the two young men's stay in Hamilton they climbed the mountain and looking down over the valley the future magistrate turned to his friend and said: "Well, I like the look of Hamilton, I am going to make my life here." At the moment, later the magistrate, he had in his pocket exactly 12 cents.

Always a hard worker, the young English man turned to several occupations and the while keeping a weather eye on the love star of his ambition, the law. During his tenure of office the City, the police department and the law itself have gone through many and varied changes.

In one respect his Worship's court has never gained a reputation as the swift of justice and according to how he sees the light, in fact at play, what a staunch supporter of enforcement of the O.T.A. he is proving to be. Of late months his Worship has never been in sympathy with the set and his many excuses has brought him into difficulties with the Provincial Government. While $1,000 fines have been the order in O. T. A. cases in Toronto for months past his Worship has refused to dote to impose the heavier penalties.

Authority O. T. A.

Realizing the intricacies of the O.T.A. the Worship's decisions are based on the subject for the use of the legal profession, and this book has become a coveted authority.

In police province will be miss of not only from the Police Court but also from the bench of the Juvenile Court where he has presided without communication. His methods of dealing with children has been the subject of widespread interest as a circle where juvenile correction methods are studied.

The third place where his presence will be missed is on the police committee, where he has always been a leading member. During the past two years he has saved and secured the passage of the lance-ball legislation, which has been copied in many Province and other cities.

Attorney-General Nickle asked to be excused from making any statement at this date. He would not discuss the appointment of a successor. It is understood by Hamilton wiseacres as a certainty that Controller William Morris will succeed to the magistracy when created. Controller Morris is the principal circle for years past, Mr. Morris has considered seriously the matter of his appointment for the position.

His appointment will necessitate his resignation from the Board of Control of Hamilton.

NAPANEE'S LOSS BELLEVILLE'S GAIN

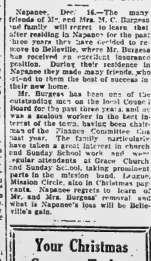

Napanee, Dec. 16.—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Burgess and family will regret to learn that after residing in Napanee for the past three years they have decided to remove to Belleville, where Mr. Burgess has received an excellent insurance position. During their residence in Napanee they made many friends, who extend to them the best of success in their new home.

Mr. Burgess has been one of the outstanding men on the local Council Board for the past three years and it was a zealous worker in the best interests of the town, having been chairman of the Finance Committee for last year. The family particularly have taken an active interest in church and Sunday School work and were regular attendants at Grace Church and Sunday School, taking prominent parts in the Mission Band and Young Mission Circle, also in Christmas pageants. Napanee regrets to lose Mr. and Mrs. Burgess' removal and what is Napanee's loss will be Belleville's gain.

HORSE HAS NOT BEEN SUPPLANTED YET

Winnipeg, Dec. 16—Any fears that the horse would be supplanted by the gasoline and tractor in Canada are unfounded, it is indicated in a report of the department of agriculture which shows the horse population of the Dominion has increased 10,629 in the last year. The number was placed at 3,546,232, compared with 3,535,603 horses last year. The principal increase was in western Canada.

The increase was attributed to a revival of interest in breeding draft horses, the demand for horses for farm use due to increases in agricultural production, and the greater use of horses for lumbering activities, city transportation and in other fields. The horse-power remained favorably with tractor power.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

Discoveries of an astounding character continue to overwhelm us. The average man and woman finds it difficult to recover poise between announcements of scientists. We are kept wondering just what will come next.

As if the lighting of our homes by electricity were not enough, along comes insulin, radio sets, the transmission of photographs thousands of miles across the sea by wireless, talking motion pictures and palatial air machines. Then as a climax this week, comes the announcement from a scientist that he has in his possession now a singless mosquito which is to exterminate his cousins, the biting variety.

The serious minded individual may scoff at this, the latest item from the laboratory, as being trivial, unimportant. But is it?

Scores of newspapers in Canada and the United States placed the news item in a prominent position on the front page. Editors knew it would be one of the most interesting bits of news for the day.

The insignificant mosquito almost rivals the weather as topic of conversation. Someone has estimated that on the average a Canadian spends two hours in a year talking about the pests, preventing and treating bites, about eighteen million hours wasted in Canada every year by a tiny winged insect.

POLITICIANS AND STATESMEN

Have the people of the past generation destroyed their statesmen? Are we lacking great leaders by reason of unfair criticism levelled at those politicians who might, if given a chance, become statesmen?

These question arise after reading what M. Grattan O'Terry has to say in MacLean's issue of November 15. In an extremely interesting article entitled "Don't curse our Politicians —Help Them!" this journalist takes a vigorous swing at those who have formed the habit of "charging" politicians with wrong-doing. He mentions the investigation of the story involving the honesty of Charles Stewart and of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, of the Vanderlip charge against the late President Harding.

He says in part:

"The war brought a change. Why, or how, it is difficult to say. But, whatever the basis, the fact is that to-day politicians, as a class, are held up to ignominy everywhere. To hold a public man is to be a shining mark. In the theatre, in reviews, in the popular novel, upon the stage, in the corner grocery, even in the pulpit the politician is either fool or knave.

There is not a young man one year out of university there is not a youthful parlor Bolshevik, a lawyer, preacher, journalist or plumber, who does not believe that he could run the country better than those who are running it."

All this Mr. O'Leary Gives in contrast to the reverence in which such names as Gladstone, Disraeli, Campbell-Bannerman, MacDonald and Laurier were held."

The world finds it hard to judge the capabilities of a man, his worth to the country, while that man is yet serving his country. In most cases, he must be set in the background of history before he is acclaimed a statesman. There is little doubt but that Macdonald and Laurier were as severely criticized in their early days as some politicians of the present day we could mention.

Whether conditions help to create leaders. If the people of the present day are as bad as Mr. O'Leary points them, then we may soon expect men to rise to the occasion and direct us in the way we should go. History repeats itself.

WELL CHOSEN

W. H. Latimer or plain "Bill" as his fellow Kiwanians call him, is a happy choice for president of the Belleville Kiwash Club. After years of active participation in service club work, he deserves the present position. He will make a worthy successor to the past president, P. C. MacLaurin, and his influence will be felt in the club's activities of 1925.

THE RIGHT MAN

There is nothing much better than a good annual agricultural and industrial fair for a community to sustain interest in the work of the district and to encourage the larger to better effort. The Belleville Exhibition Society deserves and will get the hearty support of city and country folk.

With the splendid new grounds and a fine community spirit, nothing should prevent next year's event from going down as an unqualified success.

Press Opinions

BACKED FIRST SUBWAY

(New York Times)

Few men of our time have exercised such an influence in the variety and scope, the colored pictures and vivacity which is their nature. To the historian of the city he will be vastly more valuable as the first adequately enough vision to back the first subway. In view of the list of hundreds who marched before the project, that is an achievement in the arts, order of vision and courage.

In one of his speeches defending his conduct in subway matters he told how he had been a stranger as a boy in the rickety, horse-drawn Fifth avenue busses, then in the pitiful, miasmal little steam cars that marked the first stage in advancing transportation. Straining, he held, was prostituted in the geologic ages which blanketed island soon as insular, exasperating form. For all his horses and automobiles he himself was an enthusiastic straphanger, rejoicing in his pass. It was a life richly colored and abundantly lived. Never again, in all likelihood, can a single mortal span so much that is vital and picturesque in the development of our city.

LOWERING ONE'S VITALITY

(New York Evening Graphic)

A man who thinks himself a model of righteousness and good conduct, because he frowns upon alcoholic beverages and the use of tobacco, may yet be guilty of even greater dissipation through the abuse of his stomach in peculiarly exasperating, and in the use of unwholesome foods which consume or waste vitality.

Vitality may be dissipated, in a number of different ways—by strenuous living, alcohol drinking, too little sleep, late hours, exciting pleasures, strenuous emotions, etc. In fine the game is not worth the candle," and many victims of the absorption with bodily health are certainly worth more than a few hours of riotous, joyous enjoyment every now and then—followed by depressing and debasing after-effects.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

(Kincardine Review)

A Baptist church in Toronto parted amid shouts the use of its sacred room for a meeting refused to town by their own church. What do the Baptists of Toronto think they gain by refusing the use of the church for an entertainment meeting? They were quite willing—many of them—to allow the use of the church edifice in the recent plebiscite.

CURIOUS ESTIMATES

According to reports from Washington it is estimated that 10,000,000 persons annually cross the border from Canada last year. It is only an estimate, of course, but it seems to be quite a liberal one. Ten million persons leaving Canada in a year would leave quite a hole in the population. It is admitted by those responsible for the estimate that not all those who left the country were Canadians. It is to be hoped so.

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Jeanne was one of the many children in New Ontario who travel miles to High School. Her father is a poor man and, because of the poor roads eager for the little bit of education possible for them. Fifteen years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed the luxury of health during that time. Six of those years were spent in bed. Her parents, helpless and poor, could do little and at odd times working here and there to earn a little money.

One day she was caught in a sleet storm on her way home from school. Next morning came a terrible cough set in, which left her in a very serious condition. Of course, it was impossible for her to try the entrance examinations. "Another year perhaps, but certainly not now," said the doctor.

Then the neighborhood of the Muskoka Lakes was favored by the visit of a passing physician still remains, her curly, fair hair refuses to behave, while her blue eyes with the aid of her lips speak volumes. Her mother, proud of Jeanne, "the pride of High School, Why not" and we echo, "Why not" and the doctor says "Why not" because Jeanne is on the road to Wellness.

Jeanne has been ill and others are ready to greet, by contributing to the hospital fund of $10.00. May be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 423 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The Colorful Days

From
The Kingston British Whig

When our successors, fifty and seventy-five and a hundred years from now, come to piece together the scrap-by reminiscences which we shall leave them with a view to forming an idea of the nature of literary and journalistic life in Canada, in 1924, will they perhaps find us a rather tame and colorless generation of much be-shepherded sheep? Or will they by that time be with so much more completely and universally regulated than we are, that they will look back upon our days as days of heroic liberty and mighty adventure?

A short time ago we reprinted on another page of this journal the account of a day—somewhat of a rod-letter day, yet on which seems to have occurred once a year for a goodly piece of time—in the life of our esteemed predecessor, Dr. Barker, exactly twenty years ago. It was the day of the great sleigh-drive to Twelve Mile Bush, participated in by thirty gentlemen of this city, in two-horse sleighs and four singles, with two sax-horse and other accessories. The party started at 11 a.m., reached the destination at 2, dined at Lodge, itself till 1 a.m., reaped an oysters and cold meats, started home at 1, and arrived home at 4. The discrepancy between the time of the two trips is due in part to the fact that the return road was downhill, but mainly to the fact that the stews for "liquoring" were less frequent and generous than on the Barker's description we estimate that the members of this excursion must have imbibed at least from fifty to twenty-five drinks in the course of it; yet our noble predecessor records that within five minutes of his arrival "none he was sitting by his hearth fire reading his exchanges and making note for the next day's Whig." It is wonderful that is the only word there is for it. What constitutions these old editors had! But then, after all, they were living with a few years of the good old Christopher North and his set of the Noctes Ambrosianae, and in a much more invigorating climate. Even so recently as 1870 literary people were still addicted to a certain measure of frontiers with alcoholic stimulants. Sir J. M. Barrie the other day told the Printers' Pension Corporation in London of his one meeting with Jim Stevenson, which began with their buttling into one another on Piccadilly afternoon in Prince's street, windy afternoon in Prince's street, Edinburgh, and ended in a prolonged session in a tavern, at the foot of Leith street, "where we drank what he said was the terrific sum of the three Musketeers," until they quarrelled (it's others have done before and since) about Mary Queen of Scots and chased each other through the streets in snowstorm. R. L. S. had left his velvet coat to pay for the wine.

Newspapers are not quite the same as they were in Dr. Barker's day. They are much more efficient, but sometimes they seem to us to lack something of the vigor and fire of the good old days. The resemblance between the Toronto Globe and the Bible, in point of literary style, is not so close as it once was, even on Monday. The T. M. C. A. secretary and R. L. Stevenson, they are as far from the personal as he was from the Three Musketeers." They are staid, respectable citizens, with large incomes—tax bills; those of them who live in Canada are members of the Canadian Authors Association, and read from their works to admiring audiences in the department stores during Canada's Book Week. Not one of them ever pawned his velvet coat to pay a tavern bill and then had a fellow-author thrash the enemy in the streets to vindicate Mary Queen of Scots. It cannot be done on paper, sir. Literature is also more efficient; a grim note to authors can write far more books. But have they quite the old romantic "tang"?

Thirty Years Ago

A child was knocked down by a car at the corner of Bridge and Front Sts. last evening, but not seriously hurt.

The Queen's Hotel has two banquets in successive evenings this week—Mr. G. T. R. fire brigade on Wednesday and the Amateur Minstrels on Thursday night.

Mrs. John Marsh, wife of the tunsmith, had a spell, and two other ladies were driving through Canilton yesterday, when the horse shied and overturned the buggy, throwing out the occupants. Mrs. Marsh was pretty severely bruised but the other ladies escaped. The buggy is a total wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ritchie entertained last evening in honor of Lt. French-Sheldon, after the lecture. Mrs. Sheldon received this afternoon with Mrs. Elliot, Moira Street.

The Belleville Evangelical Alliance will meet at the Y.M.C.A. parlor Monday afternoon to make arrangements for the week of prayer beginning Jan. 4, 1925.

To-day's Smile

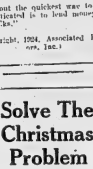

A Scotsman before travelling through the south of England had been advised to take plenty of money along as there would be occasions without number when it would be necessary to tip, especially in the hotels.

Night found Sandy in a small town hotel and being very dusty and tired he enquired for the wash room. He was shown to a poorly outlipped room with only one tap for wash basin did service. When he had filled the basin and was about to commence the clean-up, he noticed a sign above the sink. "Tip before leaving."

"Nay, nay," muttered Sandy to himself, as he left the room, "I'll go dirty first."

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

The Christmas Spirit! Tis a wondrous thing,
It tints the sombre streets with rose glow;
It makes the bells their gleeful carolde sing,
And makes good-will through ev'ry heart to flow.

The Christmas Spirit! Tis a kindly thing,
It gives to heavy hearts a taste of joy;
It teaches silent lips a song to sing;
It brings the eager child a longed-for toy.

The Christmas Spirit! Tis a lovely thing,
It bathes dull eyes, illumes the sombre face;
How many wand'rers does it homeward bring!
How many fancied wrongs forg'ven stand!

The Christmas Spirit! Tis an holy thing,
The Blessed Babe is in our midst to-day.
The gifts we give, the praises that we sing,
Not half our adoration can convey.
—Lovedy Harden.

MAKES ALL THINGS NEW

While it seems impossible to say anything new on the subject of Christmas celebration, the miracle of the season is that the custom of nearly 2,000 years makes practically all things new, says the Kinston British Whig. The world becomes young again through their rejoicing in the delights of the grand-children with the things that once made their own eyes open wide in wonder; memories of their own childhood days come back to them.

It is not simply a jest that pans also like to play-even though he may say it is just to trot them—with the new toys for the youngsters. Thus, while the holiday is particularly for the fond devotion of children enthusiastic the story of te Babe in the Manger, it also has for the elders its pleasures and the wider significance of that world-inspiring event in Bethlehem.

"Consumption Is No Respecter of Persons"

In one of the glistening, beautiful rooms in the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Huntsmans Corners, lies a bed right next to Jim Thom. Harry was studying Law in the Toronto University, while Jim was a laborer in some mine. Harry's father was a banker, but that was before both lost their fortunes of consumption.

Harry is a handsome young man, say about 22, and is particularly well versed in English literature. His home is in Western Ontario. Harry's room-mate is a negro. Before it was he who insisted that when Harry went back to school last fall, that he be thoroughly examined. The examination revealed consumption,—so Harry was sent to the Muskoka Hospital and packed up a bed. Fortunately for Harry the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, "Cure all Fears" Country, "consumption is no respecter of persons. Here I am, just as sick as my room-mate. He was a laborer and I was a student. Now we are both in the same bed."

Harry has a happy disposition and he has confidence that he will get well. He has good home surroundings, while Jim has no friend for miles. I can't understand it, he says" and then he will add, "Jim's a little and settles down to let nature do the work, while I am up and down for the books."

Harry and Jim are but two of the many who are at present under the dependent on the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Huntsmans Corners, for health restoration.

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 123 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

"Sickness Stalked into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harrow moved into his pretty white-washed cottage he thought he had reached the height of happiness. His wife and his baby boy were all he wanted. Life was perfect. Everything seemed to be "breaking right" for Jim.

But the happy days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harrow. "It's just a bad cold," Mrs. Harrow told her husband, but when Jim's wife took down a previous attack of pleurisy had weakened her, so he called in a doctor. The doctor hinted at "lung trouble" and advised a complete examination. Jim took his wife to a specialist. The specialist confirmed the first verdict, "Consumption," he said. Husband and wife stared at each other in hopeless misery, but there was further coming. "Don't worry," said the doctor, "a year's treatment at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives will put her on her feet again." Jim said that he did not see how he could do this.

A kindly neighbor is taking care of the baby boy while Jim "keeps the home" by himself. Every few days Jim receives a letter from his wife which tells how kind nurses and careful doctors all do their utmost to bring back to health the girl he longed to Mrs. Harrow. Shortly the letters will cease. Jim will be always ready to come back to the little white cottage.

Should you wish to have a hand in such worthwhile work as this, please send your contribution to Mr. John S. Charlton, President, 123 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Great Britain Is Paying Her Debts

Surrenders Ninety-One Million Dollars of Gold to United States

New York, Dec. 17—In behalf of the British Government, which has now completed its second year of interest on its debt to the United States now on the way to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York on $91,000,000. The Federal Reserve Bank took title to the gold in behalf of the United States Treasury. As on previous instances, the actual payment took place at 2:45 p.m., one day after the principal and $60,000,000 as semi-annual interest on the British war debt was accomplished with little more than the formality of a signature.

Neither the Federal Reserve Bank nor the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company had participated in three any light on the transaction. Both institutions served merely as agents for the two governments from whom it was explained, announcements as to the exact amounts involved would be made, if by any one. But the large gold debt funding contract, the progress for amortization and interest made clear the approximate size of the deal. This information also showed that Great Britain had paid in the last two years a total of $323,293,000 which $60,180,000 represented amortization and more than $270,000,000 represented interest.

The following record, which corresponds closely although not in exact terms of dollars and cents with the bricks kept by the American and British Governments, shows the payments made by Great Britain in liquidating the largest international contract ever issued by two governments:

Date.	Principal. Interest.
May 15, 1923	$ 4,128,055 .....

Owing to the premium now being paid on Liberty bonds, which the British Government is privileged under the contract to buy and surrender in part or in settlements of its semi-annual payments, the year-end payments were made in gold. The British Government made its first large payment of $60,000,000 on June 15, 1923, in the form of Liberty bonds which had been purchased at an average premium of about two points under par, thus saving $1,170,000, and for the full year ended in 1923 its saving by using this means of payment was about $2,250,000.

Barbers Selling Hair Nets Now!

BAN ON BOBBED HAIR IN ZIEGFIELD FOLLIES DOES NOT AFFECT STYLE

DENIES WAR ON BETWEEN HAIR NET CONCERNS AND BARBERS

The edict issued by the theatre managers, which, it was given wide currency, a the press last week, to the effect that girls with "bobbed" hair will not be permitted in the "Follies" chorus, has replaced to spell the doom of the style of hairdress An investigation of the barber shops of Toronto however, shows no diminution in the demand for tonsorial service—in fact the manager of the barber shop is now remodelling his premises to provide privacy for the silly clientele.

The manager of the largest hair net concern in Canada when interviewed declared that the bobbed hair trend was taking on new aspects of late. "We recognize some months ago," he stated, "that the bobbed hair style could not only be prevalent for some time but also that amongst some classes it would be younger forever. It would probably remain a permanent fixture. While the girls may grow their hair being "woman's greatest crop" it does not follow that there is a great nuisance and waste of time, shaking this, we spend on the average, at a special "bobby" net and, so far as we have been able to learn, our returns in our line of business and the barbers, actually the barber shops have prevailed up with the sale of hair nets. Only this morning we received orders from two of the largest barber supply houses in Canada and also from one of the largest jobbing houses in every leading city in Canada whole selling our "bobby" hair nets, and we, in fact, recommending women to wear hair nets at night to keep their hair in curl."

This authority stated that there was no truth in the fact that the bobbed fashion has reduced the market for hair nets. Month after month for the last year their sales had shown an increase over last year and this is to be inferred in the fact that women with bobbed hair nets are now retrieved in the new "bobby" net generally wearing two at night in place of a single one which creates heat and makes out the curl.

Letters To The Editor

IS PRINCIPAL FRASER A "MODERNIST"?

To the Editor,
Sir,—

Are are Anti-Union friends utterly lacking in humor, that healthful quality which prevents taking life, or are they lacking in honor? For if they have honor why do they not face the situation and say plainly that the Unionists for "modernism", while the Principal Fraser as leader in particular head? If they have honor, how can they lend the name of their Association to the printed matter distributed in a number of Presbyterian stacking the Methodist Church for modernism?

Now it seems that Principal Fraser repudiates the charge of "modernism". No one will more readily admit than the writer, the futility of set or pigeon-holes in trying to determine the intellectual or theological status of a man. Consequently like "Bolshevism" can be made to cover a wide, wide field. So we must just take it that Dr. Fraser is not a "modernist". But what do the members of Principal Fraser's organization, like Rev. Mr. Dunn, Rev. J. Inkster, or Mr. Alan Thompson think of such words as the following, written by Principal Fraser for the Harvard Review?

"In the Presbyterian Church there is required an apparently rigid subscription to the Westminster Confession as a subordinate standard. Various methods of casuistry are resorted to in order to mitigate the severity of this ordination test. One phrase 'as adopted by this Church in the basis of Union' sometimes affords relief, for it is commonly understood that there was a tacit understanding in 1875 between the Old Kirk Liberals and the Canadian Presbyterian Conservatives that large liberty should be allowed in interpreting the Confession, and it was partly on this ground that the heresy charge against the late D. J. Macdonnell of Toronto was dropped."

Dr. Fraser criticizes the Doctrinal Statement of the Basis of Union because it is too orthodox for him, he says: "It is not as largely an apparent compromise between systems that have had their say and closed their ... Should a pre-Christian Semitic poem of the origin of evil be set down in cold prose as binding in the Christian intellect in the twentieth century? Should a doctrine of the fall of man be put forth in a form that conflicts with the scientific theory of evolution? Is a child born with a tendency given from God because of the sin of Adam and Eve? Are the miraculous conception and the virgin birth of the essence of the Christian faith? If they are not, if they are highest Christology, that of the fourth gospel, are they necessary to a modern gospel? Why not give a doctrine of Atonement which believes the sacrificial and universally human principles of vicarious suffering and which will be intelligible to those brought up in the atmosphere of evolutionary thought?"

Now would Mr. Alan Thompson and his friends please inform us whether anything so unambiguously "modernistic" has proceeded from Knox or Victoria theological colleges, from The Christian Guardian, or even from Prof. George Jackson himself?

Old Recipe Of Sage Tea Darkens Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luminantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Lure Of Gold Is Still In Evidence

Incas Descendants Are Searching for Fortunes Of Ancestors

Buenos Aires, Dec. 17.—Descendants of the Incas along the Andes in search for this day for the hidden gold which legend says their ancestors gathered to ransom their emperor Atahualpa from the hands of the Spanish conquerors Pizarro four centuries ago, and which they never delivered because Atahualpa was garrotted and murdered him. The gold promised by Atahualpa was enough to fill the room where he was imprisoned as high as his neck, and is supposed to have been buried and sealed with boulders somewhere in the Andes.

Every summer, when the mountain snows have melted, groups of Indians from southern Bolivia and northwestern Argentina pursues their quest, armed with picks and shovels and carrying explosives to blow away the boulders which are supposed to cover the treasure. Last summer a party of Indians from a Argentine territory came across a mound of stones apparently piled by human hands. The stones were solidly fixed in a sort of cement which resisted the picks. Then with dynamite they blew the mound to pieces, but found nothing they had hoped to see was not there, but buried deep underground and well preserved mummy of an Inca chief. A few silver bracelets and a gold breastplate of copper had been entombed with him, but no gold.

The Indians believe their late ancestor to the town of Salta and to Jujuy, a distance of 200 miles, each year to visit Dudmas, an archeological expert, to whom they go to have brought him here and tells the story of the discovery. The mummy, crown of parrot's feathers as fresh as if they had been just plucked from the glorious blanket of black and white check with a characteristic Inca fringe. On the long hair is plated a bone tag attached to the crown decorated with silver picks.

BERLIN ORDERED ALL AERIALS DOWN

Berlin, Dec. 17.—Visitors flying over Berlin report that the numberless radio antennae so much a part of the city's skyline have disappeared.

Seemingly harmless and adding to the picturesqueness of the city, they have, however, created a serious problem for the police. They have been tested that they interfere with their business and in his they are supported by the landlords who repair roofs Nor do the landlords like aerials and lightning rods for wires, stretching endlessly from roof to roof, spine brightly with the glare of the arc lamps.

Berlin, Dec. 16—The membership of the new House of Commons is much like that of the mid-Victorian period in the matter of nationalities. One of the London daily sporting papers, throughout the campaign, has carried a list of 148 candidates whom it claimed to be of sporting proclivities with the election of 138 of these men to the House of Commons. It is safe to remark that the sporting element will be showing a strong tendency to send real sportsmen to Westminster as they did in the days of the late Queen."

RAN OVER DOG

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 17—A verdict of $25 was rendered in County Court here against Charles Malone for running over and killing a dog owned by Mr. Cartwright. According to the evidence, Malone ran over the dog on a Sunday afternoon while driving his motor car in Sunday School. He told the court he had failed to see the animal until after it had been struck by his car. The court held that the fact that the dog was on a leash at the time on broad daylight indicated negligence on his part.

EVEN JUDGE HAS CROSS WORD BUG

Washington, Dec. 17.—The dignified members of the Supreme Court of the United States have been bitten by the cross word puzzle bug.

On his way home the other evening one of the associate justices studied over one of the puzzles. He was stumped on a particular term needed for a certain kind of bone in the human anatomy. He dropped in on his family physician in the hope of obtaining the solution. But at the time the doctor could not give the justice the proper name of the bone needed. Next day, however, after rummaging through his medical dictionary, the physician found the answer. Immediately the supreme court on the 'phone acted. The significance of this decision was brought out by the explanation of the associate, Mr. E. N. Norman Smith, vice-president of the Canadian Journal, on the following message addressed to the honorary president, Mr. E. H. Macklin, president and general manager of the Manitoba Free Press, and to the first vice-president, Mr. J. H. Woods, managing director of the Calgary Herald, who came from Calgary especially to be present.

New Canadian Press Automatic Telegraph Service Now in Use

Winnipeg, Dec. 17.—A very considerable increase in the volume of news interchanged between the East and the West by the Canadian Press was brought by the opening of an automatic printer telegraph service between Ottawa and Winnipeg, which was inaugurated this morning by exchange of the usual formalities. The significance of this occasion was brought out by the enthusiastic remarks of Mr. E. MONTREAL GAMBLER TELLS ON POLICE

Montreal, Dec. 17.—Charles Gauthier produced at Tuesday afternoon's session of the police inquiry the table which he said had been used in the "Million Dollar" gambling place, and which he claimed he had purchased from one of the police.

This latter sum, he said, not only covered the return of the table, but also accured for him the reduction of his sentence from 22 days to a month found in his place, to $5 each.

Gauthier was also certified to having detected the table from police headquarters.

After he had paid the money Gauthier swore, a telephone message was received at the house to come and get the table back, and he had sent his son to headquarters to fetch it. He also produced a cigar box full of poker chips which he said had been seized twice, and twice returned to him; the second time by the intervention of Sergt. LaFleur.

Gauthier also had specifically denied previously his former charge that Detective had paid money and had seized him his gambling apparatus had been destroyed as provided by law.

Bill Green and Frechette Only Regulars Out at Practice

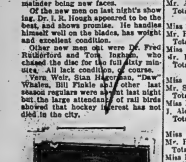

The Intermediate puck chasers took the ice for the first time this season, last evening, and went the pace for sixty minutes. It was really "limbering" night, and a few appeared in uniform, but a very beneficial work out resulted.

Among the regulars, Bill Green and "Bunny" Frechette were the only pair in action. Johnny Hibbard and Al Whitbeach of last season's junior O.H.A. squad worked out, the remainder being new faces.

Of the new men on last night's showing, Dr. I. R. Hough appeared to be the best, and shows promise. He handles himself well on the blades, has wolloped and scrubbed condition.

Other new men out were Dr. Fred Rutherford and Tork Burleigh, who chased the disc for the full sixty minutes. All lack condition, of course.

Vera Weir, Stan Hagerman, "Dew" Whales, Bill Finkle and other last season regulars were out last night but the large attendance of rail birds showed that hockey interest has not died in the city.

PARKDALE IS BEATEN BY THE FAST PETES

Toronto, Dec. 17.—Peterboro played better hockey than Parkdale last night, and won the S.P.A. game, 3 to 1, the victory qualifying the Petes for the senior final with Soo Greybounds, Allan Cup-holders, here Saturday night. The Paddlers were without Harry Watson who is laid up with a severe cold, and the punch the Olympic quintet on the team was sadly missing, but the visitors played clever hockey, improved as the game progressed, and clearly deserved their victory. Parkdale scored the only goal of a tame first period, Dr. Lou Harris going through alone to beat Joe Dwyer with a close in lift, but Peterboro forced the play from the start of the second period, Ranger tying the score in twelve minutes, and the teams remained deadlocked until the third session was five minutes old, when Bert McLeod, last season with Varsity, skated through the centre, stick-handled between the defence players and beat the puck past McAllister—a beautiful effort. With Ranger serving a penalty and about a minute to go, Parkdale threw the entire team, with the exception of the goaltender and Harris, up on the attack. Parker broke away, passed to Ray Rose, who tricked McAllister out of position and sped the puck back to the cage, serving up the game. The last forty minutes of the game was fast and very exciting hockey.

Holiday Season Dangerous Time

Fire Chief Warns Against Possibilities of Decorations and Crowds

In order to give a timely warning for the prevention of fire during the festive season of Christmas and New Years, Fire Chief Brown is passing along the following advice from the Canadian Underwriters' Association:

Dear Sir:—

Following our usual custom at this season of the year, I beg to draw your attention to the danger to life and property from Christmas decorations such as draperies, scenery, cotton to represent snow, Christmas trees, illuminators and the lighting arrangements in connection therewith, and to the considerably to the ordinary risks of fire.

I would also point out that almost all accident of the kind occur in a crowded store or meeting, the result of panic of fire in such inflammable material is almost certain to follow among people with attendant risks to life and limb. The National Fire Protection Association and the Ontario Fire Marshal recommend that all fabrics for decoration purposes should be preserved by a solution of Commercial Ammonium Phosphate in the proportion of one pound of Phosphate to one gallon of water. If then slightly wrung and ordinary dried they will offer considerable resistance to fire and again wanted.

If this is not practicable, a few simple precautions may be taken to the danger to a minimum, and these should be considered essential when large numbers of people and particularly children are to be gathered.

See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heating and lighting devices, steampipes, stoves pipes, electric light bulbs, etc.

See that your electrical circuits are properly fused and not overloaded by the addition of temporary wiring.

Examine your fire extinguishing appliances and see that they are sufficient, in good order and readily accessible.

See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed.

Remember that nothing can ensure these displays absolutely safe, but that if accidents are not to mar the festive season, careful vigilance and care must be exercised.

Yours truly,
JOHN A. ROBERTSON,
Secretary.

A. C. Gleen, who resigned the premiership of Newfoundland Public Service, to accept a similar position in Virginia, has withdrawn his resignation and will continue in his position at Georgetown.

County Judge Stanworth has received judgment in the case of Ryan vs. Ophee, a Harwich man charged with certain offences. Ophee was remanded to jail at Chatham pending the judge's decision.

Petes Pulled Bone Says Lindsay Post

They Should Not Have Played in S.P.A. Games

Peterboro, Dec. 17.—Peterboro made a mistake in entering the S. P. A. hockey series, says the Lindsay Post, by playing against and defeating such teams as Niagara Falls and Preston. Their Petes have demonstrated their superiority and consequently they have been given their opinion of entering the Senior Series against such teams as Parkdale, Aura Lee, Hamilton, Stratford, Kitchener and other teams. Niagara Falls, last year champs of the intermediate series, are also playing in Senior company this season.

Financially, the Petes would probably be better off to enter the senior series, especially as they would derive a splendid percentage of the gate receipts in Toronto. However, the Petes have been clamoring for a championship for some years past and got within one goal of that sixty last season. This is probably why they wish to cross it in Intermediate company this years. No one blames them.

On the other hand, other nearby O.H. A. Intermediate teams, such as Lindsay, Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg, have absolutely refused to be grouped with the Petes this season. That lets the Petes out, and leaves out in the cold.

They will in all likelihood enter the intermediate series and take a bye.

Peterboro Won't Stay With Seniors

Notified O.H.A. Executive Yesterday; Will Take a Bye

Toronto, Dec. 17.—Though Peterboro defeated Parkdale last night the club has decided not to accept the O. H. A. recommendation to play in the senior series this season, but will instead drop back to the intermediate ranks and accept a bye, a group for the Petes to play is not being available without imposing some hardship on the other clubs, due to Peterboro's isolated location. The O. H. A. was notified yesterday of Peterboro's decision, and it is believed that the intermediate runners-up of last season will play an extra schedule game, and the second round commences the first week in February. The Petes will endeavor to arrange exhibition games to keep the players in condition.

Says the Mail and Empire:

The decision made by the Peterboro Club to drop back to Junior for the Petes have shown in the games played in the O. H. A. series that they are a team strong enough for the senior series, and with a slight good share of winning their group or at least getting into a play-off for the right to enter the senior finals. And if they did win no one would be favored to go right on to the championship. The Petes have summarized the Petes' great victory in last night's game will be greatly disappointed if Peterboro does not play senior.

BIG MOB LYNCHED NEGRO IN HOSPITAL

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 7.—Sam Smith, 25-year-old negro, was taken from the city hospital here Monday night and lynched at Nolensville, Tenn., 12 miles from here, where he shot Ike Eastwood, a peer, Friday night.

The mob, in thirty automobiles, sent seven or eight of their number into the hospital to obtain the lad and rushed away with bullets and left to hang until officers cut it down yesterday morning.

The boy and his uncle, Jim Smith, were surprised by Eastwood as they sought to steal pants from Eastwood's automobile. Jim Smith was captured by Eastwood, but Sam shot the grocer and was fleeing when Eastwood shot him. It was thought at first that Eastwood had been wounded probably fatally, but he is recovering.

The lynching was the second here since the Civil War, the other being in 1894.

Nothing new was presented at the adjourned request at Stone's Creek on Fred Genesee, whose body was found on the mountain side, and the jury brought in a verdict that he came to his death at the hands of persons unknown. The widow testified as to his movements the night of his disappearance.

TRAPPER LOST GAME FIGHT FOR LIFE

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 17.—(Canadian Press).—George Henry, trapper, aged 46 years, died in the hospital Monday night from an infected gunshot wound in his foot, occasioned while on the trap line in the Jellicoe District east of Port Arthur and from there from medical attention. The man is said to have crawled a distance of three miles after the accident happened.

Unable to drag himself further, he fashioned a pair of crutches from the limbs of a tree, and in this manner hobbled into Heron Bayne, where he was given medical aid.

Henry was taken to hospital, but the infection had spread to such an extent that he died on Sunday night. The accident occurred last Tuesday, and it was not until Wednesday morning that he received treatment of any kind.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Womans Soul
BY
Charles Garvice

"My dear young lady!" murmured Spencer Churchill, pityingly, "I am afraid—do not give way, bear up! In the midst of life—"

A cry rang through the wood, and a shudder shook her frame, then she looked up with a terrible calmness. "You say that he is dead—is that it? Dead! Oh, Heaven, dead!"

Spencer Churchill shook his head.

"If fear—I very much fear—" he murmured gravely, and he laid his hand upon the thin wrist. "And you do not know how it happened?" he asked again, his eyes scrutinising her face with a quick keenness.

"No!" said Doris, hurriedly, and as if startled. "He was alone—I was coming to meet him—heard him call my name, and—and I found him like this! Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do?"

"Can you bear to be left alone for a little while?" said Spencer Churchill. "There is a cottage near here, on the outskirts of the wood. I will go and get some assistance. The poor fellow has died from a sudden attack of heart disease."

"Oh, go, go!" panted Doris.

He went, after another searching glance at her white face; and she knelt over the motionless form, almost as lifeless herself.

In a few minutes Spencer Churchill returned, with a couple of farm labourers carrying a hurdle, on which the body was tenderly and reverently carried to the house. Doris watched them, mute and still holding the cold, dead hand.

Hasty preparations had been made for the reception of the stricken man, and he was carried up to his room. A young messenger had been sent to Barton for the doctor, and in a short time he appeared and was received by Mr. Spencer Churchill at the garden gate at the gate.

"Mr. Jeffrey Flint!" said the doctor, as Spencer Churchill, in sympathetic accents, gave an account of the matter. "Yes, yes! Ah, yes, I know something of him; he consulted me a few days ago."

Then he passed upstairs and into the room where the dead man lay on the bed, with Doris kneeling beside him still holding his hand.

"My dear," said the doctor, after a short examination, "this is a place for you. No one can do anything for him; the best medical skill in the land—and he mentioned to the woman of the cottage who, stood crying at the door, appeared and was received by Mr. Spencer Churchill, who awaited him at the gate.

"Yes, yes," assented the doctor. "I do not think it will be necessary. At present I am consulted one day in seven years. I only saw him about that to must be careful to avoid all excitement; indeed, I told him as plainly as could be accomplished, short of telling her actual."

"Dear me! Poor fellow!" murmured Spencer Churchill.

"And I think, under the circumstances that I can give a certificate and so avoid an inquest,"

Spencer Churchill heaved a soft sign of relief.

"I shall be glad if you will tell me till you know respecting the case, Mr. Churchill—"

"Certainly," assented Spencer Churchill, with a sigh. "It is soon told. I was strolling through the woods in the direction of the Towers, and left the Towers half an hour previously—when, I heard a girl's voice—poor Jeffrey Flint's voice—crying piteously. I hurried up, and found him kneeling by the dead. I did so all, excepting that I am quite sure he was dead when I arrived. I think he has been dead some time."

The doctor nodded.

"And you met no one, saw no one excepting Miss Marlowe?"

"No, no one; I heard and saw both of them, what I have told you," replied Spencer Churchill, quietly.

"Ah, yes, yes!" said the doctor. "It would appear as if there had been a shock—"

"Is the inquest necessary?" suggested Spencer Churchill, softly. "Is there not some way of avoiding it?"

"Quite so, quite so," assented the doctor. "The deceased might have died at any moment—in his bed, or during his ordinary avocations. Oh, yes."

"I am relieved to hear you say that!" said Spencer Churchill. "I am so sensitive, on Miss Marlowe's account, to avoid an inquest."

"Quite so, quite so. There will be no necessity. Did you know the deceased?"

"I knew something of him some years ago," replied Spencer Churchill, "but why have not met for a long period; that is, I have not seen him for years. I only knew him quite slightly, and I was surprised to see him here, at a distance. It was quite a shock to me recognising him as I did, in the—in the grass, dead!"

"Dear me!" said the doctor, quite sympathetically. "And now what is to be done?—I am sorry to give trouble to this poor young girl."

"If you will leave it to me," murmured Spencer Churchill, meekly, "I will do all that lies in my power. She may have relations and friends. You see, perhaps, how to do all that I can to soften the blow for the poor young creature."

The doctor took his hand and wrung it.

"You are a good man, Mr. Churchill," he said, "and Heaven will reward you! You may depend upon me I can be of any assistance, I will go and make out the certificate."

Spencer Churchill accompanied him to his gig, then lit a cigarette, and paced up and down for a few minutes, thinking intently.

The Acquittal" At Belle Theatre

Realistic Play With All-Star Cast Coming on Thursday

Stark realism marks the remarkable jury trial screened in "The Acquittal," Universal-Jewel adaptation of Rita Weiman's famous stage play, which comes Thursday to the Belle Theatre. Presented by an all-star cast, headed by Norman Kerry and Claire Windsor, the picture unfolds a baffling mystery story in which the audience is kept guessing, and the identity of the true criminal is not revealed until the very end of the picture. A massive court room scene shows witness after witness testifying, the testimony being depicted in action that carries on the principal parts of the play, something the legitimate production could never have hoped to accomplish.

It is the gripping story of a crime; a strange optical illusion by which an accusation is turned aside, and a baffling mystery that grows out of a man's acquittal. The audience follows every move in the search for the slayer. Practically everyone in the case comes under suspicion, and finally, a single flash of action clears the entire story with a logical, most unexpected.

Clarence Brown directed the remarkable play. The striking feature is the absolutely true depiction of a court trial from actual legal documents to every possible detail of procedure. Famous trial lawyers, former deputy district attorney of Chicago, sat with the director throughout as technical adviser to check on every detail. Even the method especially to select a jury that is true to life and court atmosphere.

The list of players is specially notable, including besides Kerry and Miss Windsor, Barbara Bedford, who heads "The Spoilers" cast, Harry Westerfield, famous stage star, Ben Deely, Anton Vaverka and others equally notable. The scene was built from newspaper photographs of famous court trials, and legal documents were borrowed from the New York courts to add realism.

Reserves Augment In The Last Case

Cournoyea Case Closed Non Jury Sittings of High Court Tuesday

The case which closed the non-jury sittings of the High Court here tuesday was the case Cournoyea vs. Rashotte and Casey. Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Logie when the case closed after eight o'clock last night.

Simon Cournoyea aged 78, plain-t'clock the case was heard. The case in 1907 he gave a deed of his farm in Hungerford Township to his son charged with his maintenance and support. The son transferred the farm to his wife and later died and after his death his wife maintained the plaintiff on the farm as called for in the deed. In 1922 the plaintiff and his daughter-in-law moved to Peterborough. Here the daughter died, and the plaintiff went to live with his own daughter in Peterborough. This action was brought by him against the executors of his daughter-in-law in whom the land was vested on her death for his support and maintenance.

The dispute arose over the question of amount of maintenance and as to whether plaintiff was entitled to maintenance away from the farm. Following His Lordship's suggestion Counsel for all parties endeavored to effect a settlement but the litigants could not agree and at 8 o'clock the case was heard. The case rested upon the interpretation of the deed of 1907, the defence contending it was so worded as not to allow maintenance away from the farm and that the executors could use the estate for the maintenance of the infant grandchildren of the plaintiff.

The only evidence given was that of the plaintiff, and His Lordship reserved judgment holding that the rights of the parties depended on the deed of 1902.

Mr. John R. Corking of Peterborough appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. F. G. Cushing, K.C., Collins and Cushing, for the defendants.

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

ALSO TAKE A LITTLE SALTS IF BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get excited and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys active and flushed, but drink plenty of water—you can't drink too much, as good authorities claim that a man can scarcely exist who is entirely deprived of drink, and what you eat should help furnish the water your kidneys need to wash out the waste and purify the blood.

The function of the kidneys is nature's way of doing this. In 24 hours they filter from it 500 grams of used and waste matter and poisonous acids which, if not eliminated, keep you miserable with backache, headache, dizziness, nausea, sleeplessness, bad blood, nervousness, rheumatic twinges, acidity, stomach trouble or bladder irritation, thus often causing considerable sickness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also try to put the water you drink and no doubt you will soon know what some of your kidney trouble really needs. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Lest of Gallows Shocked Council

Victoria Councillors Billed Per $200 Following Mac-Gaughey Hanging

Victoria, Dec. 17—The members of the Property committee of the county council viewed a large sized job when called by the committee to the scene of the hanging of the sentence to be carried out in the jail yard on December 5th last. It amounted to the modest sum of $200. The time used in the construction of the structure was about sixteen hours. After the negotiations of the committee had recovered from the shock, County Clerk McPherson, who had searched the archives of the county, informed the members that in the location of the hanging of a man named Nesbitt over fifty years ago the gallows was constructed in the jail yard for $50. This amount was passed by the committee to the contractor, who, by the way, is a member of the county town council.

The word has been received from the Attorney-General's Department relative to the appeal case in by Dr. Armond Lamont, amounting to $900. It looks as if the county have to pay the amount to the doctor, who was an important witness for the Crown in connection with the recent murder trial.

Miss Silken Gown In Drawing Contest

Lawyer Willed That Toga Go To Edith King's Counsel

Montreal, Dec. 17—The silken gown worn by the late Charles S. Campbell, K.C., was given by Edmund Bertrand, K.C., Crown prosecutor, who, as the first member of the Junior Bar, was nominated a King's counsel following Mr. Campbell's death, inherited the toga in compliance with one provision in the Campbell will.

Before the gown went to Mr. Bertrand, a drawing was necessary. Four members of the Junior Bar were requested by the late Mr. King's Counsel, all at the same time. They were Auguste Angelier, Ernest Bertrand, O. Tyndale and L. M. Gouin. As these as the executors had been appointed executors of the late Mr. Campbell communicated with Ralph Grant, president of the Junior Bar, in connection with the will clause.

It is Mr. Grant's office the testament was compiled with when the drawing of K.C.'s drew for the gown and Mr. Bertrand won.

Good Ship; Good Crew

"We've got the best ship and the best crew that's going or we wouldn't be here," said the captain of the C.S.L. steamer Kenola, which is lying up for the winter at the M.T. Company's wharf, Kingston. The crew are a hankful to be there after their strenuous passage from St. Johns, Newfoundland. There was a strike of seamen down there and they were sent out from Montreal with a load of freight for Newfoundland. Returning light, save for a little oil and fish, they ran into a heavy storm in the Gulf.

Plan Winter Sports

Deseronto, Dec. 17—One of the features of the big reunion of white sports which is being planned by athletic directors at Deseronto for the winter is a skating race between two old-timers, which promises to attract considerable attention. The contestants are over 85 years of age, and both are active and are keen to "get away."

The old-timers, record last year, and the event was talked about throughout the district for months afterwards, so a recurrence of the feature in this year's program is sure to attract greater interest than ever. Incidentally the entire program, as projected, is full of interesting features.

Tanlac Brings Out New Cold Remedy

INTERNATIONAL PROPRIETARIES ANNOUNCES THAT KUROKOL WILL BE OFFERED THE PUBLIC

Atlanta Ga. (Special). International Proprietaries, Inc., manufacturers and distributors of Tanlac, recently announced that they had perfected a new cure for correcting a cough and cold, and would place it on the market shortly.

The new remedy is called Kurokol and the makers state that it "will do exactly what the name says it will."

Behind the introduction of Kurokol is a romance that will interest the millions of persons who have taken Tanlac. Several eminent physicians and chemists have been working on Kurokol for the past four years. Three years ago, they announced that it was ready for the market. But the head of International Proprietaries, Inc., told them, "We don't want just a good cough and cold remedy, we want the very best one that science can produce. Go back to your laboratories and keep working on the formula." Kurokol for the past four years of this company at least six different times and each time were sent back to the laboratory, until late this past summer, the men working on it agreed that they had at last struck the real combination that would prove effective. They were unanimous in their opinion this time and the president of the company decided to offer Kurokol to the public.

Kurokol will be advertised in many of the leading newspapers of the country and will be offered by the leading druggists. It is expected that this new scientific remedy for coughs and colds will gradually grow in popularity until it reaches a sale as large as the nea national sale of Tanlac itself.

SANTA CLAUS IS SWAMPED WITH BUSINESS

Super Character Uses C.N. R. Radio and Thous- and Hear

VERY, VERY BUSY

Children and Grown-Ups From Canada and U.S.A. Send Letters

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Dec. 18.—Even Santa Claus is not immune from the troubles that beset ordinary people, although in the particular instance about to be recited the matter is entirely due to the popularity of that jolly personage. When Santa undertook to use the radio broadcast in order to get in touch with his numerous clients it soon with his numerous clients it seemed that he would be able to dispose of all his advance communiques over the ether, but he had not known very promptly the manner in which responded on the part of parents desiring sets have increased. Santa Claus took advantage of the offer of the radio department of the Canadian National Railways and announced that he would personally assist—all letters sent to him in care of the transportation system. This announcement was made at the end of the third broadcast. Then followed a move extraordinary. Tested more in the popularity of the undertaking than in the spirit of Christmas idle, and slow to the marvellous manner in which radio has entered into the life of the communities in the north centres of the country. At all the stations—Montreal, Canadian National Railways, Toronto, Winnipeg, Moncton, Halifax, Edmonton, Jasper, Prince Rupert and Vancouver—letters began to arrive in such a manner as to tax the capacity of the mail service. Letters from the children and grown-ups in Canada and the United States began to arrive in such numbers

Magistrate Jelfs Sticks To The Law

Dismisses Casese Against Drunken Man Arrested In Own House

Hamilton, Dec. 18—There is no provision in the law for the arrest of a man in his own home for being drunk, so declared Magistrate Jelfs in police court, in dismissing a complaint against James MacKay, 69 Barker street, east. His wife was the complainant.

She testified she could no longer stand her husband drinking and swearing. Two weeks ago, she said, he became drunk and received an "awful beating." She had to call a doctor, but as soon as he was well he started drinking again. She told of mortgaging her house to help, and declared he would not assist her to pay off the mortgage. Detective Sergeant, who arrested MacKay, declared the police were called to MacKay's house, and that when he arrived he found MacKay drunk and in bed. The accused was swearing and abusing his wife and the police, the officer said.

In dismissing the case the magistrate advised the woman she could live separate from her husband if she wished and outlined how she should do it, legally.

MANY IN ONTARIO MAKE OWN BEER

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—The "home brew" production of beer has become an extensive Canadian industry, especially in Ontario, according to Federal statistics compiled on the subject.

To brew beer for home use is not against the law, nor does it call for a license, but there is a requirement that those who engage in this manufacture must notify the local representative of the Customs and Excise Department, or otherwise they are subject to a penalty.

According to the "notification" received, Ontario is pre-eminently active in this form of manufacture. The figure for the different provinces follow: Ontario, 27,520; Quebec, 2,852; Nova Scotia, 1,501; Prince Edward Island, 795; New Brunswick, 779; Manitoba, 114; Saskatchewan, 3,858; Alberta 893. British Columbia, 661; Yukon, 5 Total, 37,558.

The illicit "still" business has also increased enormously. Where there used to be about a dozen seizures a year there have been as many as 2,500 in a single recent year.

FIERCE BLIZZARD STRIKES KOOTENAY

Nelson, B.C., Dec. 18.—Canadian steamers, delayed trains, telegraph and telephone wires blown down, and windows broken, resulted from a blizzard which has swept the Kootenay district.

The steamer Nasookin was forced to cancel her trip from Kootenay Landing to Nelson on Monday night owing to the heavy weather. The eastbound Crow train was eight hours getting through the first 20 miles, owing to snow and trees blowing down across the track. The steamer Kuanook, from Nelson for Kaslo, after waiting many hours made the trip without calling at any points en route. Coast trains due here on Monday and on Tuesday night in each case arrived the following day.

In Nelson the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church lost a $300 stained glass window by being blown in. Since Monday morning a fitful wire service to Spokane has comprised Nelson's only contact with the outside world.

"She Was Too Sick To Try Entrance Exams."

Jeanne was one of the many children in New Canada who started public each day to school. Fair weather or foul, they trudge along the rough roads eager for the little bit of education that is theirs. Then, several years had passed since Jeanne's birth and she had never enjoyed a day of health during that time. For all those years she had spent in going to school, lugging around the load and at odd times working here and there to help the family exchequer.

One day she was caught in a sleet storm on her way home from school. Before long a terrible cough set in, which finally ended in Consumption. Of course, it was impossible for her to attend school examinations. "Another year perhaps," the teacher said "and the doctor."

Now she is resting at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. Her pleading sparkle still remains, her curly, golden hair is as pretty as ever, but the blue eyes with the aid of her fine radiate cheer and hope. "Sure," says Jeanne, "I'm going to High School. Why not?" and we echo, "Why not?" and the doctor says that's the cause—Jeanne is on the road to health.

Will you help her and others to reach the goal, by contributing to the hospital fund? Gifts may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Jumps From Cabin To Rich Palace

But People wonder if young Earl Will Stick

London, Dec. 18.—From a poky little cabin aboard a tramp steamer to the luxury of a Jacobean mansion, was the quick change of circumstances overtaken recently by the 17-year-old Earl of Suffolk. The earl had been knocking around the world on the steamer Mount-Stewart, sharing the hard life and food of sailors for about 18 months, when the death of the old earl was announced. The young man's ship had just arrived at Nantes with a cargo of nitrate from South America, and he immediately said goodbye to his shipmates and hurried to the family seat, Charlton House, near Malmesbury.

People in the district are wondering whether the young earl will settle down to society's ways, or whether the travel temperament inherited from his American mother, a daughter of the late Levi Leiter, of Chicago, will lure him away to fresh adventures.

A tunic top made fast to the lower part does away with the need of a separate slip and yet makes possible the tunic-blouse combination of materials and colors.

A tunic body curried to tunic length and with a narrow lower part permanently attached to it under its lower tuck gives all the effect and many of the advantages of a tunic blouse and separate slip. You can make the upper part of silk crepe to match your coat lining, then linking the coat and dress together as an ensemble suit. Almond green or henna are smart with navy-blue kasha or cashmere. Black crepe faille will be used for Spring with golden-beige or French-blue flat crepe, and brown rep is good style with sand or amber crepe satin.

Pick Accountant For Big Position

F. M. Turnbull Goes in as Assistant Treasurer At $6,000

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Selection of F. Morris Turnbull, a chartered accountant of wide experience in Canada, the United States and in England, as assistant treasurer and financial controller of Ontario, was announced yesterday at the Parliament Buildings by Premier Ferguson. The appointments was the fulfillment of the policy announced by the Premier shortly after his election to office, when he stated his intention of seeing that the revenue of the province's financing should be placed under adequate and expert supervision.

After having surveyed intimately the affairs of Ontario's finances during the past several months, Premier Ferguson and Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., Provincial Treasurer, have come to the conclusion that the urgent need of the public service is an expert accountant. Mistakes in financial matters throughout the whole civil service are seen, in the light of experience, as having been due to poor accounting and lack of expert knowledge at critical times. The services of Mr. Turnbull, who has had wide experience in such matters as controller of the Alberta Steel Corporation and as a partner in the firm of Sharpe, Milne and Company, have, accordingly been secured. An initial salary of $9,000 per year is being paid him.

St. Andrews and Christ Church Win

In Two Good Basketball Fixtures at Y.M.C.A. Yesterday

Albert Armstrong's well trained team of basketeers climbed one rung closer to the junior championship when they took a game from the Bridge St. representatives in the Junior Sunday School section. During the first ten minutes period the Br fge Street squad if anything had the better of the play although the score stood two all at the end of the period. The second and third periods were St. Andrew's with C. Kinnear doing heavy duty in the scoring department. Bridge Street scoring was divided between VanTassel and Dalrymple.

The final score was Bridge St. 4, St. Andrews 10.

The te ms—St. Andrews, T. Byrne and St. Claire Moffat, Forwards; Kinnear, centre; V. White and G. Elkins, Guards; M. Gillen Pinkston, Spare. Bridge St.—Gilbert and Ridley, Forwards; Dalrymple, Centre; J. Sparrow and W. VanTassel, Guards; R. Elliott Spare. .

Intermediate Game

The Intermediate fixture, St. Andrews vs Christ Church was productive of some real fast ball mixed up with basket-ball that was not so good. Wild passing at occasional and fumbles were the outstanding of the errors in a game that was both fast and clean. At the end of the first half St. Andrews were leading 14-11, but they were outplayed 18-11 in the latter half giving Christ Church the game by the score of 26-25.

The teams—St. Andrews — Galsay and Sorbara, Forwards; M. Bell, Centre; Christie and Boulter, Guards; Christ Church—R. Barrance and L. Brown, Forwards; G. Brown Centre; E. Holway and F. Pratt, Guards; Crell and Johnston, Subs.

St. Andrews and Tabernacle Intermediate play Monday 8 p.m.

DOLAN WAS KICKED FROM GIANT OFFICE

New York, Dec. 18—Emphatic denial that he had advised Cozy Dolan, one of his banner players, to keep quiet about the Giant scandal was voiced by John McGraw, manager of the club, before he left to attend the major league meetings in Chicago.

"The story that I had a conference with Dolan before I left is untrue," said McGraw. "Dolan called at the Giant office last Saturday and was kicked out. Later in the evening he came into a restaurant with a friend, where I was having dinner with my wife. He sat down at my invitation table and tried to open up conversation. I told him I did not want to be bothered as I could not do anything in behalf and that I would be only wasting his words."

While McGraw did not mention who "kicked" Dolan out of the office it was understood that Judge F. X. McQuade was in the office when Dolan called and that Dolan tried to evade same him in controversy.

Are Suspicious of Rink at Oshawa

All Are Very Religious Gentlemen; but For Whiskey Prize

Oshawa, Dec. 18—Some of the curlers are growing suspicious of the management of some of the rinks, At a recent gathering all the names of the curlers were put in a hat and a drawing took place. It looks somewhat suspicious when a "religious" rink is drawn by Skip Wm. J. Holland, especially when one of the prizes to be played for is a case of Scotch Whiskey," which accompanies the W. F. Eaton cup.

Mr. Holland is a Church Warden, and his rink is composed of the following Church leaders: "Deacon" Mundy, Vice-Skip, Rev. R. A. Whatham, Pastor Albert Street Methodist Church, second stone, and Mr. Belfry, who is a son of a Methodist preacher as lead. With a "religious" rink like this playing for a "bottle of Scotch" it is feared that other curlers have little or no chance of winning out.

CAN PRC. GOLFER PLAY UNDER O.H.A.?

The O.H.A. will soon have to decide whether a pro. golfer is eligible to take part in association contests. The Soo Greyhounds have a prospect in Neil McGregor who happens to be a pro golfer at the club there. The O.G.H.A. has passed the question on to the O.H.A.

It is argued that McGregor's amateur status as far as hockey is concerned is not affected by his career as a pro. golfer, which is a form of recreation and not a competitive sport, as recognized by the A.A.U.

Golf may be purely a recreation, but the seeker of knowledges will be confirmed not to belittle it as such or should he essay to obtain the opinion of an ardent opponent of the game, by humorously suggesting, "Golf is only a recreation."

TIGERS, SENATORS PLAYED TIE GAME

Ottawa, Dec. 18—Hamilton Tigers and Ottawa Senators played an exhibition minute game here last night before a packed house with neither team securing a goal in the sixty and twenty minutes of play. The final game brought to a termination one of the most hectic contests that has been played on Ottawa ice in many a day. On the night's play, Senators were the superior team and stood out over their opponents, but in the absence of shots that raised in on the Tiger cage there was one obstacle the home team could not surmount. This obstacle was Vernon Forbes. Turning in one of the best game that has possible ever been played, Forbes carried the Yellow and Black over through to a tie decision. It is no exaggeration to state that Forbes handled twenty shots that one Cunnell was called upon to clear. With Langlois and Randall giving him strictest protection the local sharpshooters drilled the puck from all angles, at all distances, and some of his saves bordered on the miraculous.

Up in front Billy Burch held the Reach to a desperate resistance to the whirlwind attack of the locals which never abated for a minute until sheer exhaustion forced a slowing up in the pace in the closing ten minutes of regulation. The home crew Burch's valuable aid, and Roach also helped materially, but the clip was too speedy for MacKinnon.

Hanson, J. Howard, A. Lansdell, W. Lumb, W. H. Montgomery, J. F. Macdonald, R. N. McFarlane, W. A. McFarlane, W. McCarter, W. A. McMahon, A. W. Mercer, H. W. Newman, J. C. Passfield, E. J. Rigney, S. Root, I. Sleeth, T. Slater, E. Slater, C. M. Smith, R. E. Trent, W. A. Turcotte, F. Waugh, H. Whittle, J. A. Mellor, Dr. Ulloth.

There will be a meeting of the skips on Thursday evening at the rink when the rinks will be drawn.

Ice making has been commenced and if the cold weather continues hope will be curtine be the end of the week.

After spending a week in jail, Mr. Sidney of London was released on a suspended sentence and severely reprimanded by Magistrate Arnold at Chatham for throwing a stone through the window of a C.N.R. passenger train at Merlin recently. The missile narrowly escaped a lady passenger.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, though I am now doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to Mr. Eugene H. Pullen, Carpenter, 472 L. Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N.J. Better cut this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

St. Pats Put Up Great Argument

But Were Not Equal to Morenz and His Clan

Toronto, Dec. 18.—St. Patrick's turned in their best game of the season at the Arena last night, and although they were defeated by the world's champion Canadiens by 5 goals to 2, the Irish were the better team on the limit, and were far from being disgraced in defeat. Canadiens are a great team, and to be on even terms with the speedy little-boilers within a few minutes of the finish is a feat that very few local fans expected from the Irish, and had it not been for exceedingly hard luck in the first and second periods the score would have been much closer. As it was the final two goals of the evening came on a penalty. The Irish were all down on the attack, and a shot secured and with his defenses of foot easily out-flanked the goalkeeper and beat Roach.

The Canadiens are one of the best professional teams that Toronto fans have seen in the tournament and beat all fast, and while the defence is composed of veterans they are still far from being past it, and in the more strenuous sessions have by "Sedna in the visitors' citadel the score would have favored the Irish at the start of the game. Morenz is the star forward line that makes Canadiens, and it is Morenz that makes the forward line. This was demonstrated during the first half of the last scoring period, when Morenz was in the dressing room, and the Irish made their first goal during his absence, and although he was on hand to score only in quick succession the locals had the run of play, doing everything but scoring.

Morenz was the fastest skater on the ice, a beautiful stick-handler, and while he initiated many attacks he generally led his team at the same moment. At times he tried to go through, but the visitors soon discovered that the Irish defence is not the defence of last season, and that the way to get on to goals was to feed the wings and then scoop in for a rebound. This method, although tried often, was never successful.

Borden's Great Forwards

Borden's forwards did their work well together. Their speed enables them to go up three abreast, and after losing possession they are usually back in position near centre ice before their opponents bring the puck back. They have a great understanding among themselves and frequently switch their positions to the betterment of their combination in the wilderness of their opponents. Individually the Canadiens are just masters in all the tricks of the game, and got by with a minimum of body-checking that showed up their opponents. Therefore only three players were required, Sprague Cleghorn, Adams and Corbeau could either be used as rovers or as loose-men. Three were lots of them, and although they played slyly executed, that passed detection.

St. Patrick's did all that could be expected of them. Their defence worked far more speed and being a sixty-minute game together Conacher and Kilne's taste, yet the Irish with five or six days' rest in the game played during their first season with the club, but the latter forms small rock on in the third period. The locals' defence was quite improved with Hollingsworth now replacing Stuart and this changes in Percy Corbeau have also helped to make them the odd partnership that Borden played a strong game in local although Joliat's name does not appear on the line. The same may be said of Boucher, Gagnon and Hall, Aubin, Smith, Coulis, Stuart, S. Cleghorn, defence; Benedict, Morenz; Joliat, right; Boucher, left; O. Cleghorn and Mantha, centre.

St. Patrick's—Roach, goal; Corbeau and Conacher, defence; Kilne, centre; McCaffery, right; Fisher, left; Percy Corbeau and Hollingsworth, defence.

Referee—Dr. W. J. Laflamme, Toronto.

FIRPO OFF TO PARIS FOR REAL BLOW-OUT

New York, Dec. 18.—Luis Angel Firpo, ex-champion fighter, sailed yesterday for a pleasure trip to the city of Paris. Through an interpreter, Firpo said: "I expect to stay there and train under Jimmie DeForrest, and want to take Dempsey and Wolgast again. But before I settle down to the training I want to get the pleasure hunger out of my system." Firpo took with him a large American flag which he asked if he expected to return to Argentina. He said he loved this country and he made a significant gesture at his heart when he said that he thought what he thought his fate would be at the hands of the American mob, if he chanced over its failure.

Short On Jockies For Coming Season

There are not Nearly Enough Riders To Go Around

New York, Dec. 18.—Precisely every jockey in this section and many of no account have been signed up for next season. There is a dearth of capable riders—not nearly enough to go around the tracks—and many will be forced to go without a rider for next year, and they have little chance of getting one.

W. R. Coe, who has spent probably $1,000,000 in racing since he entered the turf a few years ago and now has a string of horses in training at Belmont Park, has announced for 1925. George D. Widener is another who has an extensive string, and James R. Keene's Park has no rider for them. Mrs. Payne Whitney will have the remounts of the stable her husband raved for several years, also is hunting for a good boy. J. E. Widener and James Butler are the other wealthy patrons of the sport.

There are several other prominent owners in the same fix.

So eager are many of them to get a good jockey that they have sent agents to New Orleans and Havana to watch for likely prospects.

If Earl Sande owns around a million next summer like he could before he got hooked up with the management of Samuel Rossiter, Harry F. Sinclair will have the best string in the country, for besides Sande he has Laverne Fator and his younger brother, Mark, under contract.

NAPANEE CURLERS TO HOLD THEIR OWN

Napanee, Dec. 18—A most important event took place in the municipality, and convenient rooms of the Napanee Curling Club on Monday last in the capacity by members of the club and their friends. It was the inauguration meeting of the club for the season 1924-25, and all the formalities in connection therewith about one hundred and fifty were present and they say that there are some good players at the Napanee Club. Among them also that Napanee should be able to own another all competitive at the coming season.

The meeting was opened with two short business meetings, immediately following by progressive five hundred.

The card tables were removed and the tables set for a sumptuous repast which was much enjoyed. Music being furnished by Kennedy's orchestra. At the conclusion of the banquet a splendid programme was rendered.

Small's Sisters Discover that Former Maid is Missing

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Miss Florence and Miss Gertrude Small, sisters of Ambrose J. Small, missing Toronto millionaire, were interned today by an official at Parliament Buildings that Martha Dunn, maid employed in the home of Ambrose Small at the time of the disappearance in December 1910, had herself disappeared from Whitby asylum. At the time of the Small disappearance, Miss Dunn gave some information to the press. Subsequently she was an inmate of Whitby institution for many months.

Small sisters have been following all clues in the hope of solving the mystery of their brother's disappearance and sought an interview with Miss Dunn. No reply came to appeals addressed to officials of the institution. Yesterday Inspector Dunlop of the Asylum was told on the telephone by one of the Small sisters that she would take the matter to the Premier if no reply was forthcoming to the request, and she was then told that Miss Dunn had disappeared of last July. He believed she had slipped out at any rate no trace of her had been found.

CANNOT FIND THEIR DOUKHOBOR LEADER

Nelson, B. C., Dec. 18—Peter Veregin Jr. has been officially chosen spiritual leader of the Doukhobors and Honorary President of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood.

It is now believed that Veregin is not in Canada. Investigations by the Immigration Department has failed to disclose that any Russian of his description has been admitted to Canada recently.

Vice-President W. Cazanoff of the brotherhood now becomes Vice-President, in charge of Saskatchewan and Alberta communities; J. F. Shoukin is Second Vice-President, in charge of British Columbia communities and John Zelreff of Grand Forks, B.C., General Manager. Zebroff is a "working brother," and his appointment was dictated by the working-class Doukhobors.

No President of the brotherhood will be named until there is definite word from young Veregin.

ELOPING FARM HAND GETS YEAR SENTENCE

London, Ont. Dec. 18.—Frank Jamieson, also known as "Dixie," the London Township farmhand who eloped with Mrs. Ernest Ferguson, wife of his employer, some weeks ago, was Wednesday sentenced by County Magistrate Hackshaw to serve one year in the Ontario Reformatory. Jamieson was convicted on having stolen a horse and buggy from Ferguson when the pair eloped.

Crown Attorney A. M. Judd, in course for sentence, said he did not believe a word of the story told by the woman that she had been forced to leave her home and children by threats of Jamieson. The affair had been premeditated and prearranged, he said.

PROMINENT WOMAN ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Owen sound, Dec. 18.—Mrs. William Douglas, against whom a verdict was returned by the Coroner's jury on Tuesday night of causing the death of Miss Kitty Nethercott, of Woodstock, on Sept. 17 last, by reckless driving, appeared in court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter. She was brought before Magistrate Creasor, and the charge was formally read, and the preliminary hearing proceeded with.

Counsel for Mrs. Douglas waived examination and agreed to the evidence as taken at the inquest to be for all intents and purposes sufficient for a preliminary hearing, and Mrs. Douglas was then committed for trial at the Spring Assizes. Bail was fixed at the sum of $15,000, which was readily procured.

Much sympathy is being expressed on all sides for the accused lady, who is a sister of W. S. Middleton, K.C., ex-M.P., and for the members of her family. She completely broke down when the charge was read to her.

DIED OF WOUNDS

Houlton, Maine, Dec. 18—Thomas McNair, ticket agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Amherst, N.S., who shot himself in a room at a hotel here on November 28th, died in a local hospital yesterday. He avoided other guests at the hotel after firing a bullet into his breast.

"Sickness Stalked Into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harrow moved into his pretty little two-story house he never thought he had reached the height of happiness. But that was before he had loudly voiced their pleasure, too, everything seemed to have reached right for him.

The Harrows' days didn't last long. Hidden away in the bedroom was "its just a pain in my back, maybe rheumatism," he said, but Jim knew how a previous attack of pleurisy had developed. He called in the family doctor who almost immediately ordered the ambulance and advised a complete examination at the hospital. Then the specialist, who quickly confirmed the first doctor's diagnosis, took Jim's strong hand and wife stared at each other in consternation. Jim was to undergo an operation. "Don't worry" said the doctor, "a year's treatment at the Municipal Sanitorium will completely cure you." But Mrs. Harrow on her feet again, not the young woman who had married Jim seven years before. Jim's illness and the necessary extra expenses of the long months ahead left them penniless. Every few days the postman leaves a letter which Jim had been kind enough to carefully doctors all do their utmost to bring Jim back to health and to his happy home. Mrs. Harrow shortly the letters will cease for she is almost penniless and cannot pay the bills much longer.

Should you wish to have a hand in such worthwhile work as this, mail your contribution to Dr. Caldwell, Chairman, Provincial Committee, 123 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The deceased was born in this town, the son of his father, the late Dr. Christopher Russell, a practical physician for many years. About 30 years ago, he married Miss Isabella Hendrikson, a daughter of the late David Hendrikson, of Peel County. Only four years ago he retired on his farm near Erin. It is stated that the sons-in-law of Mr. Russell who was a Liberal in politics, will succeed him in the riding. Deceased leaves a widow and two sons.

Is Legal Inspector

The appointment of J. A. Humphries barrister at Campbellford, as inspector of legal offices under the department of the attorney-general, is announced at the parliament buildings. It is anticipated that Mr. Humphries will eventually become the head of the inspector's branch of the department. Until recently the work of inspection has been in the hands of three inspectors, covering the attorney-general's office, registering offices, division courts, magistrates' and legal offices. One of these inspectors has recently resigned, a second is engaged upon other work and the reorganization has been undertaken in full view of the urgent need and the arrival of an excellent opportunity.

Golf Club's Good Showing

To the shareholders of the Pembroke Golf Club, Ltd., it is pleasing news that the year just closed has been a very satisfactory one financially. With a new club the expenses in connection with improvements to the links are invariably heavy, and Pembroke club in this connection has been no exception. Last year and this year much work has been done, and there was for a time a fear that it would be necessary to make a special assessment upon the members. Happily, however this has been found to be unnecessary, and is quite possible that when everything is cleared away there may even be a small surplus. This places the club on a splendid basis for next year, and it may reasonably be assured that its financial worries are at an end.

Meets at Kingston

At a meeting on Tuesday, in Toronto, of the executive council of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario, at which J. J. Elliott, Kingston, presided, it was unanimously decided to hold the 1925 convention in Kingston, on the invitation of the Kingston Board of Trade. The gathering, attended by some 125 or 150 members, will be held either in October or November. The Kingston Board will, as usual, hospitably entertain the business men of the province.

Sheep Raising Good

Col. P. J. Row of Pickering Township visited Lindsay a few days ago where he marketed his last year's clip of wool, with the Horn Bros. Woollen Co. Ltd.

Col. Row owns a large flock of registered Cotswold sheep and the proceeds of the clip netted the owner the neat sum of $251.94. The value of the same amount of wool two years ago would have been less than $157.00.

Col. Rowe is enthusiastic about the outlook of sheep raising and states that there is money in this branch of farming.

Had Foot Severed

Lindsay, Dec. 16—A distressing accident occured at Scarboro Junction Wednesday morning when Conductor William J. Brown of Lindsay had his left foot severed at the ankle in the railway yards. The unfortunate man was taken to Grace Hospital, Toronto.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE

There was a decline in the foreign trade of Canada in November, and a still larger one in the eight months of the fiscal year now elapsed. In November exports were nearly $20,000,000 less in value than in the corresponding month of last year, and while in the eight months' period an increase is still shown, it is a diminishing amount growing smaller by degrees and soon to disappear. In a word, the foreign trade of the country receded, having decreased from $1,304,000,000 in 1923 to $1,-234,000,000 this year since the end of March. Up to date, however, we have bought less and sold more, and, are, therefore, in better condition both commercially and financially.

Yet the figures are not over-encouraging. The value of imports continued to decline in Nov. and in the eight months fell from $612,-065,000 to $531,593,000 as compared with a year ago. Lower prices of commodities account in a measure for this recession, but the principal cause for this slackness of domestic business, the lesser importation of raw material and of finished products, having been in about the same ratio.

Stability of foreign trade has been maintained by farm products. There was of grain a smaller export in November to the amount of $20,900,-000 than in the corresponding month last year, due entirely to a later harvest; but in the eight months an increase in value of grain exports is shown of about the same sum, and to the end of last month the comparison is favorable. It cannot be expected, however, that the export of grain will proceed during the winter months and ensuing spring to as great an extent as a year ago, and it is a fair inference that this item of exports will gradually shrink in the monthly returns. On the other hand, there has been a substantial increase in the value of animals and animal products sent out of Canada, a gain of nearly $3,000,000 in November, and of $9,000,000 in the eight months.

The other large item of exports is wood, wood products and paper, of which the export fell off $2,400,000 last month and $20,200,000 in the eight months compared with 1923. In the aggregate, the returns shows a gain of $12,000,000 in exports, and a decrease of $80,500,000 in imports, during the eight months. The encouraging feature is an increase of $93,000,000 in the favorable balance of trade which since March last has reached the considerable amount of $172,000,000.

GAS AND THE NEXT WAR

While General Pershing says that it is not probable that these dreadful weapons (gas bombs dropped from the air) would be used against the civilian population, it seems much more likely that nations engaged in a life and death struggle would use every resource they could command. One of the great objects of war these days, perhaps the greatest, is to break the morale of enemy peoples, and to shatter their nerves. The Berlin correspondent of the London Times, writing of the seagch of the military mission of control for hidden rifles, guns and ammunition in Germany, of which it has found considerable quantities, says that "the Germans are apparently thinking from a very different angle," their thought being almost wholly of chemical warfare. A manual has just been issued outlining "gas tactics in all its known forms." While the English accept General Pershing's doctrine that infantry will be the chief resource, the "chief military writers of Germany do not accept this view," but recognize, "the over-whelming part to be played by gas in the next war."

ORIENT CHALLENGES EUROPE

Passing through Paris on his way to attend a meeting of the League of Nations council at Rome, Secretary Chamberlain stopped off long enough to impart to Premier Herriot some of the British Govern ment's chief hopes and fears.

It may be said that Mr. Chamberlain spoke under pressure of recent events when he offered France a pact of security against Germany in exchange for French co-operation against bolshevism and the rising tide of nationalistic revolt in the near, middle and far east. None the less, the British foreign secretary's proposals indicate that England is prepared to reckon with the realities in a less easy-going and sentimental spirit that was in vogue under the late Labor government.

What the British statesman seems to have tried to impress on the French premier is the urgency of some of the outstanding problems which France and Britain are facing in common. Some of these problems is the ferment convulsing the Islamic world. The other arises out of the desperate bolshevik propaganda of which both France and Great Britain have just had convincing manifestations at home.

As for the menace of Islam, it can obviously be averted by a united front among Islam's European overlords, if at all. France and Britain, between them, hold sway over the bulk of the Mohammedan peoples. A fresh thrill of nationalist aspiration sweeps over Islam at every evidence of rivalry among its European masters. When Egypt struck out for independence, French sympathies went out to the insurgents. The personal squabble between French and British interests in Turkey was what enabled the Turks to reassert their national independence.

Wherever the imperial forces of Britain and France meet, from Morocco to Central Asia, from the Dardanelles to French Indo-China, there mutual competition and mutual weakening among the European rulers result. When one European power seeks increased "prestige" at the expense of another, neither gains permanently, because the effect on native populations is to lower western prestige as a whole, and, in pursuing their individual ambitions, the westerners frequently do not even realize that they are not serving their own cause as much as that of local nationalist and therefore hostile, political leaders.

In short, France and Britain can either hang together or must hang separately as far as their Oriental empires are concerned. The fact that Moscow is doing everything in its power to pit the Orient against westernism needs no emphasis. But Mr. Chamberlain, in bringing his message of warning to Paris, did stress the added complication. Whether M. Herriot heeds the warning remains to be seen. That London is eager to meet the challenge of common danger by joint action, however, is plain, and it is willing to pay the price for French co-operation by helping France to free its hands of the German peril, which to Paris is as real as is that of an Egypt or India to London.—Hamilton Spectator.

Press Opinions

FALSE SYMPATHY.

Detroit Free Press

Imperialism and militarism be "hard-boiled" enough, but seldom in recent years has it been called as flagrantly as in the fabled Italian and French symptoms of Egyptian nationalistic outbursts. Outcries against a British blood-and-iron policy in the Nile might be understandable were not Italy's policy in Tripoli and Abyssinia both bloody, and had not France so successfully established peaceful order on the foundations of material prosperity in her Tunisian, Algerian and Moroccan possessions only after a reign of ruthless repression.

ST. CATHARINES ADVICE

St. Catharines Standard

Hamilton clergymen are asking that action be taken against one Rocco Perri, the self-confessed bootlegger. Not having evidence with which a charge can be preferred, Magistrate Jelfs in Hamilton says that deportation is the proper procedure. This would be a mighty good method of disposing of the aliens who are punching themselves by breaking the law, and there would be no objection from any quarter to have everyone of this ilk skedaddled out of the country without ceremony or fuss.

HOME BANK PROBE

(Quebec cirgraph.)

The Home Bank probe will aid in allaying the smouldering revolutionary feelings of a large portion of Canada's population who are beginning to think that the indiscriminate and dishonest promoters and bank wreckers were immune from just punishment. Canada, for some years, has been a stamping ground for every description of unscrupulous company promoters. It is hoped that a lesson has been learned that our banks will refuse to render further financial assistance to this class and does its best to discourage in the country at large, but only the rich and the rest of the toilers, at the mercy of over-night millionaires. Through this process many flourishing corporations have foundered.

THE OUTLOOK FOR PURE BRED STOCK

(Farm and Dairy)

There are signs of a distinct revival of interest in the pure bred dairy cattle industry. Representative breeders of dairy cattle appear unanimous in the belief that there has been a distinct improvement in the demand for pure bred dairy cattle and that the outlook is promising. So numerous were the sales of pure bred stock at the Dairy Cattle Fair in Toronto, even although the attendance of farmers was not as large as it might have been, they indicated that breeders are confident that times are improving and that they are justified in strengthening their herds through the purchase and breeding of more pure bred animals.

To-day's Smile

Sam had been spending the evening with some friends and he was very happy as he ambled home in the moonlight at 1 a.m. Pausing to lo'k in a shop window he saw a dummy figur labelled "Reduced to five dollars."

"Poor old chap," said Sam sympathetically. "I've been reduced to that, meself before now."

Cornwall Satisfied

Cornwall, Dec. 18.—According to the report of Charles A. Loucks, Building Inspector for Cornwall, presented to the town council, the number of permits issued up to the time of the report was 94 for the present year, the total value of which was estimated at $190,475. About 45 small repair jobs were also made during the year. This would bring the total amount expended in building in the town proper to well over the $200,000 mark. Taking in the immediate suburbs, there were some 120 building permits issued during the present year. The big silk mill being erected just east of the town, for Courtaulds, Limited, which will employ 500 hands at the start, is one of the largest local construction undertakings of recent years. Altogether, the report was considered most satisfactorily by the members of the town council.

Fire at Napanee

Napanee, Dec. 18.—A few minutes before eleven o'clock Tuesday night an alarm of fire was sent in from the western portion of the town. The scene of the fire was a frame house on the east side of West street, owned by C. N. Chase, of the Fair Grocery.

By the time the firemen arrived the fire had reached such a great start that the major portion of the building was in flames and it seemed hopeless to expect any other result than a total loss. The fire seemed to have started in the rear of the house in the one storey addition used as a kitchen. Before the house could be attacked in the flybranch and streams of water played upon it and the rising building the kitchen roof was a mass of flames and the roof of the main portion was also burning.

Unfortunately the town does not own a motor fire truck to enable a quicker service.

Overseer Fired

At the final meeting of the council for the township of Kingston held on Monday afternoon at Calaracraf, the council rescinded the by-law which appointed Henry McIvor road overseer. During the summer months, Henry Graham on several occasions brought to the attention of the council the fact that Mr. McIvor was neglecting his duties. After hearing Mr. McIvor to remain in office during 1925, the council has now dispensed with his services.

Russian Refugees Are Organizing

Plan to Re-Establish Monarchy to Replace Present Soviet Rule

Paris, Dec. 18.—A Russian movement for the restoration of the monarchy in the person of Grand Duke Nicholas, one of the greatest Russian Generals is the word war, took positive form when a group here made public plans for "a Russian Nationalist Committee," a new organization.

This committee includes executive bodies in Berlin, Vienna, Prague, Paris and London, under the leadership of such men as General Baron Wrangel. The names included are the best and most respected in the ranks of the Russian refugees, and all are pledged to Nicholas for Czar of all the Russians.

The association comprises the union of Russian officers abroad, with 60,000 members, military refugees, numbering 40,000, chiefly in Servia, Poland and Bulgaria; a commercial, industrial and financial union of Russian refugees—comprising the bulk of exiled bourgeois, capitalists and merchants—and the Monarchist and Nationalist unions.

DON'T PACK VALISES YOUNG MEN TOLD

Hamilton, Dec. 18.—There is one thing you young Canadians must not do and that is pack your valises in times of trouble and fly off to some other country," said Col. C. R. McCullough, addressing the "21" Club at their regular meeting last night. "Canada has passed over the period of depression and good times are in store for her again.

"It should not be a question of how much can I get from Canada, but of how much can I give her. Your country will repay you in heaping measure for all the things you give her. She possesses in her own boundaries all she needs. She must be great for there is no "if" in her case."

WILL PAY TAXES AND RUN ONCE MORE

Kingston, Dec. 18.—Joseph Nase, who was elected as an alderman in St. Lawrence Ward and who was disqualified in action taken before Judge Lavell, as he had not paid taxes on his property stated yesterday afternoon that his taxes would be paid and that he would be a candidate in the by-election to be held.

1,000 Undelivered Letters Are Found

Irish Postman Hid Them in Bed and Around House

Belfast, Dec. 18.—More than 1,000 undelivered letters from all parts of the United Kingdom, including registered packets as well as ordinary mail, were found hidden in the home of Thomas S. Keady, a postman, who died here recently. Some of the letters were more than ten years old, and were found secreted in Keady's bed and in different parts of the house. All were uncovered, and will be delivered to the addressees indicated.

Officials are at a loss to explain Keady's action in holding the letters.

GERMANS CHEWING GUM AND LIKE IT

Berlin, Dec. 18.—The Germans have given American chewing gum a try out, and like it. The little five cent packages have become a familiar sight in Berlin, along with signs setting forth the merits of the goods. The packages retail here for about 20 cents and are on sale in barber shops, drug stores, department stores, cafes and from peddler's carts in the streets.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

His voice and manner, while he had been talking with the simple-minded provincial doctor, had been completely under control—quiet, calm, and easily sympathetic; but now, that he was alone he felt that his hands were shaking, and that his face was white.

"My dear—Spencer!" he murmured. "Steady—steady!" and he held out his hand out and repeated it critically. "Not shaking any trembling! Chance—or what we say Providence—has placed a great game in your hands and you must play it properly if you mean to win, and you do mean to win! Great Heaven, what a narrow escape! Great Heaven, what a narrow escape! Great Heaven, what a narrow escape! minute, another half-minute, and you would have been removed from this terrestrial sphere! And to think that he should have died just at the critical moment! If he is a special interposition! Let me think—now, steady, my dear fellow, steady! Jeffrey dead—thank Heaven!—no one but myself knows the secret of this girl's birth! The papers—" he took them from his pocket, and looked at them, and he may be stated, to his credit, that a shudder ran through him as he did so, for they still seemed warm by their contact with their dead owner—"from whom he had stolen them—yes, he was right. They are all here—proof incontrovertible, evidence that no one, not even the dear marquis, could refute! No one knows of their existence, but myself! And she is alone and friendless, you, Bridgelea, for my letter has done its work, and Cecil Nowville is too far off to write to! We must keep you in Ireland, dear Cecil, we cannot have you back! Interest on my business. No one knows that Doris Marlowe is the daughter of the Marquis of Hoyle, but me. Spencer, my dear fellow, you hold all the cards! play them carefully and properly, and you—" he flung the stump of his cigarette into the hedge, and smoothing his face into its usual bland expression, returned to the cottage.

The woman, the wife of the woodman, stood waiting for him.

"How is poor Miss Marlowe, Mrs. Jeff?" he said.

Mrs. Jeff dropped a curtsey.

"Ah, poor young thing, sir!" she said, wiping her eyes with her apron. "She's lying there, sir, quite worn out, and looking like a corpse herself! It don't seem as if she had strength to speak or move! I was thinking, sir, that we'd better send for her friend—"

"Not at present, I think, Mrs. Jeff," he said, gently. "I think she had better be left to herself for a while. I have promised the doctor to do all I can in my power—"

"Oh, sir, I know you've a kind heart,' murmured Mrs. Jeff.

"We must all do our simple best, Mrs. Jeff," he replied. Hitting up his eyes. "I happen to know something of the poor fellow who lies upstairs, and, for the sake of old times, you understand, and for the sake of the poor young lady——"

"And she such a sweet young thing!" said Mrs. Jeff, beginning to cry again.

"I will do my best for her. I am now going to the town, and I think, Mrs. Jeff, it would be as well, if any one inquires for Miss Marlowe, if you told them that she is not well enough to see anybody. And if there should be any letters, perhaps you will give them to me; I will keep them until poor Miss Marlowe is strong enough to see them. At such times as these, in moments of such deep sorrow as this, Mrs. Jeff, the human heart must not be harassed by contact with the outer world."

"No, indeed, sir," assented Mrs. Jeff, quite touched by such sympathetic considération. "I won't let any one see her, and she shan't be worried by anything. I'll keep them for her and I'll give you any letters."

"Thank you, I think it will be better," said Spencer Churchill. "Perhaps you might tell Miss Marlowe that a friend—you need not mention my name, you might say the doctor—has gone to the theatre and will make all arrangements. All she has to do is to try and remain quiet. Rest, rest, my dear Mrs. Jeff, is the great soother for the—er—tortured breast," and leaving this well-meaning piece of sentiment to do its work in honest Mrs. Jeff's mind, he went off to Barton.

It news travels apace, and the tidings of Jeffrey's sudden death had reached the theatre even before Spencer Churchill arrived there.

The excitement behind the manager was simply perfection.

"I came on the case, my dear sir," he said, "because I felt that you should be spared the shock—the painful shock—of calamity. I am fully sensible of the responsible position you occupy, and that your relations as a manager with the public entitle you to every consideration. Of course, Miss Marlowe will not act for some time—if ever she does—"

"Of course, of course!" said the manager, rather hastily. "Poor Jeffrey! An admirable man, sir; admirable! Might have been a star—certainly had but contented himself with presenting an ornament to the stage in his adopted daughter. A great genius Miss Marlowe, Mr. Churchill! Splendid! magnificent! A wonderful career before her! Of course, she can't be expected to act at present, certainly not; but in time—well—in time."

"We shall see," said Spencer Churchill, "in time, perhaps; but I cannot say. I am not authorized to speak for Miss Marlowe; but this I will say, that if she should resume her professional career, you—you will have the first claim upon her." And he shook the manager's hand in so emphatic and impressive a manner that the latter grew was quite touched.

Two hours afterward all Barton was placarded with the announcement that, in consequence of sudden domestic bereavement, Miss Doris Marlowe could not appear that evening, and, that in place of "Romeo and Juliet," would be performed the famous drama, "The Corsican Brothers."

Mr. Spencer Churchill was as good as his word. If he had been a near and dear relative of the bereaved girl, he could not more completely have taken the whole arrangements into his own hands. He saw to the funeral, examined the dead man's papers and effects, even carried his thoughtful consideration so far as to ask Mrs. Jeff to order mourning for Miss Marlowe and herself. In fact he did all that was necessary on such mournful occasions—all except one thing. By a strange oversight, Mr. Spencer Churchill omitted to send notice of the death to the newspapers, so that there was nothing to tell Lord Cecil Nowville away in Ireland, that the girl he loved had suddenly been left alone in the world!

Story Resolves Around Light Ray

"The Unknown Purple" is Mysterious and Thrilling; At Griffin

The photoplay version of one of the most thrilling of present-day mystery plays, "THE UNKNOWN PURPLE," is the chief attraction now at the Griffin Theatre. That play, by Roland West, who personally directed the motion picture adaptation, was a sensational success on the New York stage, where it played for a solid year and afterwards for two seasons on the road in all principal cities.

Its themes may truthfully be called unusual. It revolves about a ray of makes it possible for the one holding the ray, the "possessor of which is secret to become invisible to the human eye. What this ray is, and how which is now also in published form, Roland West offered it as nothing more than entertainment of a different type; nevertheless it may be considered from a scientific viewpoint, as being a prediction of what may eventually be the world's greatest discovery—a means to make solid objects invisible to the human eye.

When the submarine, the aeroplane, wireless telegraphy, the radio, were first predicted those who spoke of them were derided by all these things have come to pass. Is it not possible, therefore, that this or some succeeding generation may discover a force, the controlling of which will make it possible for a human being to become invisible? Author-Director Roland West has taken this premise for the basis for "THE UNKNOWN PURPLE" and woven around it a theme which is gripping and thrilling in the extreme. Associated with him are Henry B. Walthall, Alice Lake, Stuart Holmes, Helen Ferguson, Fritzi Gray Jerry James, Morrison, Richard Wayne, Brinsley Shaw, Johnny Arthur, little Frankie Lee and Pete Conklin.

Johnny Arthur, who is responsible for the laughs that have been in reliev the dramatic tenseness which is making audiences grip the arms of their seats during the showing of "THE UNKNOWN PURPLE," which is now current at the Theatre, has been placed under a six-year contract by Roland West, author-director of this adaptation of his sensational stage play. Mr. Arthur will appear in everything author West writes during that period and it is expected he will soon be featured as a comedian by West-First Productions for whom Roland West produces and directs.

Svlvia Ashton, the emperor in "Merry-Go-Round," are also in the cast.

Clarence L. Brown, director of several recent successes, directed the picture, utilizing the services of Charles F. urthur, cameraman, and Milton Bridenbecker of Chicago, who perfected every aspect of law, and accurate court room atmosphere, as well as an aid for Mcmanyer.

Mcmanyer went over every situation carefully with the legal expert because his role is one of the biggest in the picture. He even spent his spare time wandering through books on legal procedure so that he would not be at a loss in any one of his difficult situations.

Mariners Suffer In Bitter Cold

Little Fish Tug Lashed Unmercifully By a Mighty Gale

Buffalo, Dec. 18—Captain H. W. Hemke, Cleveland, captain of the fish tug tug Helene, and his crew of six Dunkirk men, are recovering here from the suffering and exhaustion suffered while out on Lake Erie. They rode out a terrific gale at anchor some ten miles off shore from Friday night until early Sunday morning, when they were blown on the beach near Angola, 30 miles from this city.

Hemke, who says he had almost two years' experience flying in France, declares the tossing and pitching of the fish tug in the gale that whipped shallow Lake Erie, was worse than anything he had ever experienced in the air.

It was shortly after 4 a.m. that Captain Daly, of the coast guards in Buffalo, received the call from the Helene's men who were on the beach at Angola, beg ked for help. Captain Daly loaded his crew and a beach gun on a motor truck and drove out the lake shore road to Angola, where he found all the men had been landed safely from the stranded vessel and were being cared for in nearby farm houses. The coast guards helped secure the vessel and later in the morning motored the wrecked men to the trolley station and shipped them to Dunkirk.

When the Helene left Dunkirk on Thursday morning it had abroad two days' supplies of food in canned goods. Even after running out of fuel in the afternoon they were certain of rescue that night or early the next day and ate heartily the entire supply of food that night, but were obliged to subsist entirely on a diet of fish for the next two days and nights. They broke up wooden fish boxes for wood and cooker the fish in lard on the stove.

While adrift in the lake the men suffered no privation except the inevitable smokers, who confessed later to Captain Daly's men that they had tried smoking paper.

None of the brave men was able to get much sleep during the 70 hours they were adrift. Captain Hemke stayed at her wheel the entire time.

FINISH WELLAND CANAL IN 3 YEARS

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 18—Work on sections 1 and 2 of the Welland ship canal has been pretty well closed down on account of the wintry weather. Section No. 1 is just about completed and the finishing touches will be put to the Port Weller harbor next year. The great piers run a mile and a half out into Lake Ontario, and it is one of the largest artificial harbors in the world. Rock blasting on other sections of the canal will continue all winter, but all other work will be stopped practically, contractors say. It is hoped to finish the canal in about three years.

Superintendent L. D. Hara of the Welland Canal, who is getting his report for the year ready, states that this has been the biggest year in the canal's history.

"We carried more grain, principally wheat, this year than any previous year," said Mr. Hara. The canal also had a good year as regards accidents, there being not many tie-ups for that reason.

SPENT WEEK-ENDS ON HOLD-UP JOBS

New York, Dec. 18—Although he admitted being the leader or "gun" of a hold-up gang which has terrorized Brooklyn shopkeepers for months, J. Zacawitch said in Jamaica court that he is only a part-time bandit.

His profession the prisoner told the court shortly before he was held in $2,000 bail with Anthony Gardino for the grand jury, is that of a soldier. At Madison Barracks, Sackett's Harbor, he is known as Corporal Zacawitch of the Seventh Field Artillery, U.S.A., and at present is listed "absent without leave." During the past year according to his story in court Zacawitch has obtained twelve week-end furloughs from his army post. Each time, he said, he has come to Brooklyn and generally on Monday in which his "mob" cleaned out a store. He kept a furnished room here, he said, for division of the spoils after each foray.

BROKEN PRESS DID CONSIDERABLE HARM

Woodstock, Dec. 18.—The breaking of a press at the Harvey Knitting Company's plant caused a considerable amount of damage to stock by water and necessitating the closing down of part of the factory until the damage can be repaired.

When the press broke a rush of steam followed and Dorothy Reynolds who was operating the machine, was burned about the shoulders, but not seriously. A piece of the press struck the sprinkler system, smashing it, and allowing the water to rush out, soaking the goods. Outside of the spoiling of a considerable amount of goods and the injuries to Miss Reynolds, little damage was done, and the plant resumed operations.

MAYOR MIKEL WOULD BANISH KU-KLUX KLAN

Bo Far as Canada is Concerned, Organization Not Needed

ORANGEMEN ENOUGH

Klan Not British in Principle True Blues Told

Speaking before the Loyal True Blues of Belleville at a social evening held last night in their lodge rooms, Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., expressed his disapproval of the Ku Klux Klan in Canada.

Not attempting to dictate to the people of the United States, as he felt that it was their affair if they thought they needed such an organization, Mayor Mikel stated that the Klan was not British in its origin.

"As far as we can judge," he asserted, "it is not British in principle, because we are told it attempts to take the administration of justice out of the hands of the law, and arrogate unto itself those powers and deems offenders. "We are also told that it interferes with the rights of persons in the practice of their religion, which is contrary to British principles, and also contrary to the principles of Canadians.

Belleville's first Magistrate feels that the Ku Klux Klan is unnecessary in Canada.

Referring historically of the Orange Order, he pointed out that the order was started in 1795, when its principles emphasized the brotherhood of an intolerant spirit. Even yet it admits no person into its brotherhood, who is not well known to be incapable of persecuting or prejudicing anyone on account of his religious opinions. It is primarily there were to aid and assist all loyal subjects of our sovereign in persuasion, by protecting them from violence and oppression; and they are practically the same to-day.

Open to All

"The principles and the constitution of the Order are open for all the world to see," continued. "There are not hidden behind masks or shrouds, and it is the interests of Orangemen and all classes to discourage the introduction of the K.K. K. in Canada."

Mayor Mikel believes that there are too many existing organizations now, and that if we had one big one anyway, and the sole object of which organization was the welfare of all, it was to help improve Belleville to be the principal object of all the organizations in the City was to help Belleville, we would certainly get better results.

"Every organization in the City can help Belleville by helping to make the celebration next August of the 110th anniversary of the peaceful boundary ends and the United States the biggest celebration ever held in Canada," he concluded.

The event which was attended by members of the True Blue Lodge with their families, was very successful. Refreshments were served.

Find Frozen Body Ot Ernie Elvish

Lad Who Became Lost Hunting For Christmas Trees

Port William, Dec. 19.—Responding to Mayor Edmonston's appeal to the citizens of Port William, to help in finding Ernie Elvish, over 200 men and boys assembled under the leadership of City Engineer Symes at 9 o'clock yesterday morning for the most thorough search of the area where the 15½-year-old boy perished in a wild snowstorm on Saturday last.

Penetrating the area near the power line about 2 miles from the Davidson & Smith's elevator at 4.10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a party of searchers found the boy's body, half hidden by a mantle of snow.

The report of the discovery was flashed to the headquarters in a few minutes later, and was followed by the calling off of the line of men by the Park Chief. The flag at the municipal hall of the City Hall was lowered to half-mast.

The distance from the spot where the child's body was found to the place where he and Jackie Saunders separated last Monday evening is near by a mile, indicating that the child had wandered all the week at his last, unable to face the storm. Hunters in the area have been constantly passing by signals and are returning to the city. More than 1,500 men are said were engaged in yesterday afternoon's unsuccessful hunt.

The finding of the body brings to a close the days of child grief that have been lost since Monday evening, when the child was reported missing.

Anxiety on the mother and father of Ernie Elvish, there is no other who feels the kind hand more keenly than Ernie's young friend and companion on the hunt for a Christmas tree on the fatal Monday evening.

REPORT FATALITY WAS AN ACCIDENT

Jury Attach No Blame to Car Driver at Foxboro

Accidental death was the verdict of Coroner W. W. Boyce's jury at Goodrich Hall, Foxboro, last night, following the inquest into the death of the late Mrs. Amelia Tiverson, aged 70, who died at the home of her son George, at Lot 24, concession 4 Sidney township, one half hour after having been injured on the highway about 5.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon last.

Two men interviewed with Dr. Ward of Foxboro, the attending physician and Ernest Mott, of Foxboro, testified under examination by County Attorney B. C. Gonnason. The inquest was arranged by Provincial Constable S. Elliott.

The woman was receiving groceries from a truck owned by Mert Scobell, Foxboro merchant, which was in charge of Ernest Mott. The two were standing on an incline and suddenly commenced to back down.

The verdict states that Mrs. Tiverson came to her death from injuries received when she was struck by a motor car which had been standing on the road way, but which backed up.

BELGIAN ARMY TO BE 82,500 STRONG

Brussels, Dec. 19—A bill fixing the effective strength of the army for 1925 at 82,500 men was passed by the Chamber of Deputies last evening by 91 votes against 56, with six abstentions. The Socialists voted against the measure on the ground that the Government has not kept their confidence.

M. Vandervelde, on behalf of the Socialists, said: "We do not recognize the necessities of national defence. We are certainly internationalist and anti-militarist, and we hate war, but we recognize that a nation must have a military defence force."

He recognized Belgium's guarantee of security had got no further than mere hopes.

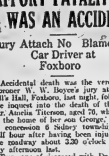

MOONSHINERS FLED THROUGH TRAP DOOR

Windsor, Dec. 19—Smashing their way through the window after the occupants had fled down a trap-door in the floor, Royal Mounted Police, under Sergeant A. Birthwhistle, can-tured a complete moonshining outfit, which they found in full blast at La Salle yesterday afternoon. The raid netted a large quantity of mash, fermenting and machinery for manufacture of spurious liquor.

Two men police apprehended, Albert and Leo Gignac, alleged to have been working inside the plant, leaped through the trap-door, but were caught outside the Munities, who anticipated such a move, capturing them both. Constable Weeks received several bruises about the arms and head before he broken in a window after entrance had been refused.

Police say the still, located near the Sunnyside Hotel, a short distance from the river, is one of the largest and most complete of its kind ever taken in Western Ontario.

This is one of the 25 birds belonging to the Toronto Roller Canary Club, which delighted fans throughout the continent over the radio the other night.

PROPOSED NEW OBSERVATORY FOR VARSITY

The above is an architect's drawing of the new facade of the proposed astronomical observatory to be erected by the University of Toronto, when funds permit. It will be situated in the ten acre park which has been donated by the Government for this purpose, the park being on the east side of Bathurst street, midway between St. Clair and Eglinton avenues.

SCHOOL'S OUT IS SLOGAN TO-DAY

Scholars Do Not Go Back Until January 5th

To-day is the last school day in Belleville during 1924. High and Public schools close this evening at four o'clock and will re-open Monday morning, January 5th, 1925.

Teachers and students doubtless greet the Christmas vacation period with open arms after the hard first term grind of the school year.

Christmas festivities which always cause more work for teacher and student, have been successfully held and everything is ready for the party and festive and holiday season, during which time, it will be unsafe to even mention the word of two letters starting with "s" and ending with "e".

Came Near Death Down The Quinte

Aged Lighthouse Keeper Fought Off Fate of the Frozen

Kingston, Dec. 19.—Anthony Tyron, 76-year-old lighthouse-keeper of the Timber Island light, had a narrow escape in at 153 Sydenham street, Kingston, from death by freezing, perishing through exposure during Monday afternoon and night, when he became stranded on the lower island of the Three Brothers, which are situated in the Bay of Quinte lower gap between the extreme south end of Amherst Island and the mainland.

Monday was the last day for duck-shooting, and he was trying his luck on the Lower Brother before going home. He rowed there in his boat and walked to the north-west end, but put out his decoys. On his return he found that the wind had changed and that the ice on the water on the south swell of the lake had carried his boat away.

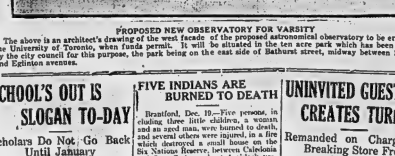

Mr. Tyron fired shots at intervals until he judged that all people within hearing had gone to bed. He also lighted a small fire to attract attention. All through the night he fought the cold and the wind. Instead of trying to sleep without shelter in such weather meant death, he walked up and down a runway and, in spite of his advanced years, kept the water at bay until he would then rest only until he could continue again. He kept this up all night and in the morning the wind had completely exhausted.

The coastguard steamer, under Captain Sodda, providentially passed the Brothers in the morning, and Mr. Tyron succeeded in attracting attention. A small boat was sent to take him off.

Governor of Bank of France Refuses To Make His Job a Paying Position

(Associated Press Despatch)

The minister of finance recently declared this about Mr. Rist, Governor of the bank, and all the deputies applauded.

UNINVITED GUEST CREATES TURMOIL

Remanded on Charge of Breaking Store Front Windows

Charged with being drunk in a public place, and also with wilfully breaking three costly plate glass windows by night, a local young man was in police court yesterday morning when he was fined $25 and costs of $9.00 or three months on the first charge, and the second charge, which is a serious one, was enlarged until Tuesday, December 23rd, in order to allow accused to secure witness and counsel.

Given time by police in which to raise a $20 fine, the penalty imposed for the car driving in 1922, accused never paid the fine and was consequently in the county jail yesterday also. He must also settle this fine immediately.

He served three months here for being implicated in the sale of liquor to Toronto soldiers during the United Empire Loyalist celebration.

Accused returned to the city about midnight last night, intoxicated, and is said to have become drunk at once. Knowing a house party was being held at the home of J. Young, corner Coleman and West Moira streets, he is said to have entered the latter place and was subsequently ejected by guests.

He then kicked in two plate glass windows in the store front of the Young home, witnesses say, and smashed the two lights of glass in the store door. The plate glass windows are valued at $125.

The youth might have escaped had John Penny, 302 Coleman street, who is a grocery on adjoining corner of Coleman and Moira streets, not come out and, after a struggle, pinned him to the ground. In the meantime others who congregated, called the police call, and P. C. Dave Morris who hurried to the scene of battle, arrested the man and locked him up.

Apart from a large "bump" for the assailant, accused appears none the worse for having so ably played the role of the "uninvited guest."

FREEMAN'S JOURNAL GIVES UP GHOST

Dublin, Dec. 19.—The Freeman's Journal announces that to-day's issue will be the last. The paper was founded in 1763.

The Freeman's Journal, always famous for its defence of the Irish Nationalist cause, during Parnell's time, was established as a daily paper by a committee of Irish merchants and "United Irishmen" in 1763, and its first editor was Dr. Charles Lucas, a noted physician and politician. Flood and Grattan were among its most prominent early contributors.

Both during the Anglo-Irish conflict and later in the contest between the Free State Government and the Republican forces the paper has on occasion come out openly against the use of force to attain its political ends.

The plant of Freeman's Journal was burned during the Irish civil war in 1916 the British authorities suppressed it for three months. A contemporary in 1920 sentenced its two proprietors to eighteen months' imprisonment and fined them £1,000.

Both times it rebuilt the plant and set the building on fire on March 30, 1922. A recent issue of the Irish Weekly London Daily Express, mentioned the possibility of suspension of The Freeman's Journal to the Republicans, with Count Plunkett Barrett and May MacSwiney in control.

Presentation Made To Thurlow Folk

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lloyd Leave 8th Concession

On the evening of Saturday, Dec. 13th, some sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. Thomas Lloyd, 8th Concession of Thurlow, to say farewell to the family. Mr. Lloyd has been employed at Canada Factory for ten years, and his removal to Belleville is of general regret.

At 8.30 the gathering was called to order by Mr. Thomas Wallbridge, and Rev. R. G. Thompson was called upon to read the following address, which was read by Miss Lloyd and Vera:—

"On this, the eve of your departure from among us, we feel that a word of faithful service in various ways, we as a community, have received from you, worth the appreciation of your neighbors.

"You have always been to the fore front in needful charity and sympathy has been practically shown at all times. Your help in church matters has been unfailingly loyal to your classes, together with Mrs. Lloyd, as a teacher and choir member organist have been much appreciated. Mr. Lloyd, also as a local preacher, spoke in Zion factory for several years, and has been a faithful and willing worker of the patrons, and in whatever business or pleasure you have taken part in them every success.

"We also wish every success in her preparation for her life-work at school.

"As you leave this place may it lead to God and the church of your choice in your new home.

"We can look upon these gifts from time to time, may they be a token to remember us by, many true friends you have made in the community of Thurlow and Sidney.

Signed, B. Bayers and Mrs. Bayers.

Mr. Lloyd briefly thanked the friends. Mrs. Lloyd and Vera also spoke their appreciation. Readings were given by from several of those present, and all spoke very highly of the neighbors the family had made to the church and the community at large. The friend of the young people favoured with music and the with refreshments brought the evening to a close.

Anti-Canadian Talk In Old Country

Is Apparently Organized effort to Discourage Immigration

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—Anti-Canadian propaganda of still being carried on throughout the British Isles, without any serious attempt to counteract it, according to M. J. O'Brien, Dominion organizer of the British Immigration and Colonization association, who passed through here yesterday.

"I was very surprised," Mr. O'Brien declared, "when I visited the British Isles last summer, to find that the papers throughout the country were printing letters purporting to come from dissatisfied harvesters, who came to Canada last year. I then made a point of investigating these letters and came to the conclusion that a large proportion of them emanated from one individual, and there is no doubt in my mind but that there has been a specially organized campaign against emigration to Canada."

Referring to further investigation conducted by himself, Mr. O'Brien stated that he had interviewed several of the leading newspaper owners in England and Scotland, and asked them why they gave prominence to only one side of the case. Their reply was that no challenge had been received to the letters printed but assurance was given that the columns of the various journals were open and any genuine letters of contradiction would be gladly received.

With the view to collecting such data, Mr. O'Brien has just concluded a tour of Western Canada.

"I shall be able to go to England next year with irrefutable testimony in the form of letters and signed documents from harvesters who came over here last year and who made good. These will be published in newspapers throughout the length and breadth of Great Britain and should do a great deal to stimulate a live emigration to the Dominion in 1925.

Letters To The Editor

JUST GIVING FACTS

Sirs:

A letter appearing in the public press recently over the signature of Mr. Arcus McLean, president of the Holyrood Dealers' Association, contains the following:

"The picture painted by Mr. Barnjum would be a sorry one were it entirely true. Fortunately it is only extra ly true. Fortunately it is only extra ly the truth and he either wilfully or unknowingly keeps back part of the story that needs to be told in order to make the picture complete."

It is a source of wonder to me that Mr. McLean should have drawn attention to the fact that I have "kept back part of the story" as regards forestation in Canada. I may say however, that my under-statements have been deliberate. I did not want to cause either a forest or a financial panic in Canada, both of which might easily follow a complete revelation of the actual facts. Possibly Mr. McLean has arrived at the conclusion that three results are inevitable in any event and that they might as well come now as later. If that is the case I am more than ha'f inclined to agree with him.

Mr. McLean's suggestion that a certain restriction on the exportation of privately-owned pulpwood would constitute an interference with "vested rights" is probably sound so far as it goes. What I am concerned with is preserving the vested rights of the people of Canada. If, in doing this individual rights are interfered with there are ample means and plenty of precedents for providing proper compensation, as a matter of fact, how ever, as I have repeatedly shown, embargo on the exportation of raw pulpwood would redound to the advantage of the Canadian owners by their settlers or otherwise, as well as those of immeasurable advantage to the people of Canada as a whole that would benefit necessarily the pulp wood lumbers and dealers who now bring a ready sale to the devastation of Canada's fast-dwindling wood re sources. An embargo would put a stop with competition in the purchase of standing wood, no matter what may be said to the contrary on the matter would find a demand for his wood and a market price equal to the best in the country.

The situation hence lies as be the American Pulpwood Association which has for its object the protection of the intelligence and self respect of all genuine Canadians. With the increasing anti-Canadian feeling among Canadian school children, and the ridiculous light in which Canadians are held in the United States, as shown by the recent Canadian school exhibit, it is high time that something was done to counteract this propaganda. Such, from the practical standpoint, is the only way to deal with the matter and the sentimental aspect of it must not be overlooked in connection in the settlement and a forest policy as a safeguard. Even now Congress is considering legislation to bar an embargo on Canadian cities destroying to enter United States beyond a certain limited "quota" and no one save there supports Canada might retaliate.

The attitude of the American people towards the proposed embargo on semi-manufactured wood I saw in a position to know first-hand; Will Canada apply it, I know not. They can yet that we haven't had some enough to apply it long ago.

If the Canadian people care determined to cut their last tree they should at least be allowed to derive the full benefit of their own devastation through the manufacture on Canadian soil by Canadian people.

Frank J. D. Barnjum.

Montreal, December 11th, 1924.

PLAN TO BRING 3,000 FROM DEVON

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—Plans for the settlement in Western Canada of 3,000 families from Devonshire, England are now being made, according to John Passmore, of Barnstaple, Devon, England, who recently passed through Winnipeg. This movement, he intimated would be launched next spring.

"The whole matter of this "Devonshire immigration" is being managed by W. R. Park of Exeter, who spent several months in Western Canada this year under the auspices of the Canadian National Railways," said the latter. Continuing, he pointed out that arrangements were being made to bring out altogether 3,000 families and negotiations for the transportation of a large contingent next spring have been opened with the Imperial and Canadian governments. The severity of the newcomers will be skilled agriculturists, they will be carefully selected and each family will receive a advance of 300 pounds, under the Empire Settlement Act, this amount being repayable in 31 years at 5 per cent. interest.

Many of the families, Mr. Passmore declared would settle in Alberta, although he believed that there was a possibility of a certain number being forced on the abandoned farms of the Oldiers' Settlement Board.

Missionary's Wife On Perilous Trip

Sixty Years of Age, She Hikes Some 42 Miles

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—Over ice-bound wastes, through partly frozen muskeg, skirting dense bush and fording over unsafe ice, Mrs. Gaudin, wife of Rev. E. D. Gaudin, Methodist missionary of Norway House, recently made a 42-mile journey to help sick members of the Manitobo Northland. Although Mrs. Gaudin is 60-years old, she made the trip in a day and a half.

Unable to secure the services of another nurse to take her place, Mrs. Gaudin decided to make the long journey into the wilderness herself.

Accompanied by two Indians, hauling a jumper containing the camp equipment and supplies, she set out from Norway House on foot. The party was unable to use dogs as the rivers and lakes were only thinly covered with ice, and travel over these trails was yet unsafe.

Word was sent back to Norway House that Mrs. Gaudin had suffered no ill effects from the difficult trek. She remained in the distant North until last week among the Cree Indians was filled.

During the 'flu epidemic a few years ago, Mrs. Gaudin travelled many miles by dog team, dog sled or bateau canoe along the trail and ministering to the needs of her charges.

Eleven years at Nelson House, some 400 miles north of Winnipeg, 18 years at Cross Lake, 60 miles north of Norway House; and two years at Norway House, is Mrs. Gaudin's record record in the Canadian Northland. Her husband as missionary in that part of Manitoba, has completed his 34th year among the Indians.

DRIVER FINED $400; HE CARRIED LIQUOR

Oshawa, Dec. 12.—Owing to his bad record which contained a number of various convictions, Charles Wannamaker, a taxi driver of this city was fined $400 and $11.20 costs by Magistrate A. F. Hind in police court Thursday morning. Wannamaker pleaded guilty to having liquor in his car. He was found by the police in his car. He pleaded guilty at this time, but D.A.J. Swanson appeared for him and stated that under the circumstances he could only take the court's judgment. Magistrate Hind also accused him of misleading his counsel inasmuch as he did not inform him of previous conviction. "It is not a very good record," said the magistrate, "and I am going to impose a fine which will make you realize the seriousness of the offence."

In default of the fine, Wannamaker will serve six months in jail.

PREMIER WEEPS WHEN CASTING VOTE

Victoria, Dec. 12.—Hon. John Oliver, fighting premier of British Columbia, wept in the legislature. Tears rolled down the face of the stout bearded premier when he cast his vote in favor of the sale of beer in the province.

It was the first time, he said, he had ever voted for liquor in any form in his life and it was the most reluctant vote he had ever cast. But he felt he must abide by the mandate of the voters of the province, who had favored the local option principle. The motion was before the house as an amendment to the government's beer act and the vote against it was for the sale of beer arrangement as defeated, the premier saying that the issue might as well be dealt with now as a year hence, for delay would result in the house being bowaged by beer advocates for another year.

LESLIE VERNON HAYWARD

At the family residence 11 Everett St., on Thursday afternoon, a service was held for the late "Little Darling" Leslie Vernon Hayward. Rev. Clarke, of Christ Church conducted the service which was so inspiring and comforting telling how Leslie at the hospital Saturday evening had called his mother back and asked that Grace, his little sister should not come to see him Sunday afternoon, as she would lose her Sunday School Pin. Just one wonderful tribute of his unselfish character.

Miss LaVoie playing his favorite hymn "Jesus Loves Me."

The bearers were four school friends. Interment at Belleville Cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful.

The students of the training college at Cairo, Egypt, in protest against the transfer of the Egyptian headmaster by the Under-Secretary of Education, carried out a demonstration by booing the English professors and refusing to answer questions. The under-Secretary dismissed 50 of the students whom it was intimated that the English professors would resign unless the ringleaders in the demonstrations were arrested and an apology was made to them.

Gambling Rooms Visited By Thugs

Two Young Men Collected $5,800 at Toronto and Hamilton

Toronto, Dec. 19—To walk into a downtown "resort" known to a select number as a gambling house, hold-up 18 men, then to motor to Hamilton, Ont., and re-act the same scene over again, were the feats of two young men, and netted them some $5,200 and a number of diamond stick pins, during the past week-end. No reports were made to the local police concerning the loss of money or diamonds, as far as can be learned.

According to the story which leaked out, a young man, about 25 years of age, well groomed, and dressed in the height of fashion called at the "resort" last Friday night. He didn't know the necessary password and was refused admission. On stating that he had been brought to the club on a previous occasion by a friend, he was asked to produce his friend and promised to do so on the following night.

And he kept his promise. About the same hour on Saturday night he again presented himself with another young man, dressed as well as himself, and asked for admission. This time the doorkeeper had no more than time to show himself when he found that he was looking down the barrel of an automatic revolver. This was sufficient to stop him from giving an alarm, and he was herded into the large room.

Lined Men Up

Entering the place the two young men in quiet and matter of fact tones, ordered the eighteen men within the building to line up facing the wall with their hands outstretched. While one of the hold-up men kept two guns trained on the backs of the men, the second "frisked" each of them, and cleaned off the tables. In all they got about $1,300, and a quantity of jewelry. Of this, jewelry such as watches, fobs, chains, etc., everything that was sold only was returned to the owners, but articles that contained stones were retained. The frisking did not take more than ten minutes, and by this time they were not disturbed.

With the small following warning that no harm would befall the men if they remained as they were for the next ten minutes the two daring young men took their departure making good their escape in an automobile.

Repeated in Hamilton

On Sunday word reached Toronto through the usual channels known to a select few, that a "resort" in Hamilton of much the same type as the one held up here, only run on a larger scale, was raided by two well-dressed young men with automatics, and the players and bank were relieved of approximately $4,000, plus some diamond pins. As before all that was simply gold was returned to the respective owners.

The only untoward incident to occur in the Toronto hold-up was the turning sick of one of the men held up, although he was handled very carefully by the man who did the frisking. When asked to be allowed to lie down, the hold-up thug brought one of the couch from a rack nearby and even made the man comfortable before leaving, passing the remark that always some unexpected thing had to occur to waste time.

Same Methods

The method used in Toronto and Hamilton leads to the belief that the same young men pulled off both hold ups. In taking the Hamiltonians money they passed the remark that they found Hamilton men were far greater sports and better game than those in Toronto.

These two hold-ups recall another case in which exactly the same methods were used, recently in Toronto. At that time only money and a diamond stick-pin were taken.

ITALIAN LABORER IS CAUGHT IN TUNNEL

Toronto, Dec. 19—At the "blind" heading of tunnel 250 feet long and only four feet high, and 31 feet below the surface commonly risked their own lives here yesterday, in a vain effort to save the life of Vincent Roberto, an Italian laborer.

Caught when sand caved in, all the rescuers could see of him was the rubber boots that encased his legs. For three and a half hours they toiled, but the sand poured in and kept him completely covered. Finally, however, a hole was scived to be sealed to the surface. Others were helped to carry on by the use of stimulants

At twenty minutes to one the word was passed around that Roberto had been liberated. Covered with sacks, the body was swung up through the shaft mouth on the carrier used for loading bricks and lifted by a rope. One hasty glance was enough to convince the physician waiting with the Speers' ambulance that the man was dead.

The frock you can make in thirty minutes will be a masterpiece if the time spent is thirty minutes a day until the dress is finished.

Many women think they haven't time to make their own clothes. Perhaps they are in business or are tied down by the still busier life of the mother and the home wife. But if you take half an hour each morning, you have an idea how many smart things you can make and how much you'll enjoy making them. Don't hurry, and don't sew until you're tired and make mistakes. If you want to a French dressmaker, she would take at least two weeks to make your dress. In less time than that you can make a side-closing coat dress of wool rep or soft velvet, bordered or trimmed with galon or with buttons a Remember, "Easy does it."

Added Mysteries In Small Case

Maid Who Gave Pertinent Information Disappears From Asylum

Toronto, Dec. 19—Yet another disappearance in the Small case is reported. Miss Florence and Miss Gertrude Small have been informed by Queen's Park official that Catharine Dunn, maid in the home of Percy Scott Sullivan, K.C., missing inmate of the Hospital for the Insane, was at one time considered important information by the police and Attorney-General William Finlay Nickle.

This information was not volunteered by the sisters. At last, in a position financially to themselves prosecute the search for those responsible for their brother's disappearance, they came into possession of information which, they say, was given to the police by the maid herself. This information was not volunteered by the sisters. At last, in a position financially to themselves prosecute the search for those responsible for their brother's disappearance, they came into possession of information which, they say, was given to the police by the maid herself.

Some time ago sought permission to interview Miss Dunn at Whitby. To this end Patrick Sullivan, a friend of the sisters, who had been closely connected with the inquiry, wrote for the necessary permission. Word came in reply from the Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, the Minister himself. Sullivan wrote to that official. Still no reply was vouchsafed. Yesterday a friend loaned Inspector Dunlop a letter from the matter that Mr. Sullivan wrote, or the letter he received by the same time, and yet it was necessary to say has the matter would be taken to the Premier himself before we got any satisfaction. Everyone knows Mr. Sullivan at the address he gave—all his mail goes there; and we have been living at our present home for some time. The fact that the former owner's name appears in the directory proves nothing, and such an excuse seems childish."

Interferes With Plans

The Minister said that according to themselves interrogating the Dunn woman on certain aspects of the case which they felt was fully gone into.

The sisters, it will be remembered when they finally received the money ordered to be paid into court from the Small estate, proceeded to Kingston, where Jack Doughty was interviewed, and plans are now under way for further excavation on the bonfire ground, which has not been properly dug, according to those most closely in touch with the case. Other plans for further activity are also said to be under way.

Mrs. Dunn's Story

In an interview at the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Whitby on April 2, 1922, Miss Dunn recounted the events on the night of December 2, 1910, at the Small residence, Glen road Small had been expected home for dinner, the hour being set by Mrs. Small at 6.30 o'clock, and Miss Dunn had waited instructions to serve dinner. Small did not arrive, and Mrs. Small had proceeded downstairs inquiring if he had come. Around 7 o'clock, Miss Dunn recounted, Mrs. Small telephoned to a number of places, including the theatre, and later left the house without taking dinner leaving instructions that dinner be held until nine o'clock.

At intervals of half-an-hour Mrs. Small had telephoned the house to inquire if her husband had arrived

Saw Door Open

Miss Dunn told in the interview that she had waited up until eleven o'clock when she was told to retire, being informed that Mr. Small had likely gone to Hamilton on business. Next morning Mrs. Small had informed her that she had sat up all night in the library and expected that there had been some accident, and Mr. Small might have been carried in any minute.

The first thing I noticed on the Wednesday," Miss Dunn said, "was that the door to Mr. Small's room was open and his bed untouched. Mrs. Small did not appear to pay much attention when I told her I had found Mr. Small's watch. The watch had never been left there before."

Doughty's Visit

Regarding Doughty's visit in the Small residence Miss Dunn related: "Mrs. Small around Christmas time of that year, telephoned to Doughty's sister requesting Doughty to be asked to see Mrs. Small. Doughty first went to Small's house on a Saturday evening, the 26th, around 8 p.m., when Mrs. Small was not at home. Doughty left his name and asked to have Mrs. Small informed of the visit. Again on the following Monday at 10 a.m., Doughty arrived at the back door of the house, this being due to the bell being out of order. Doughty was shown into the drawing room and remained there with Mrs. Small for about an hour. That is the day I think Doughty disappeared."

Admitted To Institution

Miss Dunn had remained in the Small home until the following October, when owing to recurrence of mental disorder, she was forced to leave, and a month or so later, was admitted to the Whitby institution, having been placed there by relatives.

OSHAWA BALL CLUB ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Oshawa, Dec. 18—A very large and enthusiastic meeting of baseball fans was held on Tuesday night at the Y.M.C.A. A number of matters in connection with the forthcoming season were discussed and officers of the Baseball Club were elected.

Some very interesting reports were received regarding baseball players who are booked in the league at present.

The following are the officers for the Baseball Club for 1925:

Hon. Pres.—Chas. Anderson. E. Parker.

Pres.—Fred Bailey.
Vice-Pres.—Roy Meinzoch.
Secretary—Ernest Marfkay
Treas.—George Edmunds.
Council—C. F. Davis, S. Everson, Sam Trick.

Belleville Fans Becoming Curious

Wonder Why Regulars Are Slow in Trotting Out

Belleville Intermediates continue to practice even night at the Arena and the new ice is fast becoming an excellent interest displayed on the part of many of the players. Bill Green and Sunny Frechette are about the only pair of regulars who take the situation seriously. Weir, Hagerman, Whalen and Nurse have not yet appeared. Frank Geyer has been out once.

The season opens here on December 30th one week from Tuesday. How far advanced will Belleville intermediates be on that date, and what showing will they make against the usual strong team from Brockville?

With Nurse between the posts, Bill Green and Bill Blake on the defense, Weir, Hagerman, Hough, Whalen and Frechette on the line and relief, Belleville would round out a team which could trim Brockville anywhere unless they have greatly strengthened since last season.

Are these boys turning out this season and is Belleville going to have a team? The fans are becoming anxious.

Belleville will likely be stronger than Brockville. Nurse, will likely be the regular net-guardian of the team with Green, Blake and Geyer on hand for defence work. Hagerman, Weir and Whalen will make the forward line, thus giving Belleville a strong, if not impressive, lineup. Three or four juniors are to be developed, but as in years past, the work will fall on the old guard.

On the other hand Brockville will trot out several new comers. Of last year's team Holway, Saundercock, Miller, Christopher and Krein will be on deck, while others to turn out with be intermediates will be Quinn, Conway, Laine, Laurie, Higgins, Woods, Hoare, Sheridan, Walsh and Healey.

Kingston will therefore have the edge on last year's team, and with artificial ice giving them plenty of practice, should be in the pink of condition on January 2nd when the first game is played. It is likely that McCarthy, Ford, and Bolin will be tried for goal, with others being "Terry" Millar, Joe Smith, Gibson, Patel, and several others from the city in addition to players from R.M.C. and Queen's.

Two Good Games Slated To-Morrow

Senators Meet Canadiens and Montrealers Tackle Tiger at Home

Two big battles are down for decisions in the National Hockey League tomorrow night when Ottawa Senators visit Canadiens at the Mount Royal Arena and the Montreal team travels to Hamilton to tackle the Tigers.

It is always a rare scramble when Ottawa and Canadiens meet and, while for a time this season it looked as if Hamilton would be the main opposition to the world's champions recent developments bring Ottawa back as real contenders. The Senators have played Canadiens once this winter, defeating the tithebiters at the Capital the only reverse to be inflicted on the Stanley Cup holders in the six games played. That Leo Dandurand's players will be out to vindicate themselves against the Ottawa team goes without saying and it is equally certain that Ottawa will do their utmost to down the locals. On showings to date Canadiens are favored to win and hold first position in the race, although Ottawa this winter they will prove a team considerably different in style to any from whom they have secured the tri-color in the past few years.

Montreal faces a heavy task at Hamilton against Jimmy Ridgeway's Tigers. The Bengals won from the local team twice early in the season, but since then Montreal has been strengthened by several and is now a team which can easily hang on to either the Canadiens or those which the Pacific Coast Hockey League will send to the United States city Monday night.

Owing to the Christmas season the usual Wednesday night games next week have been switched. Montreal will play at Ottawa Tuesday night, Boston will play Canadiens at the Arena Christmas night and on the succeeding St. Patricks play at Hamilton.

OLD CHIEF READY FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Oshawa, Dec. 19.—Chief of Police Charles Lavery of Whitby, who has the county town junior O. H. A. team in charge for the coming season, is probably the oldest player to be registered by any town of the Lake Shore group, having been twenty-two years in hockey, sixteen of which has been with teams from Sheriff Paxton's town, and Thursday when he handed out the list of candidates for both the intermediate and junior teams,signed he was in shape to drop over the boards and go the full sixty minutes.

NEW CANADIAN PACIFIC TORONTO TO WINNIPEG

38½ Hour Service

The new daily 38½ hour Toronto to Winnipeg service just inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Railway not only establishes a record in fast, consistent transportation but provides the traveller with a feature service between William from both Toronto and Winnipeg inasmuch as the Winnipeg Special leaving Toronto at 9.45 p.m. every night and arriving at Sudbury at 5.50 a.m. arrives at Fort William at 11.00 p.m., leaving there 15 minutes later and arriving in Winnipeg at 7.00 a.m.

Returning, the Toronto-Montreal Special leaves Winnipeg at 7.00 p.m., arriving in Fort William at 6.40 a.m., leaving 15 minutes later, arriving in Sudbury at 1.56 a.m. and in Toronto at the convenient hour of 8.25 a.m. Direct connections are made by travellers from Winnipeg for all main points in Alberta, Quebec and East, which will receive the serious consideration of those who desire efficient service. Dominion Express shipments are delivered hours earlier, which is also a feature.

The new modern equipment including standard and compartment sleepers dining and compartment-observation cars are carried which, with the reduction in the running time and the courteous efficient service by all employees, makes this new service preeminent as the last word in transportation.

EXPECT LEX RICE TO JUMP AMATEUR

Kingston, Dec. 19—"Lex" Rice, the crack catcher of Kingston C. O. B. I., baseball summer will probably end his season he seen in professional baseball, if he carries out his intentions. Rice has received several good offers, and may be found behind the bat in the New York-Pennsylvania League next summer.

Not only is Rice expected to leave the city but it is also reported on good authority that "Mossy" Compeau the sensational shortstop of the local team, will also perform in other fields next summer,—not likely in professional company. Compeau is today one of the best shortstops who ever performed in the city; his fielding has been most spectacular always, and his hitting hard and timely. During the past season he batted .350 being the best local batter. Compeau has received a fine offer to turn professional, and is considering the offer.

"I'll Be Home Soon, Mother," Writes Sammy

Sammy is a keen little lad. He attends school regularly and is a good student—and he has a mother who loves him with all her heart and soul. For years he worked in the fields doing a man's work. His father died when he was young and helped him master the art of pouring molten iron into moulds. Sammy's mother always made but little money, but worry much. "It'll be all right in the morning," Sammy would tell her, take a rest." But it wasn't all right the morning or the morning after, or, nor a week after. It was months before Sammy's mother realized that her doctor called to see her several times, then took him to a specialist. Into realize that Sammy was consumptive and that he must go to a warmer climate.

Sammy is quite a favorite up in the Methodist Hospital for Consumptives. He keens the other patients in good cheer with his jokes and stories and his quaint stories of French Quarter life in New Orleans. Sammy has told the folks that he hopes soon to be wrote in his last letter; and he wrote them that he is now in the most splendid progress.

The Saskatoon Hospital for Consumptives, the liberal home of Sammy and hundreds more like him, is a large means supporting public generosity for its funds to carry on its work.

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 233 College St. Toronto, Ontario.

GETS THREE YEARS FOR LETTER THEFT

Oshawa, Dec. 19—As a warning to others and a direct lesson to himself, Wilfred Aldred, a former mail collector in the township was sentenced to serve three years hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary when he appeared before Magistrate A. F. Hind Thursday morning. Aldred pleaded guilty to stealing a letter some time ago containing $15 and was remanded for sentence.

In imposing the sentence Magistrate Hind informed the accused of the nature of the offence and said that he was forced to give him the minimum sentence owing to the statute.

"You should consider yourself fortunate, Aldred, inasmuchas these statutes and laws have been altered from time to time, in olden days the crime you committed was known as sacrilege and the penalty was hanging.

DRINK WATER FREELY AND OFTEN IF BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS

DRINK WATER FREELY AND OFTEN IF BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much uric acid forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become clogged and weakened and you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is also cloudy, full of sediment the channels often get over irritated, inducing you to seek relief from these troubles during the night.

To help neutralize the irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's waste, get from any good druggist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days you will feel splendid. These Jad Salts, made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, have been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Here you will mention your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

New Lamp Burns 94% Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, noise or smoke—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. B. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 30 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

CANADIAN VS. U.S.A. RATES

The following recently appeared as an editorial in "The Press", of Minot, N.D., and it is being published here because it reflects a view of the Canadian Railway rate situation not often observed.

"In January, 1924, the Omaha Bee published the results of an exhaustive study it had made with reference to the cost of producing and marketing wheat in the country, as compared with the cost of producing and marketing wheat in Canada. One of the most significant features of this report was the difference in cost of transportation to the Canadian wheat growers and the American wheat grower. It showed that a farmer, Winston, Canada, wheat grower can reach the Chicago market by lake and rail haul for a rate of 30¼ cents per hundred weight. The same rate prevails to the wheat grower in the Calgary, Canada, district. But the American wheat grower who ships to Chicago from American Falls, Idaho, must pay a rate of 63½ cents per hundred weight to get his grain delivered in Chicago, or more than twice what it costs his Canadian competitor to reach the same American market. The rate from Billings, Montana, to Chicago is 52½ cents per hundred weight; from Cheyenne, Wyoming, 60¾ cents; from Denver, Colorado, 60¾ cents; From Grand Island, Nebraska, 37 cents; from Mitchell, South Dakota, 32½ cents.

"For export purposes the Edmonton wheat grower can lay his wheat down in New York, using a lake and rail haul, at a rate of 41.17 cents per hundred weight. The same is true of the wheat grower in the Calgary district. The wheat producers who ship from American Falls, Idaho, for export to New York must pay a rate of 83.17 cents per hundred weight, using lake and rail hauls. From Billings, Montana, the rate is 72.17 cents; from Denver, Colorado, it is 70.17 cents; from Grand Island, Nebraska, it is 56.17 cents; from Mitchell, South Dakota, it is 52.17 cents.

"From this it will be seen that the cost of transportation is much less in Canada than in the United States. The difference is so great that it amounts to many cents per bushel. The cost of railroading is about the same in both countries. If any diference exists in the cost of operating the railroads, the lower cost should be in the United States, where climatic conditions are more favorable. If the Canadian railways are losing money, that money goes to the producers. If there is no loss to the railroads from this low rate in Canada, then, surely, the railroads in the United States are making immense profits from the rate they are getting.

"It has been charged that the railroads in Canada have been losing money. That may be very true. It has not been charged that this loss can be traced to the low rate charged for hauling wheat. If the loss now suffered by the Canadian railroads could be turned into profit, would it be necessary to increase the rate there to the same rate charged in the United States? The loss suffered by those railroads may not be a result of too low grain rates. The loss may be incurred from top low rates on other commodities. The rate on each commodity should be a compensatory rate. No commodity should be carried at a loss, and then have the rate on another commodity boosted high enough to cover that loss.

"Anyway, the freight rates on wheat here in the United States seem to need revision."

IS THERE A SANTA?

One of the finest editorials ever written on the subject of Santa Claus is that by Francis P. Church, an editorial writer on the New York Sun many years ago. The literary effort took the form of an answer to the letter from a small child who wanted to be assured that there was a Santa Claus. This is the gem:

"We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of the Sun:

"Dear Editor: I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

VIRGINIA O'HANLAN.

115 West Ninety-fifth street."

"Virginia your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible to their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge. Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childish faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished. Not believe in Santa Clause. You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch your chimney on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Clause but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty, and glory beyond. It is all real! Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else, real and abiding. No Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives and he lives forever: A thousand years from now, Virginia—nay ten times ten thousand years from now—he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood!"

THOSE MUNICIPAL INCOME TAXES

A resident of the small but picturesque town of Renfrew, Ontario, paying income taxes, last year, was deprived of at least 3½ per cent. of his income. Federal government demanded 4 per cent. of his normal income: the municipality 4.45 per cent. He was lucky if he was compelled to pay no further direct taxes.

Under Ontario's legislation the municipalities of the province impose a tax upon income, according to their individual "mill rate". Renfrew pretends to a significant illustration of the possible fluctuations of the tax rate.

The following figures, vouched for by J. Herbert Hodgins, in MacLean's Magazine, will give an idea of the revenues which municipalities are securing from the municipal income tax, which it must be remembered is paid on top of the federal- income:

Letters to Editor

HOW CHURCH UNION WORKS

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

Much has been written about the "awful" things to follow Church Union. Your readers may be interested to know how Union is working in Outlt. I most gladly give you my impressions of the results so far as we see them here.

The Union here was brought about after two trys and the atmosphere to some seemed anything but favorable but happily their fears have not been realized and it would be hard indeed to find anyone in this town of five thousand who would go back to the old days. I would go further and say that I do not believe that you could find any official of either church who held office before the Union and are now today, who would think of going back to the old days.

The church is full to capacity, the combined young people's work is a joy to watch, having a combined membership greater than the total of the two groups before the Union. Women's organizations were never more active and harmonious, while the combined musical resources are greater.

Instead of two churches struggling to pay a minister and keep the Ladies Aids, etc., the United Church pays a salary of $2250 plus a house of $250, free furnished house, telephone, light and water, and a month's holiday each year. The weekly collections financing this and leaving the ladies free to do the more important social work and sick visiting and looking up newcomers.

After four years in another Union charge, and the conditions I have described in this charge, I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the fears of those who tremble at the thoughts of a change are utterly groundless

Those coming to Cobalt I have yet to hear the first even small hint or whisper of dissatisfaction. I could see the very worst of Union. And further some who stayed out for a year are to-day enjoying the United Church as much as they did their former places of worship.

The disposition of church property has not provided any trouble. The one house not in use, which happens to be the Methodist Parsonage, provides a nice monthly revenue.

If those who bewail could see the way Union really works I know they would be happy I write only for the benefit of those who are really desirous of seeing the Kingdom come on this Earth. All that is needed is the spirit of Christ, and some hospitality once and it will work, and work splendidly.

N. PAWSON,

Three Million Rats Have Bit The Dust

Several Hundred Profession al Rat-Catchers Operated in Old London

London, Dec. 19.—London is minus 3,000,000 rats since the famous rat extinction of the rodent population last year. The merciless annihilation of a respected city and the ardor of several hundred professional rat-catchers are responsible.

In the war days, when all of London's rat catchers changed their locations, the pests multiplied unhampered and after overrunning the latter's haunts in the poorer sections of the city bordering on the river eventually infested the older stores and office buildings in the city and West End. Like many other evils which were rooted in the war it has taken several years of post-war effort to again get them under control.

Extensive building operations which are being undertaken involving the tearing down of many of the city's old build ings, has robbed the intruders of their abodes. The newer brick fireproof structures taking their place offer no asylum to the wandering rat. During the destruction of a row of buildings in Liquorpond Street the rat-catchers of the city of Westminister were kept busy for several weeks chasing and killing rates as they fled from the condemned building into the streets and alleys. The rat-catcher and his assistants sent in a bill to the city council for the deaths of 1752 rats and they were paid a shilling for each body!

The activities of the municipal rat-catchers have almost rid the aforesaid district of rats. Incidental to their official labors the rat-catchers have exterminated water-bugs and wood-beetles which for centuries infested the old stone buildings and stores of London. With the substitution of brick and mortar the beetle lost his subsistence and gradually withdrew to more fruitful places. The water-bugs however, have been eliminated by a new liquid discovered by a rat-catcher during army service in Russia. The liquid is only sprayed about the pipes and drains, but it has such potency that one whiff is sufficient to kill a bug. In less than three years it has been possible to entirely rid the London area of that pest.

Lack of other employment has turned several hundred men into rat-catchers who are mostly employed along the river front and in the factories and grain shops. There are about 300 of these men and they have destroyed about a million and a half rats during the last year. The rat catching corps of the London boroughs and a host of solicitous householders have accounted for the other million and a half. It cost nearly $500,000 to war on the rates during the last year.

WHISTLES HAVE A MEANING ALL OWN

Los Angeles, Dec. 19.—The mystery of the language of railroad engines, as spoken through the engineer's whistle, have been revealed by the Southern Pacific company in an announcement for the benefit of the general public. The significance of the engineer's performances on his whistle is explained as follows:

Four blasts, two of medium length and two short, are a warning that a locomotive is approaching a grade cross ing.

A succession of short blasts tells trespassers to get off the track.

One long blast followed by three short ones means that the next flagman he gets to meet against is following train.

Four or five blasts of medium duration recall the flagman.

Four short whistles is the engineer's way of asking for train order signal.

Two short whistles mean "Thank you" or "I get you."

One whistle of medium duration followed by two short blasts calls attention to signals displayed for a following section.

One long blast is given when train is approaching a station, crew change, or junction.

Two short blasts given three times are a signal to the trainmen that the airbrakes are sticking.

Didn't Eat For Some 360 Hours

Doctor on Fast Carried on Usual Business Activities

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—Following a fast lasting 360 hours, Dr. J. R. Goldstone, of St. Thomas, Australasia, Windsor, has expressed the opinion that the human body has a much longer period of reserve energy than is ordinarily believed and further that greater mental and physical activity results from prolonged fasting.

During the 360 hours, Dr. Goldstone took nothing but water, yet lost only 14 pounds in weight. He found however, that his strength was not greatly impaired and declared that he could easily have extended the fast another week. Throughout the entire fast period Dr. Goldstone continued his daily activities and immediately after breaking the fast he ran five miles to prove his contention.

WOULD MAKE TRAINS FOR ECLIPSE SIGHT

Washington, Dec. 19.—The use of excursion trains to enable the public better to see the total eclipse of the sun January 24, 1925, is suggested by Professor George H. Peters of the Naval Observatory here. He was discussing this phenomenon which will be visible under favorable weather conditions, in the eastern part of the country.

The middle line of the shadow path during the eclipse, the professor pointed out, will run from Middle to Montague Point, N. Y., between seven and ten o'clock in the morning. A section of the United States well supplied with railroads might run special trains for the benefit of the public, he declared, shooting them up sidings during the time of the eclipse.

CANDY COMPANY REMEMBERS EMPLOYES

Toronto, Dec. 18.—The Laura Secord Candy Shops have for a second year in succession divided their profits with their employees who have been with the company for one year or six months. These represented a substantial percentage of the total salary earned by each employee during the past year, making even a one-quarter share in the organization. This came as a complete surprise to all the employees until the announcement was made to them at a happy gathering last night in the studio. The cheques were presented by President Frank O'Connor, and General Manager J. D. Hayes overpraised the employees on their loyalty and co-operation.

GREAT BRITAIN TO BUILD BIG AIR SHED

London, Dec. 19—Britain is to have an airship shed bigger than the mammoth one at Lakehurst, N.J., root of the Shenandoah and Los Angeles. It will shelter one of the two 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity airships which the British government has decided to build.

The shed will be located at Cardington, near Bedford, managed by Modern Transport. It is to be merely an enlargement of the shed already there. Its increased length—812 feet—will make it 12 feet longer than the Lakehurst hangar and 27 feet longer than the shed at Orly, Paris, where the new ZR-3 was built. The height of the Cardington shed is to be increased to 156 feet.

The big British Zeppelins are to be flown regularly, it is hoped, between England and India. Mooring masts, an American invention, are to be installed along the route. The air vice-marshal, Sir W. Geiton Brancker, has gone to India by airplane to study the possibilities for similar terminal out there.

COMMUNISTS WOULD GIVE UP COLONIES

The Hague, Holland, Dec. 19—The Dutch Communist party has issued a new program of action which, apart from its usual demands of an 8 hour day, the disbandment of army and navy and the recognition of the Russian Soviet republic makes a specific demand for the "immediate and complete evacuation" of the Dutch Colonial possessions.

The program urges also "sharp opposition to Holland's servile attitude towards British imperialism;" advocates Holland's withdrawal from the League of Nations, and announces "war upon the Darwin plan."

De Batavia dispatch states that the Volksraad, the Dutch East Indian assembly, has adopted a motion to close all schools in the colonial archipelago where communism is taught or practiced.

SWIMMER OF U.S.A. TO VISIT GERMANY

Magdeburg, Dec. 19 — Negotiations have been completed between the Hellas Swimming Club of this city and a number of American swimmers of renown for a series of aquatic matches and exhibitions in German cities, including Magdeburg, Berlin, Hanover, Leipsig, and Munich next year.

Among the American athletes who are to come to Germany are Johnny Weismueller, the world champion, and Charles of Chicago, victor in the Olympic games at Paris; Norman Ross, champion back-stroke swimmer, and possibly Al White, who holds the world's long distance record.

It is generally assumed in German sporting circles that the American champions will combine the German engagements with a tour of Spain, France, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary.

WHITE WHOLE GOES FOR INLAND TRIP

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Edmonton, Alta., Dec. 19.—Apparently intent upon sampling the delights of every life, a white whale was observed this fall swimming up against the current of the Mackenzie river in the general direction of Edmonton. The man mal in question succeeded in reaching Hope, this being more than three hundred miles from his natural habitat in the upper ramparts near Fort Good in the Arctic Ocean.

At the rampants a rock ridge crosses the Mackenzie and in the fall when the water is dropping, this forms a bar to all but the smaller units of the northern river fleet, and here the enquiring whale had to cease his tour, due to the fact that there was not sufficient water to permit him to cross the shallows.

It is estimated that the Arctic tourist weighed nearly a ton and he was observed for some time by the crew of the Alberta and Arctic transportation company's vessel "Liard River."

ORILLIA KIWANIANS PLAY SANTA CLAUS

Orillia, Dec. 19—Orillia Kiwanis Club has elected the following officers for 1925: President W. Cecil George; Vice-President, A. C. Harris; Treasurer, F. H. Horne; District Trustee, R. H. Starr; Directors, J. W. Mercer, D. A. MacNab, A. Weatherway, W. J. Boyle, George L. Gay, C. B. Jones, Percy Bacon. W. O. Tudhope is Immediate Past President.

The club resolved to buy as a Christmas donation underwear for 24 children, at a cost of about $300, which among the members promptly subscribed. The Christmas parcels will be delivered by the members individually at the homes of the youngsters.

CANADA WANTS MORE PEOPLE AND CAPITAL

Montreal, Dec. 18—Canada must get more capital and more people if she is to survive and progress, and she must get them by uniting her policy with that of Great Britain, declared Dr. Stephen Leacock, Professor of Political Economy at McGill University, in an address here last evening. Prof. Leacock said there was no need to disguise the fact that at the present time the country was not in a satisfactory condition. Statistics were not needed to tell the people that the country's life-blood was being drained by emigration.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SOCIAL THEATRES

A Womans Soul BY Charles Garvice

CHAPTER XVII.

"CHANCE FOR ESCAPE"

Alone in the world! Lying back in a chair by the open window of the woodman's cottage—for she could not bring herself to go back to the lodging in Berlon, where every inanimate object would remind her of the father-like friend she had lost—Doris kept repeating the ominous words to herself. Although a week had passed since the funeral she had not yet recovered from the terrible blow, and as she lay back with hollowed eyes and white, wan face she still looked "like one wandering in other worlds than this."

The dead man had been so much to her. Mother, father, brother—indeed her only friend and companion—that the sense of helplessness which followed his bereavement was intensified in her case. She was indeed utterly alone; drifting on the stream of life as roderigus vessel, to be blown hither and thither by the cruel caprice of every wind. Since the day of Jeffrey's death she had seen no one containing the kind-hearted woman of the cottage Mrs. Jelf; and had done nothing but commune in silence with the great sorrow that had fallen upon her.

No one day, in one hour, she had lost her lover and the man who had been as a father to her.

She tried to put all thought of Lord Cecil Neville away from her, and to think of Jeffrey alone; but with an agony of remorse she found that the loss of her lover seemed almost as great a grief as the death of poor Jeffrey.

All day long she dwelt upon the joy and happiness of those few short days while he had been with her, recalling every word he had spoken, every tone of the musical voice that seemed to have spoken of nothing but love—deep true, passionate love for her. She remembered how many times he had kissed her, the fond endearing names by which he had called her; and how it was all over! So completely a thing of the past, and gone from her life, that it appeared more like a dream than a reality. Were it not for the aching void in her heart, and the letter—the cruel letter he had written, and that lay crushed and hidden against her bosom—she could almost have believed that no such person as Cecil Neville existed.

Where was he now? she wondered. Did he still think of her? or had he never really loved her?

"Who am I, that I should have won the love of such as he?" she asked herself over and over again. "No he never loved me! He never loved me. Then she would cover her face with her hands and weep; but she could find relief in the unshed tears that seemed to scorch her heart.

This morning, as she sat by the window, her hands folded listlessly in her lap, thinking and thinking till her head ached, and wishing that she lay in the quiet churchyard beside Jeffrey, Mrs. Jelf came into the room, and speaking in the subdued voice which is perhaps the most irritating and trying one in Doris' condition, said:

"How do you feel yourself this morning, miss?"

"I am quite well," said Doris, rousing herself.

"I am glad to hear it, miss," responded Mrs. Jelf, gently arranging the pillow which she had insisted upon placing in the armchair. "Do you think you are well enough to see my one fine morning?"

"To see any one?" said Doris, with a start, and sudden thrill of the heart, for a wild, mad hope arose within her breast that it might be Cecil Neville.

"Yes, miss; you are not to unless you quite like, he says, but if you do feel strong enough——"

"He—who?" asked Doris.

"Mr. Spencer Churchill, the gentleman, who has been so kind all through your great trouble, miss."

The color ebbed from Doris' face, and she sank back.

"Mr. Spencer Churchill," she said vacantly, then a vague sense of dread fell upon her, and she recalled Jeffrey's warning.

"Yes miss; the kindest-hearted gentleman as ever I knew. I'm sure, if he'd been your own father or brother, he couldn't have done more. Why, he's been to everything, you know."

Doris thrilled with an indefinable alarm and remorse.

"Why—why did you not tell me?" Why should he do all this?" she asked.

"Well, miss, because it's his nature, I suppose," replied Mrs. Jelf. "You see he's a real fine gentleman, a philanthropist; always ready to do a kind action, and—her, come to that, who wouldn't be glad to do anything for a sweet, pretty creature like yourself, left so friendless and helpless? There he is now, just outside on the path. Now, you're not to see him unless you feel strong enough; he can wait, he says—"

"Will you please tell Mr. Churchill that I will see him," said Doris and Mrs. Jelf after another pat or two to the pillow, went out.

Doris tried to brace herself to the coming interview. Her mind had been so clouded that she had not until this moment realized all that this strange gentleman—against whom poor Jeffrey had warned her—in her greatest sorrow had done for her, and she scarcely knew how to receive him.

The door opened and Spencer Churchill entered. He was dressed in black and his face was almost seraphic with its expression of earnest sympathy.

"Do not rise, my dear young lady," he murmured softly. "Mrs. Jelf assured me that you felt equal to seeing me, and indeed, wished me to do so, or I should not have intruded to-day on sacred solitude of your grief."

He took her hand, and did wish to see you, sir," she said, "I wish to thank you for all you have done for me. I scarcely know yet the extent of it," and her sweet voice faltered—"I think I must have been ill, for I seem to have forgotten—and my head to her brow for a moment, then drew back as if overcome by himself.

"What I have done, my dear Miss Marlowe, does not deserve a word of thanks. It has been a sad satisfying duty to me to be of some slight service to you."

"WINBERG AND WINE" MAY OPPOSE HILTZ

Toronto, Dec. 18—If no one is willing, Harry Winberg, who once before sought to become Mayor of the city may oppose Mayor Hilts this year. Mr. Winberg secured his nominating papers at the City Hall and stated that he was literally fight. His platform, he says, will be "Wine and Women."

Mr. Winberg's entry is not being taken very seriously and though he will be nominated, because of the number he will stand. J. A. McCausland, M.P.P., is the only man also to be nominated though Mr. McCausland it is thought has no intention of entering fight.

An 80-mile south-west gale swept Buffalo, N.Y., causing scattered damage in the business and residential sections and kicking up rough seas on Lake Erie which kept shipping within the protection of the harbor breakwall. In the city, windows were blown in, plate-glass store fronts suffered.

Merry-Go-Round Opened At Belle

Is Splendid Moving Picture Adaptation of Stage Play

A stage play, transformed to a motion picture, hidden, a gamble, second thoughts or indecision, for some unexplainable reason the reactions possible to create in the speaking stage do not seem to be created in a pantomimic echo. Director "The Acquittal," Universal's filmisation of Rita Weiman's Broadway success, which opened last night at the Belle theatre, is a panlox. It not only creates all the humorous of the spoken play, but it magnifies them to the nth power. It has taken one of the stage's best mystery dramas and literally put it under a microscope. A gripping, tense mystery, told in terms of action so dramatic that it holds its audience spellbound it does everything it is possible for a play to do to an audience. Suspicion flows from character to character, whether the leading man is the hero or the villain remains a matter of question until the very last, and after one after another of the characters in the play have been picked, almost with certainty, as the wanted criminal, the actual climax sends the mystery collapsing like a house of cards, and the audience comes in one great flash of surprise.

Merry-Go-Round" is the story, of course, for an all-star cast of special merit has been assembled for the movie story. Norman Kerry adds another big performance to his credit in "Merry-Go-Round" as the leading male character of the play; and Claire Windsor, who is very beautiful, plays the part of the suspected murderer with dramatic intensity.

A compelling figure is Hayes Manager, who dominates the spectacular court room scenes as the district attorney. Edward Connelly, Charles Wheeler, Barbara Bedford, who leaped to fame in the screen version of "The Spoilers," Frederick Vroom, Ben Deely, Ernest Glendinning, Harry Hayden and Stevenson, who is famous as the tough fight manager in "Abie's Irish Rose," are others in the big cast.

An interesting fature in the play is Anton Vaverka, who played the part of Prince Franz Josef in "Merry-Go-Round," and who, sans the imperial whiskers and spike helmet he wore in the latter role the character whose scalps turn the tide of the war, is unrecognizable. There are many dramatic surprises, a bit of humor, and a thrilling climax in "The Acquittal," but the mystery pure, unadulterated mystery from first to last screen flag.

Thrills Galore In Griffin Picture

When Inventor of Purple Ray Gets His Revenge

"The Unknown Purple," the adaptation of Roland West's stage play, which opened for a 3 day engagement at the Griffin Theatre yesterday, is one of the most thrilling photoplays which has come to Belleville. Probably the outstanding feature of the picture is the dreamy manner in which the two producers have handled the purple ray of light which predominates many of the scenes and in which there is a human body invisible to the eye. The work of that sterling artist, Henry B. Walthall, stands out also in his portrayal of the inventive genius who, betrayed by those he loved best, returns after many years in prison, to take a wierd vengeance upon them. Supporting him are such well-known players as Alice Lake, Stuart Holmes, Ethel Grey Terry, Helen Ferguson, Brinsley Shaw, James Morrison, Richard Wayne, little Frankie Lee, Anthony Arrigo and Mae Donlin.

The story opens with Peter Marchmont in prison, where he learns from the man in the cell next to his, that it was his own wife and her lover who betrayed him, stole all he possessed and sent him to prison. After his term expired, unrecognized now as his former self, Peter Marchmont returns and through the medium of the purple ray which he discovered, gives himself invisible at will and begins to undermine the happiness of his former wife and her husband, the two who had sent him through a series of uncanny, thrilling happenings. Through the man in the cell over of ruin, makes love to the woman he had married, and in the final gripping climax, when she agrees to marry Marchmont, he urges her first to a deed which brings Marchmont his own downfall, and revenge.

Run oranges and lemons through the chopper. Cover with cold water and let stand overnight. Cook until peel is tender, adding more water if necessary. Fatigued after hours of futile study over a baffling crossword puzzle, Dr. A. Cherrifere, of Los Angeles, Cal., stretched his muscles in such a prodigious yawn that he dislocated his jaw. Receiving hospital surgeons who attended him said it was the city's first cross-word puzzle casualty.

HIGH SCHOOL TO RECEIVE PROV. GRANT

Premier Ferguson writes Col. Ponton to That Effect

1923 GRANT WITHHELD

Premier Asks That Necessary Improvement Steps Be Taken

The Belleville Board of Education has received word from Premier Ferguson that the provincial grant for the High School for the year 1923 is forthcoming. The cheque was withheld by reason of the fact that there was not sufficient accommodation provided for students at this secondary School Board enters into definite plans for relieve the present conditions of overcrowding.

The letter from the Premier which was sent to Colonel W. N. Ponton, and which was read at the meeting of the School Board, last night, was as follows:

Office of the Prime Minister and President of the Council Ontario, Toronto, Oct. 24, 1924.

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 15th instant dealing with the question of the accommodation of the High Schools while High School.

Upon inquiry I learn that the grant for 1923 was withheld on the recommendation of the Inspector because of the condition of your School and the insufficient accommodation provided for the pupils.

I fully realize the heavy burden that all municipalities are bearing at the present time and the general business depression which makes these matters sat to undertake expenditures that can in any way be avoided at this time, but I sympathize with their desire to avoid capital expenditure until conditions are more buoyant.

The fact, as you know, that the education is there for the benefit of the people, and each locality has within itself very large powers in respect of educational affairs. The duty of the Department of Education is to supervise all educational system. Where a municipality measures up to these requirements, it is entitled to receive, under the regulations, certain grants, and the Board has not met the requirements. Their explanation, under all the circumstances, seems to me to be reasonable, and while I am prepared to look favourably on your request, so far as the situation up to the present is concerned, the Department will expect that in the near future, in accordance with the regulations in your letter, steps will be taken to enable the pupils to enjoy proper facilities for the pursuit of their education.

With this understanding, I have given instructions to the Department to forward you the cheque for 1923 which has been withheld, as well as the grant for the current year 1924. This, I hope, will be satisfactory.

Yours very truly,
"G. H. Ferguson."

Following the reading of the letter, Mr. Ackerman said the thanks of the Board was due Colonel Ponton and John Ellis for securing the grant and a motion of thanks was passed.

To Change Name In Ontario Too ?

Hamilton Conservative Sees No Need to Follow Manitoba

Hamilton, Dec. 20.—Although the Conservatives of Manitoba, in the convention at Winnipeg, have decided to drop the Liberal-Conservative name, and instead of being known as Liberal-Conservatives will be straight Conservatives, there is little likelihood of their lead being followed in Ontario.

"I have never heard that change mentioned even in a whisper," said Fred Smye, president of the local organization, "and as far as I know there is at present no feeling that a move of that kind is needed. In fact, I don't think Manitoba has the right to make the change, for the name of the Conservative party of Canada passed a resolution that the name should not be changed.

In Manitoba the resolution changing the name was carried unanimously, and so enthusiastic were some that it was suggested the Dominion party should also be discard the prefix.

Although stating that at the present time there is no movement at all to feel in Ontario Bankhead Division, T. J. Stewart looked for something like to be done within the next two months.

"I am confident that after the coming session of the Dominion Parliament change in the name question will be held," he said. "Before that time the Conservatives will have had a chance to demonstrate for it. It is certain that some changes will be made, but whether the name will be one of the consideration I can't say. It has not been discussed as all that I have heard."

Indians Object To White Man's Law

Fishermen Convicted at Deseronto Object to Penalties

Deseronto, Dec. 20—Two residents of the Tyendinaga Reserve appeared before Magistrate H. R. Bedford on charges of violating the Indian Act by obtaining without a license in waters of the Bay of Quinte, with spring nets in the Bay of Quinte waters without attaching a numbered tag to each net, in the name of the nets. Ernest Hill pleading guilty to both offences was fined $25 and costs, the sum of $25 and costs, and in the second charge was fined $5 and costs. Suspension of the fines and costs carries a penalty of one month's imprisonment.

Ernest Hill, prominent Tyendinaga Indian, pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Thursday next.

Counsel for the defendants argued that the Indians were exempt from the provisions of the Act, but Magistrate Bedford ruled that the Indians were subject to the provisions of the Act.

Local action will no doubt follow to test the validity of provincial statutes as interfere with the Indians and treaty rights existing between the Indians, members of the Mohawks of the Tyendinaga Reserve claiming ancient treaty rights with the Provincial Government, that are not subject to the legislation and interference of the Provincial Government.

WARM WORDS AT BOARD MEETING OVER PARADE

Hear Echoes of School Children's Pre-Plebiscite Parade

WITHDRAWS PRIZES

Col. Marsh Indignant, and F. E. O'Flynn's Offer Declined

Warm discussion took place at the regular meeting of the Board of Management last night when the controversy over the school children's parade held prior to the plebiscite was brought to a head. A number of the members had had their say, the matter was dropped by common consent and the whole argument drops into the files of the Board.

The subject was introduced when a letter was read from Colonel Marsh, L. W. Marsh. This gentleman, who represents the Belleville interests for the plebiscite, told the Board that owing to the action of some of the principals of the schools in the parade of the scenes the whole was withdrawing his annual prizes given for the annual sports parade.

On top of this there came another letter, that from F. E. O'Flynn, who wrote that as the Board had not signified its intention of discontinuing the parade he would be pleased to provide trophies to take their place.

Colonel Marsh's letter read: "I now in the first place if the Chairman had any instructions to give before the cars were paraded. He claim that Belleville Old Boys' Association of which a large of man had been insulted as a result of the parade.

In answer to this, Chairman Woodley said that the Board of Education was concerned. It had not given the order for the parade. He had assured Colonel Marsh that, that was so.

Then Colonel Ponton wanted to know if the cause of the parade. Mr. Woodley replied that the principals of the schools had not come to the Board until last night's meeting.

Mr. Mcgie explained that the principals of the schools had not come to the Board until last night's meeting.

MIND OF THE CRIMINAL

Two interesting glimpses into the mental processes of the criminal appear in current news.

In Chicago, Russell Scott, a Canadian who once had a sensational career as a prohibitor, has been convicted after a second trial of murder. While robbing a store he killed a clerk. He pleaded guilty on his first trial, but the manifest plea of his lawyer won him a second chance. Convicted a second time, after a plea of not guilty, he announces that he will devote the remainder of his life to a crusade against capital punishment. So public opinion is to be instructed in the murderer's objections to having his own life taken by public authority. Apparently this man is so far from any appreciation of his own sin that he considers himself called upon to become a preacher against the sins of society and government, as he describes the justice which calls him to account. The public, he says, is hysterical over the crime wave and he was the handiest victim. Evidently he has persuaded himself that a sane and normal public would have a little thought for the victim of his crime as he has himself. Are we developing a type of criminals who really believe that they have a right as superior persons to kill anyone who happens to get in their way?

The wife of one of the men who are under arrest for the murder of a paymaster at Niagara Falls says that she had often begged her husband to give up crime for fear that he would kill somebody and he had promised her that he never would kill. She hopes he may get off on the ground that he claims not to have been the man who actually fired the fatal shot. Evidently this criminal could not grasp the fact that one who participates in a robbery in which murder occurs is guilty of murder whether he personally does the killing or not. Possibly the leniency of authorities has something to do with that. A few impressive executions of entire gangs under the law which holds each participant in a crime equally responsible might have a very healthful effect.—Buffalo Express.

COMPARATIVE EXPENDITURES

There has long been an impression that provincial administration in Quebec is much more economical than in Ontario. A report prepared by the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa partly supports this view; but, after all, the difference in the per capita expenditure in the two provinces is not so great as many have supposed. In several departments of expenditure Quebec pays more per head than Ontario does. For example, Quebec spends 6 cents more for administration of justice, 63 cents more for public works and buildings, 17 cents more for agriculture, and 13 cents more for expenditure on public lands.

The Hamilton Herald gives the following items which shows expenditure is far greater than in Quebec.

	Ontario per head per head	Quebec per head
Education	.76	$2.58
Hospitals	.44	1.21
Correctional Institutions	.11	.29
Charities	.03	.08
Interest	.92	2.40
	$2.26	6.56

The five items of expenditure cost Ontario nearly 200 per cent. more than they cost Quebec. But it does not necessarily follow that Ontario expenditure is much more extravagant than that of the sister province. The wide difference in the expenditures on education, hospitals, charities and correctional institutions is explainable by the fact that in Quebec the schools and hospitals and correctional institutions are staffed mainly by the members of religious sisterhoods who do service for merely nominal pay. As for the item of interest the fact that Ontario pays almost three times what Quebec pays is due chiefly to certain large debts incurred for hydro-electric development. That enterprise is self-supporting, and in time all the interest paid by the province on that account will be paid back to province and municipalities. Without this explanation a comparison of interest expenditure by the two provinces would be unfair to Ontario. There can be no such gigantic publicly-owned industrial enterprise on its hands as the Ontario Hydro.

Press Opinions

NEW FORM OF TORTURE

(Buffalo Courier)

Another thing about the outdoor life movement is that it will afford escape from the new self- play or saxophone.

THE REGULATION OF BUSSES

(Toronto Star)

Concern about the operate busses in Ontario complain that the Government's regulations are bad for their out of business, and that it is curtailing their usefulness by confining their operation to prescribed routes.

The amount of taxation which the bus operators should contribute is a matter for expert investigation. The principle of taxing them a reasonable amount is sound, for they use the public highways as part of their "stock in trade."

But it is not so clear that the bus men should be forbidden to depart from a prescribed route. Such a regulation leaves them with idle busses at hours when traffic on the regular routes is dull. Yet at those hours (in the evening for instance) there is often a demand for transportation to some special gathering or meeting place, and this demand the bus men are prepared to meet if the Government will permit them.

At the root of the whole problem is the question of public convenience. That factor should never be lost sight of in formulating the Government regulations.

"THE WRATH OF THE LAW"

(Chicago News)

In a Chicago newspaper the other day appeared this big black headline: "Wrath of the Law Turns Its Fire on Mrs. Sweetin."

There is a serious mistake here. The law knows no wrath. The law knows only justice imposed without prejudice and without heat.

The verdicts of gunmen are executed in wrath. That is not the way of the law. And it is an error to feed the conceit of criminals by confirming their claim that they are at war with a vengeful social order.

Justice is not done in wrath and the law is, or should be, the handmaid of justice.

Letters to Editor

AN APPEAL

Dear Editor,—

At this season of the year our hearts will turn to our fellow men and cause us to think kindly, not only of those in affluence but of those who are not as happily situated as ourselves. The Belleville Home for the Aged is usually most generously remembered and am only reminding our friends through your columns to show their appreciation of this institution again this year.

On account of the illness of the former matron, the Home lacks canned fruit also apples and vegetables. It will be gladly accepted, mitts or woolen gloves and socks for the old men, warm gloves, stockings and rubbers (sizes 5 and 6 and of generous width) for the old ladies are needed. Money, of course, for many needy purposes will also be very much appreciated.

Thanking all our friends who are so good to us and who have made this Home possible for unfortunate aged people of this city,

Yours sincerely
MRS. W. H. WOODLEY,
Lady on duty for December.

All Welcome.

We are about to celebrate the greatest event in the history of the world—the birth of the World Redeemer. Why did Jesus come to this earth and die? "For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost." Did Adam and Eve lose Heaven? No, they had no Heavenly promises. Did they lose everlasting life in a perfect home on earth? Gen 2: 8, 9. Is that what Jesus was to bring back and restore in the "Gospel Age" are to restore? Acts 3: 19-21. Rev. 21: 3-5. Will the people of earth soon be singing the song of the Angels, Glory to God . . . and on earth peace, good-will toward men? Yes. Free Lit. I. B. S. A.

Warm Words

lar letters from Col. Marsh, So had Inspector Clarke.
Mr. Diamond, secretary of the Board, said that Mr. O'Flynn had been shown the Marsh letter but that it was not the secretary who had divulged the contents.
Mr. John Elliot stated it was regretable that the incident had occurred as in his opinion the parade was host ill advised. The children should not have been asked to parade, especially as when the Board had not been consulted.
As a member of the prohibition union, Mr. Ackeman stated that the parade was not organized by the Union as was the work of some enthusiastic ladies who were interested in the temperance cause.
Col. Ponton joined the discussion at this point, saying that the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish was called up on all ravenhoe and other names and had to take shelter in a doorway owing to the number of children who had surrounded him. He was quivering with the indignity that had been thrust upon him. The men and not the women were responsible for that parade the speaker thought.
If there was to be any censure, it was upon the older heads and not the children. Mr. Woodley contributed "The children had obtained the consent of their parents before marching" he said.
"Both parties made a mistake and it would be better to allow the matter to drop," said Mr. McGie.
Colonel Marsh's letter was ordered to be filed and a letter will be written "thanking the gentleman for what he had done in the past.
Colonel Ponton suggested that Mr. O'Flynn's letter be courteously acknowledged with the information given that in the opinion of the Board it would not be wise at present to accept the offer. This suggestion was embodied in a motion and was carried.

1924 Christmas Seals

The National Sanitarium Association is to be congratulated on the handsome Christmas Seals now on sale in aid of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives.
To meet a persistent demand for a real Christmas Seal, not merely an advertising sticker, quite a new departure has been made. The seals, beautifully colored and embossed ten designs, are put up assorted in packets of different denominations. The initial fee is in need of funds to carry on its work. Why not buy these seals in lieu of others? Not only will you get good value in return, but your money will be made to serve a greater end, for it will go to help someone in distress.
For sale by school children, and banks, or direct from Xmas Seal Department of Gage Institute, Toronto, Ontario.

Games to Play Christmas Afternoon

A Game Within a Game

When there is a lull in the Christmas proceedings and guests see entertainment, let them, boys, children, and grown-ups alike, "A Game Within a Game". Give each person a pencil and a card on which is to be written the name of a game and the name of a person. Each one in turn tells his game and everybody plays it. When all have had a turn and all games have been played, let everyone pass over their lists and choose which they like best. The originator of the most popular game receives a prize.

Magic Music

One player is sent from the room and the rest decide upon something he must do when called in.

When this has been done he is summoned by magic music which is made by having on of players strike on some thing which will make a noise, if there is piano, so much the better; if not, a piece of metal or a ball will do.

As he nears the object which he is to find, the music grows very loud, and faint when he is far away.

Suppose he is like a flower from a vase and gives it to one of the players, as he nears the flowers, the music grows louder and louder; and if he touches one, it stops; then he knows he has something to do with it. If he smells it, the music grows faint.

Should he known he is wrong, and begins to give it to the players, the music begins until he has given it to the right one.

Descriptive Adjectives

One of the persons present is selected as the object to be described. The leader suggests that "this gentleman must be described by an adjective beginning with A and he will not be disturbed by your outspoken impression of him." The players in turn give their answers; he is an "austere" gentleman or an "avaricious" gentleman or he may be an "antiquated" "awful" "arrogant" or "amiable" according to the mental operation of the person questioned. And so adjectives beginning with B, C, and so down the alphabet, are given. The change from one letter to the next is made after all in the group have had their chance to describe their victim with the same letter, and so two may give the same adjective. In large parties, it is often a severe test of one's knowledge of words and mental acility, as the word must be pronounced while the count is kept by another player.

Broken Quotations

This is a good game to play at the beginning of a social gathering, as the guests have no partners and before one has become better acquainted and the stiffness of a formal gathering passes off.

The hostess has prepared familiar quotations which were written on paper and then cut in two or three parts and pinned in different places around the room.

The guests are requested to find as many quotations as they can during a certain length of time.

As the parts are scattered all over the room it isn't as easy as it sounds to find the complete quotations. The person gathering the most quotations receives a prize.

Donkey

Any number of players can play this game. All form a circle, sit, player next a ball. This is thrown from one to another. The first to drop it counts a "D", the second player to miss it "O", the third, fourth, and fifth count as "N" "K" "E" respectively. Put out the unlucky player who misses it next counts as "Y" and is called the donkey, dropping out of the game, and is a penalty side in the centre of the ring.

The game now continues until only two are left, and the one who escapes be "Y" is the winner of the game. Of course it gets very exciting toward the end of the game, and should a player who has counted "D" or "O" or "N" or more inclined to, then he is out of the game right away. But it is a good game to play at lunch time at school, because you do not need a lot of space to play it in.

Bubbles

Stretch a ribbon across the room with attached red cardboard stockings of different sizes. The guests in turn try to hit the stockings with bubbles blown through pipes. Allow prizes for each one. A pair of silk stockings would be a suitable prize to the most successful "blower".

Another game is to ask one person to leave the room while a word with many rhymes is chosen like "night" "tree" etc. The guest returns and asks questions which must be answered with a word that rhymes with the word chosen. The idea is for that person to find the word decided upon and the one who cannot find a rhyme to answer a question must pay a forfeit.

H.P. sauce ensures full enjoyment of the meal.

Ale Now In Bond When Boat Leaked

Officers at Port Hope Secure Montreal Shipment

Port Hope, Dec. 20—Customs Officer Grandy and Landing Inspector Goodrich took charge of the cargo of large motor boat laid up in the harbor for repairs and removed it to the town hall. James Kennedy, of Cobourg, is the owner of the vessel, which is a commodious fifty-foot motor launch equipped with the latest style quadrex engines, capable of great speed. For several weeks she has been laid up in Cobourg and just recently set out to complete her journey. When opposite Port Hope the propeller shaft became bent, and continued striking against the bottom boards caused a bad leak necessitating quick action. The boat has been hauled up on shore near the Sanitary and repaired. Under the supervision of Customs and Inspector officials, two hundred and forty cases of Dow's ale from Montreal was removed and placed in the vaults at the town hall, where they will be kept under seal until the boat is seaworthy again. The liquor was not seized as supposed but being under Customs and Excise bond, must be properly and lawfully cleared when removed from the boat at any time.

CANADIAN PACIFIC CRUISES GROW IN POPULARITY

Cruising, whether it be around the world, to the romantic ports of the Mediterranean or among the Isles of West Indies, has become such a predominant factor with large steamship companies that following the anniversary of the maiden voyage of a ship on a cruise, bookings have been registered at a surprisingly high rate, accommodation quickly taken up.

An eminent New York journalist recently took a concensus of opinion of a number of Americans returning on a conducted tour and the verdict was: "There is no more perfect way of having arrangements made in advance. None of the individuals had to think about a thing, reservations, rail connections, locations of bergaze and the many annoying details which take up a major portion of the time a traveller when ordinarily he spent in seeing the wonders of new lands." The arrangements in above trips complete took the lead as the pleasing factor in "readymade" tours, stated the journalist from the United States.

Heralded as a cruise to ports of a thousand romances, unfolding the panorama of the world from the cultured coast of the world from the cultured coast of the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of France will next passe a trip around the world from New York via the Panama Canal.

The biz liner of 18,500 tons, is especially adapted to world cruising and has been used continuously in transatlantic service, having carried the Prince of Wales on a recent trip to Canada.

Like circumnaviators of the Empress of France will return laden with the rich experience and mental treasures gathered from vision of 18 countries and contact with the customes, crafts and civilization of 50 different races. Palaces, museums, temples, caves, hotels, palaces and the sacred treasures of the fabled Orient will be revealed in the course of those fortunate travellers.

Leaving New York at a time when the inclement weather drives those who can afford to escape, to more equable climes, the Empress of France is due to reach an island of romance thrown as high as 600 feet above the sea by volcanic action and possessed level by the old-fashioned ocean beds—Madeira.

Gibraltar, reached on the morning of the 12th day, stands as guard between the Mediterranean and the ocean trail. This famous fortress of the British Empire, was extensively rebuilt after a Moriah invader of the eighth century had been easily put remains. Gibraltar was known to the ancients as the Pillar of Hercules and was formerly considered the western extremity of the world.

Already from the Straits of Gibraltar, the rugged purple and green and orange and blue of the Atlas mountains had cast the spell of Africa upon the voyagers and two day later the ship casts anchor in the harbour of Algiers facing ivory towers and minarets of a still half-Arabian city.

Across the Mediterranean the ship turns to Monaco, the high-stepping principality on the south-eastern coast of France, at which the unruffled world shakes its finger. Within its tiny area, more fortunes have been lost and won than lives have been squandered on the battlefields of Europe. The tables at Monte Carlo can no one forbidden to the 20,000 hotel inhabitants who however, have the consolation of being exempt from taxation.

Naples, the largest port in Italy is next and opportunity is given to visit Pompeii, Port Said and Cairo, Suez, the Red Sea, Bombay, where an added feature is the inclusion this year of Delhi and Agres with Calcutta, Darjeeling and Benare as optional side trips, Colombo, Singapore, Batavia, Manila, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama, Honolulu—all follow each other in a kaleidoscope of colour and custom until one reaches Vancouver, crica in passing through the Panama Canal, one of the wonders of the world and treuce to New York.

The trip occupies from January 14, until May 23.

The Empress of Scotland, a 25,000 ton oil-burner leaves New York on February 7, on her Mediterranean cruise, returning on April 11. She is the flagship of the Canadian Pacific Fleet and the largest steamship on the regular service to Canada. She has made three cruises to the Mediterranean and has proved herself to be well adapted to the cruising service.

Madeira, Lisbon, Cadiz, Gibraltar, Algiers, Alexandria, Haifa, Beyrout, Constantinople, Athens, Naples, Monaco, Cherbourg and Southampton are the ports of call. Plenty of time is given the passengers to lavestigate the Holy Land. Eleven days will be spent in Egypt in all and on arrival at Southampton, passage is taken on the same ships for Quebec and Montreal.

A cruise to the West Indies will also be included by the Canadian Pacific, the S. S. Montcrval formerly

O.H.A. Will Stop Residence Change

Certificates Given to Many Players at Meeting

Toronto, Dec. 20—The Ontario Hockey Association took a very important step towards wiping out the nomey scandal, when at a meeting of the executive held in the Lennox Reception suites Friday night, it was decided that probationary certificates only be granted to certain players who have applied for change of residence, and that these certificates be granted conditionally on the understanding that they will not be granted any further change of residence next year in the Ontario Hockey Association, nor will the O.H.A. grant a transfer to any player on this probationary list to any other branch of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The executive also refused a certificate to Pierre Bellefeuille of London, and last season with Iroquois Falls, the player having been on Northern Ontario Hockey Association's probationary list and reported as a transfer by that body to the O.H.A.

The certificates of Walter Molson of Niagara Falls, Walter Kelterborn of Niagara Falls and Michael Brophy of Owen Sound were withheld pending further information, and Hon. Mickey of London must get a transfer from Alberta branch before he will be allowed to play in the O.H.A.

Dr. Hough granted certificates; granted Hone-colleges last Spring, and took residence in Belleville.

J. Munroe and Edward Houck will be granted certificates when transfer and slips are secured from Quebec branch of Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Thomas Meighan Is Featured at Belle

With Two Leading Ladies Opposite in "Tongues Of Flame"

Bessie Love and Eileen Percy share feminine honors in support of Thomas Meighan in his newest Paramount picture, "Tongues of Flame" announced by Joseph Hennabery and coming to the Belle Theatre for a run of three days on Monday next.

The story is an adaptation by Towgend Martin of the last novel by Peter Clark Macfarlane. Cyril Ring, Burton Churchill, John Milters, Nick Thompson and others appear in the cast.

Both girls are in love with Tom in the picture, Miss Love as Lahbert, a little half-breed Indian girl, Miss Percy playing Billie Boland, daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. The two girls were in Los Angeles at the time they were selected for parts in the picture. Inasmuch as the production was to be started within a week at the aParamount Long Island studio, some lively trans-continental traveling had to be effected to be on time for the first scenes.

In the picture Meighan has the role of a returned doughboy who takes up the practic eof law in a small town. After Chateau Thierry and the Argonne, Tom, as "Hell Fire" Harring ton, can't seem to get settled over the petty lawsuits of the little town lodgewater.

Then matters take a sudden turn. A pretty little Indian girl school teacher (Bessie Love) comes to him with the news that the Indians need his aid. The money men of the town are making inroads upon the Indian reservation and the red men suspect something underhand.

The epicture goes on to show how Meighan, first in the employ of the capitalists, then as the Indians' friend straightens the matter out in "Tongues of Flame" is Meighan at his best. See it!

ation.

Ernest Laurie granted transfer from Cornwall Hockey Club, and Bartley Slewin from Niagara Falls Hockey Club.

Charles Lynch, suspended in 1923 at Simcoe, was reinstated.

J. C. Gibson found eligible to play for Kingston Hockey Club.

The Mail Man Is Fine Comedy Drama

At Griffin Monday; Bumper Christmas Entertainment On Thursday

It's a fine treat for a tired mail man to come home at night and soak his feet in a tub of hot water while his wife plays a time on the fiddle. But it's rather hard on mother's clean floors if the mail becomes so excitable that the mail man forgets his latchkey and starts to do a jig in the tub.

"The Mail Man," coming to the Griffin Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is full of amusing touches, so human in their comedy that they mirror each one's own home life. It is these splendid moments of relief from the upward trend of drama in the hands of that Emory Johnson, the director, excels.

Johnson knows the value of break ing into the thread of the plot when details begin to get heavy, to give the audience just a few minutes to digest what has gone before. This deft handling enables his spectators to follow easily each successive step in the story's denouement, and makes his productions highly pleasing.

Besides Ralph Lewis, who plays the title role, "The Mail Man" cast includes Johnnie Walker, Taylor Graves, Josephine Adair, Martha Mercer, Rosemary Cooper, Virginia True Boardman, Dave Kirby and Hardee Kirkland. Most of these favorites appeared in support of Lewis in one of the former Johnson pictures, "The Third Alarm." "In the Name of the Law," or "Westbound Limited."

Emilio Johnson, mothers of the well-known director, is the author of all her son's pictures. They are all released by the Film Booking Offices of America.

The Griffin Theatre management has arranged an exceedingly attractive program for the holiday. Starting Thursday afternoon, patrons will be cheered "The Madonna of the Streets" heralded as one of the greatest motion picture efforts made to date and especially appropriate for Christmas time. In addition there will be a "Gump" comedy, a Charlie Chaplin picture, and a Christmas tree for the small children at 2.30 o'clock Christmas afternoon. Every child is to be presented with a bag of candy.

The Semia Presbytery, at a special meeting yesterday, sustained the call issued by the congregation at Inwood to Rev. H. Hazelstine, of Guthrie. Rev. J. D. Runsalyne, of Brigden was appointed moderator of Guthrie until permanent arrangements are made, and will preach the Guthrie charge vacant on the first Sunday in January.

Mrs. Mary Jerome, of Bothwell, over 80 years old, was found overcome by carbon monoxide gas from the coal stove when Mrs. McLellan, a neighbor, called at her home. Mrs. Jerome lives alone, and it is not known how long she had been unconscious when found. She is critically ill.

A LONG TIME INVESTMENT

In buying a motor car, consider what the cost will be when distributed over a period of years.

What is the car's reputation for satisfactory service after the first year? After the second? And after the third—and fourth?

These considerations, in the final analysis, are the true basis of economy in motoring.

The reputation of Dodge Brothers Motor Car for long and faithful service is definite and universal. Wherever there are judicious buyers it is recognized that the car's staunch construction guarantees owners a long time investment—and a long time satisfaction.

"And then," he said, "I'll steal a kiss,

And turned her face aside.
"Oh, that is very interesting!"
She meekly replied.
"The druids used to hunt for it;
To keep the ghosts from evil;

THE CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL

On Christmas night, the Angels say,
A babe was born far, far away;
A King of Kings to rule and sway
He lay upon His Mother's knee.

From fields afar then shepherds came,
And wondered at His Glorious Name.
A King of men and God indeed a Child,
A Babe so pitiful and mild.

There at His feet they knelt and laid
Their offerings down and humbly prayed.
Oh, 'twas a blessed night to see
The Lord in such simplicity.

And ever since we know it well,
Christmas the children's Festival.
Then Christ came down to reign
To conquer death, and sin, and pain.

A Woman's Soul

Charles Garvice

"But you have gone everything," persisted Doris, in a low voice—"everything! Why—why!" she stopped abruptly, the question sounded a cold and ungraceful one.

But Mr. Spencer Churchill filled up the pause.

"You would—and not unnaturally—ask why I have taken upon myself to interfere in your affairs, dear young lady?"

Doris made a slight gesture of dissent.

"Well, we will not say interfere," he murmured, softly; "we will use the word 'interested.' The question is very easily answered. For one thing, I happened to be on the spot when your poor guardian—but we will not recall the sad scene," he broke off, as Doris winced and her face grew paler. "And the second reason is that I was once a friend of Mr. Jeffrey's.

"A friend?" Doris could not help saying.

He shot a sharp glance at her, unseen by her, and nodded.

"I understand your surprise," he said, nonchalantly; "I will not deserve that I said that I was once a friend. Shall we say, then, that I was an acquaintance?"

"Which you will please tell me everything I should know," said Doris, "I am ashamed that I should have left everything so entirely."

"Oh," he murmured. "Such a terrible bereavement as yours, so sudden, so overwhelming that no excuse is needed." He took some papers from his pocket. "I will not trouble you more than I can avoid with business matters, my dear young lady; but there are a few formal things I must speak to you about. First, I must ask you whether, in the event of anything you would rather I went to who would take this trouble off your hands?"

Doris shook her head.

"I adhere to my plan," she said quietly enough and with a firm voice. "I am sure you will act for me better."

"Except—dare I say except my humble self?" he murmured. "But, my young lady, what little I have done after the sad event has given me satisfaction. I have felt all through that by serving you in every way possible—I have been making an attempt at some poor return for the error that separated my poor dead friend and myself. Will you allow me to call myself your friend?"

CHRISTMAS COOKIES

The following recipes will be found to be real friends to the housekeeper who, like most of us, is too busy to devote long hours to "fussing," but who wants something a little more special, something so good it will turn everyone into an "Oliver Twist" and bid them do like "hot cakes" and they have the added advantage of being inexpensive.

Tea Cakes

1 cup shortening (preferably butter)
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
1 tspn. soda
½ tspn. salt
1 cup chopped nutmeats
2½ cups flour

Cream the shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add the eggs and continue to beat. Sift flour, salt and soda three times and add with the nuts to the first mixture. Pack in a mold and leave in the refrigerator overnight. Cut on a board and slice with a sharp knife as thin as possible. Bake at 400 degrees.

Surprise Cookies

2-4 cup sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup sour cream
1 egg
¼ tspn. soda
1 tspn. baking powder
½ tsn. salt.
2 cups flour

Cream butter, add sugar, egg well beaten and the sour cream. Mix and sift dry incredients and add to the first mixture. Roll to a quarter of an inch in thickness and cut in small rounds. On half the rounds put a bit of jam or cote filling. Cover with the remaining rounds and press edges together. This makes 18 cookies.

Walnut Wafers

Break 2 eggs into bowl; add 1 cup white sugar. Stir well. Add 1 cup walnut meats chopped and 2-4 cup sifted flour. Drop on butter pans and bake in quick oven.

Brownies

1 cup melted butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
2 tspns. buttermilk
2½ cups white flour
1 tspn. cinnamon
1 tspn. soda
1 tspn. salt
1 cup nuts (dissolved in hot water)
1 lb. dates
½ lb. walnuts plenty flour

Mix as usual and drop on buttered pans, 1 small teaspoonful at a time. Bake in fairly good oven.

fed from your own clover fields, and made into delicious sausage and boney provided at Christmas, each you missed a treat if you omitted the sausage.

I know a man who looks eagerly among his Christmas packages until he finds his box of pleasure or orange marmalade, each jelly glass wrapped in cranes-colored tissue tied with a narrow ribbon, and a green sticker on it. This has been the annual custom of mother's Mother; a look of unrivalled disillusionment at such sights greeted by an adult. At the memory of that article, however, the face lights and he says, "Oh, Delicia.

Right here, Delicia." Mother's manner was delightfully mysterious and important. "I'm glad you've not forgotten Santa Claus, darling. There is a Santa Claus, you know, and he is very real indeed. That's where the surprise comes in. You see, some Santa Clauses can tell their little children about the Santa Claus that comes with reindeer and sleigh. It's a lovely make-believe story, just like when you play school and keep house.

Delicia's eyes were fixed on her mother's face in unbroken attention.

"The real Santa Claus smiled Mother, "is right in here." She placed her hand on Delicia's thumping little heart. "It's the love you have for other people. It's the thing that makes you want to be kind and to deliver happy."

Mother paused impressively. "This is the big surprise. You and Mother and Daddy are very happy, and all children who are big enough, and all the grown-ups are the Santa Clauses. All over the world are Santa Claus there are millions. But you won't tell that secret to the little boys and girls.

"No," promised Delicia breathlessly. "I won't."

"You see," Mother was careful to explain, "Ted isn't big enough yet to understand. We'll have to wait a year or two before he will know and he won't be her surprised!"

Delicia's eyes were twin blue stars.

"And now, you new young Santa Clause, get busy," commanded Mother. "You'll have to help me now with the Christmas work, and you must begin on that string while I tie the knot."

And Delicia, thrilled and happy with happy importance, pressed her chubby finger on the gold cord.

The Santa Claus myth had been explained without unhappiness or disillusionment for Delicia, and the gift worth while had been given to take the myth's place.

May Peace and Joy with you abide

And Health and Wealth and Love

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Christmas is the best time of the year to teach the children the proper spirit of giving. Encourage them to think more about giving pleasure to those who have very little and less about their own things. Do not give them too much for Christmas. Many think there is nothing more nerve-trying than a blase, surfeited youngster. Teach your kiddies to divide up.

REMEMBER THE BIRDS

A bird's Christmas Tree is an inexpensive bit of charity and is often highly entertaining. Decorate an outdoor tree that is the children do it) with cranberries, bits of crum and suet and watch the feathered guests arrive. In Scandinavia they have a pretty custom. The farmer puts a sheaf of grain at the top of a long pole. We know of one family who, when Christmas is over and the decorations off the tree, redecorate that tree for the birds and then "plant" it in the snow for the birdies to feed from. The boys and girls of that family do it; besides getting a goo ideal of fun and pleasure watching, their guests

AN OLD CUSTOM

A friend told me of having been in London (England) one Christmas Eve a few years ago. Shortly after darkness had fallen on the city, the "waits" began to appear on the streets and in a short time delightful carols were being wafted towards us the frosty air. The spirit of Christmas was in the air. The singing, she said, gave thrills up and down her spine. It is a pleasant old observance that ought to be kept up. There are certain organizations on this side of the water that are trying to create more interest in "carolling. The Salvation Army, for instance have been pioneering in this direction. But I wonder if musical organizations are doing their share i

A MESSAGE FROM SANTA CLAUS

It was the Saturday before Christmas. All the shops were gay with lights and bustle. The big store where Santa Claus Brick Top sold his papers was all rush and hurry everywhere. Brick Top himself was the lonely little fellow that nobody seemed to care much about. Indeed, he was the only person on a corner that had given him a bare living in food and clothes. He was not at all good company, as paper selling goes, for not many people bought papers of him. Parents Brick Top had made each day's sale of papers a matter of life and death to get a bed by sleeping at other boys' houses and a meal now and then to keep warm.

Yet, Brick Top sold papers but just at the coming of Christmas tyde, when everybody bought papers, he had to be left behind to take the wind and go somewhere else, for they wanted the corner. Sad, indeed.

Crying was not going to do much good and our little man sat down in the wind behind the big store and began to think what to do, for it seemed every corner was taken by other boys.

As Brick Top sat there, his bundle of unsold papers at his feet, he was not allowed to sell in the store, his eyes caught sight of a placard that read, "A Message from Santa Claus". Now, the year before, Santa had lost poor Brick Top's address and Brick Top was not so interested as he would be now but still he couldn't help reading what it said and it said that Santa Claus had sent a message from the North, that he was on the way and the messengers were a lot of Snowflakes. Brick Top thought that the lonely, he here very grimy and snowflakes at the very door of this store but a little later reading told him that it was the Snowflakes that lived in the snowbird from the north that was meant.

Brick Top read more and it said that Santa Claus was on the way hesitating to the birds and feeding them and providing nourishing food for Santa Claus.

It only took this and little lad about two seconds to read where the birds lived and he was off to look for a tree in the country. It took almost his last penny.

Now, by good fortune, an old gentleman was just coming out of the store, Brick Top and when the car got to the end of the line, a big flock of birds was noticed in a field, dying in waves, all scented and rising up only to settle down again, their white markings making it seem like a wave of snowflakes falling.

"Now, my little man, have you anything to sell, old gentleman.

"They certainly are messages from the north, for they are not seen here much.

"Will they go back to Santa?" asked the boy, as he looked at the crowd.

"Yes, my boy, they certainly came from that part of the world and just what they will do, I cannot say, but I shall be very much interested in them.

"Well, I should say so, my boy, they certainly are something and I want it fixed so I can keep it" longingly remarked Brick Top.

"Well," smiled the fine old man, "I'll meet you up on that stump and you can look to the Snowflakes, just what you want, maybe they will take you to Santa's back to Santa".

No sooner said than done. With one leap that news boy was on the stump and looking in the direction of the birds. "Tell Santa I am Brick Top and I have been a newsboy for years in the Store and some big boys took it and I have been left behind and now am in a outstuck!"

The old man smiled and Brick Top felt all must be well especially as the old man invited him to a nice supper and meal how he did eat. He learned all about Snowflakes and how we love the birds because they are so charming to us and many other nature things he learned from the old man and the two departed good friends after supper but the old man asked Brick Top to meet him at one of the busiest corners on Christmas morning, a corner where perfect stacks of papers were sold every day.

Would Brick Top meet him? Well, I guess he would and he did not forget that Santa Claus would miss him again and he was now he was always certain that this kind faced old gentleman would help him a nice hot meal on Thanksgiving.

Sure enough, Christmas arrived. Brick Top shared a little in some cheap candy that one of his friends got and he had slept in a hallway and had a fine building, the best place he could find and Santa Claus had, it seems, been very busy, for when he went out into the softly falling snow he found a new kind of Snowflakes had not heard his wish or had failed to carry the message to Santa Claus.

He went direct to the' corner. He knew this place well, it was one of the finest paper selling corners in the city and had been held by an old woman for years but she had died in the winter and all the news boys were fighting to have this corner.

When Brick Top arrived at the corner, it was near ten thirty and already a big crowd of news boys were there but no old man. Again disappointed? Could it be? No old man? There was a policeman but no old man. Poor Brick Top was about to go when someone yelled "Here he is!" and he was spotted and there, by side the policeman, was a big sign that read, "By order of the Police, the cor- sell."

FASHIONS & FOIBLES
by Shirley Sharon

For the dilletante, the bridesmaid or the bride, nothing fills the eye so satisfactorily as the period frock with its fitted bodice and bouffant skirt.

Fox the dinners and dances and theater parties that run through a young girl's season to the wedding that so often ends it, the frocks that are not the slimmest and that please the most are the robe de style with their full skirts, fitted bodices and lovely colors. A bouffant skirt of rosy tulle with jeweled satin bodice and pale green slipper and feathers around sleeves of lemon yellow and small gold orange, a frock of Nattier-blue taffeta and dark-blue satin around plaited mauve flowers, or rose-geranium chiffon velvet with flowers of silver gilt are charming for either evening frocks or bridesmaids' dresses. For the bride herself, the gown should be of white satin embroidered with roses in pearls, and crystals and worn with orange-blossoms.

"Sickness Stalked Into This Happy Little Home"

When Jim Harrow moved into his pretty little bungalow on cottage he thought he had reached the height of happiness. Jim wife and his baby boy loudly voiced their pleasure, too. Everything seemed to be "breaking right" for him.

Then baby days didn't last long. Sickness fell upon Mrs. Harrow. "He took a pain in my back," she said, "and rheumatism," she said. But Jim knew how serious attacks of kidney trouble weakened her, so he called in a doctor. The doctor found that Mrs. Harrow had developed a complicated kidney affection. Jim took his wife to a specialist, who quickly confirmed the doctor's verdict. "Consumption," he said. Husband and wife started to work on the hopeless misery, but they could not. Mrs. Harrow grew worse and the doctor in charge sent her at last to Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives will Mrs. Harrow on her arrival reports, but she must go now—no delay.

A kindly matron, Miss Lowe, cares for the baby and Jim Harrow keeps his pluck by himself. Every few days all the postmen have a letter which tells how kind nurses and careful doctors are doing their utmost to bring back the health that is gone. Jim knows that by the time the letters will cease for she will almost ready to come back to the little white cottage.

Should you wish to have a hand in such worthwhile work as this, just send your contribution to Hon. Peter Smith, Treasurer, 347 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

"Consumption Is No Respecter of Persons"

In one of the glistening, beautiful rooms of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Hazel Burton is playing a new checkers game with Dr. Agnes Campbell Macphail, M.A., the Toronto University, while Jim was a laborer in another city. Of course, that was before both knew that they were victims of consumption.

Hazel Burton was a society man, say some, and he is particularly well known in English literature. His home is in Westcott, Ontario. Hazel's mother is consumptive, too, and it was he who insisted that his mother Hazel went back to school last fall, that he might complete his course. Then symptoms developed and Hazel, in his early manhood, was forced to leave his studies and come to the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. "For hundreds of others, "consumption is no respecter of persons," and it may strike as sick as my self," he says. He is improving well and was a student. He worked hard for his health. He had no regard for his life. He had no good home surroundings. He had no money. He had no nurse. He had no doctor.

Hazel Burton is one of many. Will you help him? And with that Harry smiles a little and settles down to his checkers and nature fight the silent struggle for health.

Harry and Jim are but two of the thousands who are entirely dependent on the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. The Hospital itself relies on the generosity of its many friends.

Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Court Case Ends In Happy Manner

And Crown Attorney Gives Young Couple Wedding Present

St. Marys, Dec. 20.—"And Jacob served seven years for Rachel and they seemed to him but a few days for the love he had to her," so it is written in the Scriptures.

But this week in St. Marys citizens were happy to note the pleasing termination of another sentence, for the love of woman in this case, however, only seven days. As in the ancient story as related in Genesis, it was the father of the woman who imposed the sentence, though in the modern version it was not done intentionally.

All of which just leads up to the so-called Towle abduction case, wherein a charge was laid against Howard Church, of Toronto, for abducting Mary Towle, a well-known and pretty young resident of the Stone Town. Mr. Church was employed here this summer in connection with the apple evaporator and met Miss Mary. He was tremendously attracted and so was she. Naturally they decided to get married. Omitting to "tell dad" they started off to Toronto, where they intended to be made one. Mr. Towle hearing of the journey, naturally thought, since his daughter was not quite 18 years of age, that she was being abducted and laid a charge to that effect.

The young couple were brought back and the young man remanded to jail, where he served seven days. That it had not cooled his ardor was apparent when he came before Magistrate Makins for the disposal of his case. The charge was withdrawn and he was discharged when he explained that he simply wanted to marry the girl, already his, and still wanted to.

"Better wait six months and get married decently," suggested Col. J. McPherson, K.C., Crown Attorney.

"Well, I don't know where she might be in six months and I don't want to take any chances on losing her," replied the modern Jacob.

"What about you, do you want to get married too?" asked the Crown of the blushing Mary.

"Yes, of course I do," said she.

"Well, I don't blame you," said the Crown, "here's something to buy a wedding present with."

Something was a $5 bill and so they were married and like true lovers, expect to live happily ever afterwards.

The French capital on Wednesday evening was drowned in a pressure far equal to the London variety and of a severity never experienced there before.

PEOPLE STAYED HOME

Some Preferred to Hear Christmas Services on The Radio

The cold wave from the west, where the bottom has almost fallen out of the thermometer, struck Belleville at a never feel the cold," reached Belleville Saturday, and is still spending itself as the expense of many who may love Canada, but just tolerate her in winter.

Old timers who have seen many cold waves approaching might have intended to approach even before noon, time Saturday, when everything indicated a decided turn. A stiff wind with frosty breath swept across the city Saturday and made its presence felt. Throughout the afternoon, the mercury tumbled, with changing winds and bursts of bright sunshine kept the temperature from falling very low.

Saturday's highest temperature was 36 degrees above, but when the wind lowered Saturday night and the mercury descended to northwester continued to descend until the low point of three degrees below zero was reached Saturday outside December 30th, 1923 very nearly breaking the record of 10 below for on the same day last year the high mark was 42 degrees above and the low mark, 30 degrees above—was the date the highest mark on the same days this year by five degrees.

It was left for Sunday, however, to turn the tide in real comparison when during Sunday morning the temperature dropped to 10 degrees below and at ten "degrees" below zero. The highest temperature throughout Sunday was four degrees above. On the corresponding date last year, the highest temperature was 45 and the lowest 28 above.

Churches Were Effected

Truly, Sunday had a very busy yesterday, the sirens being almost completely deserted throughout the day. The cold and the cold snap held down the church attendance and the many appropriate Christmas services, with special musical services were followed by those who did not choose to brave the elements.

Throughout the early hours of the morning didn't necessarily magnetize Sun day, but as the day progressed and the mercury soon, were willing to accept the proffered warmth. Everyone also who happened to know, that it was the coldest day this season and was satisfied to remain in the family hearth.

The radio world was a-buzz Sunday. In Belleville many were at pains to get church pews, it should not be accepted as fact, that they had the best church music and Christmas sermons in the more prominent church. Many excellent services of Christmas music, with Christmas sermons were in evidence last evening, and many "tuned in" to hear the old but ever interesting old message.

Of course the coal man is working overtime, but he is not the only one to enjoy soo. He knows that it is heavy trade which causes the rich harvest. Quite clear ice in Quinte Bay, which now is the scene of much work at cutting nature's harvest, for use here next summer.

The electric fans were seen in action soon to produce cool air current to the chilly breeze of summer, not to scare the pesky fly either—but to deal with the reverse of and produce cold formation of nimble Jack Frost's native caricatures on window panes, through which Christmas shoppers could see the tastefully arranged Christmas goods.

Old man Frost has evidently gently whispered on Imp Frost's tail, for weather predictions have not been forthcoming for somewhere with more snow. This should please everyone, for the coldest and severest cold weather is regarded as being Canada's best—the real "Christmassy" weather.

CHURCHES RING WITH MESSAGE OF CHRISTMAS

Old, Old Story Is Told in Song and Sermon

Christmas Season One For Children and Mother Preacher Says

The Christmas spirit was very apparent yesterday, as in all the churches of the city, special services, marked by Christmas music and carols, were held. The attendance at the various churches was fairly good, considering the extremely cold weather. A good deal of preparation has been put on the music by the respective choirs and the result was very pleasing. The sermons generally were based on the Christmas story, and the worshippers who made the effort to attend the services were amply repaid by an spirit of the spirit, and a deeper appreciation of the significance of Christmas.

In Bridge St. Methodist Church the Junior Choir assisted the regular choir, forming an ensemble of about sixty voices. Messrs. M. Young, violinist, Elliott with the violin cello, and R. Hinchey with the piano, supplied special music. Dr. F. E. Malott spoke on how to make Christmas. He pointed out that Christmas is a universal festival in Christian lands, and that it is of the greatest importance that Christ spirit better than those of the first century, because we know Him better. He said that this season was not a time of joy and happiness. This it was Mother's day, because the Mother of Christ was honoured on the day of his birth. It was also children's day. The bottom would fall out of Christmas if it were not for the children. All the planning for this season had particular reference to children. Even the star in the sky shining on others, a time for unselfishness, a joyful, forgiving time, when we think widely of those people who would lead Christ to bring them joy and peace. He told of a beautiful custom in Bethlehem when the priest goes to the temple and finds the doors open with all the people light tapers and then go with them, slightly the spread of light.

In the evening, Dr. Malott traced back the origin of the Christmas carol and spoke with special reference to the carols which were sung in the course of the evening.

Communion Services

Communion services were held in St. Andrew's and John Street Presbyterian churches in the morning. Mr. Ramsay spoke in the former and Mr. Wilson of the Christ in the morning at John St. church. In the evening Mr. Herr of St. Andrew's preached on the Nativity. At the same hour Rev. Mr. Rice in St. Andrew's the C.G.I.T. took charge and conducted their vivid service.

At the Baptist church the Junior choir assisted in the morning. After the evening the choir rendered as a Cantata, the Story of Bethlehem. The soloists were Miss Evelyn MacLaurin, Mrs. Doolittle, Mr. Percy Hall and Mr. McCormick. Mr. Mc-Cormick took as his theme, "The Angel and the Shepherds" and his subject was the Spirit of Christmas.

Rev. C. C. Clarke preached on the Significance of Christmas in the morning service in Christ Anglican church.

A selected service will be held in Jones St. Church on Wednesday morning when Dr. Brown will preach.

Japan Is Revolting Against Modern Hop

Women Are Organizing to Restore Nature Dances Of Nippon.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Tokio, Dec. 22—Japan is staging a revolt against modern dances. Roused from a retirement of five years by the gaining popularity of foreign dances among her people, Mrs. Kima Hayashi, once reputed to be the most beautiful woman in Japan, has issued a call to arms—or to feet—to restore the native dances of Nippon. Mrs. Hayashi will return to the footlights herself to lead the crusade.

"There is dancing in Japan, handed down by our ancestors," said Mrs. Hayashi recently. "These old dances are just as beautiful as any form of foreign dancing. They are expressive of the fox-trot and other foreign dances."

Mrs. Hayashi has a stage in course of construction at Ichikihara, and she purposes to perform the traditional dancing of her nationality. She has already won considerable support, notably Kogoshi, the wife of Count Molsoni, the art critic, who are credited with having inspired Mrs. Hayashi to emerge from her retirement to take up the standard of the dance of old Japan as opposed to the petite pirouetting of the Occident.

THE PROTECTION OF OUR TIMBER

(From L'Evanement, Quebec.)

The forest domain of the Province of Quebec has been up till now its main source of wealth. Three-fifths of the Laurentine country is only suitable for forestation or wood industries. We have never taken seriously the warning of foreigners, who have loudly predicted the impending denuding of our forests. The intervention of an important paper manufacturer such as Mr. Riermans, president of the Canada Paper Co., is somewhat of a surprise to the public. This expert declares himself in favor of an embargo to stop the export of pur unmanufactured timber. The reasons given by him are grave ones. He believes that within the next twenty-five years our present forest reserves now under exploitation will be exhausted and that there will remain only forests of less value and not of easy access. Only men versed in the industry and officers of the Department of Lands and Forests can appreciate the value of this opinion. But the people will naturally feel inclined to accept it, more so because the late Sir William Price was also of Mr. Bierman's opinion.

When the Federal Government secured permission from Parliament to enforce an embargo on pulpwood this (L'Evenement) protested. It was not because we were, in principle, opposed to this protective measure but we were opposed to the system of leaving such important matters to be ruled by Orders-in-Council and because we believed that the Province alone had the right to pass a law of this character, as it affected the exploitation of one of our natural resources. In the question of Fisheries the highest tribunal of the Empire has ruled that the rights of the Provinces were above those of the Central Government. It should most certainly be the case in regard to forests which have been conceded to the Provinces by the Federal pact. In the fisheries question there was a distinction made between Provincial fisheries and Federal fisheries. There can be no such confusion in connection with the forests because they are all held either by individuals or by the Provincial governments. If the situation of our forest industries is precarious it is the duty of the Legislature of the Province of Quebec to look into the question and to settle it. We hope it will look into this matter at the next session.

There are evidently the rights of wood merchants (who do not own limits) and the interests of colonization. The first will undoubtedly suffer if their business is subordinate, as are other business, to the economic administration of the country. The embargo question has been agitated for the last 18 months or more; they therefore cannot argue that they are taken by surprise. For the settlers, if there is already a scarcity of wood being felt it will likely be easy to organize the sale of their wood to the large Canadian mills. It may be that such a policy would cause them some apprehension but they will soon find its advantageous results expressed and enhanced profits in the pulp and paper industries. The Province of Quebec by protecting the huge capital invested in these industries will serve the interests of all classes; for Mr. Biermans says, instead of receiving only 10 millions, as we actually do, from our exportations of wood, we should receive 70 millions. The difference, from a general viewpoint, will compensate for the troubles which the embargo would cause, and the colonist is a category of merchants somewhat few in number.

HOLD UP BELLEVILLE

Local faint-hearts who profess to doubt the possibility of Peterboro staging a successful old home week should gain a little courage from the experience of Belleville.

The Quinte City held a United Empire Loyalist celebration last summer and scored such a triumph that the community is coming right back next year with an old home week under the committees already heralds as a peace celebration of such an ambitious nature that it will attract thousands, instead of hundreds.

There is room for more enterprise or vision in Belleville than there is in Peterboro, nor can the former have anything more to offer its old boys and girls—Corbyville excepted—than the latter.

And yet we find Belleville going blithely ahead with plans for the second big celebration in two years, while we in Peterboro stand idly on the brink, afraid to take the plunge because a few citizens have suggested that the water might be cold.—Peterboro Examiner.

A U.E.L. MEMORIAL HIGHWAY

We know of no suggested highway that would be more appropriate or that would meet with more popular favor than the mooted U.E. Loyalist memorial highway along the waterfront road from Kingston on through to Bath and Adolphustown, says the Kingston Standard. Quite apart from the fact that from a scenic standpoint this road cannot be surpassed in all Canada, skirting as it does the waterfront for a full 30 miles or thereabouts, there is something singularly appealing and appropriate in the idea that this road—the first ever laid out in Canada—should be dedicated for all time as a Memorial Highway to the U.E. Loyalists who first settled in the district through which this road runs and who, steadfast to British institutions and British principles, there laid the very foundation for the Ontario that is to-day.

When we consider that in the United States they have a fer-dinag Lincoln Memorial highway, constructed in their great civil war President, Abraham Lincoln, surely it would seem but fitting and appropriate that to commemorate not alone the loyalty but, as well, the deeds and the virtues of our early settlers—not one man, but many men and women—this U. E. Loyalist Memorial Highway should be consecrated to them and to their works and worth.

We feel sure that the Government at Toronto when the matter is officially laid before it, will not turn a deaf ear to so glorious and worthy a project.

WHERE WILL YOU SPEND CHRISTMAS

In all the cycle of the year there is no time that brings families together more than Christmas. Though you were at the ends of the earth, you would long to be home for Christmas, and if it were at all possible you would be there. In the long ago when travelling facilities were limited, people journeyed many weary miles and endured much hardship that they might be with friends and loved ones on Christmas day. To-day it is so different. The modern railway enables you to cross the continent in a few days and so easily. This year there promises to be the usual heavy Christmas and New Year travel, north, south, east and west and in order that you may reach your destination as comfortably and speedily as possible the railway officials have always are making preparations far in advance. Everything is going to pay for the travelling expenses of relatives or friends from out of town, and will replace the money in the hands of the bereaved relatives. Red is the line of demarkation between the travelling public and the railway officials. Red is for hours. When travelling this Christmas or New Year remember this fact.

WOMAN ALWAYS PAYS

Toronto Dec. 22—The smuggling of silk materials, particularly dresses, into Canada, has dropped off owing to the vigilance of the customs officers at the ports of entry and here.

Within the past few days officials held up a Toronto woman's trunk, and after going through it declined to take any part over $100 of her property as they say duty. The officials reached this decision after weighing, and collected duty of over $2,100.

Now, why should Great Britain, who for her friend's sake has become the heaviest taxed country in the world, hesitate to ask France in her turn to pay up? To the very least it seems but reasonable.

The reason some fellows have money is that when you try to get it away from them with a logging chain the chain always breaks.

To-day's Smile

An Irishman went into a Chicago store, and says he: "Did you put in the papers you wanted a man?"

"Yes," said the storekeeper, "and I distinctly stated that all applications must be sent by mail."

"Ah, faith, an' it's mesilf that's a male, sure," says Pat, and he was hired.

Thirty Years Ago

The river, uncorded by ice, was pouring waters into the bay. The Christmas trip to Montmagny is in progress.

Hotel keepers had great difficulty to-day in finding accomodation for the enormous number of visitors that conveyed the farmers to the city.

Mr. Corby, M.P., was last night presented at his office with a handsomely engrossed copy of the address prepared in his honor at last year's demonstration. The work, which was done by Miss McLean, is very handsomely executed.

Mrs. Bennett's boarding house in West Belleville is now known among the students of Ontario Business College as "The Nova Scotia House," from the fact that there are at present six O. B. C. students from that province boarding there. Two more Nova Scotians and one from New Brunswick are expected during the week. The attendance from the Atlantic Provinces is larger now than at any previous period in the 26 years of the institution's history.

IMPOSES STIFF FINE

Peterboro, Dec. 22—Joseph D. Woods appearing in the police court Friday morning on a liquor charge, was fined $500 and costs with an alternative of three months in jail. He pleaded guilty, and it is understood will serve the prison term.

Hazel Payne was sentenced to not less than three months, and not more than two years in the Reformatory on a charge of vagrancy.

Letters to Editor

UNION BROUGHT PEACE TO PRESBYTERIANS

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Sir—Most folk admit that Church Union is a fine goal. Its practical working calls for something like the powers of darkness. Some however, doubt the practicality of it. Let me say that I have had a fairly wide observation. I have been a member of our Synod's Committee on Union since it was first set up. While attending missions I was ex-officio a member of all the Union Committees of Presbyterians in the Synod. I had much to do in guiding meetings, congregations, and in organizing charges that had become united. I have watched the practical working of these charges with care, and I submit that the summary of results cannot be gainsaid. There has been at least as great a spirit of harmony in United Charges in Manitoba as here ever was in Presbyterian Charges.

I was clerk of Synod for twenty-three years, and as such was painfully familiar with factional fights, in purely Presbyterian charges, that had to be reheard before Synod, because of Appeals from Presbyterian findings. I have had some experience on Committees trying to reconcile parties estranged from each other within purely Presbyterian congregations—never always with success. I only recall one instance of a United Charge finding it so difficult to get on that they sought divorce. I cannot recall an instance of Committees going into Union Charges to assist in reconciling estranged parties. In fact United in Manitoba has done more to make for peace and harmony than any other influence.

Union is the result of observations. I can bear testimony from actual experience. I am the pastor of a United Charge, Union is the sum of any charges along denominational lines. The Union is real. There is on the part of both Presbyterians and Methodists a sincere desire to recognize the rights and privileges of each other. They succeed in matters of mutual respect in a splendid manner. And why not? The children attend the same schools—farmers take their meeting, without respect to religious denomination—Methodist and Presbyterians cut together in the same class—the young people attend the same social functions—they intermarry—why require two sets of churches? Harmonized in everything, but in the one institution that should harmonize all other relations? The people are one and folly of separation in the Lord's sight and the Church's that do "take end," and the emotion carried.

I have been told that there are Presbyterians in some places who are actual afraid that the Methodists will "ruin the roost". The facts are that union in its practical working just stops all this fool rivalry and enables the workers to face the common foe to which the Master has called them.

The rule of three applied successfully to the apron front and sleeve trimming of a French frock of wool, crêpe de lenaud with black braid.

Astrachan and English women with their height and slimness carry the French tier and multiple apron effects even better than the shorter and often plumper Parisienne. A Roumanian princess, born in England, dressed in Paris and seen in New York made a vivid picture seated in one of the red lacquered chairs of the Ritz lounge and wearing a French frock of dark-blue wool crêpe, a scarf of butteryellow crêpe de Chine with ends of the crêpe turned over her shoulders. Even in wool materials such a frock is suitable for luncheon and tea.

Rings Loyalty Note For Anti-Unionists

Col. W. N. Ponton Speaker At Toronto Meeting Last Week

As loyalty to traditions had brought to the British Empire the wonders of unionism and envy of the world, so would loyalty to the founders and traditions of the Church ensure continuance of Presbyterianism in Canada. Present disruption would pass into the discard; pro-unionists could not force the loyalties from the Church of their fathers. The union question was an adventure, "a myth." There was no quarrel with the Methodists; they had "played the game."

Such was the message which endorsed over 350 persons in Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, last week. The audience numbered representatives. Remarks of Rev. J. D. Cunningham, D.D., of Welland; Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., Belleville, and Allen Roe, of Knox College, who were seated on the platform with the chairman, John Macdonald, and also the viewpoint of the women's given by Miss Margaret M. Allen, of Hamilton. Churches represented in the gathering were: Cooke's, New and Old St. Andrew's, St. Enoch's, St. Giles and St. James' Square. Rev. Dr. Wm. Patterson, R. J. McLennan, K.C., and other ministers were present.

"When we come to the crisis of the cross-roads the old fidelity of the United Empire Loyalists speaks in Belleville," declared Col. Ponton. "We must honor the grand old men of the past whose work continueth. In the British Empire the veins are millions, but the heart is one. It is a glorious heritage we have; we are co-trustees. . . . that we're alert and active. Vigilance is the price of safety.

Stand Fast

"Let's go out and defend the good truth we've heard. To doubt is disloyalty. Ye, in the West, Stand! That's the note. We want to realize there's victory in the air. We're going to win. (Applause.) Church union is an experiment, a trial. It is a time now of brods and patches, without form and void. There are many conscientious unionists, and there are others who should be ensured all the Presbyterian. We have the right to express righteous indignation with regards to them.

Referring to the Methodists, Col. Ponton remarked: "Do you think when the unionist come with empty hands and we have gifts they will be welcomed? (Applause). We're going to fly right here and we have the churches. What we have we hold." That's the British motto, and it stands good. What would Canada be without the Presbyterian Church? There would be many bare and bald places.

Allen Roe Played the Game

"However, I hope nothing will be said against the doctrine of the Methodist Church, in the Presbyterian Church. They have played the game. We have enough faults of our own not to criticize others." (Applause).

Col. Ponton read in the unionists' attitude: "Deliver unto me your congregation, body and soul; it is your test, your task." "Thank God, no," he said; "they will deliver neither body nor soul to any country, no church courts, no Parliament can change the core or soul of the Presbyterian Church." (Applause.)

FIERY CROSS SEEN IN CITY OF WINDSOR

Windsor, Dec. 22—At the rear of the City Hall, near police headquarters, a fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan blazed last night. The cross was made of two-by-four seantling and was over eight feet high.

Queen Mother Is Kept Well Posted

Although Eighty, She Leads A very Active Life

London, Dec. 22—Even at her country home in Yorkshire to which she retired a year ago, Queen Alexandra has not lost her touch with the affairs of London with which she has been associated for more than half a century. The hundreds of hostesses who entertain during the season, like the royal family, always remember the Queen Mother and she receives invitations to all affairs just as she did when she lived at Marlborough House, across the park from her son's home.

Whenever a dinner or party is given by anyone whose position allows, an invitation is sent to the Queen Mother and this is usually followed by a note of regret and an expression of thanks. Little account of the affair, with the names of the guests, the dresses and other details is sent to her. When the Queen first retired to Sandringham most of her friends made regular trips to visit her, but during the last few months her physician has demanded that she give up the fatigue of these visits and it is now only through the post that she can hear of the neighborhood gossip.

When Queen Alexandra moved into Marlborough House she continued to keep open house for the many members of the royal family who enjoyed the relief of entry to the palace under the genial Edward. The custom is still maintained at Sandringham and there she hardly a day when some member of the family is not the guest of the Queen Mother.

The king and queen have spent several weeks with her at Sandringham this year, and each of the princes has paid a visit to his grandmother. Recently before the arrival of Princess Mary came to London they were taken over to see their grandmother, and all the same time their great grandchildren, the Duchess Empress of Russia, the Grecian Queen Olga of Greece, and their aunt, Princess Victoria, who is her mother's constant companion.

Queen Alexandra, who is eighty years old, still takes a daily walk through her gardens to visit her kennels, for she is an ardent lover of dogs and has no less than 15 pets. Reading the newspapers is also much of daily task of the aged queen and her usually supplement it by sending a few letters, generally on public matters, for she has never ceased to take an interest in the story of the Royal Burials and children's homes, which she has fostered since she came to England 61 years ago.

Socialists Would Make Nobility Pay

Suggest Graded Fee For All Titles in France

Paris, Dec. 22—Nobility will be obliged to pay the state heavily for its titles if a Socialist decree is passed at the May. If not, some extremists say, titles in France may be abolished entirely.

The Socialists propose the following scale: To use a hyphenated name, 500 francs a year; to use the "de" that denotes noble origin, 1,000 francs; to write oneself down a knight will cost 2,000 francs; baronz will have to pay 5,000; a viscount 10,000; count, 20,000; marquis, 30,000; dukes from 50,000 to 200,000, and princes from 100,000 to 250,000.

The government thus far refuses to adopt this proposition, but has resorted to law abolishing the use of titles altogether.

Meantime the holders of titles are not particularly alarmed, for they recall that the successful efforts to abolish titles were made in 1882, 1883, 1922 and 1906. Prince de Faucigny-Lucinge, one of the purest blooded of French nobility, when asked his opinion of the proposed suppression, replied: "What difference does it make? A title is bought and sold like a share in the stock market, when it is not simply assumed or usurped. There were 30,000 genuine noble families in France when the Third Republic was born; none have been created since, but there are now something like 300,000 families with titles or pretcire. The title has no importance, it is the real estate, the land and the name of very old French families can get along quite well without titles."

Report C.N.R. Has Leased the Scribe

To Cover Forty-Five Year Period; Office Space Reserved

Montreal, Dec. 22—It is stated in an official announcement made from the Headquarters of the Canadian National Railways here that the property purchased by the system last year at the corner of the Rue Scribe and Boulevard des Capucines, in Paris, has been leased to a well-known hotel company, of which the manager is M. Ruhl, of Paris. The lease is for 45 years at an annual rental which will work to the railway five percent, on the cost of the property, the hotel company paying all taxes on the property (less) insurance. In addition to this, the lessee grants to the Canadian National Railways free quarters for office purposes on the street floor level, this arrangement to continue during the life of the lease. The space to be occupied by the Canadian Railroad is estimated to have a rental value of $600,000 for the period of the lease. An offer of that amount having been refused. The hotel company intends immediately, at its own expense, to put the premises in suitable condition for first class hotel purposes. At the expiration of the lease the property and all improvements revert to the Canadian National Railways.

Bought for $2,733,025.

Ottawa, Dec. 22—The Hotel Scribe was purchased in 1923 by the Canadian National Railways for the purpose of securing the continued existence of the company. The total cost was $2,733,025, including cost of property taxes, imposts and removal of tenants, according to questions answered in the House of Commons last session by Hon Jeco. P. Graham, Minister of Railways. In 1923 the taxes on the property were $10,329.65.

CABINET MINISTER IS TO BE COAL MINER

London, Dec. 22—Frank Hodges came from the coal mines of England to be House of Commons, thence to the post of C.B. Lord of the Admiralty in the Labor Government, and now he is going back to the mines.

Hodges lost his Commons seat in the last election. His old job as secretary of the Miners' Federation had been filled when he resigned to take the Cabinet office. His pay of $5,000 a year as Cabinet officer has of course ended.

"I feel that I can do my work with the miners of Great Britain, and in all probability I shall return to my old occupation," he says in to-day's Daily Herald, the Labor organ.

The paper, commenting on this points out that as a miner he will earn more than $1,000 a year, less also than any clerk in the Government department of which he was head.

OLD LIBRARY IS TO HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHT

Paris, Dec. 22—The National Library as capitulated to the demands of its readers and will put in a system of electric lighting. No longer will it be necessary to close the reading room in winter at three o'clock, when the light of day begins to fade, or to carry one's book close to the dim light that filters through the opaque windows of the old building.

The fear of fire from the electric wiring finally was overcome, and henceforth 25 candle power in frosted globes will light the pages of rare old books and manuscripts.

Ministers Deserve Their Nicknames

Most Members of Baldwin's Cabinet Are Bald Headed

London, Dec. 22—The newly-formed Baldwin cabinet, already hailed as a "cabinet of all the talents," and a "cabinet of Londoners," has achieved another distinction that is likely to cause the nickname "baldwins," already given by the press most appropriate.

For most of them are bald. Only Lord Birkenhead, the Secretary for India, and Stanley Chamberlain, foreign minister, can boast of anything like an abundance of hair on their heads, and Mr. Baldwin himself exhibits a distinct clearance between the desert, and the oasis. The rest are beyond all aid of parafin, cocoanut oil or the, thousand and one other preparations guaranteed to cover even a billiard ball with a growth of luxuriant foliage. Unkind critics say that never before has the old phrase, "feather-headed fory" been so strikingly illustrated.

The war minister, Sir Lemine Worthington Evans, occupied the baldest of the "baldwins." Then there is Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, whose lack of hirsute adornment covers a lower scream, but whose shining top is particularly distinctive. Lord Chancellor Gave and the lord privy seal, Lord Salisbury, are "plain bald," while Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, has plenty of hair in back but is the possessor of what is courteously known as a high forehead with a receding line of hair-in front.

London—Frank Hodges, once civil lord of admiralty again a coal miner.

Ottawa—Canada will have aggressive immigration policy in 1925 says minister of Colo.

Montreal—C. N. R. leases Paris scribe property for forty-five years.

Railway Passenger Plunges In River

Two Canadians Are Among The List of Casualties

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 22—In the toll of eight persons who were killed Saturday when a Soo Line observation car and a Minneapolis-Chicago train plunged into the Chippewa River, up from the scene of the wreck, are Mrs. Moose Jaw, Sask., and Richard W. Sharp, of Toronto. With the identification today of the body of Miss Mae Morrisey, of Steven's Point, Wis., all the passengers in the fatal wreck have apparently been accounted for.

Besides Miss Morrisey and Henderson and Sharp, the dead are: Herbert Spencer, baby; Harry Jones, Sioux City, Iowa; Dr. Pardoe, Minneapolis and Miss Florence Higus, Minneapolis, and John Dunn, New York City.

The list of injured showed no change today. Of these the most seriously hurt were M. L. Spencer, dean of the school of journalism of the University of Washington, and Harry Jones, Sioux City. Spencer, whose wife's finger was severed, and whose baby died in the frigid waters of the Chippewa, was in great distress over the hardships he endures.

Work of removing the death car from the river was completed late yesterday. Search of the wreckage failed to reveal additional bodies, and those in charge of the work expressed the belief that all of the victims had been accounted for.

An official inquiry into the probable causes of the crash was started to-day with Harold E. Stafford district attorney and officials of the Soo Line, pursuing separate investigations.

A broken switchbolt apparently was the cause of the accident which occurred as the train was pulling into Chippewa Falls, over the 700 foot trestle the near the Chippewa river about a half mile from the railroad station.

The railroad parallels the river along the north shore for some distance and the approach to the bridge is a wide curve terminating just as the trestle is reached.

About 200 feet from the bridge is a side track, with a switch off of the Minneapolis line. The track continues along the river shore, while the main linetum onto the river trestle.

For some remote parts of the empire Christmas mails have already closed but to the others plum puddings, cakes, books hundreds of thousands of toys of all descriptions and other gifts are still on their way in ever increasing quantities.

By the middle of November, 50,000 parcels had gone to India, New Zealand South Africa, Australia, Straits Settlements, East Africa, Ceylon, Hongkong, Peru and Central America.

"Consumption Is No Respecter of Persons"

In one of the glistening, beautiful rooms of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Harry Williams colorplays a set of tennis with a fine friend. Harry was studying Arts in the Toronto University. His pal was a laborer in another city. Of course, they met in the Muskoka Hospital they were victims of consumption.

Harry is a handsome young man, say nurses, and he is certainly well versed in English literature. His home is in Toronto, Ontario. Harry's illness is consumptive, too, and it was only because he was able to go right back to school last fall, that he be thoroughly examined. The examination revealed consumption. — so Harry withdrew from his classes and came to the balconies and lounges of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. Harry's motto is that "consumption is no respecter of persons. Here I am, just as sick as my room-mate. He was a laborer and I was a student. He worked hard for his living, and I for my future life. He had a good home surroundings, while I have been cared for since birth. I can't understand it can you." And with that Harry smiles and turns his thoughts due to let sickness and nature make the silent struggle for his health.

Harry and the fellows of the many who are at present entirely dependent on the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. The Hospital itself relies for a guarantee of it's many friends.

PETERBORO CAPTURES S.P.A. TROPHY; CANADIENS AND HAMILTON WIN; JUNIORS TURN OUT

Hamilton Keeps All Advantages

Defeated Montrealers 3 to 1 in Ambitious City Saturday

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 22.—Hamilton Tigers had little difficulty in maintaining their end in the N.H.L. race here on Saturday night, defeating Cecil Hart's Montreal aggregation by a score of 3 to 1 in a game that gave some six thousand fans a little of everything in the hockey book. The Montrealers showed considerable sophomore metal though behind from the start, refused to concede victory at any stage. They were right up in the battle at the finish, trying hard to drop in the necessary counters by using their entire team in the Hamilton territory in the final minutes of play.

Hamilton led at the end of the first frame 2 to 1 and added the final tally of the game after three minutes of play in the second. They were within inches of scoring frequently but the great work of Clint Benedict in goal for the Hart crew held them at bay. The elongated net guardian none more marvelous since and though Vernon Forbes, of the locals, was especially brilliant on the night's play, Benedict outshone him.

While the locals took the game under after the first ten minutes, they at no time relaxed sufficiently to allow the Montreal to gain any advantage. The Gardner boys showed great combination and wonderful speed at the outset, but they fell back to consistent mediocrity after a few minutes. The Green brothers and Charlie Langlois specialized, but Billy Burch, although he turned in a great game, showed the effects of his eight-minute grind at Ottawa on the previous Wednesday.

Burlinguette, who scored Montreal's only counter, was one of the hardest workers of the team as was also "Punch" Broadbent. Gerald Munro, who stuffed on the defence with Captain Dame, his namesake, stood out after the entire Montreal team in the first quarter, but for some unknown reason he was not used thereafter. Cable worked hard and unselfishly and looked one hundred per better than on his last appearance here with St. Patricks.

It was a suprisingly easy game on the players and one, the Green boys, came out with injuries, "Red" was slugged across the nose by a stick and "Shorty" got a bad bump on the right cheekbone by striking the ice.

Broadbent scored a goal during the final minutes of play but what not count as he shot from the left side. He also had the puck carrying off "Shorty" Green and Cook and passed to the latter who in turn passed to Burch, centre, who was able to easily shift it behind the net.

Hamilton—Forbes, goal; Langlois and Randall, defence; Burch, centre; Green and R. Green, wings; McKinnon. Subs: Boak, Rochefort, Smith.

Montreal—Benedict, goal; D. Munro and G. Munro, defence; Noble, centre; Broadbent and Berlinguette, wings; Carbnell, Dennis, Rotchelid, Lowrey, Cain, Subs.

Referee—Mike Rodden, Toronto.

Canadians Stage Great Come Back

Take Measure of Stubborn Ottawa Crew at Montreal Saturday

Montreal, Dec. 22.—With a first rush which left the cognizant of the Ottawa defensive could not check, Canadiens dashed through the Senators in the opening period to take a two goal lead over Logan struggle here Saturday night, scoring two more in the third to subdied them to come from behind to win an exciting battle, 3 to 2. Thus the Dominion champions held their mastery of the east while the Senators are still one half game in front of the Hamilton Tigers.

Ottawa seized their way to a 2 to 1 lead in the first two carefully played periods. With the Senators playing a defensive game that came up to their titles, it looked like a win for Tommy Gorman's reorganized sextette from the Capital.

One goal down starting the period, Canadiens opened with the dash and scintillating play for which they are famed, and within a few minutes had tied the score and worked out a tie. Billy Boucher deadlocked the exams and turned pandemonium loose in the stands as he dashed through the entire Ottawa team on one of his brilliant solo dashes, finally drawing the puck at Connell, and bored in to send the count back into the tries.

Stirred to action by the goal, Ottawa rushed from the start, with Senator Cy Nighbor, and Hooley Smith getting numerous shots at goal in a two-man defence. It was a tense moment for the Canadien supporters, but a check shook the tricolors as Bragne Clancy intercepted the final pass to Smith and cleared a rush down the ice. He was flanked by Joliat, Billy Boucher and Morenz, while Ottawa was short a player, Hitchman being on the bench for resurfacing Billy Boucher. The Canadien captain drew the count when Boucher bridge to the puck. Then came Canadiens' masterful goal-getting, Aurel Joliat, who wrapped down on the rebound and went right in on Connell to bat in the losing goal with the youthful Ottawa goalie having no chance to save. The lineups:

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defence, S. Cleghorn and Clancy; centre, Morenz; wings, Joliat and Boucher; subs, G. Cleghorn, Mantha and Matte.

Ottawa—Goal, Connell; defence, C. Boucher and Clancy; centre, Nighbor; lines, Lewtenant and Smith; subs, Finnegan, E. Gorman, Hitchman and Bushell.

Referee—Cooper Smeaton, Montreal.

FUNERAL OF FORT WILLIAM BOY SAD

Fort William, Dec. 22.—The funeral of Ernie Elrish, the 5-year-old boy killed through exposure after having lost his way in the bush near here Sunday, on Tuesday evening, was held Sunday afternoon from the family home on St. Patrick's church. It was attended by the largest crowd seen at a funeral here for years.

The little home was filled with wreaths and floral tributes of every shape, size and device. Telegrams and letters of sympathy were received from total strangers to the family in such centres as Hamilton and Toronto who had read despatches about the tragic affair.

Four of the little fellow's cousins were pallbearers.

A delegation from the Fort William branch of the I.W.W., of which the boy's father is a charter member, attended, and the organization sent a magnificent wreath.

Seldom have the hearts of the people of the district been so stirred as by the death of this little boy.

FIND OUT REASON FOR CHEAP BUTTER

Toronto, Dec. 22.—By the arrest of the half dozen men in Toronto and Ontario County for the robbing of Peel, York and Ontario Counties, light has now been shed on the reason for slaughter butter prices prevailing on certain Saturday mornings at St. Lawrence Market.

From information obtained by the Ontario Provincial Police, it appears a number of creameries were entered by the gang and supplies of butter and ice were sold quite openly on the Toronto market at greatly reduced prices. Year.

Peterboro Won The S.P.A. Trophy

Trounced Soo Greyhounds By 3 to 2 Score

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Peterboro followed up victories over Niagara Falls, Preston and Parkdale, in the S.P.A. series, by trouncing the Soo Greyhounds, 3 to 2, in the final game for the trophy at Mutual Arena, Saturday night. Bert McLeod, sterling defence player for the Petes, taking Irvin Bailey's perfect pass from the right wing and slipping in the winning goal after 17 minutes of overtime had been played. And the Greyhounds were unable to knot the game again in the remaining three minutes. The Soo's defeat was the third loss sustained by championship teams in this year's S.P.A.—Niagara Falls, intermediate O. H.A. title-holders, and Brantford and Guelph, senior champions, being the others.

The game Saturday night was the third in as many days, with a 500-mile trip sandwiched in, for the Greyhounds and that might be used as an alibi for their defeat. However, But the Canadian senior champions, rather than look for an excuse for the locals' performance, gave credit where it was due, and Bill Hindley and his men were ready to admit after the 60 minutes of play that they had met a team in mighty good team. And so they did.

Petes Play Steady Game

The Petes, on the night's play, were the best team, if they did not show it as quite as much speed as their opponents, and did not use combination as well. The Hounds had al lheir speed and aggressiveness, but lacked the finish of combination Petes stepped right along with them, and, checking back fiercely, held the men from the Soo to one goal apiece in the regular sixty minutes, neither team scoring in the overtime, while a pretty speece was the allotment in the second, and full thirteen minutes in the third period.

Then, when the Greyhounds tired in the second period, a couple of counters Peterboro went on and won the game. The O.H.A. men having quite a shade on in the play during the last five minutes. The Soo players, however, when they were so exhausted that some of them found difficulty in skating, were a shade of the other or lifting a stick to check the puck-carriers. But it was a great game of hockey, combination and close, hard checking featuring. And both boys are so many narrow escapes, there being so many narrow escapes during the night, that the spectators were in a constant state whilst time the team were on the ice. Peterboro scored in the first minute of goals, when it appeared as if they couldn't find the net, and then settled down, to win several games, and that rounded out the classing display of a hockey, created tremendous excitement.

192d Christmas Seals

The National Sanitarium Association is to be congratulated on the handsome Christmas Seals now on sale in aid of the Muskoka Hospital for consumptives.

To meet a persistent demand for a real Christmas Seal, not merely an advertising sticker, quite a new departure has been made. The seals, beautifully colored and embossed, in two designs, are put up assorted in packets of different denominations.

The Hospital is in need of funds to carry on its work. Why not buy these seals in lieu of others? Not only will you get good value in return, but your money will be made to serve a greater end, for it will go to help someone in distress. PUT UNDER ARREST WHILE SICK IN BED

Whitby, Dec. 22.—While sick in bed at his home in Zephyr, Thomas Slee was placed under arrest by a party of officers, comprising Provincial Constable Taylor of Whitby, and Inspector Stringer and Ward of the Ontario Police, Toronto.

The arrest of Slee marks the apprehension of the seventh suspect as a member of the gang of which Charles Laing, who was sentenced to three years in Kingston in connection with the Port Perry bond robberry, was a member. Slee, who is charged with conspiracy to commit arson, was picked under guard while $4,000 bail was put up for him, pending his trial before Magistrate Hamilton in Uxbridge on Dec. 27.

The police expect to make further arrests following that of Slee, whose charge arises from the complete destruction by fire of a store in Zephyr belonging to J. O. Bartlett on September 26.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATES

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Doris turned to thank him and he inclined his head graciously.

"Well, Doris, I have taken upon myself to see to all the arrangements, and have ventured to act, just as I am sure, say your father. It was necessary, that I should look into your affairs after his death, and I have come to tell you the result. I am sorry to say, my dear, young lady, that your guardian has left but very small means behind him. He died a poor man—perhaps this will surprise you?"

"No," said Doris, in a low voice; "we were always poor, I think. There was always enough——"

Lane nodded.

"Yes, yes, I understand. There is some money; it is not much, about a hundred pounds, I think."

Doris listened with faint interest. If she had heard that she had been left without a penny, or heiress to a million, it would not have affected her in her present condition.

Besides the money there were some papers—nothing of any consequence, however—letters and documents relating to business affairs, engagements of business, and so on."

A faint flush came into Doris' face, and she felt it shameful to ask:

"Nothing more?" she said, with downcast eyes.

"Nothing more," he said, gravely, watching the pretty though he seemed occupied in turning over the papers. "Did you expect——"

"I do not know," she faltered; then she raised her large, sad eyes. "You know that I am not—Jeffrey's daughter, do you?"

He inclined his head.

"Yes, I know that; and I know what you expected—hope, I was going to say. I should find something, some papers that would give us a clue to your parentage. Is that so?"

Doris' face formed the "Yes."

He sighed and shook his head.

"I am sorry there is no such clue. The secret of your birth, my dear young lady, is buried in my poor friend's grave."

Doris had leaned forward with a supprised eagerness, and she sank back with her eyes filled with tears.

"I am sorry," he murmured, "for I too had hoped that I might make some discovery. But there is not a single paper, not the slightest clew."

"And yet," she faltered, "he said that to him—there was something he—he was going to tell me in some papers; he had them with him the morning——" Her voice broke.

Spencer Churchill listened with the deepest sympathy, slowly nodding his velvet face.

"Dear, dear!" he murmured. "And he did not tell you? And these papers now? He had them with him, you say? They were not found in his pocket? I did not examine——; but the doctor assured me there was nothing beyond a little money and so on. I fear—I very much fear—that our poor friend must have decided to allow the mystery to remain, and have destroyed the papers you speak of."

Doris' hands clasped tightly.

"He knew best," she said, with all a woman's loving loyalty, "and I am satisfied. He knew best," and the tears came at last and rolled down her pale cheeks.

Spencer Churchill heaved a sigh.

"Nobly said, my dear young lady! Yes, doubtless he knew best. I can assured that he kept the secret from you for good reasons. Yes, he knew best! Poor Jeffrey, poor friend! He wiped his eyes. "And now shall I go——some other time——"

"No, no," said Doris. "Tell me everything, please. I—I am ignorant of what to do—I am so alone——"

"True," he said. "Your future; forgive me if I mention such a subject; but I presume you will continue your profession."

A shudder ran through Doris' frame at the thought, of again facing the crowded theatre.

"No, no!" she said, almost fiercely. "I shall never act again."

As she answered, the scene of the first night of "Romeo and Juliet" rose before her, and she thrilled with the recollection of the inspiration which had come to her from the lips of Cecil Neville. That inspiration had vanished forever now, and to act with a broken heart would, she knew, be impossible to her.

"I shall never go on the stage again,' she responded firmly.

Spencer Churchill put up his white hand to his lips to hide the smile of satisfaction her words called up on them.

"No?" he said, thoughtfully and sadly. "Yes, I understand; I quite understand, and I must say I think your decision is a wise one. It was different while your guardian was living to watch over you and protect you! You, great as your success has been, I think, are right in your resolve to leave the profession.

"I shall never go back," she said, quietly.

"You forgive me, may I ask what you intend doing?"

Doris let her eyes fall upon him almost vacantly for a moment. She had been lost in the memory of those few happy days and nights, and had almost forgotten his presence.

"What I intend doing? Oh, I don't know! I have not thought," she said, and her white hand went to her lips again.

"I understand! I understand! and fully realize, my dear young lady, that, as your friend—you know you have always been to my friend—it is my duty to ask you! This sum of money, I fear, will soon take to itself wings, and——"

Doris ceased herself.

"And I must still live and eat, even after it is gone, you would say," she said, not bitterly, but, ah, so wearily. "Yes, I forget."

"You could earn a large sum on the stage, of course," he murmured, and he put out her hand as if to silence him.

"That is out of the question," she said. "I suppose there are other ways of earning money?"

"There are," he murmured, softly. "I am young and rich," she said. "Other women have to work. What do they do? Governesses?"

She looked at her hands with a look that was like the glint of her old light-hearted one.

He shook his head.

"That, too, is out of the question," he said. "But there are still other ways. I believe—indeed I have heard that you are very accomplished, Miss Marlowe."

"Yes?" said Doris, simply.

"I believe that you are a musician, and that you speak several languages."

"Yes," she said, as simply as before. "Ah, how much I owe to him I under-stand it better now—now that it is too late to thank him," and she turned her head away.

"A good musician and linguist need not starve for want of work's pendence," said Spencer Churchill. "I have, you see, foreseen that the question would arise, and I have—pray forgive me, my dear young lady—been making some inquiries on your behalf." He drew out a pocket-book and took a letter from it. "It happens that a friend of mine, Lady Despard—you may have heard of her, she is well known in her charitable work——"

Doris shook her head.

"I have never heard of her," she said, politely, but with some indifference.

"A sweet creature! A widow, alas, though young! Very wealthy, moving in the highest circles, and fond of travelling. She is just going abroad and requires a companion. I think—I am sure—that you would like her, and that, if you could bring yourself to accept the position, which is so much above the ordinary——"

"She is going abroad?" said Doris, with sudden eagerness.

He inclined his head.

"Yes, to Italy. To Florence would do you good—to Italy, I should say, necessary."

Abroad, out of England, beyond the chance of meeting Cecil Neville! A thrill ran through her frame at the very thought. Jeffrey's death, rose in Doris' heart.

"But you need not decide today. You shall think it over," he said, taking up his hat. "By the way, if you should need me, will you send word—at any time, and the very moment you would like to see me—to Barton Towers? I am staying with friends there, the Marquis of Stoyle."

Doris started, and the blood rose to her face.

"Barton Towers?" she murmured, mechanically.

"Yes," he said, smoothly, as if he had not noticed her sudden agitation. "The Marquis is a friend of mine. He is his nephew and heir, Lord Cecil Neville. You may have heard of him."

"Yes, I have heard of him," said Doris, in a low voice, which faltered notwithstanding her efforts to keep it steady.

"He's a most charming young fellow," he went on, with a smile, "but a terribly unsteady one. But, there, we must not be hard upon a young fellow in the world's way. Those who are blessed with good looks and birthrights to temptation are apt to be unsteady; though I am glad to say that Lord Neville has given us nearly over. He is in Ireland at present, but when he comes back he is to marry Lady Grace Payton."

Doris sat perfectly motionless, her hands clasped to her lap, her eyes fixed on the lovely summer scene framed in the window; but the view was all blurred in her sight, and a sound as of a tempest waves rang in her ears.

"To marry Lady Grace Payton!" she echoed, and the words passed mechanically no sense.

"Yes," he purred. "It is a very old attachment. She is a most charming young lady, very beautiful, and I am not surprised that, notwithstanding his numerous flirtations, Lord Neville has remained constant. It will be a most suitable and auspicious match for both of them——" My dear young lady! He broke off, for Doris had sunk back, white to the lips, and with closed eyes, "you are ill. Let me call Mrs. Bell!"

But with an almost superhuman effort, Doris fought down the feeling of faintness, and, stretching out her hand, commandingly said:

"No! It is nothing. The heat—stay, stay!"

Father and Son Love Makes Film

"The Mail Man" is Away Ahead For Human Interest

The love of father and son is the dominant note in "The Mail Man," Tommy Johnson's latest F. B. O. production starring Ralph Lewis, now playing at the Griffin Theatre.

Lewis' hard-shell bond between himself and son is more than overcome by the affection of a wife for her husband, deeper, even, than the regard of one boy for his brother, the tremendous love of mail man Mother for his boy Johnnie surges through the dynamic screen story which glorifies the mail carrier. Overcoming obstacles by its great force, triumphing over the machinations of evil conspirators, and emerging triumphant in a gigantic symphony of romance and heroism, the splendid theme puts "The Mail Man" head and shoulders above anything that has been recently produced for profound depth of human interest.

Johnnie Walker, as the young mail carrier who, through devotion to duty, is cruelly torn from the side of his faithful old dad and jailed on the charge of stealing $10,000 worth of U. S. bonds, a Lewis-Johnson production's latest screen coup.

Others in the cast are practically the same as appeared Lewis in "The Third Alarm," "In the Name of the Law" "Westbound Limited."

Tongues of Flame Belle Attraction

Thomas Meighan Plays kind of Role Public Likes

"Tongues of Flame" adapted from the novel by that name by Peter Clark Macfarlane, brings Thomas Meighan to the screen at the Belle Theatre tonight in the kind of a role in which the public likes him best.

In the Parnassum product, introduced by Joseph Henabery, the man who made "A Saisted Devil" Tom plays "Hell Fire" Harrington recently returned World War veteran who takes up the practice of law in a one-horse town, and in the face of opposition that Harrington enters upon this profession with the same "devil may care" all there is to life, as he thinks. Anything that happens now is of little consequence.

It is not long before Harrington discovers that he has missed the most wonderful thing in life—romance. And it's a double-barre'ed romance, as that Harrington's position in the firm of John Boland, the town capitalist, brings on a delightful affair with the philanthropic beautiful daughter, Leslie. The other girl in the case is a little Indian school teacher who worships Harrington in silence.

Boland's business tactics are not at straightforward as they might be, and Lahlee, the little Indian girl tells Meighan how her people were once rightful owners of their land and who fears the same thing is to happen again. Harrington promises to protect them. And it is during this that the trouble.

Based on the "Flame" Harrington Flame" builds to one of the most powerful fire points on "Tongues of" stripping "smash"—climaxes were seen in pictures.

TAIL COAT COMING INTO ITS OWN AGAIN

London, Dec. 22.—Although the old fashioned evening coat is not dead as a gentleman's covering in Victorian days it was discarded almost entirely and is seen only rarely on elderly clubmen who cling to tradition, and on a few artistes, in the forms of an opera cloak or cape, or coat, which is being shown by smart West End tailors as the latest thing for evening dress.

The dinner jacket became popular after the war for evening affairs, and for a time it seemed that the tail coat would be relegated to the past. Recently, however, there has been a revulsion of opinion, and a number of smart hotels that formerly permitted the entrance of diners in the more unceremonial attire, now insist upon the tail coat and white tie.

Restore Gray Or Faded Hair

Look Young, Bring Back Its Natural Color and Gloss With Sage Tea

"Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol restores gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gay. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hair has disappeared, and, after another application or two, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Beside Love plays the role of the half-breed girl. Lahlee, Eileen Percy while Lahlee's father, Cyril Ring, Harrington's friend and Thomas Meighan how her people were once rightful owners of their land and who fears the same thing is to happen again. Harrington promises to protect them. And it is during this that the trouble starts all the trouble.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 22—Heavy selling led by a house warm and recently born a large buyer bought about a sharp set back in wheat prices today soon after business began. Selling was based more or less on opinion current that advance of late had been too rapid and that beginning of a reaction was overdue. It was pointed out that advancing trade had called an end to the short and that upturn amounts to about sixty cents a bushel. To-day's opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1-2 cents higher was followed by a break that in some cases amounted to 4 4 cent from initial top price. Persistent selling on the part of commission houses weakened corn and oats. After opening unchanged to 3-8 cent off the corn market under went a general decline of about 1 1-2 cents and, started unchanged to 3-8 cent lower and later showed moderate losses all around. Provisions were easier, eyes pathising with grain.

Thousand Stories in Lake District of Manitoba Says Canadian Authoress

Martha Ostenso Gave Best First Novel of Year that Setting

Miss Martha Ostenso, who was awarded the $.2500 prize and royalties on the book for the best first novel submitted during the year in a contest organized jointly by Dodd, Mead & Company, the publishers, Review and Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, is a twenty-four-year-old school teacher from Manitoba. Miss Ostenso's novel will be serialized, filmed and published in book form in 1925. The story, which is called "The Passionate Pilgrim," tells with the romance of the Western Prairies and portrays the romance of one whose ambition to soar beyond the black loam led to dramatic results.

More than 1,600 manuscripts were submitted. The judges state that Miss Ostenso's was the only one that no other story seriously rivalled.

A brief sketch of her life and the circumstances which inspired her novel, as related by Miss Ostenso, follows:

"Where the long arm of the Hardangerfjord penetrates farthest into the rugged mountains of the coast of Norway, the Ostenso family has lived in the township that bears its name since the days of the Vikings. The name means 'Eastern Sea,' and was assumed centuries ago by an adventurous forbear who dreamed of colonizing the lands over the mountains and through the lowlands of Sweden eastward to the very shores of the Baltic. Although his dreams never came true, the family name recalls it and the family tradition of land-holding has persisted unbroken; the part of the land that borders the lovely fjord is still in its possession, handed down from eldest son to eldest son.

"My father, a young son, was free to indulge his roving disposition. A few years after his marriage to my mother he decided to emigrate to America.

"My mother's parents lived high up in the mountains, remote from the softening influence of the coast towns. All their home it was, near the little village of Haukeland, that I was born. This, the first of many small towns in which I have lived, is known to me only through hearsay, for when I was two years old we came to America.

"The earliest of my childhood is a tale of seven little towns in Minnesota and South Dakota. Towns of the field and prairie all, redolent of the soil from which they had sprung and eloquent of that struggle common to the pioneer the world over, a struggle but transferred from the Glomma and Hamsdorn of the Old World to the richer loam of the new. They should have a story written about them—those seven mean, rat stricken little towns of my childhood! In one of them, on the dun prairies of South Dakota, I learned to speak English. What a lovely language I found it to be, with words in it like pail and funnel and sleep, and ugly words, too, like laughter and cake and scratch! What strange sounds the new words made to me.

"Later, in another of the little towns, I learned that it was fun to make things with words. It was while living in a little town in Minnesota that I became a regular contributor to the Junior Page of the things spoils Journal, and was rewarded for my literary efforts almost at the rate of eighty cents a column.

"Then all came from the little still hangs, perhaps, a shadow, but a rural scene in a resplendent frame, with a neat name-plate at the bottom of it. That also came from the Journal, in recognition of a story which, in my eleven-year-old opinion, placed me abreast of Emerson.

"When I was fifteen years old, I had good-bye to the Seven Little Towns.

My father's restless spirit drove him north to the newer country. The family settled in Manitoba.

"It was during a summer vacation from my university work that I went into the lake district of Manitoba, well towards the frontiers of that northern civilization. The story that I have written lay there, waiting to be put into words. Here was the raw material out of which Little Towns were made, the human and nature stark, unstirred in the conventions of a more settled life. A thousand stories are there still, to be written.

"My novel lay back of my mind for several years before I began to write it. In the intervals of those years, spent as a social worker in a great city, I often compared the crowding machinery of skyscraper civilization with the cruder, more direct society of the Prairies. Slowly, as my work among the people brought me nearer and nearer to the heart of the city, the desire to write began to be limned clearly against the murkier background of my work-a-day scene.

"A year ago last summer I returned to Manitoba. The approach to remembered places renewed my interest in my story, the character stood out clear-cut at last, and I made the first draft of the novel.

"I was not satisfied with the result and laid the manuscript aside, with no definite purpose regarding it. It was not until spring that I returned to the city and began to revise the first Brown contest. It was with diffidence and reluctance that I was persuaded by friends, who thought well of the early draft and its possibilities, to rewrite it in time to submit it for consideration. At best, I felt, if it were as good as my friends said, it might not be wholly ignored.

"I have let the scientists and pseudo-scientists who argue interminably about relative influence on men of heredity and environment decide the responsibility for what ever merit my story may have. The blood of the forebears? The Seven Little Towns? Perhaps—I do not know. No—but I have my own very unscientific opinion.

"I write, but the more may be said of it. It has something to do with magic and fairies and all the other impossible beautiful things that I believe in."

FOREIGNER LAYS AT DEATH'S DOOR FOLLOWING A DRUNKEN POKER PARTY AT POINT ANNE

Someone Bashed His Head In With Claw Hammer

CELEBRATING SEASON

Niagara Wine Said to Be Responsible; Several Arrested

Alo Ohumuske, Rumanian aged 42 lies in the General Hospital here at the point of death following an attack alleged to have been made upon him by a certain Russian, aged 40, in a Point Anne boarding house late Monday afternoon.

Ohumuska is unconscious and is suffering from terrible head injuries resulting from having been struck four or five times on the head with a carpenter's hammer. Dr. J. Robertson is attending him and holds but slight hope for his recovery.

Kolchi, narrow shouldered and surly appearing man, unshaven and with swollen features and broken nose, appeared before Magistrate Mason this morning, and the case was adjourned at 12.15 o'clock soon so that an interpreter might be secured. Crown Attorney R. C. Deroan could not get those evidences from Sergay, owing to his inability to understand questions asked. Court resumed at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon.

Others called and held as material witnesses are Sam Belack, charged with striking Ohumuske with the claw. Nick Tomchuck similarly charged, Nick Gurniak, Sam Gurniak, the owner of Nick was arrested this morning after he had served a period of police 2. A. Rae, as he sat in the court as a spectator. Belack was removed to the cells from the dock for coaching Tomchuck on the stand, after being warned by the Crown.

Notified Yesterday

Late Monday afternoon Provincial Police headquarters here was notified by Superintendent Leggett of the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne that there was trouble. Sergeant-Inspector Francis Nashan and Sergeant A. E. Rae left immediately by motor. In a boarding house there they found the unconscious hammer-victim who was rushed to the hospital. Sergay was immediately arrested, and later the whole detachment was returned to the Point, and arrested the others as material witnesses.

It appears that since pay day last week the furnishers who work for the bosses at the cement works, have been celebrating by drinking Niagara wine and playing poker. On Sunday, night three arrested, including Ohumuske, were said to have played stud poker at the Gurniak boarding house and drank wine.

Kotchi was "crazy" drunk it is stated when the assault occurred yesterday. Sergay has a broken nose and was attended in the cell by Dr. Robertson this morning.

It is stated that three weeks ago Sunday Sergay was beaten up and required the attention of Dr. Robertson at the boarding house—Mundak's house, at Point Anne.

Inspector Nashan and Sergeant Rae seized two quart bottles of Niagara wine at Nick Gurniak's house and he is charged with having wine for sale.

The others are held on charges of drinking in a public place. Mr. Payne of Counter Butler and Payne has been retained to defend all accused men.

Celebrating Christmas

As far as can be learned here today, a group of furnishers began the celebration of Christmas after their work day and were playing cards and drinking wine at the Mundak boarding house, where Sergay became victim en route. It is believed that everyone was intoxicated, and that Sergay was very badly under the influence. Yesterday afternoon, Sergay, in a drunken stupid from the effects of the booze and went upstairs to the room where he now lies and slept. His assailant is alleged to have waited until he was fast asleep and then struck him on the bed.

Both Ohumuske and Kotchi are unmarried men and are both employed at the Canada Cement Company, as labourers.

Dr. Robertson was immediately called and drove to the Mundak house where he found Sergay. The police detail station of the Canada Cement Company was the first place to which he was taken and after the wounds were dressed, he was taken to hospital in the company's ambulance.

When Nick Gurniak was charged with keeping wine in for sale at his boarding house this morning, Inspector Nashan told of answering a call to Point Anne last evening about six o'clock to a house where a number of guests of the Gurniak house, he with Sergeant Rae visited the Gurniak home and after seizing the wine arrested Nick. This was found to consist of a 5 gallon keg and three inches of wine in a gallon jar. Nick said the wine was brought to Belleville. Nick admitted that there were other guests at his house after having been duly warned by witnesses.

Nick Tomchuk, also under arrest and as material witness, could not give testimony as the Gurnick house after he boards on Sunday last for half an hour before going to work. He is said to agree with at the Canada Cement Company. There was a bottle of

FRANCE HAS RUSH TO CITIES ALSO

Paris, Dec. 23.—Making 500,000 grains of wheat grow from one in a year and a half, was cited in the dusty debate of the Chamber of Deputies on agriculture recently as a laboratory accomplishment after putting the alkali in the field adage about making two leaves grow over one grew before.

This scientific achievement was used by Senator Compayre-Morel as a text on how valuable science could be to the farmer.

France has a lock to the farm movement but the tide to the city continues to increase. Paris alone has more than half the population was rural, it was said by various speakers, because the city's third of the people cultivate the fifth of the country's area. Rural people, extraordinary serious this year, in their unconcealed and justifiable fear, is the reason that bread, the standard of the Frenchman for the cost of living, goes up in price constantly with out reason, the syndicates and commercial cabinets of different political complexion.

In comparing practice with possibility, M. Compayre-Morel said the harvest in an average, grew only 25 grains, of which four are eaten while the scientist grew his half million.

NEEDY FRIEND SENDS DIME BACK TO "CAL."

Washington, Dec. 23—President Coolidge was described during the recent campaign by his intimate friend, Henry G. Dewes, as "one who watches the pennies." A letter received yesterday at the White House showed that he does not always watch the dimes. The letter addressed to the president and dated "Dear Wife, said:

"Dear Cal—Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"You do not know me, but one day before election you were walking in back of you. You dropped a dime, but you did not notice it. I picked it up and kept it because I was hungry. I got me a hot cup of coffee and a bun with it. I have plenty of work now so I am returning one in the place of yours.

Yours truly,
"A Friend."

CROWD MERRY WHEN KIWANIS PROVIDE TREAT

Many Children from Shelter and Marchmont Given Good Time

PRESENTS GALORE

One Orange Auctioned Off at Record Price Of $2.35

The New Queen's Hotel was ablaze with good cheer last evening, when the Kiwanis Club of Belleville were guests hosts to upwards of fifty young boys and girls from the Children's Shelter and the Marchmont Home. About one hundred old and young folk sat down to real Christmas fare and Kiwanian Ross Foster's establishment never looked more attractive. A combination of the workers' ingenuity and to dress up the dining room for the occasion and their efforts with the Christmas tree just about proclaimed the spirit of the season.

Kiwanian Bob Gorman stood out as the chief dealer in the many feed of champions to this line. Santa Claus himself could not have looked with envious eyes at this Kiwanian. He had the kiddies in happy playing all evening and played his role to perfection. Besides the feast of good things to eat, which made more than one wish he had Santa's corporation, there were presents galore. There was an average of about three for every child. Boys and girls were loaded down laden with shining eyes and loaded arms.

Kiwanian Ross Foster let it that every boy had a pair of skates and a hockey stick, and every girl received a doll and every girl had a readdoll. In addition to the presents, fruit and candies were scented.

But the little lad was on fires and needles. He stood last hour with his face pressed against the window. The presents were being distributed sat taut on the edge of their waiting for his name to be called. It came at last and the Kiwanian became anxious lest his name was forgotten or that he overlooked.

Santa Claus eventually called his name and the lad was away in the direction of the Kiwanian like a flash of arrow. And maybe it did not pay him to be there. He left in that short time all that leave all the rest behind.

There was a great scramble after candies and the youngsters vied with the Kiwanians in making a noise. Impromptu parades and speeches of a humorous nature marked out the evening.

The children were entertained by a concert consisting of selections of their own, one of the youngsters even favors being a display of sleight of hand work. Mr. Ross Foster was the guest from the Marchmont Home. He received a hearty welcome from the Kiwanians.

Charles Hanna proved to be an expert auctioneer. He actually disposed of an orange for $2.35 and a cake for $2.35. It had been placed there by Kiwanian Bob Gorman and the winner Victorian Order Nurse, who generously returned the cake on the demand.

It was an evening of entertaining for Kiwanians and their guests.

RECKLESS YOUTH ON YEAR'S TRIAL

The young man charged with having kicked in two panels of glass in the door front at 209 Coleman street recently and with theft of $30 which he found guilty before Magistrate Mason this morning, was given a chance to an suspended sentence for one year. During the year, the youth must not take a drink of intoxicating liquor, he must get work and work steadily and he must live with his parents, his father.

Mr. John Levrck told on the stand of having supplying music for dancing at the home of Mr. Pinny, who lives at the back of the new vaccine on Victoria Colonna street, on the night of the occurrence. He was engaged to play on his work at Cobrville at her one of the dances. He stated that he noved the house where the party was held at 11.30 o'clock and that everything had just finished dance. Levrck knew the boy and had seen him in the window as he did not leave the house until after the dance was over.

John Young, who with Levrck ar played for the dance, told of hearing a crash outside and when he went to look out, he saw the young man Pinny climb from the flat front window.

Of Mr Pinny, a neighbor, was in bed and when the crash was heard by his wife she thought that the house was falling about fifteen or twenty boys and girls were there at the time. He stated. Pinny was aroused but though that the house was afire. Reddening the crowd melted, and a man came from somewhere, drove one fly through the door and then kicked it in. SKYSCRAPERS MAKE ELEVATOR PROBLEM

Washington, Dec. 22.—Since modern skies must continue to sprout skyscrapers, and modern invention must keep pace with them, the problem of the use of the population up and down with the skyscrapers, the United States bureau of standards is seeking, in association with insurance companies, manufacturers, architects, and others, a new methods by which the process may be facilitated.

William Cairns, no home, was arrested on the front road five miles east of Shannonville, this morning, by Provincial Constable R. F. Davis, and brought to Belleville, where he appeared before Magistrate Mason and was remanded to jail until December 30th, when he will be further investigated.

LIBERAL PAPERS PROJECT WARNING

Argentina's position as a principal supplier of beef to Great Britain is unassailable, they say, not only because Argentina meat is cheaper than Australian, but because British trade with Argentina is too valuable to risk.

CITY PREACHER PAYS HIS FARE 42 YEARS OLD

'Principle Money' Not 'Conscience Money' is Involved

EXPLAINS IN LETTER

(Special to The Intelligencer)
Toronto, Dec. 23—"Conscience money" is frequently received by railways and other public utilities but "principle money" is something decidedly new.

Today Mr. H. C. Bourlier, general passenger agent of the Canadian National Railways received a letter from a well known clergyman in Seaforth, Ontario, enclosing a cheque for $10.00 in payment of what the gentleman considered was a fare owed to the Grand Trunk Railway more than 42 years ago. The letter amount involved at that time was $8.40 but the clergyman compounded the interest on the debt of principle and added to the total sum until extended to the cheque.

A peculiar feature of the incident is the fact that there is considerable doubt as to whether the money was actually owing to the Canadian National Railways, as the ride for which he paid constituted a stop over that could easily have been arranged at the time Mr. Bourlier in reply to his letter, pointed this out to the writer, and in return was requested to credit the cheque to the Canadian National Railways.

"I have carefully and prayerfully thought the matter over," the clergyman wrote, "and I feel that I will be honest is not the whole of religion but it is an essential part of it."

The original letter was as follows;

Dear Sir,

"I herewith inclose a cheque on the Standard Bank of Canada for ten dollars and fifty cents, which includes fifteen cents for exchange ,61, dly petty cash account, which I owe to the people of the Canadian National Railways. I don't owe them this money, but to the company. There are three items in the account, which they are in debt of honor, for when contracted by myself or mine there was not the slightest intention to pay them. Permit me to state one case that represents 84.61 of the amount.

"Over forty years ago', I was returning home from conference. On account of so many delegates, the return ticket was exchanged, reduced. Eighteen miles from home I came to the place to which I was to move in two weeks. I thought I would like to see my friends there, so I got off and waited over till a later train. On that train I offered my ticket to the conductor and told him that I did not have to get off on that ticket, However he said that it would do just as well, as that in ignorance of the rules of the railway traffic. I have my doubts to-day that I was doing anything wrong in accepting the offer. The conductor said I should not have got off at the last stop but at the next. I should insist on paying for these eighteen miles. He is not connected with any intelligence but my integrity, then as now was all right.

"How did I get home? In this way. 18 miles at 5 cents per mile—84 cents. I owe another 84 cents, that is 1 cent—84.61. To this I want to add 1 cent as I see I made a mistake in my reckoning, so will draw the cheque for ten dollars.

Yours truly,
(Signed) Belgion

I am sorry to agree with you with such a lengthy letter, for I know the time of men in your positions is precious but to put an end to the matter I may say, we was fined ten dollars. The Exciting Incentive to the people's attention to the fact that a receipt for over ten dollars must bear a stamp and that the law must be obeyed under the Special War Revenue Act.

CANADIAN COAL

A few months ago the Dominion Government arranged for a bounty on native coal used for domestic consumption. The premium, which is in no case to exceed 50 cents a ton, is paid only at points where the fuel enters into competition with imported coal from the United States, is necessary condition to payment being the reduction by the railway companies of their freight rates. It is possible now to estimate the effect of this interesting bounty. The shipment of coal from the Maritime provinces to points in central Canada is concerned. According to the Ottawa correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, over 145,000 tons of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia coal have been sent into central Canada under this provision since September, when the subvention was first made available. "In practically every instance an equivalent amount of United States coal has been displaced by Canadian coal," the Dominion Fuel Board reports.

Another factor which is rendering Canada less dependent on the United States, says the Hamilton Spectator, is the increasing use of coke for domestic and commercial purposes. The enormous quantities of coal suitable for coking purposes which exist in this country point to one logical method of solving the fuel problem. Questions of transportation, however, remain very difficult. It is only by government subvention of some kind or other that native fuels can hope to enter into competition with those from abroad in certain localities, under existing circumstances.

NEW YEAR'S FOREST RESOLUTIONS

RESOLVED that I will do everything in my power to prevent forest fires;

RESOLVED that I will plant or cause to be planted at least one tree during 1925 and as many more as possible.

RESOLVED that I will do everything possible to promote forest conservation in every way;

RESOLVED that before cutting down any live growing tree I will first pause and consider that it may take 80 to 150 years to grow another tree in its place, and with trees becoming scarcer and scarcer whether it would not be wiser to allow it to continue growing the short time longer that it will take it to double in value owing to this rapidly increasing scarcity;

RESOLVED that if I am obliged to cut down tree and am obliged to sacrifice this increase in value, I will see that every particle of the tree is utilized, cutting close to the ground (within six inches or less) and utilizing to the smallest twigs and branches so that not only no part of the tree may be allowed to go to waste but that no inflammable slash may be left on the forest floor to expose forest to fire;

RESOLVED that I will not vote for any parliamentary candidate who has not publicly pledged himself to a sound policy of forest conservation as well as for the utilization of Canada's natural resources at home to the fullest possible extent.

RESOLVED that my slogan for 1925 shall be SAVE THE FORESTS.

WE CAN'T LIVE ON AIR

Nobody has any notion that he can get along without food, but there seem to be a lot of people in Canada who think that our pulp and paper mills, which provide employment for thirty odd thousand Canadians and bring in $150,000,000 from abroad for distribution among a multitude of other industries and services, can get along without wood. Our Canadian mills require about 2,000,000 cords, or a little more, per year and convert this into mechanical pulp, sulphite pulp, and sulphate pulp for making most of this pulp into boards and newsprint, wrapping, getting and bond papers. The excess of pulp produced and nearly 90 per cent. of the newsprint finds its principal market in United States, but the tariff of 25 per cent. or more effectively shuts out other papers made from woodpulp. The ridiculous aspect of this situation is that the American mills are protected in the manufacture of these other grades of paper which they make to a very considerable extent from Canadian pulpwood They are thus competing unfairly with the consumer of the supplying them with their food; in other words, "biting the hand that feeds them."

This situation would be bad enough if Canada had plenty of wood but the lamentable fact is that Canada is exceedingly short of wood, and rapidly growing more so. The situation with regard to a supply of wood for pulp and paper operating in Canada is very serious to say nothing of a supply for the new mills and extensions which must inevitably be established as demand for paper increases. There is more wood in the United States than there is in Canada even if they are using it more rapidly in proportion to its growth than we are. Thinking people everywhere are surprised that Canada has not realized the situation sooner and established in consequence more complete restrictive measures, even to an absolute embargo on the export of this fundamental raw material. An embargo or a prohibitive export tax such as has been recommended by a number of bodies of business men seems by all odds to be the simplest and most helpful measure to begin with. The American mills are already paying more than $20.00 per cord and an embargo cutting off this supply or making it cost $25.00 to $30.00 would bring the situation to a point where American mills would use the wood they are now reserving, or bring their supply from a longer distance, or if they persisted in using Canadian wood under an export tax arrangement they would be helping our Government to protect their supply as well as ours.

Many other measures must be taken and taken quickly, but the embargo should be the "beginning of wisdom."

The Financial Times sums this situation up in the following words:

"Unless opportunity, not equalized, as we have said by any other industry in Canada may be rendered of no avail if we continue heedlessly and unthinkingly in the direction that has been taken so far. It is of little use to preach faith in Canada's pulp and paper industry if we utterly fail to adopt a commonsense course in relation to the element that is the backbone of that industry."

THE "BLUE RUIN PRESS"

The Toronto Star, in its inimitable, half-serious, half-humorous, frequently chides the Toronto Mail and Empire, the Kingston Standard, the Ottawa Journal and the Montreal Gazette for their lugubrious political editorials. The Star calls them "doleful political Stuff"—and dubs these four "Conservative newspapers of Canada" as "The Blue Ruin Press."

But the Star shouldn't blame the newspapers. It is not their fault if present day conditions in Canada make it necessary to paint the dark lines and the gloomy background into the picture. Not the newspapers but the tariff policy of the present Government has closed many of our industries, sent 500,000 of our best men out from the country into the United States seeking work and left vast other boundaries here out of employment. Between this policy—the preliminary, we are gravely told, to "the Death Knell of Protection"—and the further policy of compromise with a concession to the Progressive element in the West, the country is in the doldrums, and only the good fortune of high prices for our field crops, wheat, corn, oats, etc., has prevented actually panicky conditions.

So far as The Standard is concerned it would rejoice to see good times here and, if they came, it would not be so narrow or partisan as to deny credit for them to the party now led by the Party in power. But until these times come there surely is no good of living in a Fool's Paradise or closing our eyes to facts—especially by when to do so would make a bad matter worse. Much the saner and safer policy is to recognize the present sorry conditions, as several Provincial Governments and many municipalities are doing, and seek to devise ways and means to give as much employment as possible during the winter to the otherwise idle, rather than, keeping them out of work, to give them doles and charity.

Press Opinions

CANADIANS OWN CANADA

(Hamilton Herald)

"We were our little flags and lead ourselves to believe that this is a British country," says J. E. Woodsworth, Labor M.P. for Winnipeg. Yes, it is a British country, but the American own it. The big United States companies are gradually purchasing their way across this country. It is true that American industrialists have invested capital in manufacturing plants in Canada. Their capital has been welcome, and it still is. The more capital we have in this country, to be used in the establishment and development of Canadian industries, and better, no matter where it comes from.

But it is misleading to say that the men who own this capital own the country. Even if all the industrial capital were in the hands of foreigners, they could not own the country. The country is owned by Canadians—by the men and women who possess the right to vote and choose their governments and dictate national policies.

Billions of British capital have been used in the upbuilding of industries in the United States and in the construction of American railways; but the money so invested by British capital has never given them a lien upon the United States.

WANTS GUELPH'S FAIR

(Guelph Mercury)

Mayor Weeks, of London, Ont., is ambitious and aggressive and seems to want what he wants when he wants it. He might almost be considered as taking his cue from Toronto, which long ago earned a smelly sobriquet it has never been able to shake off.

Guelph has developed a winter live-stock fair of which it has rightly been proud. Chatham also has brought forth some measure of publicity to itself because of the reasonable success of its winter fair. These two, apparently, are not to be thanked somewhat for the famous Western Fair, so far as live-stock exhibits are concerned, with the result that the mayor of London covets the two outstanding exhibits, that is if the news dereatches correctly declare his intentions.

Between what the mayor of London wants and what he will get there is a great gulf fixed, and unless he is able to develop a show of cows, he will not likely to see either the Guelph or the Chatham exhibitions turned over to him or his city, just for the asking.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD

(Toronto Star)

When the farmer is prosperous, Canada as a whole is prosperous. The considered statement of Thomas Bradshaw of the Massey-Harris company that better times are in store for the Canadian agriculturist, is an augury of good for the country at large.

Mr. Bradshaw notes that the world is short 500,000,000 bushels of bread grain. And as Canada will be one of the first countries to market, surplus supply, her farmers will reap the maximum advantage. They are planning to take advantage of this situation by increasing the area under crop. "On the whole, it looks as though a decided increase for the year to come to agriculture, and that our farmers, with the help they can, with reasonable know, look forward with greater confidence to prosperity as the outcome of their labors than they have been able to do for several years past."

Mr. Bradshaw is not given to hasty speech or rash predictions. He is a student of world conditions and his message will carry good cheer not only to the farmer, but to the non-agricultural population which prospers when the farmer does.

POPULATION PROBLEM

(Toronto Mail and Empire)

Canada's population will become known both by natural increase and by immigration when the census of the Dominion is established. Provincial and municipal governments have made of thousands of our nationhood and citizenship. Churches who hope been trained here have had to go to the United States where opportunities are promoted. The aftermath of the war has left a vast amount to become strong two years ago has been halted because of the industrial stagnation in Canada brought on by tariff reduction and tariff instability. French Canadians continue to flock to the New England States. The immigrants question is not one of adding to our population, but of holding our population. How many of Canada's most and daughters are exiled by the unwillingness of the country to provide jobs. Because our Government looks to the United States for hundreds of thousands of our people have had to go there.

Thirty Years Ago

The two lodges of the Sons of England united to-day in distributing Christmas cheer to those of their countrymen who are in need.

The C. P. R. Exhibition cars, under the able direction of Mr. John J. Hastelt, a well-known "Belleville Boy" have had a highly successful season in the mother county.

It wasn't Christmas weather the last few days but Christmas crowds were on the streets and in the shops.

The A.O.U.W. Lodge of Roblin's Mills have nearly completed their new hall and will dedicate it in a short time.

Mr. Gilbert Parker, the famous literateur who reached New York from England on Friday, will probably arrive to-night to pass Christmas with his parents.

Harry Collins, who is retiring as principal of Chalmers Public School, to assume charge of the new vocational school, was honored by members of his teaching staff Thursday, when he was presented with an umbrella.

KING'S TRAINER RETIRES FROM WORK

London, Dec. 23—After 31 years' service as trainer of horses for the late King Edward VII and King George V, Richard Marsh, known as the "Beau Brummel" of the racing rifle, has retired. During his long experience he handled some of the greatest racers in the history of the English paddock, and achieved many noteworthy successes. Soon after Marsh's appointment as trainer to King Edward, then Prince of Wales, 1860, his horse, Thais, won the Thousand Guineas Stakes for the prince. That same year another royal horse, Persimmon, handled by Marsh, won the greatest of all English races, the Derby, and subsequently finished ahead of the field in the St. Leger, Jockey Club Stakes, Ascot Gold Cup and Eclipse Stakes, all classics. Diamond Jubilee, another Marsh-handled racer, won the Thousand Guineas, Derby and St. Leger, a feat seldom achieved on the turf, and in addition won other great events, crediting his royal owner with $165,000 in stakes before he was sold to a South American breeder for $150,000. Marsh is credited with handling more Derby and Stewards Cup winners than any other trainer.

GOMPERS LEFT WILL VALUED AT $30,000

Washington, Dec. 22—Samuel Gompers, late president of the American Federation of Labor, left an estate valued at about $30,000, according to the petition for letters testamentary filed yesterday in Probate Court by his son, Samuel J. Gompers, who is named executor in the will.

All of the heirs except the widow, Mrs. Gertrude A. Gompers, who is given only her dower interest, join in the request for the probate of the will. A citation was issued against the widow by Attorneys Newmyer and King, counsel for the executor. She is allowed ten days in which to file her consent to the probate of the will.

In her answer, Mrs. Gompers may either consent to or protest the admission of the will to probate. If she chooses to file a caveat she will have to attack the testamentary capacity of her late husband and allege that he was of unsound mind when he executed the second will and revoked the first, or that he was subjected to undue influence, or both.

Ibanez May Have His Ears Pulled

Such is Intention of One Offended Spaniard; Would Duel

Paris, Dec. 23—Vicomte d'Eja, former Spanish minister of war, has arrived in Paris for the expressed purpose of obtaining an apology or satisfaction from Vincente Blasco Ibanez, author, for what the statesman considers an insulting reference regarding him in the writer's manifesto against King Alfonso and the military directorate. The manifesto is entitled "Alfonso Damaskus."

The viscount's present plan it is said are to publish an article in Le Figaro calling upon Ibanez to make a retraction. In the event that the author declines to do so the viscount's friends say he is prepared to seek out Ibanez in his retreat at Mentonne and publicly challenge him to a duel. The portion of the manifesto to which the former minister of war particularly objects, states:

"A letter is alleged to have been written by King Alfonso to General Silvestre, commanding the troops in Morocco, saying: 'Do not tell you. Don't mind the Minister of War. He is an imbecile.'"

The author then explains in his somber that Viscount d'Eza, who was Minister of War at the time, did send me the King for months as he did not wish to be forced to settle him.

Ibanez attacks on King Alfonso and the public persecution he said to have stirred up much resentment in Spain and it is expected that the writer will find himself the subject of many challenges to the field of honor. One of these has already been sent by Benigno Vasquez, editor of the Madrid Royalist newspaper La Monarquia who announced his intention of coming to France to "pull Ibanez' ears."

As the Spanish directory is understood to be anxious to prevent anymore exciting incidents in France, it is thought that Prime Minister Herriot will be refused passports as will the two who General Arrillera and General Alguerry, both former heads of the Spanish War Ministry, attempted to visit France for the same reason. Both Arrillera and Alguerry were severely taken to task in the Ibanez pamphlet.

ONE HUNDRED RACING DOGS TRAIN FOR 200 MILE NON-STOP DERBY; OWNERS SEEK CUP AND PURSE

Dogs Face Starter at 11 a.m. On February Third

NEVER USE WHIP

Dog "Mushers" Have Unwritten Law and Treat Canines Well

The Pas, Man., Dec. 23.—(By Canadian Press).—Probably never before in the history of dog racing in Northern Manitoba has such keen interest been shown by all lovers of this fascinating outdoor sport as is manifest this year.

While Manitoba's eighth annual 200-mile non-stop dog derby is some six weeks distant, yet nearly 100 racing dogs are being trained daily and are geared for the gruelling grind over the long route. The glorious traditions of this sporting classic has attracted world-wide attention, for it is recognized as a test of supreme endurance. Owners, drivers and trainers are daily entertaining their hopes of victory over the course and taking good care to conceal their speed.

No list of competing teams is yet available, but it is a well-known fact that several new entries will face the starter at 11 o'clock on the morning of February 3. These new teams will be composed of good and well-bred, well-bound huskies, which are expected to maintain a fast pace throughout the race.

Mitch Chamberlain of the 1919 Alaska Derby sweepstake in 1916, the dog derby started annually at The Pas, Manitoba, has developed into the greatest feature of its kind in the world.

This thrilling event originated in the fall of 1918 when a small group of dog-loving Northerners stimulated a plan for a race. It has since been proved that Northern Manitoba is ideally adapted for the conduct of these races and the development of sporting dogs, who have carried with the banner of civilization northward.

The details of establishing the first annual dog race, over a distance of 150 miles, carrying with it a purse of $1,000, was worked out by the late Great Rice and later perfected by the late Walter Gorse, of Alaska racing fame. The names of these two men are now inscribed upon the silver cup presented to the Pas Doc Derby Association by A. Matheson, and being competed for together with a purse of $1,500.

The first Derby race was held on March 17, 1918, with the old-style toboggan used, with the dogs hitched to it in fanfare fashion. The latter race was staged in 1918 and was similarly carried out with the exception of shortening the course by 50 miles. In 1920 it was for Walter Gorse to introduce the Alaskan hitch and skilfully driving his dogs two abreast. In this race, Gorse easily outdistanced his rivals and covered the 150 miles in the record time of 21 hours, 14 minutes. It is perhaps a coincidence that all these races were run in a raging snowstorm and each team was driven by its owner. Since then all drivers are engaged to train the dogs for the event and run them as races.

In 1921 the distance of the course was lengthened to 200 miles, while the purse was increased to $1,500 and thus began the great racing classic as it is known today.

Following are previous winners of the race:

1918—150 miles—1. Albert Campbell; 2. Jack Hughes; 3. W. Hayes. Time, 34 hours, 47 minutes.

1919—100 miles—1. Batcese Campbell; 2. Larry McKay; 3. Jack Hayes. Time, 15 hours, 20 minutes.

1920—100 miles—1. Walter Gorse; 2. Stan Francis; 3. Jack Hayes. Time 13 hours, 14 minutes.

1921—200 miles—1. W. Winterton, driving team owned by C. B. Morgan; 2. Larry McKay; 3. Jack Hayes, driving for G. R. Bancroft. Time 32 hours, 50 minutes.

1922—200 miles—1. W. Grayson, driving for C. B. Morgan; 2. T. Dupas, for G. R. Bancroft; 3. Sam Cook. Time 28 hours, 52 minutes.

1923—200 miles—1. W. Grayson, driving for C. B. Morgan; 2. Thomas Musakic; 3. W. Winterton. Time, 28 hours, 53 minutes.

1924—200 miles—1. "Shorty" Russeck; 2. Miss MacDonald; 3. Thomas Musakic. Driving for W. Grayson. Time, 23 hours, 53 minutes.

The present course in the course has been adopted and the teams will race to the Herb Lake post office and return a distance of slightly more than 200 miles. The starting point will be again on the Saskatchewan river at the Hudson Bay railway bridge, as far as mile "21" and there the teams will turn into the Herb Lake, going over 10 miles of a horse road and thence across Herb Lake to the village of Herb Lake where the homeward turn will be made.

This route is served with telephone communication throughout and every foot of the race will be described to The Pas reporting the progress and placing of each team and driver during the entire route. This new innovation in dog racing, it is believed will prove very popular and will go a long way to make the event more interesting and attractive.

In addition to the feature race, a contest will be staged between freight-carrying dog teams, for a purse of $600. Each doc train will be limited to five dogs, hitched to a toboggan in the old steele style fashion and hauling a load of 500 pounds. They will travel 25 miles each day, or three days, the winner being determined by the lowest time for the aggregate 100 miles. The main object of promoting such a race, is to encourage the breeding and raising of better commercial dogs which are indispensable to the northern traveller.

It is the usual rule and in fact as unwritten law amongst dog mushers never to use a whip on the dogs during the long race. "Shorty" Russick, last year's winner declared after the 1924 event that his success was attributable to the correct treatment of his team. Darting the 200-mile grind, "Shorty" fed his dogs three times, at 5 p. m., on the first day of the race, next 10.30 p.m. when he turned for home and again at 5 o'clock in the morning, some fifty miles from the finishing line. He stopped only 20 minutes at the half-way mark and he arrived back at The Pas with his dogs still going strong and in the pink of condition.

A London Letter

(By The Canadian Press)

London, Dec. 9—Despite the ever-increasing problem of how to handle the traffic of the Metropolis, there is a highway in London which, so far as human passengers are concerned is totally neglected. It is many years since passenger boats ran on the Thames. They were very popular in their time, but the last three years of their operation resulted in a loss of nearly £170,000. Sir Samuel Instone has brought forward a scheme for the revival of this form of traffic. The London County Council was asked to provide landing stages, and Sir Samuel proposed to put into commission steamers with a capacity for carrying 1,000 passengers apiece. The County Council, however, while professing itself anxious to help in relieving traffic congestion, declined to justify it by accepting the heavy financial risk involved, in view of the results of previous undertakings of this character. The Thames, therefore, is to remain for steamboatles. This applies only to the reaches of the river within the Westminster, The City of London, and the busy stretch lower down. The upper reaches of the Thames for many years in the summer are well served with pleasure steamers run by private enterprise.

Talking about traffic problems, we mentioned in a previous letter the rebuilding of the City and South London tube after complete modernization. The line is now into the great "Underground" combine, which controls not only the tube and other underground railways but nine-tenths or more of the surface motorbuses. The re-opening of the C. & S. L. was attended by an almost embarrassing display of public interest. Such was the rush for the first train that hord Ashfield, one of the great Underground magnates, and his fellow-directors, were held up and were compelled to "travel" when they participated in the initial journey. It is said that the solution of the London traffic problem lies in making still further railways underground, and promised Government support as far as possible.

T. P. O'Connor, Father of the House of Commons, is still very active with his pen. One of his greatest literary "stand-bys" is to prepare beforehand in advance of obituary notices of celebrities for one of the London dailies. When the Great Reaper calls for anybody of note in the political literary, or theatrical life of England, it is a certain that a column or more sketch of that celebrity's life and works "by T. P. O'Connor" will be served up for the public edification next morning. Admirable articles they are, too, for T. P. has known most everybody of a Great Britain and much farther afield who has been worth knowing, during the last 40 years or more. At a dinner the other night T. P. made some humorous allusions to his threads of his energies. It was curious he said but in writing such a biography, how invariably assured the main additions to it were of late years of life.

Speaking of the relations between the Mother Country and the Dominions, Mr. O'Connor said that when he was in Vancouver he was very much struck by the remark of the editor of a paper who said: "You want our interest and support but what benefit do you take to gain those things? We never hear anything from you except in very sparse telegrams. All the news we get of the Mother Country comes from press agencies in the United States." "What a pity," said Mr. Gates he searched the American papers in vain for the main topics of interest here. But had he walked to know domestic affairs, the quarrels and reconciliations and offences in any great family, especially if it had any American element, he would have found more in the New York papers in one day than in the London papers in 25 years."

There is a rush of young men to the commissioned ranks of the Regular Army. One hundred commissions a year are now offered to candidates for honors and 31 to graduates of universities in the United Kingdom, and at the latest competitive test recently, more applicants were recommended than during the whole of the preceding 12 months. The War Office states that, while expenditure is naturally very limited, regiments and in different stations and also depend on individual tastes and habits, many retired lieutenants are now living on their pay and allowances without the assistance of private means.

A good many visitors from Overseas to London are taken to see the Foundling Hospital in Hoomsbury. It certainly is worth anyone's while to attend the morning service on Sunday and to behold the children in their quaint costumes ranged in rows on either side of Handel's organ. Visitors afterward have the opportunity of seeing the children at dinner. The Foundling Hospital was established away back in the 18th century by Captain Coram. Our Lord was very lonely one day when a basket used to gondola the main streets was left at the reception of "unwanted" babies; he had to so much abuse, though that it was long are discontinued. The Foundling Hospital covers considerable amount of ground bordering on the Gray's Inn Road. The choicest portion of value for commercial purposes, and considerations of the general health of the children have induced the Governors to seek a new home in the country, but arrangements made towards this arrangement will not be completed for some time. In heart of London the Foundling Hospital will be a fallow the example set many years ago by the famous schools, Christ's Hospital, which used to exist on a big site adjoining Newgate Street) and the Charterhouse, which used to be in the heart of Smithfield.

Many kind sentiments were as a matter of course, uttered last week with Queen Alexandra's recent celebration of her 80th birthday. Queen Alexandra's close friends, only two persons in the Dowager Duchess of Devonshire and Mrs. Standish, who lives in Paris. The latter's invisible is a very old-fashioned one. Mrs. Standish was a Frenchwoman married to a Lancashire manufacturer. She is most of a life in Paris. She always dressed in black and her servants for two lifetimes still correspond regularly. Mrs. Standish's love for England took her two years ago. Of the Queen's personal attendants, Miss Knollys has extraordinary and devoted lady, still remains with her, residing for convenience in a hotel hand, never ill, and always active, though she is eighty years older than her mistress.

Letters to Editor

FRUITS OF UNION

To the Editor:

Sir:

Glenboro, Manitoba, has been the home of a Union Church for over eleven years and Glenboro is looked regarded as one of the cleanest, prettiest and most enterprising small towns in the West. Its citizens are being continually complimented on their beautiful war memorial, a magnificent granite obelisk and miniature park that graces the main street; in its young temperance sentiment as shown in the various referenda in the moral tone of its community centres, as for example, its curling and skating rink which is an important centre during the winter months, for Glenboro is second to none in curling; and in his moral attitude toward all public and athletic enterprises Glenboro has an enviable record.

Back of this wholesome community atmosphere stands a vigorous and healthy Union Church, well equipped and well able to serve the spiritual needs of its constituency, which includes two country appointments .At the present time it has its boys' work and young people fully organized under trained leadership, according to the programs of the churches, and in this department the efforts of union are so apparent that the young people simply marvel at the spiritual blindness as they regard it, of those opposed to union.

Notwithstanding the more or less isolated position that this local Union Church has occupied, and the consequent handicap of being somewhat out of touch with the larger activities of the mother churches, there have been many evidences of the fruits of union; the greatest of these have been the spiritual advantages. These people cannot help but feel that the long delay in bringing the United Church of Canada has been an unpardonable sin.

P. N. MURRAY,
Minister of Union Church.

AGED LADY TOOK STROKE IN YARD

Guelph, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Blair, aged widow of the late Revd Dr. Blair, who was one of the veteran Presbyterian ministers of Guelph Presbytery was found yesterday morning in the yard at the rear of her home, Exhibition street, by neighbors, almost frozen to death. She was immediately removed to the hospital, where attempts were made to revive her, but she died a few hours later. The aged lady was alone for a few days and it is supposed she early yesterday morning she attempted to remove the garbage to the ashes and suffered a stroke of paralysis at the time.

Toronto Trimmed Boston Handily

Score Was 10 to 1; Holway Was Slightly Hurt

Boston, Dec. 23.—St. Patrick's crowd whooped the lowly Bruins of Boston, before a small attendance, at the Arena last night, 10 to 1, in a hard-fought game. The scorers will indicate the relative strength of the teams, but despite their showing, the Bruins revealed greater possibilities than on any previous appearance here, their supporters believe. They fought gamely, but lacked scoring ability to a marked extent.

"Hide" Dye, of St. Pats, was the star of the night, notching five of his team's goals. Dye got one, while Jackson was responsible for Boston's single tally.

The new acquisitions to the Bruins, Shaw, Jackson and Carroll, performed creditably, but Carson, Cooper and Hay berg, both star supporters, were sadly missed. The slim crowd appeared to indicate that professional hockey is losing out here to the rougher and readier brand of the amateur game, reversed admirably to the fans. Although strenuous in body-checking, the game was free from actual roughness. The penalties were few and trivial. In the first period no player was penalized.

First Period

On hard'ee, which made for fast going, the game started at sprint pace. It was rough as well as speedy, both teams appearing eager for heavy checking. Hide Dye of St. Pat's was first to display after carrying the puck from goal to goal evaded the Boston defence and sent one of the bullet-like shots past Fowler. The attack of the Irish continued, and Dye added two more in rapid succession, giving St. Pat's a three-goal lead. Then the tables turned for a time, and "Red" Stuart, who had made himself the hero of the game by his fierce rushes on the citadel of his former teammates, was joined by Carroll and the hard-working Skinner, and the Bruins had the fans fighting for their lives. There was rush after rush on the St. Pat's goal, and in one of these Jackson beat Roach.

Play was continuously at the visitors' end, and on one attack a mix-up piled half a dozen players inside the net. Holway was hurt, but continued to play. St. Pats took a new lease of life towards the end of the period, and one more of Dye's fast rushes found its mark in seconds before the bell. Despite the hard checking there were no penalties in this period.

Second Period

The first penalty of the game was a minor handed to Corbeau, early in the second period, for tripping. St. Pats landed the first score of this period, and it was hanky. Dye, at centre ice made a long hit, and the puck drifted into the net past Fowler. The Bruins, despite the showing of the score board, were demonstating improved form. Roach had to be at his best to stop the shots of Carroll, Spurgeon and Stuart. But the shooting of the Bruins was wretched compared to the marksmanship of the St. Pat's.

St. Pats played five-men on the defence for a time, but at one pretty sally Dye and Joy went down, passing back to Duff eleven feet, and placed on the team for the past two years, and is considered a lover of straight.

Cole's right leg was badly crushed in an accident when he was seven years old and was amputated about four inches below the knee. He has become accustomed to getting about on the shortened limb that Jack Cameron, athletic director and coach at the orphanage, declares he is much faster than many boys with two good legs. Cole does not wear an artificial limb while playing football. In getting over the field he uses his shortened leg as a kind of spring and jumps instead of running.

Cole, who is 17 years of age, weighs 150 pounds. He will be captain of the orphanage team next season.

QUEEN'S EXCEL AT MORE THAN RUGBY

D. T. Burke, of the Queen's octette shared honors with H. T. Teed, of McGill as the highest individual scorer with 99 out of a possible 100. J. A. Campbell, Alberta, was the highest Western scorer with 91.

PLAY OFF FOR THE POULTRY TO-MORROW

In the semi-finals at the Y. M. C. A. last night, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. J. A. Wray won from Mrs. Goyer and Murray Hall, in the elimination contest for the Christmas Poultry. The second "Assault of Arms" saw Mrs. Strachan and Clayton Cornell emerge victors over Miss M. Goyer and Mr. Austin. The latter pair bowled well in the second and final frames but were not able to overcome the lead of 102 pins which the Strachan-Cornell combination acquired in the first frame.

To-morrow night will see the play off for first honors and all that accompanies it and the strong playing combination of Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Wray opposed to Mrs. Strachan and C. Cornell will doubtless furnish an exhibition of exceptional interest to the line up of spectators which has been following the latter day games.

PLAYS FOOTBALL MINUS ONE LEG

Raleigh, N.C., Dec. 23.—Having but one leg since he was little Buck Cole as a football player has the same right to board of the Methodist Orphanage foot ball eleven here, he played on the team for the past two years, and is considered a lover of straight.

Cole's right leg was badly crushed in an accident when he was seven years old and was amputated about four inches below the knee. He has become accustomed to getting about on the shortened limb that Jack Cameron, athletic director and coach at the orphanage, declares he is much faster than many boys with two good legs. London Seniors Take First One

Defeated Galt by Score of 5 to 3 Last Night

Galt Out., Dec. 23—In the opening game of the Big Six senior group, and incidentally the first game in the O.H.A. London's flashy seaxtette last night trimmed the Terriers in a really interesting game by 5 to 3. It was a cool win, and while the locals were beaten they need not be ashamed of their defeat, because they were opposed by a team which has been on the ice for seven weeks, while they had their first real stage of training only last week. Compared with the winners they showed a great deal of combination and also of team play.

London has a smooth working machine, well balanced in all departments. Its forward line showed a lot of pretty combination, with the short passing game their style. They also get back and well for a break and then with a rush of speed go to the other end. The six forwards start well the full sixty minutes without relief. The Terriers showed a lot of speed, but lacked the team play on the forward line.

Fournier on the defence and Lowrey on right wing were the stars for the winners. The Gauthier brothers, who played wings for Galt, made a fine combination, Jerry with a goal also did some nice work. Norman Himes at centre was fast and tricky at times, and had hard luck around the nets. George Neville was the pick of the Terriers, and well.

London opened the scoring after eight minutes of play. Fournier beating Murray with a shot that deflected off the goal post. A minute later, Woods, who had just come on for Galt, tied matters with a goal also from centre and his before the close of the period. Holmes shooting out from back of the goal, placed the puck by Neff Edmund. The Terriers played their best hockey in this period and were the better team.

In the second period, with George Neville serving a penalty for slashing the London forward line took advantage of the odd man, and with a rush carried the play to the Galt goal. Neville tied the count on a pretty bit of team play. Lowrey, after a rusher the three London forwards combined for the certain goal of the night, Leamy scoring.

Galt showed little pep to their attack in the third period, fading away from the start. Five minutes up down the ice play, Neville rushed, and carrying the puck to the Galt defence, passed it to Leamy, and taking a return pass beat Murray.

With but a minute to go Norman Himes rushed and took a shot on Leamd and Lowrey, who followed, Albert Gauthier, coming in fast, batted the puck into the twine off the rebound. While both teams used their full strength Referee Lou Marsh kept the game clean. A Crowd of about 2,000 witnessed the game. With more training the Terriers will prove formidable opposition for the Big Six teams. The line-ups—

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

...ll blood, regarding her silently, watchfully, with an anxious, sympathetic expression on his smooth face.

"This lady"—she went on, speaking very word as if it cost her an effort—"this Lady Despard. Will you ask her to take me?"

"But my dear Miss Marlowe! Had you not better consider—"

"I have considered," she said, interrupting him. "If she thinks I can be of any service to her—if she is going away from England at once—"

"She is!" he said softly.

"Well, then—tell her please, that I am ready; that I will go with her!"

"I will do everything you wish, my dear young lady," he murmured. "I fear I have wearied you! Leave it all to me," and with softly murmured "Heaven bless you!" he left her.

CHAPTER XVIII.

FASHIONING THE WEB

Two days later, Mrs. Jelfs brought Doris a letter. The envelope bore an elaborate crest, stamped in crimson and gold, and as she opened it, a faint perfume emanated from it.

It was from Lady Despard, who wrote—for the delightfully-illegible hand, all points and angles, known as the "Italian"—that her dear friend, the well-known philanthropist, Mr. Spencer Churchill, had recommended Miss Marlowe to Lady Despard, and, placing the greatest reliance upon Mr. Churchill, her ladyship would be very pleased if Miss Marlowe would come to her at number 5 Grove Chester Gardens, as soon as Miss Marlowe could find it convenient. Lady Despard added that she was certain, from all Mr. Churchill had said, she and her friend Lowes would get on together and that she looked forward to that as soon as possible.

Doris read and re-read the elegant epistle, vainly striving as we all do, to form some idea of the character of the writer; then she sat down and wrote an answer saying that she would come to Lady Despard's the following day.

Now that she had recovered from the lethargy which had closely followed her great trouble, she was filled with a restless desire to get away from Burton and the painful associations. She at once set to work at the preparations for her journey, and it was not until she had packed up her things that it occurred to her that she had not so until she had bidden farewell to Mr. Spencer Churchill.

Doris' feeling toward that gentleman was a peculiar one. He had befriended her when she had been most in need of a friend; had shown an unselfish and considerate kindness to her, a stranger, which, when she pondered over it, amazed her; and she was grateful. But she had not forgotten the dead man's warning and it still haunted her, although Spencer Churchill had so cleverly managed to allay her suspicions by his frank confession, that, in the end between him and Jeffrey, he had been in the wrong. And yet, though her suspicions were allayed, she was conscious of a strange feeling of disquietude while in his presence; a feeling that was neither quite dread nor dust, but partook of both sentiments.

Still, he had been most kind, and her gratitude would not allow her to go without seeing him again.

After a good deal of reflection, she wrote a couple of lines to him, telling him that she had arranged to start on the morrow, and asking him to call and see her; and she sent it by a lad to the Towers.

An hour or two later Mr. Spencer Churchill arrived.

"I am glad, very glad, my dear young lady," he said, pressing the hand which she gave him, "that you have resolved to seek change of scene and society. You will find dear Lady Despard a most charming and amiable lady, who will prove a—a—invaluable friend; and I hope, I may say I am sure, that you will be happy. You must let me have the pleasure of seeing you off by the train tomorrow—"

Doris shook her head gently but firmly.

"I could not let you take so much trouble," she said. "I am leaving quite early in the morning, and—"

He nodded.

"Well, well, I understand. That shall be as you wish. And is there anything I can do now? Your luggage—"

"It is all ready," said Doris. "I am quite prepared."

"Then nothing remains for me to do but to hand over to you the money I hold for you," he said, and he took out and counted some banknotes.

Doris colored.

"I have been thinking," she said, "that I would ask you to be so good as to take charge of some of it for me. It seems so large a sum—I have never been used to handling large sums of money!" her eyes filled as she spoke. "I am ashamed to cause you any further trouble, but if you will take charge of some of it for me, if you will give me twenty pounds, and keep the rest in case I should want it, I shall be very grateful. You will be adding to all your past kindness to me."

"Yes, yes, I see. I shall be very happy," he said, benevolently, "even to undertake the full trust, eighty. And when you want it you can write me. Perhaps when you come to know Lady Despard you will like her to act as your banker, by the way, (don't think we said anything about the remuneration?"

"No," said Doris; "I did not think of it."

"You left it all to me. Quite right. Well, I hope you will think I have done the best. Lady Despard, dear, and I have agreed upon a hundred pounds a year."

That is a great deal, I suppose," said Doris, simply. "It is more than enough and once more I thank you."

"It is but little for half a woman's work," he said, and he smiled, not half enough in return for so sweet and charming a companion, my dear young lady, we must be content," he said, "And now, is there anything else?"

Doris replied in the negative, then suddenly her face crimsoned.

"There is one thing more," she said in low voice. "Can you tell me Lord Neville's address in Ireland?"

Her voice faltered, and her clear pure eyes met his steadily. He showed no surprise, but looked pained to think for a moment or two.

"I am sorry to say I cannot," he said "Did you want to write to him?"

"Yes," she said. "I wish I could tell you—" her voice broke.

CROWMEN HAVE HARDSHIPS

Folkestone, Dec. 23.—Brevet years have not been at all easy for curates of the clergy of the Church of England from a financial point of view, according to the Rev. H. Elliott, new vicar of the local church here.

"Some have been so hard for some of them that one parson had no new clothes for 20 years. Mr. Elliott cited another case where at the tea-table at a clergyman's house there was never but ter, milk or sugar; it was just a meal of bread and tea.

Amsterdam, Holland, Dec. 23.—Dr. Peter Zeeman, of the Dutch Hydrodynamic Institute, believes that Anton Plettenet discovery of the principles by which air currents can be made to produce heat and energy will revolutionize the entire fuel industry. Mail Man Leaves Lasting Impression

Griffin Feature Brings Out Excitement For the Mail Man

Emory Johnson is rapidly creating a vogue for a new type of picture, the "mail man" type. The huge success of which opened at the Griffin Theatre today.

In "The Mail Man" an F. B. O. attraction, Johnson discovers a character whose life is packed with drama and thrills and has the time of his dramatic career in the picturization of "The Third Alarm" by Joseph Kaufman. "Mail Man Law", Ralph Lewis, interpreting the role of the father to his work so much feeling and so many beautiful touches that the picture has a lasting impression.

Most of us have not realized to what extent we depended upon the mail for our very existence and we have not fully comprehended the tremendous amount of service that is accorded us for this small payment of two cents. Until we make up every letter sent. "The Mail Man" drives this fact home and the same time is so vital dramatic and overwhelming that it makes a delightful evening of wholesome entertainment.

The love of father and son is the theme and Emory Johnson has taken for her story, and the portrayal of Postman Morley and his son, by Lewis and Johnnie Walker, is one of the greatest pieces of dramatic teamwork that has been witnessed for many a day.

Martha Sleeper and Taylor Graves, as the two childish sweethearts, provide plenty of roaring comedy, back of which there is a note of pathos in the boy's timidity inspired by his stern father.

Jack Kirby, with massive eyebrows and superb control of facial muscles is in the same splendid role as Jeffrey, and his part, which is full of strong dramatic emotion, is done correctly.

Another fine performance is that given by Virginia True Boardman, a young woman who knows how best to use of make-up and expression, makes one of the finest old "dames" on the screen, Josephine Adair, a familiar character in many of Johnson's previous pictures, is totally remarkable in her pathetic characterization as the little cripped girl.

Hardee Kirkland, Herschel Mayall and Wilbur Higbee are also in the cast, and while their parts are small they act them conscientiously and earn their share of the picture's credit.

Thomas Meighan Scores Another Hit

In "Tongues of Flame" at Belle Theatre Yesterday

"Tongues of Flame," Thomas Meighan's newest Paramount starring picture was presented yesterday at the Belle Theatre, is that kind of a production that makes one proud of the theatre, with the conviction that alls well in the motion world after all—as far as Tom's concerned, at least.

"Tongues of Flame" is a picturization of Peter Clark Macfarlane's last novel, published by Emerson Hewsbery, who wrote "The Unity One" and "A Salated Devil."

Tom's always pleasing on the screen, at times more so than others—and this is one of those more so, or better, very much so.

And then there's two very beautiful young leading women playing opposite Meighan in "Tongues of Flame." Bessie Love and Helen Ferguy. Now what more could one want? Well, Mae Busch, brunette charm and a story that smacks of pell-mell action throughout.

If "Tongues of Flame" isn't the finest thing Tom has ever done as his lengthy career, we'd quit right here. But we don't go on going, you see, so it must be good.

But don't take it on our say so. See it yourself.

There are about thirty "feet gotten" little ones at the Shelter waiting for Santa Claus. Won't you help a little? Christmas Shower at Hotel Quisete all Day Wednesday.

EXCHANGE RATES

New York, Dec. 22.—Sterling exchanges steady and unchanged cents. Great Britain 470 1-8; Canadian dollar ⅛ of one per cent discount.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Wheat took up decided upward swing today after a brief setback at the opening and showed hesitation start. Unexpected firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool and Winnipeg had a stimulating effect here and strong commission houses rapidly absorbed surplus offerings. Households over domestic wheat crop held strong as only a truculent bearish influence. The opening was unchanged to ½ cent lower, but a rally of 1 1-8 to 1 1-4 cents was followed by moderate profit taking which had the effect to one cent or more above yesterday's finish. Corn and oats advanced with wheat. There was much covering by shorts in the May delivery months of recently sold out holdings. After a reaction of ½ cent from the 5-8c advance corn market scored sharp general gains. Oats showed little of a bearish influence. Later all months showed material upturn. Provisions were heavy in absence of any aggressive buying.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES
By Shirley Sharon

BUTTERICK 5761

The tailored frock for late Winter and early Spring has a narrow voice front with a tricky trimming, pockets in its scarf and is cut on very narrow lines.

Faille and bengaline are two of the fabrics that are used to make for tailored dresses, giving them an air of more new and rather elegant. Satin also tailors smartly and these materials in black, brown or navy are trimmed on the seams and sleeve with white or tan braid and crystal or colored bone buttons. The scarf should be lined and the sleeve faced with crepe de Chine matching the braid in color. The wool materials most used for frocks of this type are kasha, soft twills and wool rep.

Jack Noble Goes With Osler Crowd

Freddie Hamilton Makes Announcement; Kingston Wanted Him

Jack Noble, one of Toronto's best and youngest speed-ball pitchers, who was the star twirler in the Intermediate League last year with Simcoes; will join for Osler in the Hamilton Peach League next year. Manager Freddie Hamilton, of Osler, announced yesterday that he had received Noble's promise to pitch for the Hamiltonians next summer, along with Joe Spring, also of the other side of the mountain. Manager Hamilton obtained Noble's understanding to play with Osler in front of Spring. Joe Breen and members of the Noble family who are warm Osler supporters.

Noble's decision to jump to the chain gangs ends a long battle that has been waged by the numerous baseball managers in a quest of Noble services for next year. Knotty Lee, the Kingston coach, and two other outside teams wanted Noble, while Clay Carson, the Athenseum new manager, was hot on the young twirler's heels.

Real Pitcher

Noble promises to be the big find in pitching in 1925. Last year, when he stepped out with Simcoe, after playing Hope Methodist teams, he won seven straight victories, and drove the Simcoe team to the play-off with Strollers. He batted 318 in the East End League, and the entrance into the Roxborough circuit in the west end speaks well for the brand of ball played at Hampden Park. Noble, who is but 20 years of age, is a huge, powerful pitcher, with speed and

IN MEMORIAM

BEELEY—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Mr. J. W. Beeley, who passed away December 23rd 1923.

The sullen stream of life goes on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the care, the smile,
Of him who once sat there.

When for a while we part
The thought will soothe our pain
That we shall still be joined in heart
And one day meet again.

Sadly missed by his wife and daughter.

BIRDS KNOW MINER AND HIS KINDNESS

Kingsville, Ont., Dec. 23—Interesting data on how birds of a feather flock together, and how they return year after year, in the course of mi gration, to any part that will provide the health protection and food in a home, has been obtained by Jack Miner, naturalist, at his bird sanctuary here.

Mr. Miner caught 17 wild mallard ducks in a net, and ascertained that six of the older birds had already been marked with his aluminum tags leaving various years ago. One bird was at least six years old, having been marked in 1918. All the birds were supplied with new 1924 tags.

Actress Hesitates For No Man's Son

Strikes Maaher on the Nose And Receives Magistrate's Approval

Toronto, Dec. 23—Hamlet spent a long time soliloquizing as to whether it would suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune or fight against a sea of troubles. But Miss Corrine Farrell, a local actress of much dramatic genius no such time wondering would do. There may be times when she soliloquizes, but it is not when an unknown young man, dressed in the latest style, makes an unwelcome advance, as Theonia Harris did when the said actress was en route to her home from the theatre on Saturday night. And Miss Harris had reason to know that he had made a serious mistake immediately after he had spoken to the spirited actress. Miss Farrell might stand for several minutes with her soliloquizing, "to be or not to be or," but this young lady came to an abrupt and emphatic decision. She was carrying home a bunch of holly and with lightning despatch the young lady bitted the man on the nose. Not only did he see the points, but he felt many points, and his nose began to bleed. Other men have shed their blood for "fair ladyes", willingly, bravely. But here was a case where a gallant shed his gore unwillingly.

The gentleman might have taken a line from Macbeth, and he wiped off his tapped client, mumbled: "This is bloody business." Instead of which he hailed a police officer and poured out his bloody tale of woe. So did was the recital and so rosy the gore, P.C. McCaddan (302) escorted both to the station, where they beheld Actress charged the gentleman with disorderly conduct.

Yesterday morning Mr. Harris appeared before Magistrate Cohen. The charming little actress entered the witness box and told her story (delivered her line "trippingly" and with histrionic clearness. She admitted the assault.

The accused took the box and found himself facing the crowd of all chamelons of the injured fair sex. Staff Inspector McGuigan, a stalwart Irishman who would jump into the bloodiest battle to champion the cause of an injured lady.

Harris admitted having addressed the young lady but seemed sore that she should have protected herself.

"Do you mean to say that a respectable young lady would hit you on the nose for nothing?" demanded the inspector.

The accused supposed not.

Magistrate Cohen glanced slyly at the charming young actress, then looked sternly at the young man.

"She made his nose bleed. He's going to get something more than that. He'll be fined $5 and costs or let 7 days. I would be glad if there were more like this young lady."

SWIMMERS WENT IN FOR FRIGID BATH

Toronto, Dec. 22.—With the temperature many points below the freezing mark, and white wisps of smoke pouring from the chimneys, a crowd of people looked on, two young men took a dip in the lake at Sunnyside Beach yesterday afternoon.

For their frigid bath they chose a spot just west of the bathing pavilion. They were bedecked in bathing suits and hats of the old "cow-breakfast" style. They ambled unconcernedly into the water, and did not wait long enough to tell onlookers why they chose the official first day of winter to take a dip in the lake.

It is thought they acted in fulfilment of a wager.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU

A Christless World

A Christmas Sermon
By Rev. Dr. W. S MacTavish

John 18:22 "If I had not came", That text invites us to consider a strange supposition—a world without Christ. If the incarnation of Christ is without a parallel in human history, if the "fact of Christ" is the greatest fact in the universe, and if the personality of Christ stands out like some great, towering peak in a mountain range, then surely the supposition of a world without Christ is the height of supposition. And yet there is a hint of that remarkable thing here. "If I had not come." Did you ever pause to consider carefully what such a world would be like if a Jesus had never lived, and if a Saviour had never died? It is well that we should do so occasionally, because it will enable us to understand how great, how innumerable and how precious are the blessings which He has brought. At this season of the year particularly we ought well ponder the fact of His birth and it is proper that at the same time we should dwell upon the inexpressible blessings which have come to us through His advent. It will enhance the joys of Christmas to remember how wondrous are the blessings which have come more directly into the ministry and death of Jesus. It may be that we have been so much accustomed to those good things that we have come to regard them as a matter of course—as something to which we are entitled; and we seldom pause to consider what the world would be like if we were planted down in the dark region which characterized the ages before Jesus came.

There is a strange, old legend of a world that suddenly was left in utter night. The waves became pallid and diminished in size, because expert could the sparkle fled from the distances and light from every gem. The foliage on the trees became dark, and no one knew whether they had been pink, or blue, or crimson, or what all tones of the same hues but. Those who dwelt in the world were saddened and bewildered and never ceased to mourn for the return of the beautiful tints of the flowers and grasses and the vanished hues of the clouds at sunset. All nature was in mourning and, wore a leaden-colored robe. The noble redness of the rose and the deep drop declined to sparkle in the morning sun. The heavens refused to let the seven-colored rainbow span, and each either at sunrise or at sunset the whole world had passed into a shadow. Is that a legend? Yes, truly, a legend, but a picture also of what a world like would this would be if Jesus had "not come." Darkest Africa, the moral server saw anything more gloom than we would be wherever it is found today if Christ had not come. Some one has said, "If Christ had not come! Step forth and with one sweep of your hand sketch the refuges, courts and all safety for the citizens who be the poorest, the lowest, the riotor speech. Erase from the ... rill public schools, public libraries ... memorials, art galleries and ... of the people. How to atone ... hospital homes and ... —hasa, for soldiers and for the ... and poor; and in mercy restrain ... ness' inmates. Substitute for the ... eating pit have ruins of a Rome ... crinsing à la ath the lash of dozens ... erazed by the wheels of war."

How different our family life would be if this were a Christless world! Before do we know what it would be like? Probable the best way would be to compare the Christian home with the pagan. Among the 425,000,000 inhabitants of China, among the 300,000,000 in India, among the 20,000,000 in Africa, among the many millions of Canada in the South Sea Islands, there is no such family life as can be expressed in Canada to-day. There is no gathering of parents and children at the evening meal, no pleasant round a common table, no pleasant chat as the meal is partaken of, no relating of happenings experienced after the day's duties are ended. Possibly it would be too much to say that it ought to be, nor all that it might be, but if there is one thing more than another that has tended to make us what we are, and to make our home smooth and pleasant it is our home life. The uplifting influences which sweeten our homes and make them what they are we owe to Jesus Christ, who sanctified the home and the family bond.

How different would have been the condition of women if this had been a Christless world! In pagan lands the female child is unwelcome at birth ... attach to childhood, many years ... were child without her consent to ... her condition, which, perhaps she has never seen, neglected in childhood, treated in old age, and probably murdered at motherhood. She comes up with the idea that she has no soul, and that her life will end in Life is on obedient wife rendering every ... and every command. She may indeed, be only one of several wives, and she wishes to escape torture worse than death the only way open is through suicide. And such would be the condition of women in this country to-day if Jesus had not come.

And what of the condition of children? In the Christless world, which it certainly would not be what it is to-day, James Stalker says that "Jesus did childhood up as He did so many ... and dignified childhood and set it on a new ... If the prattle of little voices and the patter of little feet can brighten any room, it is by our own little sunshine in life to Jesus Christ."

The condition of the pagan child, on his certainly been vastly improved by the influence of Christ, but what about that of men? To answer that query probably we cannot do better than to look at a description of the condition of things in Canada in the days of Jesus come. Here it is: "Filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity, whisperers, backbiters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful".

When we remember that it is not the condition of natural men to become better and better we can imagine what the condition of men would be if this were a Christless world.

The business world, too, is greater indebted to Christ than many people realize. In Hitting in his library, A hand understands the effect that the street and the old Christmas hymn "O come, O come, Emmanuel," produced upon the minister is reading the Gospel according to John, and as he pondered the words, "The darkness comprehended it not," he felt a misery and dreams. In that dream he saw the world as it would be if Christ had never come. The first thing that impressed him was that it was a world without Christmas. He stops forth from his library into the street and here he finds no merriment. There are no gay festivities, no joyful cheer. The art not and hilarity greet him. The people are sombre and gloomy. They are not to receive the precious gift of His Sacred Body and Blood.

The angel should be very slow to find his example by a special and unselfish effort to bring happiness to others. We are surely in some of some whom we can help to many this happy festival. A spare no trouble in attempting to bring joy and good cheer to those who are poor, well-placed than ourselves is a Holy Christmas, but who are going to spend a happy Christmas in every sense of word.

Special Message to Mourners and Bereaved

To those who will pass this happy season under the shadow of mourning and bereavement let me send this word of comfort. We Christians believe that our loved ones have passed on into the care of Him Who though Son of God was also Man, sharing His Manhood there are no lyrnnos of triumphant hope, no good news of deliverance. The preacher can only say "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes and bockebird." and as the clods fall upon the rough box the weak voice of the preacher is lost in this cruel, pitiless, Christless world is also a dream; and the hand a little brother by the other side of the bed, and "O, come all ye faithful", joyfully rings out clear.

"If I had not come", Yes but He has come, for He Himself said, "I am come a light into the world." How pitiable the world has been illuminated by His coming! "If I had not come." Yes but He has come to bear our sins, to bring us blessed word. "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it abundantly." How gloriously life has been enriched and beautified by His coming!

A Message From The Bishop

That Christmas is not primarily a with them and us. Unite yourselves holiday, but a Holy Day, because it commemorates a great event, showing forth God's love for men. In the message of the Bishop of Ontario to all members of the Church of England in Canada in the Diocese of Ontario. The whole message follows:

To all the members of the Church of England in the Diocese of Ontario. Greeting.

My dear people:

The child-season again be celebrating the great Festival of our Lord's Nativity—our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST—the WORD Who was made flesh and dwelt among men. It is my privilege to send you all a few words of counsel and greeting in this Holy Anniversary, the birthday of our Lord as Man.

Let us keep in the forefront of our Christmas thoughts our duty to worship and adore the Lord Christ. For Christmas Day is not primarily a holiday, but a Holy Day, a great Christian festival, certainly a joyful and happy nature, but chiefly so because it commemorates a great event showing forth God's love for men. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." Therefore our chief thought and prayer should be for the Christ who is never come. The first thing that impressed him was that it was a world without Christmas. He stops forth from his library into the street and here he finds no merriment. There are no festivities, no joyful cheer. The art not and hilarity greet nay the people. They are sombre and gloomy. They are not to receive the precious gift of His Sacred Body and Blood.

The angel should be very slow to find his example by a special and unselfish effort to bring happiness to others. We are surely in some of some whom we can help to many this happy festival. A spare no trouble in attempting to bring joy and good cheer to those who are poor, well-placed than ourselves is a Holy Christmas, but who are going to spend a happy Christmas in every sense of word.

Special Message to Mourners and Bereaved

THE ANGEL SONG

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold.
"Peace on the earth, good-will to men,
From Heaven's all-gracious King!"
The world in solmen stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel strains have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And man, at war with man, hears not
The love song which they bring.
Oh, hush the noise, ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing!

SANTA VISITED 100 CHILDREN AT THE G.W.V.A.

Many Made Happy By the Veterans and Their Friends

PRESENTS FOR ALL

Program of Song and Dancing For the Older Folk

Over one hundred children were assembled at the G.W.V.A. Memorial Hall, last evening, and they were tingling with excitement. Many of them were perhaps, visiting such a place for the first time.

The occasion was the annual Christmas entertainment and distribution of prizes under the auspices of the Association, an Association which not only reverses the memory of their lamented comrades, but is ever looking after the welfare of those left behind. The committee in charge of the affair spared no pains to make the night the success it proved to be. The spacious hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion and presented an inviting appearance. Many parents and friends of the tiddies were in attendance and shared in the pleasure of the function. The hall was filled to overflowing. During the early evening a moving picture show, all taking part acquitting themselves in a most creditable manner. Upon the platform at the front of the hall a large Christmas tree had been erected and was tastefully decorated. Upon the tree was a present for the till children present, consisting of a useful gift, in addition to candy and oranges.

When Santa Claus, Comrade A. Wills, made his appearance, he was the signal for loud applause by the children.

Major T. D. McManus was chairman of the proceedings and he fulfilled that position in a happy way. He gave a brief address referring to the pleasure it was to the members of the Association to provide Christmas tree for the children. The speakers were Rev. L. J. Gean, Means. C. E. Hanna, M. P. and H. F. Ketcheson. The latter remarked on the festive season and the spirit which prompted the giving of gifts to the children. These speakers have always taken a deep interest in the association.

Comrade J. W. Day, secretary-treasurer made a few remarks bearing on the spirit of those who had given gifts and expressing the appreciation of the members of the Association of them.

To address a few remarks to the various societies given by Comrades Billy Edward and A. Tapp, also by community singing. Miss Bushworth was the accompanist for the singers, all to the community singing.

At the conclusion of the program, Santa Claus appeared and distributed the prizes.

When the program had been completed and the hall cleared, community singing was then indulged in, the name list of many of those present, Mr. Victor Holmes was the leader and the singing was

The committee in charge of the affair was as follows: D. Bradford, J.W. Day, S. Mayhew, A. Tapp, J. Sloan, C. Wills, Edward A. Edwards, C. Johns, Major T. D. McManus, H. Lavender, H. C. Sims and Miss Bushworth, who also assisted were Mrs. D. Bradford, Mrs. A. Knight and Mrs. S. Mayhew.

With sleigh bells alive in cold, clean cut air
How long I have slept, oh, my!

There's grandma, the dear, she has seen us (one) first
With a ting a ling o'er the snow.
And how of it all is to me,
I think I like most that snowy drive
On our way to the Christmas tree.

To celebrate Christmas is ever so fine
And how of it all is to me,
I think I like most that snowy drive
On our way to the Christmas tree.

Jing, a ling, a ting, jing, jing,
How clear the bells ring!
Sweetly through the air
Their voices fair
Sing, ting a ling, a ting, jing, jing!

What lights and shadows have flitted over the world on Christmas day! More lights by far than shadows and yet how dark have some Yuletide seasons been! Had men only caught the spirit of Him in whose honor the day is observed there would have been no sloom nor deeds of violence—nothing but joy, harmony and good fellowship.

In scanning the pages of history one is surprised to find the number of notable events which have happened on the 25th day of December. Some of these have been of the utmost moment with the character of the day, while others have been sadly at variance with it. It may be worth while to pass some of these under review. We mention the darker first, and shall then offset them with something more cheerful and more cheering.

About the middle of the second century a sad Christmas was witnessed by a company of Christians in the Catacombs of Rome. In those days Christians sometimes betook themselves to those subterranean vaults for safety, but while this company was there celebrating the festival of the nativity an edict was issued by the Emperor Marcus Aurelius, to slaughter them. The awful command was obeyed, and not one of them escaped.

On another Christmas day toward the close of the fourteenth century a similar scene was witnessed in the same city. The Emperor, Barnabas, issued orders to surround the house in which a congregation of Christians which a congregation is set fire to it, and to take such precautions that not one of them should escape. The dread decree was executed and that day added to a martyr roll, even that to the long.

Christmas day in the year 1437 was a dark day for Scotland, for it was on that day that James I., was slain by a band of conspirators who broke into the chamber where he was celebrating the birth of our Lord. The result was that the monarch was left with a child for a king, and for several years it was under the regency of three factions which aimed to rule the land.

Coupled with the sad fact that it was on Christmas day in 1635 that the great explorer and founder of Quebec, Champlain, passed away.

His wife, Clotilda, had long labored for the church in fulfillment of a promise he had made to Christ upon the field of battle in the Church in which the baptism took place, and his subsequent had never been witnessed before, and certainly never afterwards. The scene was without a parallel in history.

Yes say that she's hard to hold,
Even I can see that sad her wicked eye!
Well all be flung out in the cold.

Oh, yes, I am comfy and ever so warm;
Let me feel sleepy, yes,
So, mother dear, wake me when we come in sight
Of grandmother's house, please do!

Jing, a ling, a ting, jing, jing,
How clear the bells ring!
Sweetly through the air
Their voices fair
Sing, ting a ling, a ting, jing, jing!

Christmas day in the year 800 was one of the most memorable in all history. It was perhaps the most notable in the Middle Ages, for to-day on that date that the great Charlemagne to be the community singing.

If one may trust tradition, there was one Christmas day which deserved to be specially remembered. Sometime in the fourth century a large company assembled in the hall of Tara, and it was there on a most memorable occasion that Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, was present at the Christmas, "Christ be with me."

A wonderful night, the scene was witnessed in a celebrated hermitage in the Umbrian hills on Christmas day in the year 1223, for it was on that evening that Francis of Assisi, presented to a large congregation a living representation of the birth of Jesus. The latter was deeply troubled by the fact that the religious life of the community in which he lived was at a low ebb, and that many were denying the true humanity of the Christ. So he planned that in an oak tree which stood in the centre of a clearing many lights should be hung, and that under the oak a stable should be erected, and an ox and an ass tied therein. He ordered that straw should be placed in the rack and hay in the manger. To that interesting spot young and old, rich and poor gathered and there, standing by the manger, St. Francis rehearsed the story of the birth of Jesus. As the eyes of the humble conditions under which the Saviour was placed in the manger to trickle down the cheeks of his hearers. That was the beginning of a great religious movement in the Umbrian hills.

Christmas eve came around, the simple story of the Nativity was narrated by many of the religious teachers of that age.

We would scarcely think our Christmas was properly celebrated unless we had, on our table roast turkey, cranberry sauce, plum pudding and mince pie—both. But what are we to think of such a feast as that which was given by Henry VIII., at Westminster, in the year 1542. At that feast the week when the boar revelled in the luxuries of the table. Or what shall we think of that Christmas feast which was given by Archbishop Neville, when 2,000 oxen and 300 tuns of wine were provided? Or as Hall says, "Besides days 2,000 cooks were busy preparing viands for the guests."

The 25th day of December, 1758, was a day long to be remembered by many, for it was then that Dr. Coke and his companions landed at Antigua in the British West Indies and began missionary operations there.

From Despair To Hope

Oshawa, Dec. 24.—A five-year-old boy living in the south end of the city wanted a horse on wheels for his Christmas treat, and his nine-year-old brother wanted a sled, and neither one that would "go by itself."

On Saturday night the horse lay in the snow at Charlotte and Alymer streets, its head broken off, and a few feet away children picked up the mottled car, bent almost beyond recognition. The mother of the children stood on the sidewalk aghast. She had walked, she said, from far in the south end of the city to avoid the crowds on the street cars and to save the fare. She had bought the toys for the children and was returning home when the accident occurred.

The mother of the automobile, who was apparently not in any way to blame for the accident, took the woman's address, promising to pass it on to Santa Claus who will see that a "horse on wheels" and a "motor car that will go by itself" reach the children in time for Christmas.

THE TIE THAT BINDS

The long line of Christmas Days stretching down the centuries appear to us now like a golden band. Woven through times of distress and turmoil, through periods of persecution and war, through the happier years of this old world of ours, it ties us up with all that has gone before.

Christmas binds us tenderly but securely with the best of the past and provides a splendid medium for us to protect our best for future generations.

May ye do our part in seeing to it that the glorious spirit of this season is never stilled.

THE BEGINNING OF CHRISTMAS

When did Christmas begin? Bede, a festival is it, so intimately have we been associated with it from earliest childhood, so completely do its associations and activities and spirit pervade the world that it seems as if it must be as old as the very earth itself.

Of course we know that it is an anniversary of the birthday of Jesus of Nazareth, and that it is not nearly so old as that event, for in the early days of the Christian church there was no such celebration. The very word Christmas is of comparatively late origin. The word is first used in 1038; its form then being Christes Maesse, the mass of Christ. Origin, an early father of the church, said that in the Scriptures it was the martyrs alone, not the saints who celebrated their birthdays.

Another early writer referred to the fact that the birthdays of the pagan gods were kept by the people. The very first evidence of a feast having been held in honor of the birth of Christ was in Egypt about the year 200. Clement of Alexandria said: "Certain Egyptian theologians over curiously assign, not only the year alone, but the day of Christ's birth, placing it on May 25".

Another date assigned to the event was March 28, because on the day the material sun was created.

The double commemoration of the Epiphany and the Nativity became popular partly because the apparition of the shepherds was considered as one of the manifestations of Christ's glory.

CHRISTMAS IN HISTORY

Four or five centuries ago, long before invention and the industrial age had made travel anything more than a huge adventure, when the art of printing had barely become established and books were as scarce as fifes in winter, and when public entertainments were something of a novelty, the Christmas festival occupied a very large and important part in the elaborate preparations. The spirit of joyousness and revelry must have sufficed to take the dullness off the monotony of the daily toil for thousands throughout the following year.

There was no part of England so isolated that it was not visited by itinerant jongleurs, jugglers, performing animals and stage plays including the immortal Mr. Punch. The mummings, strolling minstrels and disguising must have made at least a month of carnival, when all business, vexations, quarrels and worldly affairs generally were forgotten for a time being. Even during the reign of Orleans in 1428 there was a short truce for Christmas, "with a right of minstrelsy with trumpets and clarions," in the English camp.

Gambling was permitted in the reign of Edward IV. during the twelve days of Christmas and the Lord of Abbot of Misrule was paid by the court for his services; up to the time of Henry VII. he received the equivalent of $33 for his services, but this fee was increased to about $90 by the "merry monarch," Henry VIII., who threw himself with great enthusiasm into the yuletide frolics.

Indeed the magnificence of this monarch's entertainments very probably had something to do with his popularity; the king himself indulged freely in the revels, maskings and jousttings which were usually held at Greenwich.

During Henry VIII's reign vizors during Christmas festivities were forbidden as there led to too much disorder and abuses.

"Unlawful games" (which included bowls) were permitted at this season to the working classes; and they were even allowed these games in the presence of their master in his house. There was always a "master of the revels" in every large household and in the household book of the Northumberland family (1512) the fee for this personage is entered as twenty shillings. The Inns of Court, particularly Lincoln's Inn, were famous for their Christmases; the King of Cockneyy was the potentate who presided over these revels.

In 1594 Queen Elizabeth was entertained with great splendor at Gray's Inn. Christmas rejoicings were carried on more or less all over during the time of Cromwell who banished the festival by enactment, but the old doings were restored to the full vigor of former days in 1660.

In 1675 Christmas day began to be celebrated in the infant navy with "trumpets," a rib of beef, plum puddings and mince pies, and plenty of good wines of several sorts."

Mince pies were almost taken as a religious tenet in shape representing the manger and filled with the spices brought by the three wise men. they were regarded by many as a symbol of popery; as such John Bunyan is said to have refused to partake of them when in Bedford pail. There is a record of another pie of later date (1770) which was made for Sir Henry Gray's Christmas by his house-keeper, Mrs. Dorothy Patterson; it contained two bushels of flour, 20 lbs. of butter, four geese, two turkeys, two rabbits, four wild ducks, two woodcock, six snipe and four partridges, two neats' tongues, four curlews, seven blackbirds and six pigeons. It was nine feet round, weighed about 170 lbs. and was mounted in a neat case fitted with four small wheels. Truly a dainty dish to set before the knight!

REFUSING THE BONUS

(New York Telegram and Mail)

Of the 4,044,056 former soldiers of the United States eligible to receive their bonus under the Adjusted Compensation law only sixty-four have directly and emphatically refused the largesse, whereas, 1,785,000 sent in their formal applications for participation. It would be most interesting to learn how many of the 2,258,000 veterans a majority of the total number—who have not expressed themselves are in agreement with the applicants or with the refusers.

The question is one that will never be completely answered. But the overwhelming fact, the incontrovertible fact which the figures do show, is that they demand for the bonus was not the surest will and wish of the men who were rolled upon to fight in 1917 and 1918. No more convincing proof of the politically stimulated character of the bonus demand could be afforded than just these simple figures.

DISCREDITABLE

(Kincardine Review)

The Hydro Electric Commission should have no money to spend in promoting or resisting municipal bylaws and there can be no justification for another penny to be detective work on Mr. Home Smith's house. That action is unwarranted and reprehensible. Mr. Home Smith's only offence was that on a municipal question he voted to take a stand opposed to that adopted by Hydro, directly as a right to take what position he chose on such a question and to back it by any legitimate means in his power. To set a detective to watch who entered or came out of his house while that campaign was going on was simply contemptible. The Commission should have no funds for carrying on that sort.

LACKS INFLUENCE

(Silverton Sun)

It is not likely that the West County riot who has been sentenced to the Reformatory for an indefinite period for the stealing of a coat will have her sentence reversed. That sentence is would seem in accordance only to those who loot banks and big financial concerns.

PERMANENTLY "HIGH" PRICES

(Citizen Journal)

Professor Jacob H. Hollander, of Johns Hopkins University, points out that today's dollar is worth 47 cents as compared with the dollar of 1914. He is probably right. A great many of our economists have arrived at about the same result. But in another way it takes $2.50 today to buy what $1 would have bought ten years ago. A further conclusion of Professor Hollander is that the 47 cent dollar is here to stay for all purposes, he considers permanent. That ought to interest us when we buy the goods distributed around. If Professor Hollander's conclusion is sound—and there is little to be said against it—then we must all see that deflation has run its course. Henceforward there will be no justification for using the index number of 1914 on the assumption that it represents a normal basis. There is no such thing as normalcy in trade. There never has been. Prices have always fluctuated. We take the figures for 1914 and give them the value of 100 was merely a convenient way of measuring the cost of part of the year, necessarily the period when there is no reasonable reduction of a season in the demand. It is time to use the standard any longer as a source of inflation.

Deaths and Funerals

ROBERT GOOD

The late Robert Good passed away at his home in Rawdon on Sunday morning, December 14th, in his 75th year. For several years he has been in feeble health, resulting from rheumatism and heart trouble, but bore his affliction with wonderful courage and cheerfulness. In very early life Mr. Good came from the old land and settled in this community and for the past forty years has lived on his present farm, in his younger days he was a very active and industrious man and proved himself a first class farmer. Through the years he has won and retained the respect of his neighbors and friends who always found him responsive to every call for help or encouragement. In religion he was a Methodist and for many years was an active official, being a trustee of the Methodist church at Stirling at the time of his death. The funeral service, which was largely attended was conducted by is pastor, Rev. C. W. Barratt assisted by Rev. H. F. Breen of the Anglican church. The members of the Oddfellows Lodge, of which society the deceased was a member also officiated at the grave. Three of the members of L.O.L. No. 200 of which deceased was also a member, assisted as bearers.

Floral tributes were received from the following friends:—Pillow, Mrs. Good and son; Gates Ajar, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thrasher; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Morrow; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson of Rose Hill; R. Cornell And Co. Captured Turkeys

Mrs. Strachan and Her Partner Win Association Title

In spite of the fact that they got away to a very poor start and were 197 points down at the end of the first period, Mrs. Strachan and C. Cornell were able to stage a rally in the second round which not only placed them back in the running but gave them a lead of 18 points to start the final frame. The final game as it turned out, had no bearing on the standing in that the both opposing pairs were tied at the end, with 249 points each. Thus it was by just the eighteen points which the Strachan Cornell combination gained in the second string that they won the championship title of the Tri Holiday Bowling Competition and the premier prize which was a pair of turkeys for the winners.

MONTREAL PUTS SENATORS AWAY

Ottawa, Dec. 24—Ottawa Senators drank deep of the cup of bitter defeat here last night when they were downed before Cecil Hart's Montreals by a score of two goals to one. Once again, as against Hamilton a week ago, the Senators staged a third period rally, that had everything but goals attached to it, and just failed to catch their rivals.

For the greater part of the concluding twenty minutes, the locals showed whole on Clint Benedict, but the ex-Ottawan was rarely ever in better form, and turned the invaders back time and time again with saves that bordered almost on the uncanny. The Montreals were so badly hotted up that they did not seem to rush the puck up the ice, but shot it from their own end in a desperate effort to fill time and bang on till the final bell.

Notice To Bowlers

Queen's Loses One Of Best Players

Roy Reynolds Operated On For Appendicitis Yesterday Morning

Queen's hockey team suffered a serious blow yesterday morning when Roy Reynolds the lanky defence player and one of the best hockeyists in the intercollegiate series was operated upon at the General Hospital for appendicitis.

Reynolds was at the arena Thursday night and seemed in as good health as usual. He was in the dressing room, and when he was preparing to retrieve the second game of the City League, he remarked that he felt in good shape. During the night however he was seized with a severe attack of appendicitis and was immediately rushed to the hospital where yesterday morning he was operated upon. As soon he was reported as doing nicely.

Reynolds had been showing wonderful form on the ice, and was in for his best year at hockey. His defensive work was better than ever, and he was keen on helping the team to win the senior intercollegiate title. His loss now means that he will probably be out of hockey for the season or, at any rate, for several weeks. Roy is one of the best all-round athletes at the college, his work at middle wing for the rugby championship machine being one of the best seen in Canada at that position.

FOWLER ADMITTED HE LAID DOWN

Boston, Dec. 21.—Norman "H-T" Fowler, goalie for the Boston Bruins professional hockey league team, admitted yesterday that he "laid down" in the Bruins game against St. Pats of Toronto in the Arena last night, which the latter won 10 to 1. The work of Fowler was so weak that he was removed during the progress of the game.

Today it is stated Fowler confessed to President Charles F. Adams and Coach Arthur Row of the Bruins, that he did "lay down" purposely.

Fowler is stated to have admitted that he had received $500 for his part in the game.

Fowler was immediately clapped onto the rering player, together with an indefinite suspension. His future in hockey is said to be in serious peril. Further action on this question probably will be taken up by the league, but he will never play again for the Boston team Coach Row declared today.

When the Bruins reach Montreal Thursday morning for the game that evening with the Canadiens, Dr. Charles H. Stewart, the new goalie, will report to Coach Row. Stewart is a capable player, and Row hopes that he will add zest to the Bruins lineup.

The Fowler affair comes as a genuine shock to hockey followers in this city, but there is a feeling that the game will not be injured as a result of the prompt and vigorous treatment of Adams and Row in handling the case, together with the fact that they unhesitatingly made the facts public without any effort at concealment.

PRESTON DEFEATED THE GREEN SHIRTS

Preston, Ont., Dec. 24.—Preston Riversides defeated the Kitchener Green Shirts three to one in their own home game in the Big Six senior O.H.A. group here last night. It was a grueling contest, with both teams giving their best, and featured by end to end rushes and heavy body checking, which resulted in a number of trips to the penalty box. The game was very fast from start to finish, and the small-sized crowd of fans in attendance got their money's worth. Keepers of the visitors gave a great exhibition of stick-handling, and Hemphill and Krug both played a fine game for Kitchener. Every man on the locals played good hockey. The team work has much improved, and from now on the Riversides will need watching. Skelly, Ashley and Arnott were the goal getters for the locals.

INDIANS COULDN'T STOP THE FALLS

Stratford, Dec. 24—With two men still suffering from injuries received at Port Colborne two weeks ago, the Indians last night lost the first of group games in the senior O.H.A. series by 4 to 1 to Niagara Falls. Both Burke and Griffin were stiff and in bad shape, and Graham was also in poor condition. With their handicap the Redskins were unable to stop the attack of the better conditioned boys from the Falls. Goal was Stratford's star, and accounted for the Indians' lone goal. For the visitors, who played nice hockey all through, Kitchen, Melson, Fraser and Herrington were their goal getters. About 2,000 people saw the game.

The first period was productive of much wild shooting, and one goal, Fraser sneezing that for the Cataract City in the first four minutes. Falls boys had the edge so far as the play during the period the team play is concerned, but shots on goal were about equal, both net guardians turning in splendid exhibitions. There was considerable bumping, and the referee kept a steady parade to the penalty box. Kitchen, former Stratford star, was the centre of much bumping and walked into more stiff body shocks during the period than in any game he played here. He also served a penalty for tripping. Both teams tired visibly toward the end of the period.

Teams—R. P. Grant, Hone Bank Burns; goal, Herrington; defence, Kitchen, Melson; centre, Fraser; rover, Graham; wings, Griffin, Burke.

Gets as little as law will allow. The marriage in 1921 of the late Samuel Gompers, internationally famous head of the American Federation of Labor, to a bride of $20,000 occasioned much surprise and comment. Gompers at that time was 71 years of age. Latterly it has been known to their friends that an estrangement had arisen between the couple, and the will of the Labor leader, just published, shows that he left her the absolute income permitted by the law, about one-third of the estate. Above are two poses of Gertrude A. Gompers, his widow.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

He raised his hand with a soft, depressing smile.

"My dear young lady, tell me nothing more than you wish. I am—" he laid his hand upon the heart—"I am sure, from your features, that I am right. Why should you not write to Lady Sterling, if you choose, or any other person? I presume you know him?"

"Know him," she said, turning her head aside.

"Just so," he asserted, smoothly. "And you wish to tell him where you are going? Is it not so?"

"No!" said Doris, suddenly, and tumbling pell-mell, "I do not wish him to know—oh, I cannot tell you, you would not understand."

"You shall tell me nothing," he said waving his hand. "I am sorry I cannot give you his address. But I will tell you what we can do!" he added as if an idea had occurred to him. "If you will write to him and intrust the letter to me, I will see that it is forwarded—indeed, I will get the address from the manager and forward it to-night."

"Thank you," said Doris in a low voice, and she went to the table.

Mr. Spencer Churchill, with true delicacy, slipped out, and had a few minutes' chat with Mrs. Jeff, who was reduced to tears by the prospect of losing her young charge.

When he came back, Doris was standing with both her hand.

"I will not," she said. "If she has passed, for by sending me, then will she firmly—" Lord Neville should ask you where I am, tell him you do not know, not to tell him, please? No one knows but myself, and—and I do not wish him to be told."

He looked at his head as he took the note, and with a real show of carefulness put it in his pocketbook.

"My lips are sealed, my dear young lady. Whatever reasons may be—and please understand that I do not seek to know them—your request shall be conscientiously kept by me. Lord Neville shall never learn your whereabouts through me. And now," he went on to say, that for once, Mr. Spencer Churchill spoke the truth.

A subdued and placid smile beamed on his handsome face, when, some time, having taken leave of Doris, he made his way across the meadows to the flowers; and the smile grew more placid and self-content when, having reached his own rooms, he took the note from his pocket, and read for a fag of hot water.

"It may be quite hot, if you please," he said to the chamber-maid and the girl brought it almost boiling.

Then he locked the door, and holding the envelope over the steam until it had become ungummed, he drew out the note, and read it.

"I was right and you were wrong. It would have been better if we had gone or met, and I hope that we may never meet again. If we shall do so, it must be as strangers. No one shall hear even from me that we have ever been anything else.

"Doris Marlowe."

He pondered over these few lines, word by word, for some minutes, then with a satisfied nod, re-closed the note in its envelope, and put it in his breast.

"I don't think any one, however sharp and critical his sight, would detect that her little note had been opened," he murmured. "The gum had scarcely dried. Yes, that will do very well! Admirably; in fact, there is no need for me to add a word. And all the same, my dear young lady, we will not see Miss Cecil Neville again, yet!" he said, "it would be so sudden a shock. No, really, in common charity, I must give him some slight preparation."

Then he took from his pocket four letters, and, with a soft smile of enjoyment, read them over.

They were in Lord Cecil's sayings that slopped hastings, and were addressed to Miss Marlowe at the lodgings, and had kindly been taken charge of by Mr. Spencer Churchill.

"Really, rash youth! How frantically he writes. Dear me, I am very glad Providence permitted me to keep them from the dear young thing's sight; they would have unsettled her so sadly. Quite eloquent they are. I had no idea Master Cecil had such a ready pen; I am afraid you are spending anything but a pleasant time over there waiting for the answers to these frantic epistles, the answer which will rather surprise you when you get it. What will you do when you find the bird has flown, I wonder? Be as mad as a March hare for a few days, and then——" He shrugged his shoulders, and with a laugh, struck a match and made a bonfire of the letters and letter, and watched them until all that remained of their inclosing sloppery was a little heap of ashes in the empty grate.

In such excellent spirits was Mr. Spencer Churchill, so full of the peace which flows from the possession of a good conscience, that, as he entered a drawing-room a few minutes before dinner that evening, he hummed a few bars from the "Lost Chord," that cheer ful melody being the nearest approach to profane music which he permitted himself; and, going up to the sofa on which Lady Grace was reclining, raised her hand to his lips and kissed it with playfully solemn gallantry.

She snatched her hand away impatiently, and dreamy her handkerchief over the spot his lips had touched, said:

"You appear conspicuously cheerful to-night. May one inquire the reason? Don't trouble to tell me if you are not sure it will be interesting. I am quite bored enough already, and the mere sight of her fan with a weary gesture.

"Bored, dear lady!" he murmured, smoothing his long, yellow hair from his forehead, "now, really! And I am never bored! But then I am always busy; I never give myself my mind to be unoccupied. Surely one can always find some pleasant and congenial task to lighten the lengthy hours with."

She flashed a scornful look at him from her lazy eyes.

"Please don't treat me as if I were the audience at a charity meeting," she said; "I am not a charity, Charity-meeting ladies do not wear such charming toilettes as that; would that they did!" and he beamed down admiringly at the magnificent evening dress. "What a pity it is that it should be wasted upon you, I say that—but it is a pity there are not younger eyes to see your pleasant and congenial task to lighten the lengthy hours with."

She flashed a scornful look at him from her lazy eyes.

"Please don't treat me as if I were the audience at a charity meeting," she said; "I am not a charity.

Indian of Thurlow Fined; Loses Booze

Magistrate Decides Against Confiscation of Motor Car

Will Hill, aged 32, said an Indian was found guilty on a charge of having liquor in an automobile owned by his mother, and was fined $300 and costs in afternoon police court Tuesday, or three months in jail.

Hill on examination before Crown Attorney Denman told of making the "moonshine" himself in a woods about two miles from Shannonville Corners Thursday forenoon. Under section 56, subsection 3, of the O.T.A. he was accordingly sentenced to serve three months additional months in jail, the maximum being eighteen—the minimum three months, under this section.

Crown Attorney Denman and Inspector F. Naphen proved the case for conviction of the car, but owing to the fact that there was but half a gallon of moonshine in the car when it was seized, and the fact that Mrs. Hill who owns the car did not know it was being used for transporting liquor Magistrate Meagher refused to grant the confiscation of the car, which was seized. The liquor will be confiscated. Accused is illiterate.

The arrangement over the returns of the car between Mr. Donnan and Inspector F. Naphen proved to the court's satisfaction of the car, but owing to the fact that there was but half a gallon of moonshine in the car when it was seized, and the fact that Mrs. Hill who owns the car did not know it was being used for transporting liquor Magistrate Meagher refused to grant the confiscation of the car, which was seized. The liquor will be confiscated. Accused is illiterate.

The arrangement over the returns of the car between Mr. Donnan and Inspector F. Naphen proved to the court's satisfaction of the car, but owing to the same counsel stated in referring to the section of the act providing the duties penalty that anything but British fair play might be found in this part of the act.

The car which has been under suspicion was arrested by Provincial Constable Foxboro on Monday by Inspector Nephen and Provincial Constable J. Elliott, and the three men who were found to enter the machine after they had dispatched gasoline and who were intoxicated, were arrested. They are William Hill, George Smart and John Maracle, all Indians. Maracle and Smart are also charged with B.O.T.A

Santa Appeared At Salvation Ar n

Many Gifts Were Distributed To Little People There

Santa Claus appeared at the Salvation Army Concert last night to distribute gifts to the children. Santa himself was brought much merriment and amusement. A fine entertainment was provided, consisting of a piano duet by Misses Gordon and Corner. This was followed by a cantata in which 19 young girls took part. This was very cleverly executed. A recitation by six young girls, and a reading by Captain Lorne were greatly enjoyed. Johanna Mc-Kim, Edna Carter, Beulah Lucas, Minnie Bennett and Eva Fairbanks all contributed recitations. The music was in charge of Officer Fairbank.

Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., acted as chairman.

The gifts and room were prettily decorated for the occasion.

Are Anxious For Owner Of Boat

Went Out For Lighthouse Keeper; No Word for a Week

Kingston Dec. 24—Great anxiety is expressed at Cape Vincent over the fate of Claude Cole, owner of the Miss Cook launch who it is supposed is storm bound some place between Cape Vincent and the Main Ducks. On Tuesday morning last, Mr. Cole left Cape Vincent for the Main Ducks, which is a distance of twenty-one miles, for the purpose of taking off the lighthouse keeper. Mr. Cole made the journey on the Miss Darke and a small sloop towing Cape. Vincent, nothing has been heard from him.

On Tuesday morning, when speaking Mrs. Cole stated that she did not think for a minute that her husband had perished, but thought he was storm bound at the Main Duck Islands. Since leaving the cape, there have been terrific gales, and she thinks that Mr. Cole on his party are safe and sound on the Main Ducks and will attempt to leave until the lake calms down. There is no fear of the men being in want of food, etc., as there is always a good supply kept on hand for the use of the keeper. Mr. Cole has very comfortable quarters on the island.

Mrs. Cole when asked if anything had been heard from the Salvage Prince at Kingston, in command of Captain Gran Pyke, stated that she would not be at all surprised if Mr. Pyke had been picked up by the Main Ducks as he was familiar with the bay there. He had the contract to dredge it for Mr. Cole.

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Constituting what is believed to be an unprecedented record, the St. Lawrence River was reported yesterday to be solidly frozen from Montreal to Three Rivers. This has never occurred in the month of December before, it was pointed out by local Harbor officials.

Below Three Rivers and on to Quebec however, the river is still navigable.

Point Anne Man Is Still Alive

Kotchi is Remanded in Jail For One Week

Sergay Kotchi, the Point Anne Russian believed to have something of the sounding of Alec Chumuiks, Rumanian and father of Steve, at the Grand Jomers Company there, was remanded to a jail for one week, when he appeared in police court here Tuesday evening. Chief Constable Bell of Point Anne, Constable and Sam Belak are being held a material witness. They live at the new boarding house, owned by Nick Jurniak and his wife.

Kotchi took the stand when court resumed at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. His face was bruised, he appeared with bathing, his face scratched and dirty, disheveled hair and corduroy trews, made him appear as though he on, had been assaulted. His old dress shoes sad walked lamely. An old ong-day growth of beard is on his face.

Joseph Diamond, Front street reporter was required as interpreter, and was sworn in with hat on head as is the custom of the Russian. Much trouble was experienced. Though Kotchi understood Diamond, he persisted in answering him in very broken English questions.

Sergay, was the third witness in the Chumuiak case, where Nick Gurniak was charged with the murder of Steve Chumuiak. The charge was dismissed by Magistrate Meagher. Crown Attorney Donnan immediately amended the information, and from the charge of Jurniak brothers, Toochnik and Belak, and on trial on charges including stoning one in a public place.

Bastion

Sergay told of counteracting a drinking bout and playing four hand euchre. Kotchi did not come until twelve o'clock at noon Monday. Sergay testified that he saw the Bank was served from a jug in the Gurniak home, and that Kotchi was drinking from another pot as he came continued, with which to buy drink at 5 per bottle. Six or seven bottles were consumed Sunday night he believed. He stated that Kotchi was not drunk that night. There was no quarrel at the Gurniak home.

Sam Belak, a boarder at Gurniak's house, could not speak English, and told of the card game he found in progress upstairs in the Gurniak home when he returned from work Sunday evening. Mr. Bell thought that the men were washed, changed his clothes, ate his supper then took a hand in the game. Alec Chumuiks, a fellow Rumanian, gave witness a drink of wine out of a jug. He left Gurniak's house at 10 o'clock. Small change from ten or twenty-five cents was taken from the pot he said, and placed aside for the woman who served the meal on the day before morning.

Nick Gurniak, the accused, in his own defence, told of ordering a keg of Niagara wine, and a keg of beer, which cost $20. He denied ever keeping wine for sale, stating only Canadian receiving money from the poker table. He never saw any wine sold.

In cross examination by Crown Attorney Donnan however, it was proven that since summer, Nick has received some four kegs of wine, and Sam his brother has received two kegs, which he stored in Nick's house.

Ambassador To Confer Back Home

Before Meeting on Germany's Status Problems

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Dec. 24.—Germany's disarmament question will be discussed at the council of ambassadors Friday instead of tomorrow as expected, the regular meeting of the council having been postponed. The ambassadors received today a communication from the supreme inter-allied military commission, upholding the latter's position on the subject from the military control mission, and a postponement was decided upon to give them time to consult with their governments and issue a letter to Germany drafted.

The two aspects of the German international situation that are giving the greatest concern are said in official quarters to be the alleged organization of German police along lines that make it in reality a part of army and indications that clandestine manufacture of machine guns is going on.

Always Use Sage Tea To Darken Hair

The oldtime mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks were simple using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite proper now we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and making mixture at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can die correct the way it is applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw small strand at a time; by morning the dandruff disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Drink Water If Back Or Kidneys Hurt

WHEN THE BACK HURTS FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS AS YOU CLEAN YOUR BOWELS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinge, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidneys begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys active and clean. A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble before it gets trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Warrant is Issued

A warrant was issued for the arrest of a woman belonging to the war of 1812 in this country who failed to obey a subpoena directing her appearance as a witness in the Crown case against William J. Conklin, Quebec, for extradition, issued yesterday by John Donnelly of Brockville, on Friday. Upwards of twenty witnesses on the strand and at adjournment was made until Dec. 30th, to permit of the defendant witnesses being apprehended, and placed in the village lock.

The Late Mrs. Bicknell Grange

Napanee Beaver: Many a year has passed in the generation since Bevie Parks first saw the sunshine. Born in Ernestown in 1836, early became the wife of Richard Bicknell, and they established their home on Camden East. Later, as a widow, removing to Napanee, she became the wife of John T. Grange, at one time a member of the legislative assembly of Ontario, who, within the year, predeceased her, like the a member of Grace church, and an ever prominent in the ladies' Aid Society. She died generously by Robert Colley. Only of late did her robust health and clear mind begin to fail, and latter-half continued to her room she fell asleep. On Dec. 16th, two days after her death, the funeral service was held at her Napanee home. The pastor was assisted by Rev. R. J. Baker, D.D., the principal of Albert College, who, as a former pastor and friend of all many years, paid tender tribute to her memory. Interment was laid to rest in the cemetery at Switzerville. Her only survivor son, Fred, Bricknell, of Boise, Idaho, well and favorably known and respected in Napanee, has for many years visited her home at least annually and spent the last ten days in kindly ministrial at her bedside. Mrs. Bicknell's assistance, Kingston, a sister, has very passed the century mark.

A Child's Injuries

On Saturday, while Madeline, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Rettenmouth, Portsmouth, was playing about the house she slipped and broke her arm. She was taken to the Hotel Dieu where it was treated and she returned home where she is resting nicely now. All hope for her speedy recovery.

Thrown From Car

While Mr. Hollingsworth of Mallory town was riding on the running board of a car Tuesday afternoon on the way into Seeley's bay, the door to which he was holding came open with the result that he was violently thrown from the car and suffered a severe fracture of the hip. The unfortunate man was brought into Seeley's Bay and later brought to the Kingston General Hospital. Yesterday Dr. I. G. Bogart set the leg with the assistance of Dr. F. S. Young of Seeley's Bay.

No Trace of Tug

So far no trace has been found of the missing tug Salvage Prince, commanded by Capt. Grant Pyke, of Kingston, but a despatch from Oswego to-day says that it is the belief among marine men there that the vessel has taken shelter at the Galloup Islands.

Shoplifter at Work

Apparently shop-lifting is not confined only to the larger cities, but King ston has its share of it, as was disclosed the other day in a local store. It appears that a lady, who had done considerable shopping, placed her purchases in a large shopping bag, and, while in one of the stores, desired to telephone Accordingly she set her bag down outside the telephone booth, and had scarcely given her number, when, looking out of the booth she observed that her bag had disappeared. She immediately left the phone, and was just in time to see a well-dressed woman leaving the store having the bag with her.

Sets a Precedent

According to Clerk John Sauder Tuesday night is only the second time in his long association with the municipal work of Port Hope that a returning mayor has banquoted the Council.

At Mathewson's last night, the members of the Council, along with the town officials were treated by Mayor Smith to a tastefully prepared oyster supper, and after full justice had been done to the good things provided, Mayor Smith announced that he had called them together for the purpose of bidding them all farewell, as he had definitely decided to retire from municipal life this year.

CLUB MEMBERS HOLD RE-UNION AT Y.M.C.A.

Mu Gamma Kappa Club Members Remember Organizer

PRESENT ADDRESS

To Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham Before Their Departure

The spirit of "Scrooge" was dispelled and a joyous breath of Christmas given to the meeting of the re-union of Mu. Gamma Kappa Club, held Wednesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. This club has been organized over ten years and has been under the leadership and guidance of Mr. R. J. Graham. The majority of the members have left Belleville, a happy re-union took place on Wednesday when so many were in the city for the Christmas season. This group have been an active force for good in our city, and again has made itself prominent in a most philanthropic way. Six years ago the members of the club contributed $100.00 and Mr. Graham made up the balance and purchased a Victory Bond. The interest from this investment has been used by the club to help different charitable institutions in our city, as well as carry on the interests of the Club.

At the meeting it was decided with the co-operation of Mr. Graham, to turn over the Victory Bond to the Executive Board of our local Y.M.C.A. to be used for Boys' Work. I address on the Club was to express to the Directors and Officers of the Y.M.C.A., their appreciation for the hospitality shown them in past years.

The members of the Club took this opportunity of presenting Mr. and Mrs. Graham with a small remembrance before leaving on a three or four months' trip. The following address accompanied the gift:

To Mr. R. J. Graham,
Belleville, Ont.

Honored and Esteem'd Counsellor and Friend:—

We, the members of the Mu. Gamma Kappa Club of Belleville, having learned that you were about to take your departure from the city for an absence of several months, and not ourselves of the opportunity to assemble here this afternoon to wish you your journey and a safe return home.

We acknowledge with a deep sense of gratitude your long ministry in our behalf as the guide and mentor of our club, while we believe this has been to you also a labor of love, we realize also that to one possessed of so busy occupation as your own, the years of service you have so freely and willingly given have been appreciated as a great sacrifice of your leisure and the hours you so sadly needed for rest and recuperation.

Your watching and wise counsel have given to us more than mere instruction. We have been inspired by your ideals and these remains with us as abiding influence that will encourage trust will carry us forward to true and honorable manhood.

Work and service of this splendid character are indeed beyond money and beyond price. Your reward must be only from that sure satisfaction that you have, in the certain knowledge that your kind deeds, your great unselfishness, your fine example of manliness and integrity, your wise admonitions, will live on in other lives that you have helped, influenced and inspired.

That you may carry a memento of our grateful appreciation, we would ask you to accept this Travelling Case which in the hope that its frequent use may call to your mind, from time to time, the happy and proitable hours we have so often spent together.

To Mrs. Graham also we would tender a similar token for we know also that she has nobly supported and assisted you in this and all other good work.

We trust you will amply enjoy the holiday you are in prospect and return to us with renewed vigor of mind and body and we express the hope that you may long be spared to continue to serve the Master you both love so well.

It was decided to hold a meeting of the Mu. Gamma Kappa Club annually on Dec. 24th when the work done for the Boys' Work Board could be discussed and helped along. The following officers elected for the ensuing year. President, S. Gordon Robertson, Vice-President, John C. McGie Sec.-Treas., Fred H. Deacon.

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING

One of the chief purposes of the newly formed Tourist and Convention Bureau of the numberless attractions of the city of Montreal is to spread a knowledge and its summer districts as a recreation resort both in summer and in winter, and the most effective method of carrying out this desirable end is indicated by the past experience of the Montreal Tourist Bureau, which the new organization will replace. Three years ago the Bureau embarked, in a very modest way, upon an advertising campaign in conjunction with the Adirondacks Resorts Association, in the belief that the interests of the two bodies were closely allied, in that tourists induced to come from the Central, Southern and Western states to the Adirondacks could be easily persuaded to incur the small additional expenditure of time and money necessary for a visit to Montreal. In the first year of the campaign, all directly traceable to the advertising, were received at the Bureau office, with requests for advertising folders, maps, tourist directories and other data. In the second year the total number rose to 2,000, and last year to 4,000, although in no one year did the Bureau's advertising appropriation amount to $2,000. Assuming that only one touring party in ten of those who thus showed their interest in Montreal as an objective actually made the trip, it meant the expenditure of many thousands of dollars for transport, accommodation, supplies and merchandise, most of which would go through the hands of the original beneficiaries to those of their employees and the producers of the commodities supplied to the visitors.

Corroboration of the striking results accruing from intelligent advertising effectively placed is found in the statement of a public official of Hastings in England, which used newspaper announcements and a booklet to make known the advantages of that town as a seaside resort. Mr. Reid said that official in addressing a public meeting, over 12,000 replies had been directly traced to the advertising, although, as he point ed out, direct returns were only a portion of the total value of the campaign. He emphasized the necessity of persistency and of avoidance of overstatement, and advised the use of established and reputable newspapers, believing it better to adhere to the beaten track of advertising and exploit it thoroughly than to seek new and bizarre methods of publicity. The new Montreal agency for bringing an increased influx of tourists may be depended upon to work along the profitable and progressive lines laid down by the Tourist Bureau three years ago and endorsed by experience here and wherever else they have been given a fair trial.—National Gazette.

THIS POLAR BEAR IS REAL "KNOCKER"

London, Dec. 26.—On the steamship Tokoa bound from England for New Zealand with a shipment of wild animals for the new zoo at Auckland, there is a large Polar bear who, since the day of his captivity in the Arctic, has never, except at meal times, stopped knocking regularly and rythmically at one spot on the inside of his box in an effort to break through to freedom.

From the moment the bear was imprisoned in his box more than two months ago to the day of his departure for New Zealand, he knocked with one of his paws against the wooden panel. He hit against the same spot about 150 times an hour, day and night. The box was reinforced at the point of the animal's persistent activity but he paid no attention to the carpenter and did not try any other part of the box.

POSITION MATTERS IT IS BELIEVED

It is indeed interesting to study the position of a barber shop. Take the man who is having his head trimmed while in a sitting position and compelled

"Mutt and Jeff" as Holiday Attraction

For the occasion, as expected, Mutt and Jeff will be surrounded by a bevy of entrancing, pretty young women, under the leadership of scenery and other original features. Their medium of supplying joy is a typical comedy with music in two acts and five periods supplying an entertainment calculated to please any audience and for a good time. The book of the new offering is by John F. Mulgrew, a writer of many stage successes, with melodies by Leo Edwards.

to sit more or less quiet, the man will talk about things that he would not think of referring to while in his business office. In a barber shop, even the conservative man often makes confidential remarks to his barber.

Drop the head-rest for a shave and get the dignified customer into a horizontal position, and the mind of the otherwise dignified man seems to go off guard.

This may be accounted for in the fact that deep in the nature of all men is a disposition to make a confidant of someone close up. The social status of a man is more often revealed while in a reclining position.

When a man is standing erect and he head is in its highest elevation, his mental machinery is working at highest efficiency. All elevations are cold.

When men lie they are more apt to tell the truth.

The more comfortable a man is, the more confidential he will be.

But why pursue this thought farther? To the thinking reader there is a lot of psychology in this study, which each be traced into realms of real research and applied to man, the animal.

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

She looked up at him sharply.

"What do you want to tell me about him?" she demanded quickly a hint of her coming into her face. "Is—is he coming back?"

"Is Cecil coming back, dear marquisa?" he asked, turning as the door opened and the marquis entered.

The marquis stopped and looked from one to the other under his brows.

"You should know best. The person who sent him to Ireland probably knows when he can come back," he said, with cold contempt.

"Now, now, stanley! I must protest!" said Spencer Churchill, wagging his forefinger playfully. "I know nothing about it, nothing whatever. It was on your business he went, dear lord, not mine. No, come now, really!"

The marquis smiled grimly.

"Don't be alarmed," he said. "Shenand he indicated Lady Grace with a slight motion of his hand—"knows, or guesses, all about it. We neither of us have any desire to rob you of the credit of the plot, eh, Grace?"

She shrugged her snowy shoulders with an air of indifference, but she could not keep her eagerness from flashing in her eyes, which were fixed on Spencer Churchill's smooth, smiling face.

Well, if you ask my advice, I should say dear Cecil might as well come back; not quite directly, but say—yes—say, in a week."

The marquis raised his eyebrows with haughty indifference.

"When you like! There is a letter from him to-night," and he flung it on the table. "He seems to have unmasked the agent, and made himself quite popular with his dear friends, the great unwashed! I suppose"—with a sneer—"he will want to go into Parliament next, on the Radical side, no doubt."

"Y—es," murmured Spencer Churchill, as he read the letter; "I always said dear Cecil was clever."

"Really?" said the marquis, in a tone of calm and indifferent surprise.

"The problem with me has always been whether he was a greater fool than he looked, or looked a greater fool than he is."

Mr. Spencer Churchill chuckled oh! ly, but Lady Grace half rose and shot her fan with a snap.

"He who bare Cecil for a fool will pass his money," she said.

"The marquis made her an elaborate bow and Spencer Churchill stopped his fat hands softly.

"Good—very good, dear lady! I must remember that; I must indeed! So witty!"

"So truly vulgar, you mean," she said; "but I was following the marquis' lead."

The marquis made her another bow. "This is quite refreshing," he said, as his thin upper lip curling scornfully. "And now that we have exchanged civilities, perhaps Churchill will tell us what is to happen. Is Cecil to come back and marry this pure and innocent ballet girl?"

"Actress, actress, dear marquis," cooed Spencer Churchill, folding his hands and smiling with his head on one side. "If you appeal to me, I am afraid I must be the bearer of bad news."

"Bad news! He is married already?" exclaimed Lady Grace, rising and confronting him with white face and furious eyes.

Spencer Churchill chuckled at her alarm, then, with his head a little more on one side, murmured:

"No, no! I am sorry to say there is a little hitch—alone—the fact is the engagement is broken off."

"Broken off!" echoed Lady Grace and her face crimsoned as she leaned forward, with scarcely repressed eagerness.

Modern Shops Will Change Old Oxford

Gown Fights-Town for 600 Years and Town Wins

Oxford, Eng., Dec. 26.—The Rosebud, the Cornmarket, famous in the days of coaching and wellknown to American tourists as one of the old inns of Oxford is to turn down to make way for a Woolworth store. This is but one of the changes Oxford is soon to know, for many of the old-house will soon cease and the stately timbered houses of the Broad and Holywell, with their carved facades and overhanging upper stories, will be replaced by modern shops and garages.

Oxford is no more the quiet retreat of the scholar, but a busy and dirty trading and manufacturing town, noted for the production of Marmalade, beer and cheap motor cars. The university which once held complete away, enforcing order with its own police and badgering all mere tradesmen, is now but one among a secondary interest. The gown has fought the town for 600 years, often in pitched battles with swords and bludgeons, but at last the town has won.

From being one of the most beautiful cities in Europe Oxford bids fair to become the ugliest. English architecture, and especially public and commercial architecture, has created very little for beauty in the past 200 years, and in our own memory the habit, in Oxford even the best efforts of noted modern architects have created only ugly and ill-proportioned piles of stodgy Renaissance and hole-and-corner Gothic while the suburbs are one dreary wall of the worst brick and pinnery.

"The noise of street traffic has become a great nuisance to students who want to work. Time was when a noisy carter or drayman was pretty sure to become the target of club-proof arrows shot from the windows of glorious scholars, but today a regulation forbids the use of bows and arrows except for innocent sport, and now the motorist may honk his loudest in safety.

"If C.—Flooper, of London, head chief of the Woodmen of the World, visited the Branford lodge last evening. He is the Sone of Exalted Ruler, G. W. Flooper of Burlington gave his address on "Old Lonsdon." Brahford, Simcoe and Paris members joining in the golden anniversary celebration in this form.

SMALL'S SISTERS CONTINUE THE PROBE

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Miss Florence Small, sister of the missing (and presumed) Ambrose Small, has written Premier Ferguson asking for an inquiry.

"Will you please supply me with a copy of the material on which Miss Catherine Dunn, Toronto, was, in 1920 sent to the Whitby Institution for the Insane. There is, we understand, a certain procedure followed re the incarceration of inmates of insane asylums, and in view of the strange circumstances surrounding the entry of Miss Dunn to the Whitby Asylum in 1920, I consider it my duty, in the interests of my sister-ing brother, the general public, justice, and sanity, to make the fullest inquiries into the mysterious disappearance of Catherine Dunn, and into the whole matter of Catherine Dunn incarceration in the Whitby Asylum.

"You are aware, of course, that the said Catherine Dunn was the maid in our brother's home on December 2nd 1919, the date our brother disappeared or as we believe was murdered. The detective at the Whitby Asylum says that Miss Dunn was a privileged patient from the date she entered said asylum; in other words, that she never mentally sick. It is the duty of the Provincial Government to find Catherine Dunn if they cannot trace as escaped lunatic, or at least a woman supposed to be a lunatic, they surely cannot be expected to trace the criminals responsible for the disappearance of our brother.

"The public has a right to assert that he of the Province of Ontario, re our brother's disappearance, is, to say the least prepa-terous."

Disorderly Meeting

Threats of violence against the chairman and generally a most disorderly meeting and the appointment of arbitrators to settle the issue, marked the ratepayers' meeting held in East Whitby School section ten when the school trustees asked a large gathering of the ratepayers to approve or reject certain sites, and did not offer the free site for discussion. Charges that the trustees were sidetracking and trying to force a site on the people was freely charged, and demands that the free site be put before the meeting for discussion. The trustees refused to consider the request and read from the minutes of a meeting which declared the ratepayers should accept or reject the site selected by the trustees or appoint an arbitrator.

It was finally left in the hands of the secretary to draft a schedule and submit it to the different clubs. FASHIONS & FOIBLES
by Shirley Sharon

Even for the semi-helpless shingled head an occasional wrap-around dress is a relief, while for the long-haired woman it is an unmixed blessing.

Tur slip-over styles have their excellent points — no fastenings, no unpleasant movement and, in wool, no slip underneath. But for solid comfort the frock that goes on like a coat is a perfect boon. The average figure and the woman who is a bit above the average in size will find the long line of the shawl collar, the slight lift of the drapery and the movement of the sash end extremely becoming. Cordet silk should be used for the vestee and cuffs in dresses of cashmere, soft twills or broadcloth, and crepe de Chine with fine silk and heavy satin crepe.

Return to Curzon Idea of Intercommunication System

London, Dec. 26.—The change from Labor ideas to those which character ize the Conservative party has been completed accomplished in the details of operation of the governmental departments and has been the change in the attitude toward international and domestic problems.

One of the most noteworthy changes is the return of the cabinets departmental intercommunication system used by Marquess Curzon while he was chief at the foreign office and which the Laborites immediately scrapped on assuming office. The system required scraps of paper but was so appreciated that each official in each department and all the ministers knew at all times everything that was going on between Great Britain and other countries. Labor government went back to the older system of communicating by note from minister to their assistants, but this too has been scrapped and the old employers are back in the job again carrying out the Curzon methods.

Laxity in matters of petty etiquette such as smoking in corridors and rooms of ministerial buildings, allowing coats and hats to be laid about offices, and use of elevators by employees have been hastily corrected by the new ministers and the dignity of the governmental premises has been restablished. The same remarks observatives are showing a new leniency in the treatment of aliens in Britain and where formerly it was necessary to have written application, nowadays only a smart appearance is needed to get into the sanctum of some civil employe.

RADIO HAS INVADED VIENNA AT LAST

Vienna, Dec. 26.—Although it has been slow in coming, radio has finally invaded Vienna and the people are succumbing in droves.

A dozen or more Austrian firms make receiving sets and in the beginning their prices were very reasonable. Manufacturer, however, conceived the idea of popular times to install the receiving sets to make his own set, and the result of this procedure has been enormous profits on the resulting prices, and some 20% small firms are manufacturing sets.

Receiving sets have been sold all over the city, tailors, grocers and florists joining in the competition. There are some 60,000 receivers in the city, but only a very few of them do more than pick up the local broadcasting station. This station expects to endure, but with its different success, a monthly charge of 2s cents from each listener.

STRIVE WITH UNEMPLOYMENT

Kingston, Dec. 26—Unemployment in the city is being looked after, better than ever stated W. Alan Stroud, the local theatre-ment Bureau. Through the efforts of the city and such clubs as the Kiwanis and the Poor Relief, those in dire need are being looked after and it has been possible to provide at least some work for able-bodied men who want work. Mr. Stroud, while admitting that there is much need in the city, stated that he did not think the winter would prove as severe as was expected, this being due to the city opening a sewer and giving work to a number of men, and to the local organizations in providing coal and other necessities.

SUCCUMBED TO INJURIES FROM HAMMER BLOW

Alec Chumuska of Point Anne Died This Morning

HOLDING AN INQUEST

Sergay Kotchi, Russian, may Be Charged With Murder

Alec Chumuska, Point Anne Rumanian, whose head was bashed in by a carpenter's hammer in the hands of another foreigner, late Monday afternoon last, and who has been in the Belleville General Hospital since that day, died at 8-15 o'clock this morning.

The body was taken from the hospital to Tickell and Sons mortuary this morning, and an inquest will open there at four o'clock this afternoon before Coroner W. W. Boyce, who has named Sergeant of Detectives Thomas Truesdale, to arrange all details for the inquest.

Sergeant Truesdale is selecting jury men this morning and will summon quasily summon witnesses from Point Anne, who will testify at the inquest. Crown Attorney R. J. Donnan will conduct examination of witnesses.

Sergay Kotchi, Russian laborer at the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne, now in the county jail, held on a charge of manslaughter, is the alleged wielder of the hammer, and will probably be charged with murder, following the inquest.

Provincial police officers, when seen this morning had nothing to announce in the case, pending the result of the inquest.

Chumuska, who was aged forty years, is said to be survived by a brother at Thorold and a sister at Hamilton. He too had been employed as a laborer at the Canada Cement Company, and was a boarder at the Mundak boarding house where he received the fatal blows as he slept on a bed upstairs.

Plan To Revive Canadian Building

Construction Company Representatives Are Meeting In Montreal

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Dec. 27.—Preparations for the construction festival which is predicted to usher in a new period of national prosperity in Canada, will be the chief subject of discussion at the seventh annual convention of the Association of Canadian Building and Construction Companies to be held here on January 29 and 30. This topic will be the key-note of the convention, which is expected to give a far-reaching effect on future construction in the Dominion. Delegates will be present from most parts of Canada.

A study of the "Causes of unemployment" will be the first business of the meeting, the principal address being given by Mr. Fred P. Hanke, noted financial expert. Another subject will be a paper for consideration of "An Ad-vised Long Range Construction Programme" and this subject being considered jointly with the Engineering Institute of Canada, which is holding its annual meeting at the same time.

Speakers for the coming members of the association connected will various branches of the industry will discuss the effect which present-day taxation and duties have on the cost of construction materials, and will bring up the question of "The Low Level of Material and Labor Costs."

Measures for insuring an adequate supply of skilled mechanics in the bricklaying and plastering trades will also receive thorough consideration, and the progress already being made will be given a practical demonstration by an apprentice contest.

It is expected the convention will strike a note which will stimulate construction activity at the coming year by providing reasons for confidence that the low deflation in values has brought prices to a new reasonable basis, and that the revival of construction which has been experienced in the United States is due to arrive in Canada in the very near future.

GIVES CREDIT TO MUNICIPAL NURSES

Halifax, N.S. Dec. 27—In a recent address at the Victorian General Hospital, Premier Armstrong had words of praise for the public health nurse who, he declared, "are worthy of far more consideration, he said than they receive at present." He was disappointed, he said that in various sections of the province more attention was not being paid to health work in the schools. Unfortunately—Nova Scotia had an unduly high death rate, especially from tuberculosis, which must be brought down.

Gets as little as law will allow. The marriage in 1921 of the late Sir John Compers, international famous head of the American Federation of Labor, a bride of 38, occasioned much comment and amusement between the couple, and the will of the Labor leader, just published, shows that he left the absolute minimum permitted by the law, about one-third of the estate. Above are two poses of Gertrude A. Compers, his widow.

NEW YEAR TO BE HARD ON THOSE ANYWAY SUPERSTITIOUSLY INCLINED

Three Friday, the Thirteenths Are Scheduled in 1925

A HOLIDAY SURVEY

May 24 Promises Real Respite From Toil of Spring

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Some superstitious persons, there are still some, who trem ble at the thought of a Friday the 13th" will have three such hazards in the year 1925 which is just around the corner ,but is a clean pass—as yet. There was only one Friday the 13th in 1924, in June, but in 1925 the 13th falls on a Friday in the months of February, March and October.

Easter comes a full week earlier than in 1924, Good Friday is set for April 10, and Easter Sunday April 12. There are some tender angels to be 1925 calendar. May 24, Queen Victoria's Birthday, that very popular holiday which generally heralds summer's approach, falls on Sunday, and will probably be celebrated on the Monday after—a bumper week-end holiday.

Dominion Day, July 1, and Armistice Day, Nov. 11, which come on Wednesday in 1925. This will not prevent the Canadian Bar Association from making an official holiday, but Dominion Day celebrations must be confined to the one day in mid-week.

Of course, these week-end holidays are welcome and fall will be no exception in 1925. Civic holidays throughout the Dominion are generally observed on the first Monday in August, which will fall on August 3, and Labor Monday Sept. 7, and Thanksgiving Day Monday, Nov 9

PRINCE MOVES FAST TO GET HIS BRIDE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Eng., Dec. 27.—The romance of a prince's dash half way across Europe to secure a special act of Parliament to enable him to marry a young Englishwoman has come to light, says the Mirror.

Prince Ferdinand of Lichtenstein is the bridegroom-elect, and Miss Sheridan Blagden the mother of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Brunner, the bride. Her grandson is a member of the Prince's family, who rule the little independent state of Lichtenstein on the borders of Switzerland, has married a commoner. When therefore Prince Ferdinand's friendship with Miss Brunner ripened into affection he had to return home in haste to obtain permission for marriage. He installed the passing of a Bill, but on the petition of the Prince's people this needed up and he returned immediately to claim his bride.

Jack of Diamonds Would Buy Life's Need But That Was In Canada 200 Years Ago

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Dec. 27—Playing cards were currency in Canada little more than 200 years ago. A jack of diamonds or a set of spades with the signature of the Governor of New France on the back or across the face, secured for the possessor all of the particular bit of paste board, would procure the essentials of life or perhaps some of the luxuries to Canada of 1714 had to offer.

The playing card currency did not last long, and today there are only a few specimens of the issue in existence and these are the property of the province of Quebec, says J. F. Doughty. Dominion Archivist has recently returned to Canada with trunks full of treasures of historical significance, has brought back accurate copies of the playing card money. While the originals he had as models were reproductions of the fragments. The actual paper money was very common in Canada in the early part of the 18th century, and in the archives there are many pieces of the plain cards with the writing required to make them redeemable. Many of the old playing cards were less common. Dr. Doughty tells that the regime passed back to Canada will be most valuable as records and particular interest to any persons carrying on research into the origins of currency in Canada.

Not Much Choice In Toronto Election

Hiltz and Foster, Mayoralty Candidates, Have Much In Common

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Those who gave close study to the battle for the mayoralty in this city for 1925, will marvel at the many qualifications and affiliations which are common to both of the chief contenders for the position—Major William Wesley Hiltz and Controller Thomas Foster. Both are Liberals in politics, both Methodists in religion and both prominent Freemasons in the party parades on July 12. They are also both Eastern Canadians, have come in the same business and builders and real estate dealers. One morning paper says editorially that they are both good representatives, and that the unfortunate part of the present mayoralty contest is that the city will, whoever wins, be deprived of the services of one capable and responsible executive member of proved ability. Both men are Canadian born. Both men have been known as progressive councillors, although Major Hiltz, although not Controller Foster has at one time been a member of the Toronto City Council 23 years ago, when Hiltz was growing his business in the suburbs. Major is an "city boy," having come in from school and apprenticeship. Controller Foster's words was taking tax economies in the Council, when Hiltz was boosting subways on his father's farm in the adjacent Bolton county. Foster also sat in the House of Commons from 1908 to 1922 as member for East York.

On the other hand Hiltz has had a year's experience in the Mayor's chair, having defeated Mayor Church, whose term he was able to compete with the present mayor's administration. Hiltz's agreement crown heavy in negotiations. They ask that Mr. Hiltz be allowed the usual second term and so complete the work of "cleaning up" or cleaning the city's waterfront of its railway tracks, and of having developed the three-million-dollar Union Station into a reality.

There are two other candidates for the mayoralty, Controller Winbert Newton and Controller Samuel Fieldhouse, but they are not being taken very seriously. Outside the Mayoralty contest there is also a general interest in the municipal e festions for Controllers, Aldermen and for the usual politicians.

The election will be held on New Year's Day, the ratepayers having decided by a popular vote by electing to retain this traditional municipal election day.

There is the usual general demand by the candidates for lower taxes, and the uncommon avowals of the policy of economy and efficiency in municipal affairs.

J. Wilson Purdom, of London, who has during recent months been involved in litigation with the Northern Life Assurance Company and Gairdner Clarke & Co., of Toronto, has issued another writ against the latter company, in which damages are now claimed to be due to a memorandum of agreement.

MARKET DROPS OFF AFTER CHRISTMAS

Bad Roads Keep Many Farmers Away; Prices Unchanged

As was generally anticipated, the market today was rather slimly attended by both sellers and buyers. Some of the roads in the country were badly drifted with snow which caused a number to remain home, who otherwise might have attended. There was not much change in the prices of most products offered for sale.

The feature of the market was the display of dressed fowls, for which good prices were obtained today.

Turkeys sold from $3.50 to $7 each according to size and quality, while geese sold at 40c a pnnte a pound. The ruling prices for geese were $1.25 to $1.40 each, ducks sold at $1.35 to $1.40 each and chickens from $1.50 to $3.50 a pair.

Fresh eggs were rather scarce and sold readily at 45c a dozen. Dairy butter sold at 38c and 40c and was readily disposed of at these prices. Cream sold at 75c a pint.

A considerable quantity of meat was cut up upon the market and retailed at moderate prices.

A few market gardeners were present with vegetables which showed no change in price. Potatoes sold at 80c and 85c a bag.

Store Burned At Deseronto Friday

Fire Started in Candy Store —Spread to Annex

Deseronto, Dec. 27.—Shortly after five o'clock on Friday morning fire was discovered in the ice cream and candy parlor occupied by John Laskos in Deseronto Annex. Flames were seen in their ripsome to the alarm and were soon hard at work on the building to do a very big task. The fire had evidently been burning for some time, as on the arrival of the brigade the interior of the building was a mass of flames. The fire spread to the annex, known as the Big Store, which for the past three years has been vacant. Being of wooden construction this building soon became great prey for the flames, and in a short time was a mass of ruins, being burned to the ground.

At seven o'clock the roof and walls of the building fell and the fire completed the work of the ruins and razed the ground. The thick blanket of snow which covered the surrounding roofs was an efficient fire protector, and prevented the flames from spreading, which otherwise might have caused a very serious conflagration in the section of the town.

The firemen fought very hard to prevent the spread of the fire to the large building at C. O. Kelly's grocery store, which is next to the burned one, and by excellent work kept the fire from taking on the roof, succeeded in saving the store.

The destroyed buildings were owned by the General Assets and Realization Company and the loss is estimated at $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

Five Countries to Present United Front to Germany

DISCOVER MORE GUNS

Allied Officers found 47,000 New Rifles at Krupps

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Dec. 27.—The Allied Council to-day approved the terms of a letter to Germany announcing that the Cologne area would not be evacuated. The text of the letter will not be given out until it reaches Berlin. The note will be presented by five Allied ambassadors in Berlin simultaneously, thus presenting a solid front to Germany.

The Allied Council met this morning to determine the nature of the note to be sent to Germany informing her that Cologne area will not be evacuated on Jan. 10. There was full agreement on this point, the only question at issue being the reason to be given for the continuance of occupation beyond the stipulated date. The French wish to tell Germany that postponement is due to a misunderstanding arising from the British merely desire to inform Germany that evacuation would not take place.

The Quotidien said yesterday that several dozen thousand rifles and machine-guns found in the Krupp areas of manufacture were discovered in Berlin in a cunningly devised hiding place. Another report says that the Allied officers found 47,000 new rifles in the Krupp works. It is alleged that several hundred thousand new rifles discovered at various points in Germany are all new equipment for a large number of troops.

A CHICKEN WITH BRAINS

While no one has been able to give a satisfactory reason for a chicken crossing the road, science has decided that the journey is all wrong, therefore it is planning to try exercise in an effort to correct this bad habit. Evidently there is no worse, from the chicken's point of view, to be killed unceremoniously by an automobile than it is to be ritualistically decapitated by an ax. The common cost of a chicken is about the same either end. But the farmer is known to prefer the ax ritual, leading as it does to the sacramental roast or fried chicken dinner, with the delectable accompaniment either to the stomach or the pocketbook.

Therefore the farmers living along paved highways welcome the advent of science into one of their most difficult problems. It will be a distinct monetary gain if a breed of chickens can be developed which will not deem it the part of valor, or general cussedness, to conduct an informal excursion across a tempting strip of asphalt or concrete thickly populated by snorting excursionists. If science can breed this well known folly out of the chicken race by the application of feathered eugenics, it will set at rest both the chicken's mind and the farmers' pocketbook. And if those scientists succeed in inculcating wisdom into the mind of a chicken there are even greater worlds for them to conquer. We can turn them loose on the "jay walkers" next.

HARSH CRITICISMS

Dramatic or literary criticism of today at its harshest seldom approaches the severity of that which obtained a century ago, says the Montreal Gazette.

The classic case of the reviewer who advised Keats that he should "go back to his gallipot" was echoed in spirit by the London Times critic of 1821 who, commenting on a performance of the role of Falkland in "The Hirab" by a young actor newly come from Birmingham, wrote thus: "Mr. Raymond must have mistaken his own powers in ever attempting the stage at all. Coaches go off for Birmingham at all hours of the day and night—and a week to the wise is a man may be wise without being an actor; should be enough." It would be interesting to know whether the despised historian took the advice thus offered, or whether he persisted and remained to confound his critic by justifying his right to a career on the boards. Certainly many players before and since the unfortunate Mr. Raymond's day have made very unpromising first appearances, only to rise by talent and perseverance to stellar heights. This was the experience of Henry Irving and E. H. Sothern, to mention only two of numberless instances. In the somewhat allied field of political oratory there are several famous examples of men who, failing ignominously in their maiden speeches in Parliament, afterwards proved themselves brilliant party leaders.

FOUND—AN OPTOMIST

Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, editor of The Epworth Herald, declared recently that unclothed, nasuta and not unspoken youths are the cause of trouble which have been blamed on the younger generation.

"The youth of today is all right, he said. "It has its temptations and shortcomings, but it is far ahead of the youth of any generation the world has ever known."

REAL EARNINGS

The average hourly earnings of wage earners in United States during the last ten years increased more than 100 per cent, according to an analysis made by the National Industrial Conference Board. The board made a comprehensive survey of the trends of wages, hours, and employment in the manufacturing industries, and found that the extent to which the advance in earnings had been converted into increased earnings for the average wage earner was affected by the security of his employment and the ability of his employer to maintain a full working schedule. Periods of wage and periods of plenty succeeded each other during the ten years, but with employment no more uncertain today than ten years ago, with wages rates over 100 per cent higher, and average living costs 59 only about 80 per cent, even with due allowance for improved standards of living, the wage earners to-day appears to be in a much more advantageous position at the close of the decade than at its beginning. Says the board: "The importance of 'real' earnings in any discussion of wages has become recognized in many quarters from time to time since the war period brought about rapidly shifting money values. In September, 1924, the cost of living index number determined by the board stood 63.2 per cent above the level of July, 1914, as compared with 63.4 per cent, in September, 1923. During the year ended September, 1924, hourly earnings of all wage earners remained practically constant. There was, therefore, no considerable change in 'real' hourly earnings during the year. The highest point reached during the ten years reviewed by the index number of 'real' hourly earnings based on conditions in July, 1914, as 100, was 142, and the lowest point, 139. In September of this year it stood at 141. The substantial increase in actual week by earnings between August and September of this year advanced the index number of 'real' weekly earnings to 125 for the month in spite of the fact that the cost of living index number had also advanced nearly a point. Translated into other terms it means that in September, 1924, the contents of the average employed wage earner's pay envelope would purchase 25 per cent more of the necessaries of life than in July 1914."

MAN CHARGED WITH MAKING BAD BILLS

Quebec, Dec. 27.—T. Hamelin, a local resident, has been arrested by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and local authorities on a charge of complicity in an attempt to manufacture counterfeit American bank notes. Hamelin, the prisoner was taken to Montreal to wait his appearance before the Montreal courts in company with another man, Louis Robidoux, who was arrested at Yamaska last week.

Hamelin's arrest followed an investigation in which United States secret officers and Canadian police officers co-operated in an endeavor to locate a counterfeiting plant from which American bills were being circulated both here and in the United States.

Four officers of the Canadian Mounted Police descended on Hamelin's home in Yamaska last week, and after a long struggle, managed to subdue and arrest the man and seize a number of plates and machinery which formed part of the counterfeiting plant. The man was taken to Montreal where it was learned that he operated a barge along the Richelieu River.

Hamelin was brought before the Montreal courts and admitted to bail in the sum of $25,000.

NIGGER IN DUMBELLS TAKES HIM A WIFE

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—A pretty Lorne settling took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Symonds when their daughter, Miss Alice Symonds, was married to Mr. Joseph Allen, of Ottawa. Mr. Allen is one of the popular members of the "Dumbells," been overseas with the 8th Canadian Siege Regiment, and he is still one of the most popular members of the Dumbells. Rev. E. E. Sayles, of the First Baptist church, officiated.

MR. HOHENZOLLERN'S PLIGHT

(St. Catharines Standard)
Despatches say Mr. Hohenzollern, sen., is too poor to buy his wife a suitable Christmas present. He has even been forced to reduce his official house hold to 49 persons. What a terrible state of affairs!

ALL -ON SCHEDULE

(Columbus Jester)
"James, as I passed the servants' hall today I saw you kiss one of the maids."
"Yes, madam. When would that have been, madam?"
"About 4 o'clock."
"Oh, yes, madam, that would have been Jacc, madam."

EDUCATION

(New York Times)
There is a point beyond which the sound body may be developed at the expense of the mind; and people of English stock have found that sturdy character, the fine flower of both mind and body, is best nurtured of the humanities.

YES, WHAT IS HE DOING?

(Detroit Free Press)
Within the meaning of an insurance policy, it has been held in a decade case that a person in a motorcycle sidecar is not "riding a bicycle." If he isn't walking, he isn't driving an automobile, nor is an airplane now in a boat. What, then, is he doing?

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT

(Everybody's Magazine)
A young matron was entertaining the new clergyman and at dinner he proved to be so brilliant that the table was in a continuous peal of laughter.
Finally, when the dinner was over, the hostess, drying the tears of mirth from her eyes, sighed: "If I may so express, I could certainly revive old customs and have a fool present at every meal."

NEED POPULAR AUTHOR

(Toronto Star)
Ottawa librarians blame cross-word puzzles for a decline in the circulation of books during November. If the librarians wish to catch up with their former circulations let them lay in a supply of the novels of Noah Webster and other popular authors.

ENSURING INDEPENDENCE

(Ottawa Journal)
Speaking broadly, a man who has had fair health and an elementary education need be in no poverty at sixty. During his years of activity he has had ample opportunity to make provision for his old age. A good plan, accompanied by the willingness to sacrifice are the chief requisites. In a majority of instances, dependence at twenty-five years has been in providence, idleness, or vice.

OUCH!

He criticised her puddings and found fault with her cakes.
He wished she'd make such flapjacks as his mother used to make;
She didn't wash the dishes, and she didn't make a stew,
Nor even mend his stockings as his mother used to do.
Ah, well, she wasn't perfect but she tried to do her best,
Until at last she thought her time had come to take a rest;
And so one day, when the same old song went through
She turned and bored his ears, as his mother never did.

MINSTREL MAN PASSES

Denver, Colo., Dec. 26.—Milton Hearn Hall, two decades ago one of the best known of the minstrel performers and the man who wrote "Where, Where Is Your Mother Gone" and the Cuban Star March, was dead here Wednesday with only four mourners at his grave.

The last twelve years he spent as a dishwasher in a Denver hotel and when he died Monday in the General hospital there was none of his former pals who knew of his early career.

Not until he was buried yesterday did his identity become publicly known. At one time Hall was an intimate friend of the late Lew Dockstader and Al G. Fields.

A London Letter

London, Dec. 27.—(By Canadian Press).—Many a visitor to London from overseas stands wondering when he beholds the site of the Old General Post Office at the corner of Aldersgate and Newgate Streets, standing vacant for so many years. Ever since the old Post Office was pulled down, some ten years back, this great patch of land, worth a considerable fortune, has produced nothing but a crop of rank vegetation. The reason for this, probably, is that the Government wanted a price too high even for the most enterprising of speculators in the most enterprising of seasons to be now to be remedied. Part of the site will be devoted to street widening—always a prime consideration when old buildings in the heart of London are demolished. On the remainder a block of buildings rising to a height of twelve high or so is height, are to be erected.

That useful if inconspicuous functionary, the Registrar-General furnishes us with some fine figures for inclusion in his latest statistics of births, marriages and deaths within the British Isles. The outstanding feature is the constant decline in the rate of all the Since 1920 the birth-rate has fallen from 25.5 per thousand to 19.7, and the marriage rate is only 15.2 as compared with 20.2 four years ago. Widowers it seems, are more inclined to remarry than are widows, and when they do make a second contract they appear to favor spinsters (perhaps they have the famous advice of Tony Weller in mind!). However the widows who do take the plunge seem also disposed to follow the widowers' example, for they usually select bachelors. The highest rate in births and deaths is generally found in the North of England. Hull has a birthrate of 22.2 per thousand which is the largest of the big towns of Yorkshire, although Barnsley, a much smaller place, beats this with a rate of 24.9.

A good deal of discussion among the amusement-going public, and among amusement caterers, is seemingly at present being aroused by the announcement that the famous Empire Theatre, in Leicester Square, must revert to a "vote-show," after an unsuccessful career as the earliest purveyor of a variety hour. Rather curiously the decision comes from that when other amusement entrepreneurs have declared popular taste to be turning again to performances of the music-hall type. Sir Alfred Butt, however, is advised that charge pretty stiff enough prices at the Empire. Even as a canvas, he says, scarce enough people to justify the engagement of music-hall stars of a reputation sufficiently great to attract crowds to the theatre. The stars want too much money, and even then they are cheaply bought—for shows about sometimes—by tame producers. When Sir Alfred sought to obtain American talent he discovered that the stars there had more than enough work left to do in their own country while performers from economy countries are not sufficiently attractive to make their engagements worth while.

The fickleness of women's fashions is making things very difficult for the designers of Lancashire fabrics, according to Kenneth Lee, head of Tootal, Broadhurst, Lee and Co., one of the leading Manchester houses. "Women are now so rich that they require a dress to be used only a few times," he says, "and then it is put away and something else takes its place. As a consequence, the demand for really well-made articles of women's dress is disappearing rapidly, and any rubbish—I call it advisedly 'rubbish'—if it bear a well-known appearance, seems to be accepted as satisfactory."

The Marquess of Hartington, Conservative M.P. for West Derbyshire, heir to the Duke of Devonshire, has contested a silver christening cup to his constituency, in honor of the birth of Mrs. Reginald Jones, of Bakewell Derbyshire, on October 31, the date of the declaration of the poll. The baby received the names of Victor Raymond—Victor after the Duke of Devonshire, who is Victor Christian William Cavendish.

Among well-known personalities whose deaths have been recently recorded are Vice-Admiral R. W. Whitehead 72, who died at Exeter. He entered the Navy in 1865 and retired in 1904. Major J. M. Molesworth, who died at Framlington, aged 75, in earlier years made adventurous journeys in Russia and China. T. G. Adams, the millionaire shipowner of Newcastle, who put up a Labor candidate in Liverpool in the recent election, has died at the age of 81. Andrew Stuart, a well-known Irish newspaper man, who died at the age of 62, was for over 20 years managing editor of the Belfast Telegraph, and for a brief period editor of the Irish Times. Another who has passed away at Liverpool in John W. McPin. Aged 83 years, he took a great interest in the affairs of the Liverpool Chamber, who died at Sunderland, aged 94, had been for many years an active part in the public life of the Borough. H. C. Miller, Secretary to the Liverpool Veterinary and Manager of the Glasgow Royal Exchange, was a county squire and magistrate for Surrey. Sir George Ashdown, director of Stores at the Admiralty, has died aged 67.

He Tried Twice To End His Life

Escaped Fall From Window And Bumps From Train

Regina, Dec. 27.—Patrick McGinty, of no fixed abode, was committed for trial in the Hudson's Bay Junction Court on a charge of attempted suicide. The certain, as they came out in court, showed that McGinty had made two desperate efforts to take his life, but that Providence had intervened. Coming in from the bush, he registered at a hotel. Late at night a guest saw McGinty hurl himself from the window, the fall from the ground, 20 feet below. The man arose somewhat dazed, but immediately made off in the direction of the railway tracks, where the noise of a freight train awoke him. The tracks could be heard. McGinty then waited on the side of the track until the locomotive was within a few feet of him, when he suddenly stepped in front of the oncoming train. The engineer made a desperate effort to pull up, but it was impossible.

"I think that I hit him," he said, when he pulled up the train. The engine was turned down and found McGinty doubled up under the pilot. Only a few scalp wounds resulted.

Dislikes Publicity But Gets Plenty

Runner From Finland Is Much Sought After by Newspapers

New York, Dec. 27—Paavo Nurmi of Finland, who holds more world's track records at distances from one to fifteen miles than any track athlete that has lived, is said to be the way toward breaking another record in a sphere of publicity.

From the moment that reporters and photographers swarmed over the decks of the liner Finland when Nurmi crossed the Atlantic in search of new athletic fields to conquer and "make" the world's greatest runner he has complained bitterly to his friend and adviser, Hugo Quist, chairman of the Finnish-American A. C., under whose auspices Nurmi was brought here to match strides with America's brightest cinder path stars.

Why don't the newspaper men and photographers turn on others who desire to be interviewed and photographed? I don't want any publicity. If the people interested in running come to see me in competition, all well and good. That I will appreciate, and that alone. Please try to keep everybody away from me," is Nurmi's daily plea to Mr. Quist.

In Quite Modest

Modesty seems to be an outstanding part of his makeup. He says he dislikes the limelight. And, best of all he gives the impression that he means what he says.

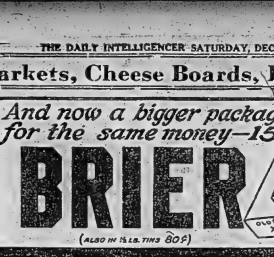

Many are inclined to think that Nurmi is playing a game. "Nurmi knows that the more he tries to avoid notice the more he will get before the public.

Behind those innocent looking blue eyes there lies a scheming brain Nurmi is adopting a different way of getting publicity, that's all," said one close student of human nature in the writer's hearing this morning.

If this is a part of the Flying Finn's program he is succeeding very well, for he is getting more publicity than the people who dislike that ever set foot on American soil. This does not except the Georgeous Georges Carpentier, Jack Dempsey or anybody else known the world over. Nurmi has been here but a short time and he has not shown his wares in competition, but despite this his photographers "pose" every day and country and countless columns have been written about him. Whether he likes it or not Nurmi is sitting atop the world of publicity.

Pining For Competition

According to those close to the Finnish runner, long distance hereby has on his hands. He feels that he is now a shade too fast for the world's greatest milers on this side of the water. When Nurmi landed here he was in excellent all-round condition, and now that he has had plenty of rest and time on the boards he feels fit to give a good account of himself. When told it is interesting for the Finn.

ASK CIVILIANS TO BREED ARMY PIGEONS

Too Angelic, Dec. 26.—A plan for enlarging United States army carrier pigeon activities and at the same time materially reducing the cost to the government has been made public by Maj R. DeBosset, chief pigeon expert of the army, at Langley field here.

Mr. DeBosset's plan which has been approved by General Bane, chief army signal officer, and other army officials, is to invite the active co-operation of civilian experts and amateur fanciers and to institute a policy which would result in the government obtaining pigeons civilians in time of emergency for both birds and personnel. Two advisory boards of army officers have been appointed to work out all details for the new organization.

The proposed reorganization program includes abandonment of all pigeon-breeding activities and training of birds by the government. The pigeon-breeding base here here at Rose Field, Arcadia, the largest maintained by the army in the United States, also would be closed.

The economical features of this plan should result in the pigeon department becoming self-sustaining and in eventually reducing the pigeon activities in the army to a minimum," said Mr. DeBosset. The reserve corps plan, if adopted, would insure pedigreed breeding and racing birds in an emergency. Under the plan the pigeon division of the regular army could devote its time to training men in the use of pigeons in military communications and the operation of mascots, leaving to the reserve corps the development of pigeons and expert breeders and trainers to be used in time of war."

Hockey Team Is Hard At It Now

Full Turn Out Expected Tonight; Regulars Coming Along

Belleville's intermediates are taking their hockey real seriously now, and anxious fandom may rest assured that when the lid is raised off the hockey pot at Arnott's arena on Tuesday evening next, there will be plenty of the old time steam uncorked.

Each evening the boys do their stuff and last night when they congregated for the shiny minute scrutch, Manager Ed Thomas was pleased to note that all the regulars were in action with the exception of Stan Morton who was unavoidably absent in Toronto, and Bill Platt.

Among those who shook down the Christmas turkey last night were Greer, Frechette, Weir, Hagerman, Hooch, Armstrong, Whalen and others.

Manager Thomas assured The Intelligencer this morning that when they meet the crystals at the arena at seven o'clock, that the whole outfit would be here for the full hour.

Brockville team is working hard and speculating by two exhibition games with Smith Falls, should provide lively action when they meet the locals December 30th in the curtain raiser.

Was Stormbound at Main Duck Islands For Eight Days

Kingston, Dec. 27.—Claude W. Cole, Cape Vincent, N.Y., and a party of five men, who were stormbound on the Main Duck Islands for eight days on account of the heavy sea, have arrived home safe and sound. Mr. Cole stated that during the years he has operated the Main Duck Islands he never saw bad weather last so long at this time of December.

Mr. Cole said that he left Cape Vincent on Tuesday, Dec. 16th, for the Main Ducks for the purpose of taking off the lighthouse keepers. He had that he would have been able to make the run off on Dec. 17th, but the Dominion Government had instructed him to leave the keepers on duty until the 18th. While waiting for the men, the sea started to roll very heavy and when it came time to leave it was impossible to get away on Thursday. An attempt was made on Friday, but after going a short distance it was found necessary to return and wait until Wednesday of this week.

The two Main Duck Islands consist of 3,185 acres. For some years Mr. Cole has been collecting a number of wild animals and at the present time he has a regular zoo. On the main land he has four buffaloes, he had six buffaloes, but two of the cows were shot by a man Mr. Cole had employed on the island. Three of the buffaloes were bred and raised on the island. Buffaloes, like many of the other wild animals, live out of doors all winter. There are a number of deer, seven moose, a coon, a fox, Angora goats, African goats, Chinese geese, wild geese, wild ducks and many other animals which Mr. Cole has been able to collect.

The island has a large number of rattlesnakes. These are the only disadvantage is that it is impossible to get in communicating with the main land.

The whole fleet of package freighters for the first time since the outbreak of the Great War has been constantly employed during the seven months in which the lakes are open. A feature of the very large increase in the export flour business, some 75 per cent of the 300,000 tons of flour carried eastward by the service having been destined for export. October was a particularly good month, the ships having transported in that month 58,000 tons of eastward bound milled stuffs and grain alone.

$20,000 Bail Is To Be Forfeited

Man Mixed Up in Smuggling Case Has Skipped Out

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Bail totalling $20,000 is to be forfeited to the Crown because of the non-appearance in the Court of General Sessions on Wednesday and subsequent days of Benjamin Abels, charged with obtaining money fraudulently and by forgery, in connection with the smuggling of aliens into the United States. Judge Denison heard arguments and instructed the jurors to be present on January 5th at 11 a.m. Mr. Greer, K.C., has resigned from the case as defence counsel.

The accused had given bail personally of $5,000 cash and $5,000 property; the two bondsmen were: Sarah Hendel, $5,000 cash, and Isadore Labell, $5,000 property. Abels was reported injured on Wednesday, when a bench warrant was issued. He has not yet been apprehended.

The information

Entering the court at 11.28, Judge Denison asked:—"Well, where's Abels?"

Crown Attorney Murphy—"Still among the missing."

Mr. Greer, K.C.—"I know nothing of him."

W. R. Herkins—"I know nothing of him."

Mr. Greer then advised that he had been instructed indirectly of accused, but received no definite information. "I assume that the ordinary steps be taken," said counsel, "and asked to have bail estreated; I withdraw my application now.

Judge Denison replied:

"Because of the nature of the case, and for other reasons which have come to my knowledge," said Mr. Greer, "I wish to make my withdrawal from the case. The man has jeopardized his own interests and his attention has been drawn to other matters."

His Honor felt that either Mr. Greer or Mr. Herkins should continue in the event of Abels being apprehended. Mr. Herkins said he had no objection.

Smuggling Aliens

The trial had already consumed two days during which time evidence was adduced to show that Abels had been implicated in smuggling aliens into the United States by means of alien visitors' head tax certificates, and dividing the receipts with A. H. Fox, United States immigration officer. It was charged that accused had received $125 from Frank Cox, masonic, and monies from other persons.

Accused had himself admitted making out the "body" of the certificates exhibited in court, and of the part played with the immigration officer, he denied forgery of the signature, "S. H. Langton," attached to the documents, and purporting to be the signature of a genuine officer of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Says Jail Term Was Martyrdom

Ex-Anti-Saloon Leader is Re-arrested at Sing Sing

New York, Dec. 27.—William H. Anderson, released on parole from Sing Sing prison, immediately re-arrested on four untried indictments charging extortion and blackmail, and allowed to go home in $5,000 bail, declared yesterday that he was innocent, issued a long statement at the Municipal Courts Building in which he repeated that his conviction for third degree forgery nine months ago was martyrdom to "the fanatic hatred of the 'drys' for my activities to rob men, women and children of the right to drink."

The former head of the New York Anti-Saloon League said he was happy that the worst was finished before the wets wrested their vengeance had saved mankind "tens of thousands of years of penal servitude." Indictments "manufactured" by the parole, he said, his prison experience had strengthened his physical and nervous vigor, adding that the "effect of the energy to crush me has failed completely."

In the custody of Charles Kane, a detective of the district attorney's office, Anderson was brought to New York after Kane had read at the jail on entrance two bench warrants covering the four indictments. He waited in an ante-room while Assistant Attorney Forester and Colley P. Williams, of defence counsel agreed on $5,000 bail. After it was fixed General Sessions Judge Mancuso arraigned him formally in his chambers, so that a surety company could put up the bond.

Joker Sends City Key To Notables

Boston Culprit calls Himself Lafayette Mulligan; Mysterious Man

Boston, Dec. 27.—Lafayette Mulligan, the mysterious joker who embarrassed official Boston by sending a key of the city to the Prince of Wales, on his recent visit to those parts, has added another chapter to his social exploits.

The unique letter which made his latest bid for notoriety by sending one of the symbols welcome to Bayard Tuckerman, Jr. of Hamilton, who played host to H. R. H. at the Myopia Hunt Club Shore Estate, on heavy stationery, which bore the name of "Mulligan" embossed on the top.

The city's unofficial donor of 4 eys informed Tuckerman he sent the decoration "on his own responsibility," because of the latter's "generous solicitude during the mayor's population of his original ownership."

The letter was signed "Your humble servant, Lafayette Mulligan, former social secretary to His Honor Mayor James M. Curley."

The sending address was "42 Beacon street," which happens to be the Somerset Club, one of Boston's most exclusive societies.

An inquiry there disclosed there was no one on the membership list named Mulligan.

At the Mayor's office, as on the occasion, when the presentation of the key to the Prince seemed to light, there appeared to exist complete ignorance of the identity of Mulligan.

The theory that off the incident as the work of a practical joker who did not know when to stop.

WITNESS TELLS OF FIRST FIGHT AT POINT ANNE

Inquest on Death of Rumanian Brings Out Story

WERE KILLING PIG

When Kotchi Was Knocked Into Bushes by Murdered Man

The inquest into the circumstances under which Alek Carnuscki, Point Anne Rumanian met his death, held at Tickell and Sons mortuary Saturday afternoon commencing at four o'clock was adjourned until Tuesday evening, December 30th at 7.30 o'clock, when it will be resumed in the city police court room before Coroner W. W. Boyce.

This morning Sergeant of Detectives John Truaisch who was named by the Coroner to conduct the inquest preliminaries, motored to Point Anne with Provincial Police Officers and several witnesses to witnesses who will be examined at the resumed inquest, by County Attorney R. C. Donnan. All are brother foreigners of the dead man.

Sergeant Truaisch with Provincial Officers conducted further investigation at Point Anne last Saturday afternoon. Official photographs of surroundings were made by a local professional photographer.

At the preliminary inquest held Saturday afternoon, Dan Kotchi, who testified besides officer Truaisch and Ridley Ont., number 9 and Thos. Hall & Sons, Secretary Truaisch proved the jury which he had selected yesterday morning, and Cole told of removing the body from the Belleville General Hospital to the mortuary.

A Quiet Person

Yakob Lazar, farmer on the second concession of Thurlow township, who is also employed by the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne, had known the deceased for the past three years, he testified and prior to moving to the Point, Carnuscki resided with him at home. He knew the dead man as a quiet person, and had never known any quarrelsome. He identified the body as that of Alek Carnuscki.

Nick Gurnilak, laborer at the Cement works and boarding house keeper at Point Anne, told on the night of Sunday Sergey Kotchi the Russian now in jail here charged with attempted murder, and Alek come down stairs at his house at Sunday morning.

Alek volunteered to assist Nick Gurnilak and Sergey drew a pig. He had a stick to kill and two years.

Sergey Alek for and Alek were scrapping while Nick and Sergey Kotchi came along and the pig Sergey Kotchi came along and calling Alek to one side, he said, taking to him in the Russian tongue, which Gurnilak, being a Serb, could not understand, following this conversation, Alek shoved his hunt into Sergey's face and knocked him over into some nearby bushes, Kotchi's face was scratched, but Sergey said that was the way, Alek returning to help Nick scrape the pig. Sergey then says that at the time, Nick testified, and Alek remained with him until the pig had been dressed, leaving Nick about 11 o'clock.

Quite Candid

Queried as to the details of the wounding of Alek Gurnilak told of visiting the boarding house where the assault occurred on Monday afternoon after he had heard that a man had been injured. Going to Alexis Kotchi's house—conducted by Edward Shyma; Sergey—Nick, on going upstairs found that Alek was lying on a bed with a badly injured head. He was unconscious and covered with blood. Kotchi was lying on his own bed, apparently fully with his hands under his head and he did not see. On asking Kotchi what he had done, Nick was told that Alek had broken his (Kotchi's) head the day he shorted him into the bushes and he had hit him.

Gurnilak stated that the dead man was not quarrelsome but was quiet. He saw Alek and Sergey Kotchi go upstairs to house the Sunday morning preceding the assault. Whether or not any words of them had lost money in a card game upstairs, he could not say. He also could Nick say whether or not they remained upstairs throughout that day and Sunday night.

Hammer Handy

Gurnilak then told of finding a carpenter's hammer under the corner post of a third bed which is in the room. When the hammer was presented Kotchi denied having used the ham mer, saying that he struck Alek with his fists.

Edward Shymyanuk, tenant of the boarding house for foreigners in which the assault occurred, said that the hammer belonged to him, and told of having it in a pail of nails in the shed on Sunday. He said he saw the dead man had a wife in Rumania; a sister at Hastings and a brother in Thorold.

A number of foreigners who are employed at Point Anne have been naturalized, neither they nor those who near the alleged hammer weilder were naturalized. A number of them can speak very good English, but others find difficulty in making themselves understood. An interpreter was necessary for Kotchi, the alleged assailant.

Possessing long and almost unpronounceable names, a number of these men give themselves easier names For instance Edward Shymyanuk, tenant of the house, number 47 in which the assault occurred, is known among his own people as Edward Mandick. The dead man, Alek Carnuscki was known at the Point as Alek Mandick. The signature card demanded of everyone during the Great War, which contained Alek's signature, is in the possession of the

First of Series At The Tabernacle

Rev. Captain Kenny is Preparing Other Special Sermons

Tabernacle Methodist Church held interesting New Year's Sunday service yesterday afternoon when a number of many aided features. Preceding the regular sermon at the morning service Rev. Captain H. B. Kenny the pastor gave a ten minute address to the boys and girls of the congregation on the text: "He is not far from every one of us" taken from Acts 17-27, in which it was shown that God's nearness to us was shown by the presence among men of Jesus. He was also near to us in the presence of the holy spirit in men's hearts.

It was shown that long before the time of prophets or scriptural writers spoke to man in the inarticulate voice of God's conscience implanted in all men. Nature spoke to the feelings and through the beauty of flowers and the gospel answers questions, surrounding nature. Many illustrations were obtained many whose joy had been extinguished as they stood over the grave of a dear one.

"I wish you prosperity in your circumstances," was the message of Rev. Kenny "success in your calling pleasure in your home and health to be enjoyed by all."

The boy's he continued, "that no shadow of trouble will fall on you but that all may be bright and sunny throughout the coming year."

The Sunday morning service choir contributed a very beautiful anthem and Mrs. Outerbridge sang a delightful solo.

Advises Wise Pathway

The address was followed by prayer by special music anthems, octets and solos, and in the first of a series.

The pastor's text was Eph. 5, 15. "Therefore carefully" meaning "to walk, not as unwise, but as wise." As the past is the part of the present and helps would every experience. It exists for us only as recollection and the future as anticipation. The present and future are only parts of life's experience. The present of one week is carried forward to help in working out that of another.

God's nearness and Providence enables us to overcome the past and present, the substantial in the shadowy, the real in possibilities in the Unreal.

Religion is binding yourself to the supernatural. But there is a great deal of religion that has no binding effect in it. No binding religion is the religion of mere sentiment. The unchanging God will shape your changeful lives. Trust God when fortune blesses and guidance.

Professor Sketches Weird Picture of Man In The Distant Future of This World

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Boston, Dec. 29.—Man will lose many, if not all of his teeth. He will be absolutely hairless, and he will probably lose entirely all the toes and fingers. These are predictions based on scientific study by E. B. Raymond, professor of paleontology and geology at Harvard University.

These changes will not be until man has passed through a series of evolutionary phases which probably will consume forty to seventy-five thousand years, according to Prof. Raymond. He predicted the heightening of the forehead and the widening and enlarging of the skull for a bigger brain and a longer face.

FOLLOWING DRAKE'S TRAIL

There is something inordinately stirring to the imagination in the account of the little band of English adventurers who on New Year's Eve will board their tiny sailing craft, Pinta, with the tide down Bideford River, (they were "Men of Bideford in Devon" who manned Sir Richard Grenville's indomitable little "Revenge," and the old town with its quaint bridge of twenty-four arches were the setting for Kingsley's "West ward Ho!"), and so to sea on a five-year voyage which is planned to cover the route taken by Sir Francis Drake for the first half of his famous voyage around the world. It was on December 13, 1577, that Drake, already at age of thirty-two a navigator and sea-fighter of renown, set out with his company of five ships, under the royal patronage of Great Queen Bess, on the voyage which was to make history and play so important a part in England's naval development. Reaching Brasil in April of the following year, circumstances compelled the abandoning of two of the ships, and other delays intervened, so that it was August before the three ships entered the stormy and treacherous straits of Magellan, passed after the Portuguese explorer who had been the first to discover and traverse the fifty-mile strait before. There is a striking parallel in the details of the experiences of the two great sailors on their respective voyages to and through the straits, for each had to crush mutiny, in among their crews, each met baffling winds on the dangerous passage, so that Magellan was five weeks and Drake over six weeks in which to sail through to the Pacific Ocean, and each became separated from or was deserted by his other ships. Drake went on alone, attacking and defeating Spanish ships off the coasts of Chile and Peru, and penetrating as far north as the forty-eighth degree of latitude, so that he just missed touching what two centuries later was to become British Columbia. Landing and taking possession of the country in the name of Queen Elizabeth, he named it New Albion. Sailing thence in July 1579, he crossed the Pacific, rounded the Cape of Good Hope in March of the following year, and in September sailed into Plymouth harbor, the first of Englishmen to push the prow of a ship into the waters of the Pacific and the first of any race to duplicate Magellan's feat of circumnavigating the globe. Drake's subsequent career—his "singeing the Spanish king's beard," in Cadiz harbor, where he burned ten thousand tons of shipping his capture of one of the largest of the Armada's galleons and his destruction of others, his two brilliantly successful attempts to Portugal and the West Indies, and his death in the course of the latter—are all part of the glorious annals of England on the sea."

"Drake is in his hammock in Nombre de Dios bay—
Captain, are the sleeping there below?"

Now fourteen Englishmen will set out in a schooner little larger than Drake's "Golden Bind." Depending only on sails as motive power, they will face some, but not all, of the perils which the Dauntless Elizabethan Sea Dog faced, for they will have the advantage of scientific methods of navigation, accurate charts, and peace conditions, instead of the crude appliances, guesswork as to coasts and localities, and the ever-present chances of conflict with the Spaniard with which Drake had to contend. Adventure is given as the sole object of the expedition, but the leading spirit is an explorer of some repute, and as he proposes to search along Drake's route for possible remains of the accompanying ex-pirate's exploits, scientific or historical data of value may be added to the world's store of knowledge But even if nothing so concrete comes of the voyage, it is something to know that a workaday age has not yet killed the spirit of derring-do in the hardy breed of old England's sea dogs.

AN UNIQUE LAW

A law which would permit physicians to take the lives of hopelessly ill patients has been introduced in the parliament of Denmark by Minister of Justice Stauning. The proposal has aroused little comment in Denmark, and it is believed that it will meet no serious opposition in the parliament.

Physicians and surgeons believe believe that the law, if passed will have no startling consequences, but will merely legalize a common practise in countries in Northern Europe.

It is known that in this part of the world physicists frequently take the lives of patients who have no hope of recovery, and that rarely ever has a doctor been prosecuted for such action.

It is the custom, some American physicians say, for a doctor to give morphine in large quantities to a hopelessly ill patient. The drug assures a painful death, which in some cases would be impossible if the sufferers were permitted to live as long as possible.

Such a law as that introduced in Denmark commends itself in many cases where patients are faced with long months of terrible suffering with absolutely no hope of recovery. Yet there is something in human nature that, rebels at killing while there is still a spark of life left. The one grave danger of such legislation would be the possibilities for its abuse.

AN ANNIVERSARY

December 29th is the anniversary of the martydom of Thomas a Becket, done to death in 1170 in his cathedral of Canterbury by the brutal knights who so literally accepted King Henry's querulous exclamation: "Will no one rid me of this pestilent priest?" The assassination had expectedly the opposite effect to that which its perpetrators hoped for, as instead of increasing the royal power it served to thwart the power of the church, its aftermath of papal condemnation and kingly penance established the dominance of the hierarchy and the clergy more firmly than ever. Tennyson's drama "Becket," is best remembered for the remarkable impersonation of the states man-soldier-priest given by Irving and for the fact that it was the last role filled by that great actor. Becket's dying words: "Lord, into Thy hands I commend my spirit," were also Irving's farewell to the stage and worshipping public, as they were only an hour before his collapse and death at Bradford in October of 1905.

Press Opinions

THE GUNMAN

(Montreal Gazette)

The mortality caused by bunmen in some parts of this continent is a development of lawlessness that is becoming more serious. Canada has had its share of the gunman, as, indeed, have most sections. The cities of New York and Chicago, the two great centres of population in America, have more than even the large number of their inhabitants can excuse. In New York no week; it may be said, passes without two or three cases of shooting being recorded, many having fatal results. On Christmas Day there were seven, one victim being killed and two being in danger of death. The old reproach that America is a continent where everything is held dear but life is get ting greater ground in the edims record of each year. The bulk of the population is law-abiding and would prefer that severe punishment should follow in every case.

A WRONG SYSTEM

(Peterboro Examiner

The truth of the matter is that our departmental system of government with its political management of business and promotion departments is utterly incapable of providing a proper measure and proportion the primary requisites of initiative, driving force, business acumen and organizer, and the necessary variety adaptability and efficiency of organization.

RAILWAY RATE INSTABILITY

(Mail and Empire)

The Government, by its re-enacting the Crow's Nest Pass rate agreement has "further disclosed its business as made it impossible for shippers, to contract for future delivery with any certainty as to the transportation charges. Within a year, we will, owing to the Government's policy of instability and indecision, have had five different rate schedules, with discrimination between towns, Provinces and products.

CHEESE GRADING AT MONTREAL

(Kingston Whig)

It is the cheese factories that keep the farmers of Ontario going and it is the English market that keeps the Ontario cheese factories running. Therefore the announcement that the differential price between first and second grades of export cheese has been reduced from two cents per pound to one is of importance to every farmer in Ontario and indirectly to non-city dwellers. Grade 2 will now be worked at only one cent less than Grade 1 and this increase in the price of Grade 2 will mean a saving to the farmer that, rebels at killing while there is still a spark of life left. The one grave danger of such legislation would be the possibilities for its abuse.

Pen vs Sword

Very often we hear that "The pen is Mightier than the Sword," and here is a writer on the last century who is credited with having coined the expression, a writer who lived three hundred years ago and bore the same. The authority for this statement is Mr. Charles Hardinge of this city who says:

"The Pen is Michtier than the Sword" The above quotation or saying is attributed to a writer of the last century, but there is a same saying in Italian written by an Italian writer of the 16th century about 300 years earlier in a work by Count Castiglione, who was a friend of Raphael, the painter and who later painted Castiglione's portrait. Castiglione was Ambassador to France and his book was richly coloured there, it never being named after him (Il Libro di Castiglione) Mr. Charles Hardinge of this city says it is written in conversation or closing one making an assertion or remark about certain things and the other one replying. The names of his celebrated organizations are used in the debate when they are talking about literature and when he says:

"You do not remember that"—

When Alexander in Ovi famous tomb drew near"

Or 'good Achilles, s'phire thus he spake'"

'O fortunate west thou to find a trump so clear,'

'And one who wrote of thee to make sure quality'

And if Alexander envied Achilles, for his deeds, but for the fortune that lent him such felicity that he's deeds were celebrated by Homer, it is easy to see that the writings of Homer would be more powerful than the arms of Achilles. What other judgment, then or who other opinion do we expect of Alexander's deeds in literature than that which was given by one of the greatest Captains that ever lived?"

Letters to Editor

AS TO MEAT

To the Editor of the Intelligencer:
Sir,—Through the reports of the papers, that the so-called butchers of Belleville who are less than a dozen are trying to get control of all the meat coming up in the city and are asking the city council to pass a by-law to that effect, with a license fee of $25, instead of $1.00 and that should that that is passed by will have to pay 3c. lb for the meat. But the council is not elected to do business for the classes, but they are elected to do business for the masses. Why should 14,000 people suffer and pay more for their meat to satisfy about a dozen so-called butchers?

A Very Serious Matter

(From the St. John Globe)

Rumors, so frequently repeated that they begin to assume an aspect of reliability, that a New Brunswick lumbering enterprise contemplates the erection on the American side of the river of a large paper mill, is not particularly pleasant, nevertheless, for several reasons. At this very time the Government of New Brunswick is evolving plans for an electrical development designed to encourage pulp and paper manufacturing in New Brunswick. Should the largest of our lumbering establishments locate a mill on the United States side of the river while this development project was maturing one project would be lost to New Brunswick and with it would go a very considerable quantity of the pulpwood which could and should be utilized for the upbuilding of the province. The rumor is therefore of concern both because it indicates the loss to New Brunswick of a quantity of import significance and because it indicates a further increase in the outcry from this province of a raw product which could and should be made the basis of our industrial expansion. The paper mill reports indicate a plan to build over or under the St. John river a carrier for the raw lumber which is to go from New Brunswick to feed a paper mill on the other side of the line. Can anyone doubt that if such a Canadian plan embargo on the export of pulpwood that this paper mill would either be built in New Brunswick, or that timber on our side of border would provide a market for the raw pulp? Can anyone doubt that under a pulpwood export law there would be built in this province other paper mills to which would be attracted the power provided by the raw wood and pulp export? Can anyone doubt the value of a small part of the benefit? And this is the only remedy by no means the only new one at this very moment this province the loss Canada suffers by the failure to force the full utilization of the vast and such tremendous value its timber. Only recently a big paper mill was erected in Northern New York, to get its raw product although Canada is another half mile in Northern New York also gets its pulpwood from Canada, and yet Canada makes no move to stop an export which means life or death to the pulp and paper industry of this country. Is it to be wondered at that Frank J. Barnjum gives up in disgust? Is it any wonder that Herbert Biermans President of the Belgo-Canadian Paper Company, says the very life of the paper industry in Canada is threatened, with extinction unless the embargo is put in force? Is it any wonder that the Governor of Ontario recently put before an important gathering the importance of carefully husbanding the forest wealth of the province. Is it any wonder that the leading papers of Canada and many responsible public men are strenuously demanding the embargo, both as a measure of safety to an established Canadian business and as a means of utilizing to the fullest possible extent for the benefit of Canada a natural resource which can be made a tremendous aid in our industrial growth? Science, the official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science recently devoted some attention to the pulpwood reserves, and in an article of particular interest to Canadians point ed out the American paper requirements now exceed eight million tons a year. Ninety per cent of paper is 'mechanical' and American forests supply only 48 per cent, or less than one-half of the wood required to meet America's paper. As recently as 1899 the supply per cent was 75, and now furnishes approximately 40 per cent of the raw material for America's paper making, and the forests in both the United States and Canada are being depleted faster than they are being replaced by new growth. Already Canada is on exporting a raw product out of which it can get the full benefit of manufacture. With proper conservation and careful use of our forest resources, Canada could supply only a small part of the needs. ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: FEATURE

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Doris sat down, and Lady Despard drew a curtain from before a dressing-table with a three-fold stained-glass window. Doris saw that her ladyship was young and remarkably pretty; she was dressed in the height of taste, and in colors which set off her delicate complexion and softly-golden hair. Lady Despard smiled as her face for a second or two, and her eyes grew more interested.

"It was very good of you to come to me, Miss Marlowe," she said.

Of course Doris responded that it was very good of Lady Despard to have written her.

"Not at all; the favor—if there be a favor on your side," said her ladyship, in a most amiably bored tone, "is mine. I am simply bored to death, waiting for a companion. I hope we shall get on together. Mr. Spencer Churchill was most eloquent in your praises; and he certainly didn't exaggerate in one respect—that a ladyship sat her eyes wander over the pale, hyper face unrealizingly—"and I am sure you look awfully lovable. By the way, what's your name—I mean your Christian name?"

Doris told her.

"How pretty. You must let me call you 'Doris,' Miss Marlowe sounds so stiff and formal, as if you were a governess, doesn't it? Mr. Spencer Churchill says that you are dreadfully clever; I hope you aren't."

Doris smiled.

"I am afraid Mr. Churchill has prepared a disappointment for you, Lady Despard," she said.

Her ladyship shook her head.

"I don't think so. I only hope you won't be disappointed in me. I am awfully stupid; but I'm always trying to learn," she added, with a sigh. "Do you know Mr. Churchill very well? He is an old friend of yours?"

"No," said Doris, gravely; "I have known him for a few days only. He was very kind to me; very kind, indeed."

"I know. He always is," said Lady Despard. "Such a benevolent face, isn't he? I always say that he reminds me of one of the patriarchs, with his gentle look and long, soft, white hair and voice. Any one would guess he was a philanthropist, to look at him. Doris, Doris, wouldn't they?"

"I don't know," said Doris; "I have seen so few philanthropists."

"No. Well, I suppose there aren't many, are there? Oh, Mr. Spencer Churchill is a wonderfully good man; he's so charitable, and all that. Why don't you know how many societies he is connected with. I try and do all the good I can," she added, looking bored but my philanthropy is generally confined to subscribing five pounds—and there's not much in that, is there?"

"Doris was tempted to say: "Exactly one hundred and fifty dollars," but she restrained that if everybody gave five pounds poverty would be at an end—on the decrease.

"I," said her ladyship, as if the subject had exhausted itself and her too, "How well you look in that dress, Doris, forgive me!" as Doris' lips quivered and she "How beautiful one is—that I always my way—I never think until I've spoken! Of course, Mr. Churchill told me about your trouble. I'm so sorry. I've had trouble myself."

She glanced at a portrait which hung on the wall as she spoke, a portrait of a very handsome gentleman, if he must have been extremely ugly, or very cruel—and by the artist.

"Your father?" said Doris, gently.

"Yes, that is the—my husband," said Lady Despard not at all disconcerted, though Doris' face went scarlet. "You think he looks old? Well," reflectively, "he was old. He was my sixty-eight when we married. We were married two years. He was very good to me," she went on, calmly eying the portrait as if it were that of a casual acquaintance, "extremely so—too much so, I've said, and I dare say they were right. He was immensely rich, and he left everything he could not afraid I'm unkindly rich—to me, and almost plaintively; "at any rate he left me the income and one of the houses and that kind of thing as to be a nuisance."

A knock was heard at the door, and a footman entered.

"A person with the tapestry, my lady," he said.

"Oh, very well!" said her ladyship, impatiently. "Show her up, then. Would you like to come, or are you too tired, dear?"

"I should like to come," said Doris.

They went into the hall, and a man displayed a length of ancient tapestry.

Lady Despard linked her arm in Doris', and looked at it for a moment or two with a languid amount of interest, then asked the price.

The man mentioned a sum that raised Doris' eyebrows, but her ladyship nodded carelessly.

"I'll take it," she asked of Doris.

Doris could scarcely repress a smile.

"I—well, I am no judge," she said.

"I don't know whether it is worth the money or not."

Lady Despard laughed indolently.

"Oh, so do I, of course; it isn't worth it," she said, with a candor which must have rather discomfited the man. "Nothing one buys ever is worth the money, you know; but one must g buying things; there's nothing else to do. Yes it stays," she added to the man, and drew Doris away.

"Now, I've kept you with your things so quite long enough, dear," she said; "I shall go upstairs. I've got some people coming to tea this afternoon—but you needn't come down unless you like. I dare say you'll be glad of a little rest."

Doris was about to accept the suggestion thankfully, but remembered her new position, said:

"I am not tired. I shall come down, Lady Despard."

"Very well, then," said her ladyship, touching an electric bell. "Send Miss Marlowe's things upstairs."

A quiet, pleasant-looking maid came to the door, and Doris followed her through the hall and up a winding staircase of carved pine, and into a bright bedroom.

The maid brought her a cup of tea, and leaving Doris to rest for half-an-hour, returned to show her down to the drawing-room.

As they made their way to it, Doris heard the sound of a piano and the hum of voices, and, a footman opening the door, she saw that the room was full of people.

DIVIDED IRELAND HURTS PROFESSIONS

Dublin, Dec. 29.—The effects of the establishment of the Free State, and of the partition of Ireland into North and South, are beginning to be felt in the professions of law and medicine. Hitherto attorneys have been able to practice in any part of Ireland, but henceforth they will have to choose between Northern and Southern Ireland as the qualification in one does not extend to the other.

Free State physicians have formerly by had a place on the British medical register, which gave them a right to practice in Great Britain and the colonies. As many Irish doctors were educated for export this was a valuable right. The Free State is now considering the setting up of a separate Free State medical register, and meanwhile the old arrangement is continued.

It is hoped by legislation both in the Free State and Great Britain to effect an accommodation of the matter about which the medical profession is much concerned.

Gloria Swanson Works at Counter

To Observe How Shop Girls Think and Act

Gloria Swanson spent several strenuous days in preparation for her latest paramount picture, "Manhandled." She worked a day in one of New York's largest department stores to get a line on how shop girls think and act. That is, she worked almost a day before the other girls in the store recognized her despite the blonde wig and dark glasses she wore for a disguise. When Miss Swanson was recognized, she was put behind the counter in front of the at the notion counter, and the store management, in order to prevent a near riot, had to get her out the back door as quickly as possible.

In the film Miss Swanson plays the role of a shop girl, who climbs the ladder of success, among getting silks and furs, only to find in the end that honest love is the best policy.

After her experience in the department store, Miss Swanson added another equally picturesque adventure to her experiences in the part. She ate several meals in a Bronx boarding house, and the effect is pictured in "Manhandled."

To get the effect of the work acting atmosphere for the picture she picked the rush hour to take her first subway ride. She says she fought the crowd at Times Square, followers her self into a car, and found that everything the underground commuters had said about it was true.

"I got the biggest thrill out of the subway," she declared. "Especially when she returned to the studio to see the rushes. Everything in the department store was novel, and I enjoyed it. I'm not a domestic person, but neither one of them could compare with the subway. I went down in the big elevators at the Grand Central Station and discovered just how a sardine feels when it is packed away ready for shipment.

"I don't know what I saw and experienced to say that shop girls lead a hectic life, but what a fascinating one that should judge not to be half as hard as it looks. I'm on farming and in the so-called great open spaces for another picture, but I'll miss the production, with Tom Moore, Frank Morgan, Lilyan Tashman and Florence Vidor beauty; Paul McAllister, Ian Keith and others glaring at me constantly. And the picture will be shown at the Rialto Theatre tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Does All Acting . . . With The Eyes

Remarkable Performance in "Every Woman's Life" At Griffin's

Many claim that the eyes are the greatest factor in motion picture acting.

A most remarkable demonstration of the power of the eyes is given by Hazel Dawn in the picture production "In Every Woman's Life," at the First National Picture to be presented at the Griffin Theatre today and Saturday.

Throughout half the picture Miss Dawn-Dvorak plays the role of a mysterious unable to move the muscles of her face in the camera even speak. Every thought must be expressed through the eyes alone. His expressions on the screen are startling and many titles were eliminated as being unnecessary.

Everything is subservient to the eyes in this remarkable picture. The mouth, face, hands, and even the attitude of the body assist in the expression of the eyes.

Irving Cummings when directing, motions to watches the expression of the actor's eyes. If the expression is perfect he says nothing to the actor, but then the scene is rehearsed until the director's eyes express delight in the eyes.

If the actor is skillful he can tell everything in such a manner that the audience will correctly have to read titles. This is what MacDermott requires in his "Every Woman's Life."

He shoots the man who seeks but attack his wife. His confession to the wife is done entirely by pantomime with his eyes, even he read from them his confession. Virginia Valli reads the wife's role. George Fawcett, Stuart Holmes and other screen favorites are in the cast.

Darkens Hair So Naturally No One Knows

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. The use of it was quite successful, but dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever you buy Sage and Sulphur hair that can be thus restored, you may be certain that it is only a temporary coloring.

But brewing at home is many and troublesome. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy comes ready to use. Just a few drops of it at a time, until the desired shade is obtained. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and lustrous.

Woman Rises From Clerk to Manager

Is Vice-President of Big Concern and Under Forty

New York, Dec. 29.—The feminine counterpart of the "self-made man" is president here has been found in Miss Dorothy Shaw, 38, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miss Shaw, her just 21 years to rise from clerk in the office of the Brook Mfg. Co., manufacturers of fire escapes, to manager and vice-president. She still is under 40 and looks it.

"Women have discovered the possibilities of the commercial world," she says, "and they must get a start from the idea it is feminine and womanly to be modest and be taught to do things," she adds.

Miss Shaw is known as Mary Dillon, she really is Mrs. Henry Farnham Shaw, wife of Dr. Shaw, a certain my maiden name in business because I thought it would be more helpful in the company; and to our subscribers. Now that my position has changed would have caused unnecessary confusion," she explains.

"Many a woman's lay claim to any exaggerated degree of domesticity.

To be successful in business a woman must not be hindered with household duties further than to the point of relaxation, she believes.

"In fact," she concludes, "it is a good policy for a business woman to marry a business man, because on her job in the shape of a husband who works.

IS FIRST WOMAN TO HAVE CHURCH

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Edmonton, Alta., Dec. 29.—Mary Roe, writing on "A Pioneer in a new Field" in the Western Woman Weekly describes a visit paid to the "tin" manse in Vergins, Saskatchewan, in 1912. The minister, Rev. Alfred Gingrich, the first woman in the west, if not in the whole of Canada, to graduate in Theology. This was in 1922. Miss Gingrich is quite confident that the spirit of brotherly love will be ordained as ministers of the church, but says that it will may take time to bring it about. She is not a suffragist, but says neither the Methodist nor Presbyterian church councils have given consent that women may be ordained. But while Miss Gingrich has taken the full university course in theology and may preach she cannot solemnize marriage or administer the Sacrament. She conducts service at three points. Usually she drives to the church alone and carries along with her a little Coleman stove. Sometimes the congregation has on it a Baptist member, a Presbyterian, a Methodist and a Presbyterian. A large part of her time is spent with the young people and the Sunday schools.

Hazzard, one of the best writers of farce comedy in the United States, who will be introduced in a series of amusing and side-splitting complications and situations. From start to finish, it is predicted, they will be the central figures and will have an uproarious evening. Love plenty of opportunity to show their wit and will be called upon to bout of in this are of progress and ever-changing fashions.

Would Punish The Woman Who Treats

Two Winnipeg Postmen Lost Their Jobs

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 29.—It should be made an offence for any woman to treat or drink of any intoxicant in a public servant on duty," was the opinion of Magistrate T. Bowyer, commenting on the fact that two postmen had been dismissed today for "holiday imbibing."

"It too bad," he said, "that this action was necessary, for more than likely these postmen at Christmas time, when on route became one woman inside the house and persisting having a drink before. He also lost his job.

The two postmen naturally given to the Post Office Department by the public he has been trying to dismiss. It is not a truthfully say that no city in the Dominion given such an example.

Suggests Plan For Women in Country

Would Have Co-operative Laundries to Save Them Work

The solution of the problem facing rural women all over the civilized world as to the high cost of cleanliness is the co-operative laundry, declared Mrs. Henry M. Aitken of Bethel, who recently returned from the United States where, upon the direction of the Ontario Government, she inspected a number of co-operative laundries.

Municipal Ventures

Housekeepers, business girls and a great number of men patronize the five public laundries in Baltimore, Ohio. These are municipal ventures, and Mrs. Aitken said that although the buildings were financed by the wards. The offering permits Mutt and Jeff to indulge in a series of amusing and side-splitting complications and situations. From start to finish, it is predicted, they will be the central figures and will have an uproarious evening. Love plenty of opportunity to show their wit and will be called upon to bout of in this are of progress and ever-changing fashions.

Two Lost Their Jobs

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 29.—It should be made an offence for any woman to treat or drink of any intoxicant in a public servant on duty," was the opinion of Magistrate T. Bowyer, commenting on the fact that two postmen had been dismissed today for "holiday imbibing."

"It too bad," he said, "that this action was necessary, for more than likely these postmen at Christmas time, when on route became one woman inside the house and persisting having a drink before. He also lost his job.

The two postmen naturally given to the Post Office Department by the public he has been trying to dismiss. It is not a truthfully say that no city in the Dominion given such an example.

Two Montreal Teams Were Tied

After Two Periods of Overtime; Brilliant Hockey Displayed

Montreal, Dec. 29.—Eighty minutes of the most scorching hockey seen here in years failed to decide the issue between Canadiens and Montreal. The two leaders of the National Hockey League battled doggedly through two overtime periods at Forum Saturday night to a 1 to 1 deadlock, while over 11,000 enthusiastic fans—a record hockey crowd for eastern Canada—were the continuous uproar as pulse-throbbing episodes followed in quick succession.

There was a thrill for the specials, carts in the speedy start of the game as the world champions rushed Montreal and hemmed them in to their blueline for the first few minutes. Then pandemonium broke loose when Captain Sime Munro cleared from in front of Benedict, and steadily stick-handled his way through the Canadiens defence. Munro took no chances on the puck, but as Couteau and Sprague Cleghorn separated, the Montreal captain halted for them and regained the puck. He had a clear chance at Vezina and easily evaded Couteau through for the initial counter. Excitement continued at high pitch as Canadiens adopted a six man defence and held the flashy Canadien forward line by until the last few minutes of the strenuously fought encounter.

Four minutes to go, and with Montreal pressing for the game goal margin, Gerald Munro, who had been playing superb defensive hockey, suddenly was benched for sending Joliat into the boards. Then followed first penalty of the vigorously fought game. With the advantage of the odd man, Canadiens held all but Goalie Vezina down the ice in an effort to even the score by saving everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Bobbie Rosenfeld Scores Goal

For two minutes they were held at bay by Reg. Noble, who broke up furious consecutive rushes by the Canadiens at centre ice. Just before Munro returned, Broadbent took the puck behind the Montreal net. Cornpuck behind the Montreal net. Corn-sweep, who headed for the goal. Noble, who headed for the goal. Noble, who headed for the goal. Noble

Little Profit In This Turkey Deal

All But Five of Twenty-seven Birds Were Missing

Orillia, Dec. 29—Doc Bass Lake Rec tires at least experienced little profit out of the Orillia poultry market in Thursday, as, out of twenty-seven fat turkeys bought for the table, all but five mysteriously disappeared, one by one, without leaving a trace, during the afternoon and early night, and it was in vain that the family kept a sharp lookout for the guilty party.

Finally, when but five of the turkeys remained, a cleverly contrived trap was set, and this time the marauder was caught fairly and squarely. It turned out to be a large white owl, of the variety known as Arctic owl, and was one of the largest ever seen in this section. He had taken a heavy toll of the farmers' turkeys, but he went after a turkey supper once too often, and after a visit to the taxidermist, is adorning a shelf in the house of the family he preyed upon so long.

In this connection Mr. R. C. Hipwell states an incident which occurred some years ago when he was resident on his farm in Medonte. He had a large farm-cat, which was so attached to him that it went to follow him all over the barnyard while he did the chores.

One night, after completing his work, he was returning to the house, followed as usual by the cat, when all at once it uttered a tremendous commotion behind him. What he thought it was a wolf at first, until he saw feathers flying in every direction. He was afraid to strike the kick at the belligerents for fear of in the cat, so he held the lantern and waited the combat.

It was soon over, and the cat proved the victor, a large white owl which had attacked it evidently mistaking it for a rabbit. The mortally was nearly fatal to the attacker as it was barely able to get away and reach the darkness. The cat although somewhat winded, was still full of fight.

DOMINION OBTAINS TWO VALUABLE BOOKS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—As a gratuitous incident from Canadian history is echoed in the most recent acquisitions of the Department of Archives of the Dominion. When that prosperous gentleman, James Wolfe, who later died at the conquest of Quebec, captured the fortress of Louisburg, the French commander of the stronghold in a gesture of friendliness to the victor, presented him with two books. These were from his own library. These two volumes were for years in the Wolfe family and Canada would not have just been acquired by Canada with 28 other volumes which were the property of General Wolfe.

Some of the books were in Wolfe's cabin on board the flagship of the British fleet during the seige of Quebec in 1759. These books are among many treasures which Dr. A. G. Doughty, Dominion Archivist, has just brought to Canada from abroad.

On the flyleaf of one of the books is an inscription in the handwriting of Wolfe from his friend Loftus and the date is 1761. Throughout the pages are notes and marginal notes in ink now brown and faded.

FALL FRESHENED COWS BEST MILKERS

There are varying opinions as to the best time to have cows freshen, but after the thorough study of the records of 10,570 cows in 64 testing associations in United States and Canada, Prof. Gaines found that cows dropping their calves in the fall produced more milk and butterfat. In the 54 associations, 4,000 cows freshened in the fall gave in all year milk production: Winter freshened first 18 times Spring freshened freshening 10 times; and Spring freshened 7 times. In butterfat production Fall freshening was first 38 times, Winter 11 times, Summer 2 times, and Spring 7 times.

On an average the cows that freshened in the Fall, September, October and November, produced 6,099 pounds of milk, while those that freshened in the winter, Summer and Spring produced 6,439, 5,941 and 5,942 pounds, respectively. These Fall cows produced on an average, 296 pounds of butterfat. Those that calved in Winter, Summer and Spring produced 276, 270 and 265 pounds. In spite of higher feed cost the Fall-freshened cows made more because of their feed cost. The Winter cows were second, Spring third, and Summer fourth.

On the basis of individual months, the largest income over feed cost was made by the cows that freshened in December with October second, November third, and January fourth. The cows calving in October ranked first in both milk and butterfat production.

Although the evidence shows that Fall or early Winter freshening is desirable, there was no attempt to explain the exceptions to the rule. The chairman who has just been paying for milk at fair prices during all seasons of the year knows that it is to the advantage to keep the supply fairly uniform from month to month. The percentage of cows that should freshen each month in the year will vary to some extent in different localities and on different farms in the same locality. As prices in market milk districts there is usually a surplus of milk during the spring and early Summer, and more cows should be allowed to freshen in the Fall.

HAD BIG ACCOUNT BUT PLAYED POOR

London, Dec. 29—From a nook of sympathy in the collective heart of the multitude, Police Constable, 79, London's one-armed scissors cricket, was committed for trial by the police court on Saturday, by Magistrate Graydon. The constable, who has followed Britain in his wanderings around this city while he looked for scissors and saw to it he prized did not fall from him to the Middlesex County bastile. It was revealed by the police that the scissor man has a bank account of $6,000. He had $200 in cash on his person when arrested and charged with vagrancy. A few years ago Billings was prosecuted with a comfortable home by public subscription.

Two nights ago Billings again got into public view when he applied for a night's lodging at the police station. It was 2 o'clock him and the next night he came again. Then he was arrested.

Says Trade Unions Act as Combines

Parliamentary Secretary in England Demands Some Information

London, Dec. 29— Allegations that trade unions are abusing the privileges which the good workman is handicapped by restrictions, were made by Sir R. Barrington Chalmers, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade in a recent address. After emphasizing that no charges have just been acquired by Chalmers, he said that the allegations were the property of General Wolfe.

Some of the books were in Wolfe's cabin on board the flagship of the British fleet during the seige of Quebec in 1759. These books are among many treasures which Dr. A. G. Doughty, Dominion Archivist, has just brought to Canada from abroad.

On the flyleaf of one of the books is an inscription in the handwriting of Wolfe from his friend Loftus and the date is 1761. Throughout the pages are notes and marginal notes in ink now brown and faded.

Shriners' Mosque Dedicated To-day

Is One of New York's Most Unique Buildings

(Associated Press Despatch)

New York, Dec. 29—Out of New York's unique buildings, Medinah, mosque of Mecca Temple, mother temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was formally dedicated with imposing ceremonies today.

The occasion attracted thousands of Shriners from various sections of the country. A picturesque parade down Fifth Avenue of the Arab patrol, band and drum corps of 40 temples in the east preceded the dedication.

The mosque, a quaint bit of the Orient is located just off the thing of the theatrical district, and extends between West 55th and 56th streets on the Seventh avenue. It cost $2,500,000.

An immense red tiled dome surmounted by the symbolic scimitar and crescent, covers the auditorium which can seat nearly 5,000 persons. The front of the mosque contains three arches and towering cotta work. There are only a few slit-like windows on the face of the building and the huge bronze oriental lamps hang over the arches and doorways.

On the 56th street entrance there is a Masonic administration building, crowned by a roof garden. Three lodge halls, a dining room and the quarters for officers occupy this section. Here also are stored the first records of the Mystic Shrine in North America and the original seal of the Shrine, worn by the late William J. Florence, actor and dramatist, one of the small handful of founders of Mecca Temple in 1872. Mecca now has a membership of 12,000.

The main auditorium has a stage larger than the majority of theatres in the city, equipped with special scenery and lighted by the most modern devices. The main floor has movable opera chairs, so that it can be used for dancing. Two large stairways lead down to the base of the dome. A feature of the auditorium is a pipe organ costing $30,000.

Under the auditorium is a banquet hall, which can seat 2,500 persons, and modern kosher kitchens.

The dedicatory ceremonies were in charge of Rosyln M. Sue, of Middletown, N. Y., the Illustrious Potentate of the temple. Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal diocese of New York delivered the invocation and the ritualistic ceremonies were directed by William A. Rowan, Grand Master of Masons in the New York State. Addresses were made by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, Past Grand Master, and Mayor W. Freland Kendrick of Philadelphia, Past Imperial Potentate of the Shrine.

Tonight the first ceremonial will be held in the mosque, when 400 novices will, in their turn, become, "across the last sands of the desert."

SCOTLAND FEARS WHISKEY FAMINE

Edinburgh, Dec. 29.—Scotland is threatened with a whiskey famine because of the enormous demands from America.

The stores of the Scotch distilleries are almost entirely depleted by the constant calls for shipments from the West Indies, Bahamas and Mexico, whence the stuff is smuggled into the United States.

Established firms are obtaining the heaviest premiums for whiskey destined for American consumption and as a result the matured stock is nearly all gone.

Smaller distilleries are springing up making whiskey, which is shipped to America after aging for two or three weeks.

The law requires that whiskey must age three years at least before it is sold in England.

STREETS FLOODED IN LONDONDERRY

Belfast, Dec. 29.—The streets of Londonderry, Ireland's ancient city, today are under water ingconsequence of the torrential Christmas rains. The flood is said to be the worst in the city's history. The population is going about the streets in jaunting cars and launches.

At Belfast the tide rose 15 1-2 feet above the harbor's low water mark, and was declared to be a record in the history of the port. Newry was badly flooded, and an avenue over the entire countries that ninety miles of telegraph wires were down over Glasgow, isolating Ulster from Great Britain.

DRINK LESS BEER OVER IN ENGLAND

London, Dec. 29—Coincident with he statement that the unemployment figures for the British seasonal trades show a decline, the chairmen of the big brewing concerns whose annual meetings have been held in the past few days, point to increased earnings. However, the consumption of beer and spirituous drinkers have been helped to a considerable extent by the increase in the prices of commodities used in the manufacture of beer.

Nevertheless there has been a progressive decline in the consumption of beer, per head since the beginning of the 20th century, the decline now appearing to be the worst, of which it was previously.

The brewers complain that they have failed to obtain a fair return on their capital, but the figures quoted in said that the brewery trade has lost a good deal of money, and that 1,000 licensed premises at highly-inflated prices.

MEAT SELLING BY-LAW FAILS AT THE WIRE

Lack of Quorum at Council Meeting Prevented Vote

ONLY SIX PRESENT

Ben Sanford Appears Representing 14,000 Citizens

The meeting of the City Council was brought to an abrupt close shortly before ten o'clock last evening, when there were not enough members present to constitute a quorum. As a result the question of the question of meat sale on Sunday will have to be dealt with by the council for 1925.

Seven members are necessary for a quorum. Those present were: Alderman Robinson, A. H. Sandford, Thrasher, Tiverton, McCrary and Graham.

At the time of adjournment the question of the putting up of meat on the market was being discussed.

Alderman McCrary had introduced a by-law to the effect that a license fee of $25 be charged for the cutting up of meat on the market.

A motion carried that the order of motions have precedence over the by-law.

Motion Defeated

Then Ald Frankford moved, seconded by Ald. White that a license fee of $10 be charged butchers for the sale and selling beef, mutton and pork on the Belleville market when same has been slaughtered, pork has been raised by the said farmers. Any farmer known to purchase beef, mutton or pork to cut and sell same as his own, his license shall be revoked and no license be granted him at any future time.

Ald. McCreary objected to this motion on the ground that Ald. White, the seconder of the motion was not present.

Ald Foster withdrew the motion and left the Council Chamber. Two other Aldermen left shortly after this formality.

Ald Frankford then moved, seconded by Ald. White that a license fee of $10 be charged butchers for the sale and selling beef, mutton and pork on the Belleville market when same has been slaughtered, pork has been raised by the said farmers. Any farmer known to purchase beef, mutton or pork to cut and sell same as his own, his license shall be revoked and no license be granted him at any future time.

Ald. McCreary objected to this motion on the ground that Ald. White, the seconder of the motion was not present.

Ald Foster withdrew the motion and left the Council Chamber. Two other Aldermen left shortly after this formality.

Previous to the breaking up of the Council, Mr. E. Sandford presented a petition signed by about 100 citizens protesting against the passing of the $25 license. In support of the petition he said he represented 14,000 citizens in regard to the price of meat cut up on the market. The farmers would have a monopoly if a license of $25 were imposed on them. To his mind it was no injustice to place such a price on meat as was asked by the butcher. If a license such as was proposed were imposed on those cutting up meat on the market it would be legislating for the classes rather than for the masses, the speaker said.

Mr. A. Sandford—"If you are going to license those who cut meat, license those who sell other merchandise on the market."

Mr. C. A. Payne, representing the butchers, stated that the city butchers were under great expenses by putting in refrigerators and other equipment in their place of business for the protection of meat. To compel cutting up meat on the market should in some way contribute to the upkeep of the city which the butchers had to do.

MORE CATTLE ARE BEING EXPORTED

Ottawa, Dec. 30—Cattle shipments to the United Kingdom for the week ending last year 1924 will be just a little in excess of 60,000 head. This is made up from the latest figures published by the live stock branch of the Agriculture, which says that the exact number to Dec. 18 was 79,837 head. This is a large increase over the preceding year when only 56,317 head were shipped.

It is probable that before the end of this year is all the more remarkable when it is considered that a charge of $20 per head was levied by the shipping companies. That increase has been offset by the shipping companies from this source alone was $15 a head.

The Government still hopes for a very material reduction in cattle rates for 1925.

WILLOW CRAFT CLUB HAVE HAPPY DANCE

A most delightful dance was held in the Moose auditorium, Monday night under the auspices of the Willow Craft Club, a young people's organization of St. Michael's.

The auditorium was gaily decorated for the occasion and colored lights which played upon the brightly attired dancers during a number of fancy dances, added to the beauty of the affair.

Our Boys orchestra dispersed music for the dancing, and a very dainty lunch was served during the evening.

An interesting balloon dance was the most popular feature.

During intermission, Miss Ida Folwell gave an excellent exhibition of step dancing, responding to an encore. Miss Helen Byrne rendered at the piano for this dance. Song selections were also given by Mr. Lloyd, banjoist in Our Boys' orchestra.

Booze Made Here Goes to Scotland

But Is Shipped on to Rum Row For States

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Carrying coals to Newcastle, a merchantman for the first that a Toronto distillery, known to several generations nevertheless "Model York" is now making a brand of Scotch whiskey which is being exported direct to Glasgow, and according to Quebec liquor people it is finding a ready market in the very land that originated the brew.

It was said that the liquor is manufactured through a process of blending a liquor drawn from a Scotch barley malt alone with a matured rye made in Canada.

At any rate an official of the distillery said it was not exactly a case of shipping Scotch whiskey to Scotland.

"We are not exporting to Scotland, all right, where we have a ready market, but the exporter may in turn so far advancement direct to the 'Rum Row' of the United States coast, where it is sold to the Americans. The exporters prefer some Scotch mixed with their Rye.

"You are selling rye in the Old Country?"

"Oh yes, we are filling a growing market in the very land that originated the brew."

Then the Scotch manufactured here is rally not meant for consumption in Scotland.

"Oh! No! As I said in ultimate destination is Rum Row. But they think it's regular Scotch."

Experts who have sampled the "Scotch" goods claim that the Toronto article is not very far from the genuine.

JAPANESE NEED UNDERSTANDING OF OTHER FOLK

Speaker at Kiwanis Corrects Some Impressions Of Country

AT KIWANIS CLUB

Members Entertained by Members of Mutt and Jeff Company

A statement that the future peace of the world depends upon the attitude of other nations toward Japan and the solution of the problems that Oriental country is now facing, was made today at the Kiwanis Club by H. W. Gutteridge, of Toronto, to the club.

Mr. Gutteridge who is a teacher in the International University in Japan spoke broadly on international Brotherhood and a few years ago gave the assembled company a splendid idea of the most outstanding problems of the Japan today. And one of the chief causes of international troubles, he stated was the lack of appreciation of the problems of other nations.

Japan was third in the list of overpopulated nations in the world, the speaker said, Holland and Belgium being the first and second respectively, but where Holland and Belgium was composed of flat country, agriculture being made possible, Japan was mostly mountainous, so that even though Japan had no something less than one third was available for cultivation. The average Japanese farmer had only three acres to work, in the case of the rice crop, the up half of his produce to an absentee landlord.

The Japanese were living on the very verge of starvation, Mr. Guteridge said.

Two Ways Out

There were two ways of overcoming the over-population problem, one was by immigration, which was difficult, at present, and the other was by developing industry. The government plan was working out well in Japan at the present time, and in the last decade had a quarter of Japs employed in this line of work, as against 5 per cent seven five years ago.

Japan's education was the chief solution for labor and other troubles in Japan, he said, and he took the occasion to point out that the Japanese people consequently were not militaristic in nature. Nor were Japanese merchants so commercially immoral as some painted them.

Judge Kinmark meeting, the last of the year, was a bumper one. There was a large attendance and in addition to the splendid entertainment given by the members of the Mutt and Jeff Company, appearing at the Griffin Theatre too-night, Mayor Ponton and themselves real funnsters. Tommy Robertson, of the Toronto Kiwanis Club here, was on hand with his banjo and set the feet of many members a-tapping with catchy Southern melodies.

Bob Greenaway had charge of the meeting and was given a great hand for the arrangements made.

O.T.A. CHARGE IS DISMISSED IN COURT HERE

Gurniak Not Guilty of Having Wine in a Public Place

NO STRENGTH PROOF

No Evidence to Show Niagara Wine is Intoxicating

A charge of having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling house, preferred against Nick Gurniak, Serbian boarding house keeper at Point Anne, was dismissed by Magistrate Masson, police court sitter twelve o'clock noon today.

Holding that it is very material that it be shown that this wine is intoxicating liquor, and that this had not been shown, Magistrate Masson dismissed the charge. He pointed out that the wine he returned to defend. A similar charge, if no proper findings had been taken to reverse his finding.

A sample of the Niagara wine which was sent to the Government analyst at Toronto, is expected back this afternoon.

When court opened, Crown Attorney Dornan asked consent to withdraw charges of gambling which had been preferred against a number of men at Anne freighting.

Nick Gurniak, the accused boarding house keeper, pleaded not guilty when was so charged on an amended charge. Mrs. Anna Gurniak, his wife, charged with keeping strong wine for sale, and Mrs. Anna Jesarich also pleaded not guilty through her counsel, J. W. Pegg.

Mrs. Antonia Gurniak, wife of Nick Gurniak told of her husband being in board at 47 Dundas street. Mrs. Sadia Cement Company on December 21st, accused said that he had a few bottles glance at his counsel, C. A. Payne, as though awaiting advice from him, before he was lead below by Constable Elliott.

The charge on which he was today found not guilty, was laid by Constable Elliott on December 22nd, 1924, accused and wagon Alex Cheeseman, causing injury to a horse driven by the complainant.

The hammer victim was buried this morning.

REMAND KOTCH FOR FOUR DAYS

Prisoner Neatly Dressed Today! He Seems Much Worried

The formal charge of murder has not yet been laid against Sergay Kotch of Provincial police officers.

When he appeared before Magistrate Masson at noon today, he was remanded to the county jail on the same charge as he had been previously remanded on—attempted murder. He will appear for hearing on Friday morning, January 2nd, at 10 o'clock.

Kotch was taken up from the cells by Provincial Constable S. Elliott and quickly stepped into the dock when he was indicated by the officer's finger. He did not appear the same as he did one week ago.

He was neatly dressed today, wearing a new overcoat over his other clothing, and though unshaven, was clean, though there was more pallor in his face. His hair remains matted, but his eyes give the impression of alarm and anxiety and his whole appearance is one of worry. Continuous when marked his face a week ago is apparently disappeared, and his broken nose appears to be much straighter than before.

Glancing about the court room he gave Magistrate Masson and the charge on which he was again committed, accused said nothing, but a furtive glance at his counsel, C. A Payne, as though awaiting advice from him, before he was lead below by Constable Elliott.

The charge on which he was today remanded, is that of murder, which was laid on December 22nd, 1924, accused and wagon Alex Cheeseman, causing injury to a horse driven by the complainant.

The hammer victim was buried this morning.

A WARNING

The Daily Intelligencer has received the following timely warning from the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada:

"In many cases accidents at high, way crossing are due to the negligence of those driving automobiles and other vehicles and of pedestrians. This negligence is found both at unprotected and protected crossings.

"The Canadian National Railway lines, from March 25, 1924, to October 31, 1924, show 49 cases where there was danger at protected crossings due to the negligence of those more careful at crossings."

"The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo lines, from April 30, 1924, to October 31, 1924, show 3 cases."

"The Canadian Pacific Railway Lines, from October 16, 1923, to September 30, 1924, show 554 cases.

"Notwithstanding safety devices and cautionary signals, people take chances and endanger safety. More accidents are becoming more frequent. Every case motorist deplores this. If accidents are to be lessened, the same motorist must educate the culpably negligent motorists, some of whose actions are recorded in the following list.

"The Board hopes that the press will give as much publicity as possible to what is carried in the statement, with the hope that it may educate motor drivers and others to be more careful at crossings."

There follows an appalling list of accidents throughout the country in the past months, showing scores who were hurt and killed because they failed to heed the stop signal, which is all under rules and disregard the bell.

Pedestrians and motorists would do well to study the list.

FRANCE'S WAR DEBTS

The expectation that the financial position of Great Britain and the United States will be improved, at an early date by the repayment by France of her borrowing from them is made unlikely of fulfillment by the statements accompanying the "balance sheet of France" just submitted to Parliament at Paris. In it there is no recognition of those debts as an immediate obligation of the national treasury. There is indeed a declaration that France does not intend to repudiate any contracts she has made and an affirmation that her signature will always be held sacred. But it is claimed that until Germany makes the reparations payments provided for under the peace treaty and its amendments she cannot, even with the heavy taxes she levies on her people, undertake to pay the thousands of millions which the two countries concerned advanced to her during the war. This can be understood by any who follow the statements of the country's debt, expenditure and revenue and the issues by which they are raised. It suggests that when the war ended France was all but bled white financially as well as in fighting manhood. The statement goes further than that. It suggests the full payment of the amount of the loans should not be exacted; but that there should be taken into consideration the fact that Belgium, France, Britain and the United States in the war were all fighting for themselves, and that France, which suffered from being the common battle ground, might properly be compensated for the damages the other countries did not now. It has had advocates in England and a few in the United States. It has also been proposed, though not in an official way, that the whole cost of the war should be regarded as a common liability and divided among the allied and associated nations according to their ability to pay. There may yet have to be some arrangement, based on what France can pay, for compounding the debts. It will be hard on the British and United States taxpayers, but it is hard also to collect from a friend who has nothing with which to pay. Possibly when-next war threatens those who fill the places of statesmen will give more thought to what it may mean than has been the rule in the cases in the past.

GROWING OLD TOGETHER

Regina Post

An Englishman who died recently did an unusual thing. In his will he left a clause stating that his wife for the line companionship she had given him throughout a long and happy married life. He thanked her for the fine example of conjugal devotion she had shown him from the day they were married in Bournemouth until their old age he was called away. The surprising thing about this bequest is its rare surprise. So many men could say this in their wills, but so few do.

IN PRAISE OF CANADA

Singapore Free Press

Of all the great centres of Anglo-Saxon dominion which it has been the good fortune of Great Britain to establish all over the world, none is showing now a greater vitality than Canada, and, as time goes on and we watch the yearly expansion of her exposition, the bigger, out-turn of crops and cattle, the persistent enterprise in mining, mining, and heavy industrial enterprises, the eagerness for modern application of power in harbors and shipping, we cannot escape the conclusion that she is well ahead in the great race of the imperial dominions and colonies for prosperity. With her life conditions less easy perhaps than Australia's, her people continually reinforced from home, are pushing outward and upward with a vigor which can boast her great cities, she can boast also that her development of population has a strength and volume unequaled in any other dominion of the empire.

A Reply

On behalf of the Christian Science Committee on Publication, Brittan Foster or Toronto has sent the following letter to the Intelligencer for publication.

"In the unequivocally be assumed that one reason for the prominence given to a news item relative to those having died without medical attendance, was the fact that in the same issue so many people were recorded as having done the same thing with medical attendance. We feel sure, we trust, with this conventionally correct journalistic precedent.

"However, it can fairly accurately be stated that the majority of the members of the medical profession do not take kindly to comparisons invited by the questionable zeal of a few of its members. Christian Scientists know that they treat people on the des the motives and philanthropy of the highest type of physician; to use the words of Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, and this class of physician regard diseases this wrong, when cheerfully and successfully healing results of Christian science treatment. Without fact, statistics show a much larger percentage of recoveries under Christian Science treatment than under medical treatment, even when spiritual healing is tried only as a last resort after all other material means have failed. To a few of the medical profession it might be considerate to remind them of the fragile type of their houses, and to leave stones where gravitation has safely deposited them.

"The occasions no surprise nor controversy when this result is from the operation of the divine law of the One Great Physician Who healeth all thy diseases and redeemeth thy life from destruction.' The medical profession, with Christian Scientists should and eventually will have one model for therapeutics, and that is the Master Christian and Healer, Christ Jesus. When behalf all manner of disease among the people instantly and permanently by spiritual and natural means. thus doing the will of His Father and setting an example for all ages to those who believe on Him or understand His divinely spiritual method.

"Not to deserve criticism for self-righteousness or unfitness may I state that at times there is a failure in the application, only, of Christian Science, but not because 'medical aid was refused.' Both an expression, wherever and wherever used is becoming increasingly amusing and obviously obsolete. The Master, Christ Jesus, 'did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief' on one occasion when they 'laughed Him to scorn' He put them all out of the room before He restored the little maiden. His personal disciples, Peter James and John, failing to heal a case, were rebuked by Him. He also rebuked the lack of success in demonstrating the Science of Christ. Paul's method is equally unbelief on the part of the patient and others and the practitioner's possible lack of faith and understanding. It is but fair to say, however, that the phenomenal growth of Christian Science throughout the world during the past half century, and the growing acceptance of divine healing by the older churches is the result of spiritual healing unequalled since the first three centuries of the Christian era, in compliance with the dual and inescapable demand 'Go ye into all the world; preach the gospel; heal the sick.'"

A Woman's Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

(Copyright, 1924, by Charles Garvice.)

The little her way, with some little difficulty to Lady Dorset, who was seated at a small table, evidently awaiting its supervision. A waiter, one of the footmen, was handing round some supplied from somewhere outside, and more occupying than the tiny table on the table, and her ladyship looked up and smiled a pleasant welcome.

"You have come down, after all!" she said, making room on the settee beside her. "I am very glad indeed. Mr. Harvey, your grace," she added, addressing the next and slightly elder lady near her, the Duchess of Grafton.

Her grace surveyed Doris through a pair of gold eye glasses, and inclined her head with dignified condescension. Lady Dorset introduced several other persons in the circle.

"We are going to Florence together, naturally, I suppose," she added, "since I haven't the slightest idea, it's quite out of my doctors' line, I don't like slightest bit ill, but he says I am, and he ought to know, I suppose."

The room which had seemed to Doris quite full when she entered, appeared to get still fuller. People came and went, and Doris, with light in her head, a cup of tea, strolled about, and talked with one or two. She was introduced to one who sang or played, and then wandered on. Everybody seemed to be talking at once, and it was a horribly bored. Doris, as she began to realize, was the cynosure of the room. She sat down on one side and the bituminous folds of a plush curtain on the other, looked on at the crowd and listened to the music, and felt wholly half in a dream.

Every now and then she heard some well-known name mentioned, and discovered that the people around her were not only persons of rank, but persons who were famous in the world of music and letters.

Suddenly she heard her name spoken, and her self-consciousness returned to her. She grew confused and began to shrink still further back.

"What a beautiful name is Cecil Neville!" said the duchess.

Lady Dorset shrugged her shoulders slightly.

"I'm sure I don't know. Oh, yes, I've had forgotten. He has gone down to Surrey with his uncle Sir Marvyn Storyn, you know."

Lady Dorset accommodated the duchess with a faint smile. "How he can suffer!"

"I heard that he'd been obliged to leave the army," remarked Lady Dorset in a subdued voice. "Up to his neck in debt, poor fellow!"

"Ah, well, he has a very long rope," said the duchess. "It is time he married and settled down."

"That is just what he is going to do," said Lady Dorset, "I have it on the best from Mr. Spencer Churchill—he is staying at Barnet, Doris, you know—that Lord Cecil is engaged to Miss Peyton."

The duchess raised her eyebrows.

"At last! Well, it is time. I hope he'll be sure she'll be happy."

"Oh, here comes Cecil at the other entry. You must that he won't be, dear," said Lady Dorset.

"I mean that if I were a man I should think twice before I married a girl like that, if she had suddenly remembered the number and mixed character of her antecedents."

"Oh, she is a charming girl—and so very beautiful," said Lady Dorset, interposed.

"Yes, very," said her grace, dryly, and changed the subject.

Doris sat, perfectly motionless, and very pale, fighting against the dizziness which assailed her.

"What is that the sense is playing?" asked the duchess of Grafton.

"It haven't the slightest idea," replied Lady Dorset, blithely.

Doris rose.

"I will go and look for," she said, feeling that she had better seize the opportunity of making herself useful.

She looked about her.

That's a very beautiful girl, my dear," she said, dreamily.

"Isn't she!"—responded Lady Dorset—"and her self-possession is perfect. I'm awfully obliged to Mr. Spencer Churchill—"

"Who is she"—where does she come from?"

"Oh, it's quite a long story" said Lady Dorset, with as much ease as if she were to throw down Dort' history for her afternoon's friends to worry over, "but child has just lost her father."

"Still remain a secretary," said the duchess, calmly and emphatically.

"I don't think I ever saw a more lovely face," he said in a low voice, intended for no expecting yours, my dear."

"Oh, you do not leave miss out, too!" said the duchess. Dempsey good-naturedly.

Meanwhile, Doris made her way through the crowd, and the duchess' prophecy was speedily fulfilled. Men and women, attracted by her beauty and slight, girlish figure to pass, looked about her with a startled curiosity, and turned to each other, asking eager questions, answers to which were shrugs and a quite high enough key for Doris to hear, but, with the modest self-possession which her training had bestowed upon her, she reached the piano, learned the name of the piece, and returned to the duchess.

"It is Beethoven's sonata in G, your grace," she said in her low, musical voice.

"Thank you, my dear," said the duchess, "I was very good-natured of you to take so much trouble. Good-by Lady Dorset, and all the rest of you." Doris shook hands with her hostess she bestowed a stiff nod and curtsey.

Lady Dorset laughed.

"I shall tell Mr. Churchill you are going to be a success. It isn't often the duchess is so gracious."

Two hours later, Mr. Spencer Churchill with a smile that seemed to cast a benediction on everything it lighted on was slowly walking down the still warm pavement of Bentham street, Bloomsbury.

Bentham street, Soho, is by no means an aristocratic thoroughfare, and the eminent philanthropist, as he meander in and out of a crowd of dirty children, was slowly down the still over the curb and pavement, much to the delight and the peril of the foot passengers; but Mr. Churchill seemed quite familiar with the street and its humors, and stopping at a house halfway down, knocked at the door as if he had done it before.

A frowsy woman opened it, shuffled along the passage, and answering an inquiry of Mr. Churchill's as to which, sir' Mr. Perry Levant was in, nodded an affirmative, and ushered Mr. Churchill to follow her. She knocked at a door on the first floor, and receiving a peculiarly clear-voiced "Come in" opened the door, and jerked her finger "by way of introduction to Mr. Churchill to enter.

BETTING ON INCREASE AMONG THE WOMEN

London, Dec. 30—Betting and gambling are increasing enormously throughout the women of England and the "spirit of gambling seems to be in the very blood of the people" says Mr. Megrit of Barcy, declared at a recent conference here on "Irregularities in Betting and Gambling," promoted by the Young People's Department of the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

Mr. Megrit said the newspapers are largely responsible for the growth of gambling because they foster it as a commercial proposition to increase their sales. Supporting the contention another speaker said he had found in ten weekly papers he had examined at random 21 gambling competitions, offering nearly $100,000 in prizes.

Is Something More Than Fashion Plate

Gloria Swanson Gives Brilliant Acting at Belle

If there are any doubting Thomases who are still of the opinion that Gloria Swanson is merely a fashion plate, we bid them rush right over to the Belle Theatre where her latest picture, Manhandled, is being shown and gaze a three days' run yesterday. We have always thought that she had double or to her histrionic ability will vanish from their minds completely after this story, brood cobwebby, tears and pathos are of the best motion picture offerings she has yet brought to the screen.

"Manhandled," which was adapted by Frank Tuttle from the Saturday Evening Post story, by Arthur Stringer is the most human story that we have of possibilities, and to her credit it must be said that she makes the most of them. In the role of Tessibelle Lord she plays the part of a shop girl, who marries for love and then for material gain, and finally for love and attractive, and naturally the man who is willing enough to help her, and the part of the best man, Tessibelle is caught up in a wild whirl of gaiety in the metropolis and is the center figure in the most bohemian set in the metropolis, but she finds in the end that her free and easy contact with the night men has depreciated her value in the eyes of the man she really loves her. How she wins for herself a great and wonderful story there is a mighty climax that will hold the spectator breathless.

The picture was directed by Allan Dwan and Hugh Wynn, and Gloria Swanson with an excellent cast, headed by Tom Moore, Lew Cody and others in the best performances of his career as the villain overlord, and Ralph Lewis, the lovesick wing Gloria in the end.

All in all, "Manhandled" is one of the finest sensational pictures that we have seen in many a day.

Three Tiny Girls Living On Table

Triplets Born Saturday have Fine Chance Doctor Says

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Laid out on the kitchen table just like three mounds of warm bread, and covered with blankets, are the triplet baby girls of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davies. An oil heater is lighted underneath the table, and overhead is a strong electric bulb, and an improvised screen guards the babies way from drafts. Into this tiny kitchenette—the back room of a tiny flat—all—have come a score or more relatives and friends, to gaze upon these three tiny girls, decked out in red, white and blue bows of ribbon. Mary is the smallest of them; she weighs only three pounds, four ounces (not actual weight, but doctor's estimate); she wears the blue ribbon. May's estimated weight is over four pounds, and she wears the red ribbon. Louise wears a white bow. Dr. F. V. Hamlin says that all three have a fine chance to live.

They were christened an hour after their birth, early Saturday afternoon by Father McGreed, of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Davies, who before her marriage was Miss Alma Waggoner, is just 22 years old. She has a small son 12 months old, who is known as Charley Junior. The father is 34 years old, and is employed by the Silica Match Lamp Co.

FUMES FROM HEATER PROVED DANGEROUS

Toronto, Dec. 30.—The fumes from a small heater attached to the exhaust pipe in an open touring car on their way to Toronto, nearly caused the death from gas poisoning of two passengers, a young man and young woman, who were sealed in the rear seat of the automobile, when near the Don River Bridge evening about 8.30 o'clock.

The driver, a young man, and his companion, a young woman, on the front seat, on receiving no reply to their conversation, addressed to their friends in the rear seat, turned around and found the young man and woman rigid and totally unconscious.

The man and woman, whose names could not be ascertained, were taken to the residence of J. Schwalm, near the Rouge, and Dr. Cartwright of Pickering was called. It was fully twenty minutes before the two victims were recovered consciousness and, but for the prompt arrival of the medical practitioner, his presence would have been fatal. The young woman recovered after ten minutes' medical attention.

The party of four left for their homes in Oshawa later in the evening.

New Law Would Hinder The Hasty

New York Legislation Provides Five Day Interval Before Wedding

New York, Dec. 30—Runaway marriages will be impossible in New York state in the future if the proposed law changed in the marriage laws which are to be considered at the session of the Legislature get through. The state child welfare commission is sponsoring the bill.

No longer will a romantic pair be able to step into the Municipal Building, obtain a license on one floor and slip blithely to the marriage chapel one which, and have their knot tied before or his deputy wish them good-speed and send them with a certificate all in the time it takes to get afternoon tea.

Five days must elapse from the time of the issuance of the license to the performance of the ceremony, according to the proposed new law. The intervening time is to be used by the authorities for investigation.

The object of the law is to make brides and grooms look before they leap, and to lessen the possibility of haste.

In addition to the hasty marriage feature, the bill provides that legal agreements must be given to the parents' permission for the marriage of children under 18—Sixteen will be the minimum age for both boys and girls, unless the prospective nonmarrying parties obtain the approval of the surrogate or a children's court judge to the consent of their parents. The present law, which requires the written consent of parents for the marriage of girls under 18 and boys under 21, is not affected by the new minimum age amendment.

WAS JILTED ONCE. BUT TRIES AGAIN

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 30—Once a jilted, he decides to get married if it takes a lot to stop him.

The case of Frank Strear, of Pella Republic, for instance. Frank came to Columbus from around Tuscarawas county Jane Conley. On the eve of the wedding, Jane ran off with Arthur Rouse. They were married in Western New York.

Strear returned to Philadelphia, muttering that it would have to be a cold, cold day before he would ever fool with women again.

Maybe it was the cold wave, but any how word was just received here that Strear had married Miss Pearl Hall, of Newark, Ohio.

The wedding took place in Philadelphia, where Strear is in the real estate business.

Preston Takes One From London

Preston, Dec. 30.—In one of the fastest games that ever took place on the Preston ozrink, and before a large crowd of excited fans, many of which were from London, the Hotelmen's gang one of the most closely contested games, defeating London 7 to 6. With the score 5 to 5 and seven minutes to go the Riverside played their best and hockey of the night and ran their opponents out on the locals in the lead and which gave them the game. Powell, Starkins, Bond and Smith were best for London, while every man on the local lineup played a good game.

The score at the end of the first period was: London 2, Preston 1. Fraser and Neville counting for London while Talbot bagged the tally for the locals' only counter.

Preston was in the lead at the end of the second period 4 to 2. Talbot, Argent and Clark scoring for the home team, while Neville, noted London's name counted.

The game became very fast in the third period, and Starkings' 5th of the score on a very nice shot. Clark two minutes after put the locals once more in the lead.

With Talbot in the penalty box, Smith, Bond and Starkings, with Argent goal, Ashley and Arnott then combined to the two penalty men, while gave the Silnes crew victory. The lineup:

Preston—Goals, Talbot, Argent, Talbot, Shelly and Ashley; forwards, Argent, Clark, Sutherfield and Kreaker.

Hamilton Tied Up Canadiens

When They Won From Bruins at Boston Last Night

Boston, Dec. 30.— Hamilton Tigers tied into a tie with Canadiens for the lead of the National Hockey League by winning from the supercharged locals in Bruins here last night 2 to 0, and the Bruins for the first time this season found themselves as dangerously close to the league's first division.

Although outstayed and beaten in every department of the game in the first period by the fast Hamilton outfit, the Bruins took a new lease of life in the second and in the third the Tigers, playing a hard checking game, with an ironclad defence, the Boston sextette were down the speedy Ontario team, and by sheer plugging seemed in the final minutes of the game to be getting their second victory of the year.

The effort of the Bruins won them many friends, and may do much to popularize hockey here. For the first time, the fans got behind the home club and cheered them at every turn, incidentally handing Referee Lagassa a heavy "riding." It was a rough game, with no less than four real fist fights and the accompanying penalties. The record was about 3,000 First Period

Before the fifteen-cent-off, Boston admirers presented Roach, of the visitors, with a basket of fruit, Roach, although born in Canada, attended school in Boston and, learned the game here.

Hamilton forwards, lightning fast, skated the Bruins off their feet from the opening whistle, but were unable to score. Boston checked furiously, relying mainly on the body, but in a little over three minutes Green netted the puck from a scrimmage near the Bruin's goal. Red Stuart, a favorite with Hub fans, opened the proceedings with a few dashes that ended nowhere. Roach then got a basket he added to Hamilton's lead when the game was two and a half minutes old.

Boston appeared content to launch in their end of the ice and Hamilton was unable to get through the defence. It ended in a battle when Jackson and Hay Green collided, and both were benched. A little later on Bouchard, of the Tigers, drew a penalty for holding, any style of defence when Stuart crumpled and Hay Green scored what was thrown over his head. Bouchard was carried from the ice.

Second Period

The game livened up after the rest interval, and Boston, for the first time pressed seriously, with Mitchell Skinner and Carroll attacking furiously. Forbes was called on to make stops that seemed impossible, but responded. It was the best show the Bruins had ever given in their home town. The Tigers' defence was steady against the attack and play swung from end to end constantly. Stewart was a wizard between the pipes.

Apparently the Bruins had their fans with them, another new goal was the result. Applause greeted every play by the Boston team, and deservedly so, for they certainly considered adverse to the home team met with able from City Lenox Gardens.

Prof. Galley announced that some good men could come from R.M.C., among them the speedy Bill Hargraft, smarty forward pass.

Coach Hughes will be on the job again to-day at noon when the drill start out again with the team on Tuesday.

HAD THREE STRING SCORE OF 959 ONLY

Toronto, Dec. 30.—League rollins at the Toronto Bowling and Athletic Bowling Alleys—like most other leagues in the city—engaged in Christmas competition instead of the regularly scheduled weekly games, and some excellent bowling was witnessed throughout the week.

The high mark as an enviable reputation as an alley bowler, and he certainly excelled himself rolling the high three-game total of 959 from scratch; and it will be readily admitted that it is no mean feat to knock down the maples for a total average of 319 in three consecutive games.

Kingston Team Is In Poor Shape

Not Ready Yet For Game With Brockville Friday

Kingston, Dec. 30.—Brockville conference for an intermediate O.H.A. fixture on Friday evening and on there is no person in town who can outline the team that will represent Kingston. That was the conclusion of the Kingston "Combines" got together on Saturday for a meeting which broke forth a whole lot of discussion and proon and exemplified Secretary Sutton, President T. A. Kidd was in the chair.

When the present situation was discussed it was found that the players were not turning out as had been expected. There are several reasons. Christmas holidays have taken away Dorsey from R.M.C. men, as will the coming Queen's hockey tour. The City League has lost some of the players so busy they have not felt like turning out. The coach has been occupied with other tasks that he has only appeared a few times, and had his only appeared a few times, and had Green' collided, and both were benched. A little later on Bouchard, of the Tigers, drew a penalty for holding, any style of defence when Stuart crumpled and Hay Green scored what was thrown over his head. Bouchard was carried from the ice.

To offset all this, the names of two or three players for the city Queen's team will be handed to the respective managers who will in turn be asked to accompany their men to the intermediate O.H.A. senior league meeting. Queen's and Galley, the players and managers can render a great deal of aid.

It was announced at the meeting that all players of the Kingston team would be insured against illness or accident.

Practices for the team will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6 until 7, and on Thursday and Friday at an hour to be announced later.

Pinnet and Pugh, of R.C.A.; Milton, Lamar, Tobin, Spoor, of Hadens; Pugh and Holman, of Granites; Lawlor, Gibson, Smith, Watts, of Live Wires; and Devlin, of Circles-ats, are players avail able from City League teams.

Prof. Galley announced that some good men could come from R.M.C., among them the speedy Bill Hargraft, smarty forward pass.

Coach Hughes will be on the job again to-day at noon when the drill start out again with the team on Tuesday.

All Are Ready For To-night's Game

Intermediates Had Good Work-Out at Arena Last Night

It was expected the final workout of the intermediate puck chasers held at the arena last evening, eclipsed all former turn-outs this season.

The rail-birds were treated to a real game when there was a sufficient number of players to make up two teams. The result was story minutes of real hard and necessary work.

Stan Norse was in the goal with Bill Green and "Soup" Guyer on the defence; Johnny Hibbert at centre Pat "Arnie" Armstrong and Jim Hunter on the wings.

"Pete" Lloyd guarded the other net with "Flossy" Frechette and Al Guyer on the bulwarks; Stan Hagerman at centre; "Chaw" Whalen at left wing and Vern Walter at right. Jack Arnott, Homer Townsend and Bazzard, three subs, subbed.

Big Game To-night

At eight o'clock to-night, Brockville and Belleville Intermediates face off at the Arnott arena in the opening game, and it was in preparation for this encounter that Manager Tom Thomas had the gang working so systematically last evening between seven and eight o'clock.

Pete Lloyd will play to-night, and Green will be assisted on the defence by Frechette, who is rather better than ever this season. The remainder of the local lineup will be as published Monday.

Cornwall Knocks At Group Door

But Belleville and Kingston Hang No Admittance Sign

"If the Brockville, Belleville and Kingston clubs are transferred, Cornwall will be re-admitted to intermediate group this year."

This is the statement that appeared in the Toronto Star last night.

Interviewed today Ed Thomas said: Cornwall has phoned him yesterday and asked if they could get in and that he had said there was nothing doing. Kingston was approached and got the same answer.

Cornwall have nobody to blame but themselves for the situation they are in. After giving their word that they would enter the O.H.A., they fell down on the night the schedule was being made up. Their representatives were called up on the phone to find out whether they were coming in, and the group schedule makers waited an hour for them to make up their minds.

Hockey Notes

"Chuck" Garvey, former Sarnia and Woodstock star, and Allan Galbraith, last season with the Hamilton Tigers, will likely be the Hamilton defence, while one player available for the team include: Brown, former Kingston star in goal; Walsh, Langevin, Goudie and Bellinger, the latter also from Kingston. Bellinger, who had his foot badly injured a few weeks ago, may not be able to play against Parkdale.

The Paddlers will have their regular team on the ice, and it is probable that "Scotty" Caskell will be on the defence with Dr. Lou Harris, and Russ McAllister in goal. Harry Watson, the real star of the mall, Alex. Romeril and Don Hall, are expected to be the forward line. Moe Loust and Frank Sullivan are also available.

Beatty Ramsey's Princeton University team, showing splendid combination at times, will tour Canada, meeting defeated the Nichols Club, of Buffalo, on Saturday by 4 to 2. Buffalo sisters recently finished with having a team strong enough to defeat Princeton. The championship the hockey the Tigers played Princeton, the Nichols Club showing 1 team to be a well-coached team.

Peterboro's S.P.A. Trophy winners can play a few with the league race by defeating Aura Lee here on New Year's night. Manager's team held the Peters to a 2 to 1 score in an exhibition game in Peterboro last week.

Jerry Denicol, Aura Lee forward, was badly injured in practice on Saturday, a skate piercing his cheek when he fell.

Paris juniors won from Galt 7 to 1 in an exhibition game played in the Paris city rink. Russell Sanderock, former Belleville junior and Galt junior player, thinks pretty well of his Paris team.

Jerry Lowry, having played two senior games, will not be available for the Peterboro juniors during the balance of the season.

Fred Clarke, who is playing goal for the Windsor Hockey Club in the intermediate O.H.A. series, is the former Kingston boy who was with Argonaut juniors two years ago.

Bouse Hutton or Alex Currie may succeed Pete Green as coach of the N. H. L. team here. Pete will be remembered as the great goal tender of the old Silver Seven. He also played the same position in lacrosse with the Ottawa Capitals and was one season with Brantford in the C. A. A. U. He was also coach of the Iroquis Falls N.O.H.A. seniors and had a team that would defeat with the Ottawa pros. Montreal Wanderers, Montreal Hockey Club. He was coach of St. Patrick's who played Granites in the Allan Cup playdowns two years ago.

REFUSED BLOOD TRANSFUSION

Toronto, Dec. 30— Donald Wright, aged 6, of 950 Ossington avenue, was burned to death Sunday morning as a result of playing with matches while in bed. The little boy had got up earlier than the rest of the household to play with some of his Christmas toys. Having unknown manner he obtained a box of matches which he began playing and set his nightgown afire.

During the day doctors claimed that his life might yet be saved if four men would give blood transfusions. Many young men were approached, but with the exception of three all refused to help, so a result he died early last evening.

Battle In The Air Up At Ottawa

Some Church People Protest Broadcasting Of C.N.R. Station

Ottawa, Dec. 30—A battle in the air raged over Ottawa Sunday night and this morning the Ottawa Radio Association, and the church people protested against broadcast against the composition of the Canadian National Railways broadcasting plant here. The latter sent out a special address program which was given by Wesley Neelon, of the Staunton Presbyterian church protests should not have been allowed to "drown out a portion of the birthday of Christ."

The Ottawa Radio Association which has undertaken to distribute a special prepared Christmas concert from Knox church, has licenses for Sunday night broadcasting in Ottawa from seven to eight o'clock. The Canadian National station which is the mere newest of the two, had obtained a license for that evening's celebration of its anniversary. It is protested that they infringed on the other's prerogative, and the protest to the department and to the public was backed up by the Lord's day alliance.

Big Gains Are Reported By The Royal Bank of Canada

Deposits Increase Over Forty Millions During Year—Holdings of Government and Municipal Securities Show Gain of Over Thirty-three Millions — Profits Well Maintained

One of the most impressive features of the financial statements of the banks which have been issued recently is the exceptionally strong liquid position that is disclosed by the balance sheets. The report of the Royal Bank of Canada for the year ending November 29, 1924, is an excellent illustration of this. Out of total assets of $589,290,000, no less than $270,094,230 are classified as immediately available liquid assets representing 47.7 per cent, as compared with 43.4 per cent. for the previous year. These liquid assets comprise the 94.5 per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public as compared with slightly over 90 per cent. shown in the statement of the previous year, a gain of five per cent.

Liquid Position

While the bank has always maintained a liquid position it might be with an abundant amount of liquid assets, currently the case, there has been a position to provide cash for the various purposes for which the general demands are made upon it, such as the financing of trade, the handling of crops and the intensive buying of the business community. Of the liquid assets of the bank the investments of the Bank in high grade securities have been rather heavily augmented in this past year. This has been done partly to the bank's interest load. have still shown a tendency to decline, and also to the high degree of government, municipal and railway securities have gone up from $13,900,383 to $20,634,-

Doctors Report Allegation Made

That Most of Diagnosis Is Based on Patient's Talk

Hamilton, Dec. 30.—Local medical men disagree entirely with the statement of a physician, who was in attendance at Simcoe, that 85 per cent. of the diagnosis is based on what the patient tells the physician. The doctor patient talk is the principal source of interviewed on the coming Sunday, at all agreed that such averages percentages could be struck and that if it existed, 50 per cent. would be too high.

The following are some of the opinions expressed on the subject by local practitioners:

Dr. D. G. McIlwraith commented the doctor who made such a statement was not paying a proper amount of respect to the diagnostical ability of the profession. Eighty percent. was far too high, indeed it was quite impossible to specify exactly what percentage was based on what the patient tells the doctor and what the doctor sees for himself, because each case is different from the other, and patients vary greatly.

Many Exaggerate

"A great many either people exaggerate their symptoms out of all proportion to their real severity," the well-known medical man must carefully weigh what the patient says and compare it with what he observes himself. Some diseases can be recognized immediately without the patient saying a word. Such diseases as pneumonia, appendicitis, diphtheria, mumps, scarlet fever, and the different manifestations of cancer heart disease are in that category. Others can be detected only by laboratory examination. So you see how difficult it is to set an arbitrary percentage. In the case of 50 persons which I consider much too high in any case."

Average Too High

Dr. J. E. Davey, public school medical officer, said it was impossible to set any definite percents of symptoms and patient-information as the basis of diagnosis, and declared that if such an average could be struck, 5 percent would be too high. Remarking that the degree to which the patient's information counted in diagnosis depended entirely on the particular case Dr. Davey commented that in many cases the entire diagnosis was made contrary to the patient's statement while in others such as nervous disorders the doctor had to depend upon his patient's word almost entirely. In some cases laboratory or X-ray findings formed 100 per cent of the diagnosis. He imagined the doctor who made such a statement had meant that he had been referring to some one particular case.

History Important

Dr. W. F. Langrill, medical superintendant of the General Hospital, declared, "I think that percentage much too high. In fact it is practically impossible to arrive at such a percentage figure as each disease and case varies. We do place great importance on the history of a case. The more information we get on that, the better for diagnosis, and the more experienced the doctor, the better able is he to judge what to believe of what the patient tells him. But I wouldn't put that as 85 per cent on the diagnosis. The doctor is made that estimate is eliminating the X-ray and laboratory altogether."

DENMARK TURNING, FROM DRINK HABIT

According to M. Lindet, "it is hopeless to speak of moral and economic regeneration of Europe, unless intoxicating liquor disappears from the face of the earth."

Bond Business Is Good in Canada

Remarkable Reception Accorded $30,000,000 Canadian Pacific Issue

"With a total of over $560,000,000 already financed in Canada during the year will, in all probability, go over $600,000,000, which is a high mark for such financing in Canada, with the single exception of the peak of war financing in 1917-18, when the total was over the $1,000,000,000 mark. Among the large transactions which have been sent financing during the year was the Canadian National Railway loan of a January, carried by the Dominion Government syndicate. Later in the month, two Dominion issues of $50,000,000 and $30,000,000 respectively were handled by A.-E. Ames & Co. syndicate, the former at 4 1-2 per cent., maturing in 1946, and the latter at 4 per cent., maturing in 1938.

An outstanding feature of the year particular interest as indicating the extent to which Canada is developing market for investment securities was the remarkable reception accorded the $30,000,000 issue of Canadian Pacific bonds, which was quickly oversubscribed by the public. This was the largest piece of corporation financing ever done in Canada, and constitutes a important factor in the development of a public market even if it could be absorbed has been by focalized many of the leading concerns in the investment bankers, growing out of the campaign conducted by the Victory Loan organization with the object of educating the public to the value of securities business-like corporations are not such as to encourage speculative operations in both commercial and financial enterprises. The extent to which this has resulted is an indication of this.

Another big corporation issue that is the Bell Telephone Company, will come out with the turn of the year and will perhaps be marketed entirely in Canada, as was so successfully accomplished in the case of C.P.R. issue. Apart from this the market is showing the usual activity in the investment interest continues its attractive as the yield is much easier tendency during the past few weeks. Obviously the recent upward movement of prices has its regar' a future price prospects interest cov ers in the money markets and the connection New York offers the best indication. GIRL OF SIX YEARS TELLS HER STORY OF FATAL FIGHT IN BEDROOM AT POINT ANNE

Coroner's Jury Brings in Verdict on Murder of Cheruska

HAMMER IDENTIFIED

Gladys Pechalski Recognizes Instrument Exhibited At Inquest

After being out for more than half an hour, the jury in the Cermuska inquest which was resumed at the Police Court room here last night at 7.30 o'clock returned a complete verdict to Coroner W. W. Boyce at 11.30 o'clock.

The verdict as handed to the Coroner by foreman W. J. Woolley was:—We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Joseph Cermuska, find that he died in Belleville General Hospital on the morning of December 27, 1924, from injuries received to his head on December 26, 1924, at the boarding house of Edmund Shymgrykowski at Point Anne, Thurlow township, and we find that the said injuries consisted of a fracture of the skull caused by a blow or blows from a hammer said to be in the hands of Steve Kotchi.

When Crown Attorney R. C. Donnan announced that he had called his last witness, and the usual opportunity was presented for counsel to call witnesses, C. A. Payne, who stated his counsel in the court during the inquest had not been sufficient for further evidence, Kotchi sat in the dock without the interpreter, and appeared to take a great interest to everything whether or not he did understood the slow but steady turning of the wheels of justice. Kotchi's face presented a decidedly worried look but he never betrayed any feeling in evidence of each witness' testifying here and there about the room.

Hammer Goes

Edmund Shymgrykowski, boarding house keeper at house number 6 of the Cermuska Court, Point Anne, Point Anne where Cermuska received the injury which caused his death five days later, was the first witness called last night. When shown the exhibit, the hammer which was called for the first time since the inquest opened, followed the identification of Deputy Chief Hall, Edmund testified that the hammer bought the hitting surface of the hammer appeared to have been being chips of steel out of it. There were no somebody stood near with the hammer, which was kept in the woodshed of Edmund's house or of some savings which are suspended there. The hammer was in the old shed with nails, screws and odd he last saw it either Friday or Saturday previous to his arrest. On Monday afternoon when he returned from work at 3.45 o'clock the hammer was not there. Edmund testified that he had not given the hammer to Steve Kotchi or any other person.

Mrs. J. A. McFee presided over the happy gathering.

"What did you lose your hammer was gone at that time?"

"My boy left and Steve took the hammer from the shed," I go and look and it is gone."

Telling of the finding of Alek Ujna on his bed upstairs in his house Edmund said that he "found blood smeared up and poured from his head and Steve Kotchi lay in another bed. He was not asleep. When Edmund asked him what had happened, Steve answered:

"He fight, six couple or three time I fight him back."

"How did you—?" he was asked

"With my fist," he answered.

Was Not Drunk

"I did not think he did it with fists after blood two minutes Serge got up from bed and went towards me and roll a cigarette. He walked and talked alright, and was not drunk."

Mary Shymgrykowski, wife of Edmund of Kotchi's boarders, testified that two years ago when he came there to board. He then went away but returned to her house a year ago, and had boarded at her house for seven months prior to the fatal affair. Alek she also knew as being a pretty good boy and never saw him do anything he should not.

On Sunday December 2 1st about nine o'clock in the morning both Cermuska's Alek left their boarding house. Both were sober. At 3.30 o'clock Monday morning Serge returned to witnesses' house with his face scratched about the eyes and bleeding.

"I and what is the matter Serge?" asked he said, 'I got in a fight and Alek hit me,' I said, 'Serge, you wash your face,' and he said 'No I will not wash myself, let him come and I get scared. He went upstairs and came down again in five or ten minutes. When he came down he asked my boy Bill to call Nick Tomshin from Gurnisk's house, and my boy go and Nick come. Serge took mad and got scared and Nick say come to Gurnisk house again. He went with Nick and I hear as the two went again until 1 p.m., when Serge returned and standing outside the house and he said 'Where is Alek?' Nick call him, and I seeing my boy for my husband I work. Serge knocked at the door three time to get in and I lock the door and hear him cry.

Came in Mad

"Then he went to Gurnisk's and I hear the door locked. Alek came here at 1 p.m. and I let him in. He say down and I question then went in. There was nobody upstairs then but him and the blood was on the bed 3 p.m.

Finally Arrive At Correct Spelling

Of the Name of Murdered Man at Point Anne

Girls' surnames are not the only "flexible" names in the world. This fact was emphasized at the inquest held at city police court room last night.

Alek Cermuska the man who was fatally wounded at Point Anne recently, possessed a Christian name which evidently may be spelled any way.

At first he was known as Alec Cermuska. Then it was shown that his name was really Alec Cermucsak, but still the court got busy and adopted a new spelling which will be the standard in future.

Vasile Cermuska, a cousin of deceased from Thorold, was called to the lawyers' table where he wrote down the name of his dead cousin as "Alek Cermucsak," so Alek Cermucsak it will be.

Steve Kotchi is the correct spelling, of the other man's name.

SCOTLAND MILLS EXPECTED TO HUM

Glasgow, Dec. 31.—The recent disposal through large shipments abroad of the last of the huge surplus war stocks of textiles is expected to cause a great spurt of activity among home mills which for a long time have been on reduced output because of the pressure in the market of the war stocks.

Among the last of the stocks sold were 16,000,000 yards of flannel, 5,000,000 yards of suit linings, 4,000 000 yards of khaki cloth, 1,000,000 yards of light canvas cloths and tens of thousands of men's suits.

HAPPY THOUGH DIVORCED

Since he adopted his divorced wife, Gena O. Arentzen, of St. Joseph, Mo., living happily in the little home he built is old enough to be the grandfather of the infant boy, he says, and not at all over twenties but he loved her so madly that he consented to give her a divorce because she longed for young companionship.

Mr. and Mrs. Arentzen had been married three years when the two Arentzen agreed, but suggested that Gladys Jill be given to them to rear in the hands of Judge William H. Utz. Utz in his suggestion that Arentzen pay all his wife to obtain a divorce and have custody of the baby daughter. Utz, and Mrs. Arentzen agreed, and the divorce was granted and the adoption permitted.

Mr. Arentzen swears he lives only for his ward now and wishes to leave his former wife his estate. At the same time he cannot bear to see her as she sigh him. Under the present arrangement he is satisfied.

Mrs. Arentzen loves her former husband and wishes to take care of him, at the same time however, she desires the companionship of men and women her own age.

Fire yesterday destroyed the residence on the farm of A. P. Grey, south west of Woodstock. Most of the house hold effects were saved.

Floods Causing Great Inconvenience to Great Britain

COTTAGES MAROONED

Families are Being Served With Food From Boats

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Dec. 31.—Floods, caused by recent storms in Great Britain, are still increasing in many parts of the country and gales have been renewed in the path of the two. Hundreds of telephone poles are down and in a number of towns mail is being delivered by punts owing to the flooded condition of streets.

At Mountfoith, occupants of numerous cottages are marooned by the flood and are being served with food from boats. Men on horseback are busy rescuing women, and children from flooded areas.

A huge Aberdeen Bull, being taken to the Kingston fair, broke away and plunged into the Thames and was carried over a mile down stream by fast current before it was able to scramble up the bank. It then entered the grounds of a large residence and held the family indoors fourteen hours in spite of efforts of head of family and servants who tried to shoo the bewildered animal away. Eventually it made off of its own accord.

REGRETTABLE

A message from Lansdowne to a Kingston paper on Tuesday morning told of a lively time at a Presbyterian church meeting in that village on Monday evening. Most of the congregation had met to prepare for the vote on church union, which was to open on Tuesday. The debate waxed so warm that some of the good members came to grips; in fact, it is stated that one of them was thrown to the aisle floor. Eventually the combatants cooled down and order was restored. The minister was provided over by the minister, Rev. J. H. Sedcombe, who advised the members not to allow their tempers to get the better of them.

No matter what one's views may be on the question of uniting three protestant churches, such an incident as this leaves a bad taste.

A prayer meeting seems more in order than a debate of this kind that savors of political gatherings.

THE IMMIGRATION WE NEED

Canada is to have a vigorous immigration policy, according to the Honorable Mr. Robb, the Minister in charge of the Immigration and Colonization department.

Why the country has been so long without such a policy we are not told; the absolute crying need of it has been felt for years, by that part of the Dominion's citizenship outside of the departmental buildings at Ottawa.

What the governmental conception of a vigorous policy may imply, we shall have to find out from experience; but apparently it will in the first place call for a not inexpensive propaganda in Great Britain and on the Continent.

No doubt propaganda, setting forth the tremendous advantages Canada offers to emigrants is a necessity, and properly, truthfully prosecuted might be of fundamental value.

It need not be forgotten, that greatly as Canada needs a much larger population, fully as much do the overcrowded populations of several European countries need a country, which offers place for their comfortable and complete development.

We are not in such a hurry to populate our country as to be without time to discriminate between those who become useful citizens, and those certain to be, failures, and charges upon their fellow Canadians.

Careful choice should be exercised before the embarkation of intending immigrants, and, it must be understood, that the selection of a good immigration policy has not been accomplished when it has shovelled so many individuals—good, bad or indifferent, as to morals or working ability—into Canada.

Probably the best of all immigration agencies is the successful, well established, happy, immigrant family. Those the story of their success will attract, or induce by letters home will induce to follow them, will be, as a rule, the best of all newcomers.

Mr. Robb might do much worse than encourage immigration through former immigrants, and settlers, as far as possible.

If he can induce the Government to turn its energies towards the building up of our farming and other industries, so as to produce in the country what we need, rather than to encourage the importation of that ed goods thus enriching other lands, he will do more to promote immigration of the most desirable sort, than he could accomplish in any other way.

Make the country attractive to the man with capital to invest, with ability, and spirit to work, and there will be little need for expensive propaganda abroad to coax immigrants to give Canada a trial.—Family Herald.

THE SEASON'S COMPLIMENTS

The Daily Intelligencer issues a very sincere wish that its readers may have a most prosperous and happy new year. May you become very actively interested in life surrounding you. In that lies true happiness.

RESOLUTIONS

To make up one's mind to meet life's varied demands in a better way is commendable. The practice of making resolution should not be discouraged, even though the majority of us fail to keep our word to ourselves.

Belleville and Hastings County people can well afford to decide that in the year 1925 they shall endeavor to advance the interests of the community with all the enthusiasm at their command.

The coming year holds much progress in the city and county, there is no doubt. The manufacturing prospects in Belleville are exceedingly bright, due to the good work done by the faithful few in 1924. As many as five new concerns may be expected to be going well in the spring. For the farmer, the cheese industry and agriculture generally is promising.

The situation now needs but a cheerful, optimistic citizenry to become a source of much prosperity and happiness for the district.

Smile and encourage in 1925.

A BAD MISTAKE

The death of A. H. Savage Landor recalls one of the rare occasions when an editor was caught tripping. Landor's emergence from one of his exploring trips through a tropic jungle, at an out-of-the-way corner of the earth was announced in a cable, some person called only the words: Savage Landor reported at Ubbidjab," or some such name. One conscientious editor, feeling that his readers should have fuller information on the subject than that of calling for proof data in the encyclopedia, used his imagination to such good effect that he produced a very readable account of the appearance, the habits and the habitat of "a savage landor" in its native haunts.

Tribute to a Successful O.B.C. Graduate

The Nov. 15th issue of "The Outlook", a newspaper published in Georgetown, Demerara, Guiana, South America, made the following reference to a graduate of Ontario Business College, namely, Hon. Clifton Grannum, ex-Colonial Treasurer, of British Guiana: "An able financier and accountant, whose training at Ontario Business College, of Belleville, Ontario, Canada, stood him in good stead, and enabled him to put the bookkeeping of the Colony in perfect up-to-date form while it is a well known fact that he saved the Colony large sums of money by his intimate knowledge of working out loan funds and sinking fund guarantee charges upon their fellow Canadians.

Careful choice should be exercised before the embarkation of intending immigrants, and, it must be understood, that the selection of a good immigration policy has not been accomplished when it has shovelled so many individuals—good, bad or indifferent, as to morals or working ability—into Canada.

Probably the best of all immigration agencies is the successful, well established, happy, immigrant family. Those the story of their success will attract, or induce by letters home will induce to follow them, will be, as a rule, the best of all newcomers.

Thirty years ago the U.S. governor brought a few reindeer from Siberia into Alaska. THE "BEST SELLER"

(London Advertiser)

Christmas and New Year is the season for books. The "best sellers" reap the harvest, for books always make acceptable gifts.

In the deluge of new books, adventure, fiction, biography, it is opportune to recall that the best book people recall it, the Bible, still heads the list with a sale of over 7,000,000 copies during the year.

Despite the work of the critics who have for years piled their lances and crulets to carve the superstition and the divine from the Book, it stands, and the old world demands it with the miraculous and the wonderful left in.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

SNUGNESS

(London Times)

It is a great merit of snugness that it is something essentially humble and within the reach of all. Luxury is positively antipathetic to it. A cigar is clearly not so snug as a pipe. The rather wide cuffed and deerstalk cosiness definitely better than anyone else so. Can gave his circle round the fire anything more gorgeous to drink than much. And who would be seen in a tasseled hall? Moreover nobody could wear slippers in a ball, and snugness without slippers is a hollow mockery.

British Cabinet to Protect Wine Men

Colonial Secretary Amery Outlines Policy to Spirit Merchants

(Associated Press Despatch)

Birmingham, Dec. 31.—During the lifetime of the present Conservative government there would not be any increase of taxation borne by the liquor trade will receive the closest attention of the cabinet, declared Colonial Secretary L. S. Amery.

The secretary told a recent meeting of the wine and spirit merchants theirs was a licensing trade because it dealt "with a commodity which when taken in moderation was beneficial and enjoyable, and to that extent beneficial, when taken in excess was undoubtedly the cause of a good deal of ill health, misery, suffering and many social evils."

"The government could not," the speaker continued, "deal with these great problems in the sense of the temperance fashion advocated by a certain type of mind by excepting away the trade altogether, or if that could be done by harassing the members of it and making their position impossible. The experience of the United States has shown that even if Great Britain should go to the pitch of a national decree abolishing the manufacture of intoxicants, it would not solve the problem.

"Such a decree might prevent 'millions' of sober minded people of refreshments which had been in use from time to time out and of which there was no reason to deprive them," the secretary went on saying that it "would not prevent real intemperance as the American experience has shown."

Concluding Mr. Amery said: "I like to indulge in liquor in moderation when it was allowed by the laws of the country. It was a perfectly natural, healthy and temperate action," but to indulge in alcohol in a worse form and more intemperance than drinking in a country where the law allows intoxicants to be drunk."

Mr. Amery declared he did not believe that this kind of legislation "whether carried out nationwide, as in the United States, or by patchwork involving various schemes of local option would make for the good or the promotion of real temperance.

CAPTURED DEER ALIVE ON STREET

Vancouver, Wash., Dec. 31.—A two-pound buck deer was captured alive on Main Street here recently.

The deer was sending up the cry of fear from the banks of the Columbia River when several persons gave chase. He dashed down an alley, leaped over a closed building and leaped through a window, then jumped a high fence and started back toward the river. The pavement proved hard and the buck stumbled and fell several times, finally crashing into a fence with his horns so tangled that he was easily tied. Four soldiers from Vancouver Barracks took the deer to the reservation.

Letters to Editor

WANTS NAMES

Dear Editor:

Will you kindly publish the following in your paper.

Some short time ago our City Council passed a by-law whereby the farmers must pay a license fee of $25 and $50 dollars per year in order that they might sell meat on the Belleville market.

The object of the seven aldermen who voted this by-law into effect have never yet been published and I think the citizens of Belleville should know just what seven aldermen it was.

There are a good many families in Belleville living on small salaries and one would be surprised to know the amount of meat bought by those people. I do not know because it was being sold at a much more reasonable price for them. So that the passing of this by-law will be a detriment to a great many of those people who really cannot afford to deal at the butcher shops. I think that it is a shame that the butchers of Belleville, along with the farmers should have our council into passing such a law.

We would appreciate it very much if you could get the names of those seven aldermen who voted this by-law into effect and publish same.

Sure what is a market for?

It is to have down prices. So I think that so long as the meat is better handled in a clean manner that for the benefit of a good many of our citizens it should be allowed to be sold on the market for a fee not more than $5 per year.

Yours truly,

Raymond Carr.

Editor's Note—The proposed by-law referred to by Mr. Carr has not been passed by the City Council. A recommendation for its adoption was sent along, but no record is kept of the vote on such a recommendation.

TO THE ELECTORS OF (GREATER) WEST HASTINGS

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The Rifling of West Hastings for Federal purposes having passed out of existence under the Redistribution Act of the Session of 1924, and having been beaten in the Election on the 29th November last, so that I have ceased to be your representative in the Dominion Parliament I do not feel like leaving the district and without Festive Season pass without saying "good-by" and wishing you one and all prosperity and happiness in the years to come.

During the 24 years I have served you as a Federal member I have striven up to the best of my ability, and I am not conscious of having neglected a duty, or of refusing to render any assistance I could as your Representative. I have the greatest satisfaction to me to know that I have never received a letter or the spoken word of reproach for any action I have ever taken or refused to take in any Political or National matter in all my long years of service, and I have always received from all classes of my Political friends, and many of my Political opponents the most warmest friendships and cordial relationship.

I have at all times adhered to the Conservative Principles and Policy, which I believed, and am thoroughly convinced to be the best interests of our Great Country and which has developed and brought prosperity to Canada and will do so to an even greater extent, thereof in the future. While, I make these claims, and proud I am of the achievements, I do not forget the generous assistance and influence of the Party in West Hastings and some Liberal opponents which has enabled me to bring about these results, and for the Honours thus given me, I am indeed truly thankful and I appreciate them more than I can find words to express. Even in this moment of adversity, I do not feel that I have lost any personal friends, as I am sure the Conservative Party has been effected in principle or influence by the temporary reverse.

The issue was specific, purely moral, and an unusual one, and not in any sense the general one between the Government and Opposition, and while I believe the Electors were satisfied that the charges I made were true, and that I acted honourably in making them, yet I could not but feel that much importance to the issue as I believed they would. Some to feel for methods used by the Government, and its supporters which I resent, and which must have caused the seeming victory, and br'ng no credit to the Government upon reflection, and cannot adversely effect the General principles of the Party, but I do appreciate the loyal support of those who voted for me, and to whom I could not, at this time, prevent defeat coming.

I hope I may in some manner be able to repay my many friends for all their kindnesses to me, and with every good wish, I am,

Yours faithfully,
W. GUSS PORTER.

Mutt And Jeff Phrased Crowd

Good Comedy, Snappy Music and Pretty Costumes Feature Show

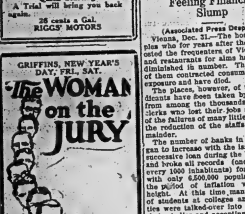

Mutt and Jeff stepped right out of the funny papers to the stage in Griffin's Theatre last night and kept the audience amused with their funny capers for about two hours. The chorus girls were good, and the costumes very pretty.

Mr. Mutt and Lois in search of Mr. Mutt, the latter, come to a one horse town and find that Mutt and Jeff are proclaimed heroes and are rewarded "Sweetheart" for the horse race. Meanwhile Mutt has made himself a lion among the ladies, and his wife has come to town, and there are many thoughts of vengeance and love of Mutt. Lois is the instrument used to entrap him, and the intricacies of the plot are straightened by the suspected presence of an unknown "Betty B." who turns out however, to be a race horse.

It all ends satisfactorily though and it is to be assumed that they live happily ever after. In between scenes there was some very fine singing and dancing. The negro's solo work made a big hit, and a duet by two girls in children's clothes drew loud applause.

Little Jeff seemed to make a big appeal to the audience, because of his size and heavy way of acting. The whole cast were good and took their respective parts in a very able manner, and the audience appeared to enjoy it very much.

Had Near Panic In Capitol Theatre

Part of Kingston Audience Became Alarmed at Smoke

Kingston, Dec. 31—The irrational ity of the average crowd of people could be easily proved Monday night in a small puff of smoke issuing from the fireproof projection booth of the Capitol Theatre resulted in the utmost confusion among a section of the audience, notwithstanding the fact that there was absolutely no cause whatsoever for alarm.

During the evening program a small section of film about twenty feet long became overheated, blistered and burst, causing a puff of smoke and an unpleasant smell to issue from the projection booth. The projection booth itself is built entirely of concrete and steel, being awing on girders absolutely separate from any other portion of the building. The booth is lined by the fire underwriters as "absolutely fireproof" there being nothing inflammable to burn in the whole structure with the exception of the films used in the programs and if all he films usually stored in the booth were to catch fire at one time the only danger would be to the operator of the projecting machine, who might possibly suffer from the fumes.

Some foolish person, on seeing the smoke, raised a cry of "Fire" and rushed for the emergency exit be fore ing himself or others, who apparently failed to appreciate the fact that the whole of the Capitol Theatre is of the most fireproof constructiib and that absolutely no danger existed. At the entrance to the theatre the films used in the programs and if all he films usually stored in the booth were to catch fire at one time the only danger would be to the operator of the projecting machine, who might possibly suffer from the fumes.

Clerks Take Place Of Street Beggars

White Collar Men of Vienna Feeling Financial Slump

(Associated Press Despatch)

Vienna, Dec. 31.—The hosts of civilian workers who after the war swelled the freqeuenters of Vienna cafes and restaurants for alms have of late diminished in number. The majority of them continue to be conscious of their impotence and have died.

The places, however, of these modicants have been taken by hundreds from among the thousands of bank clerks who lost their jobs as a result of the failures of many little banks and the reduction of the staffs of the remainder.

The number of banks in Vienna began to increase with the issue of each successive loan during the World War and broke all records (one bank to every 2,000 inhabitants) for a country with only 6,500,000 population when the period of inflation was at its height. At this time many hundreds of students at colleges and universities were talked over into abandoning their studies and accepting handsome if paltry situations even in the dozens of banks cropping up every week.

The financial crash of the past summer deprived those youths of their positions with the result that they are now to be met in every possible and impossible nook and corner seeking relief. Some are learning to become chauffeurs or are conductors on street cars, while a great many spend the day waiting outside hotels, public cafes and even matches in cafes and restaurants. All of them are men of higher education but this avails them nothing. Four thousand of them were let out during the last four months and many more are to be discharged at the beginning of 1925.

The government has been petitioned to contribute funds towards the erection of sheds wherein these men may find shelter when rendered homeless. What makes their lot in Austria more distressing is that there is not the shoot of a chance for any of them to find new berths in banks. Business is at a standstill. Then the Austrian has forfeited many of the markets of trade to which he has not been appreciated. This makes it impossible for these unfortunates to do anything but hawk goods or sweep the streets, lest both or these occupations likewise are crammed full.

CANADIAN PACIFIC CRUISES GROW IN POPULARITY

Cruising, whether it be around the world, to the romantic coasts of the Mediterranean or among the Isles of the West Indies, has become the predominant factor with large steamship companies that following the announcement of the departure of a steamship on a cruise, book ngs have been registered at a surprising rate and accommodation quickly taken up.

An eminent New York journalist recently took a consensus of opinion of a number of American citizens who had a conducted tour and the verdict was, "There was a touch of the old Roman arrangements made in advance. None of the individuals had to think about their hotel reservations, rail connections, locations of baggage and the many aggravations which take up a major portion of the time a traveller while, for a month or more, enjoys the wonders of new lands." The arrangements for shore trips are also taken the lead as the pleasing factor in "ready-made" travel which is so much favored from the United States.

Herald as an antidote to yests of a thousand romances unfolding the pageant of the world from the cultured west to the lurid, mysterious east. Past the Canadian Pacific steamship the Empress of France will make a cruise trip around the world from New York via the Panama Canal.

The big liner of 18,000 tons, recently refitted to world cruising and has been used continuously in transatlantic service, having been one of the Prince of Wales on a recent trip to Canada.

The circumnavigators of the Empress of France will return laden with the rich treasures of foreign lands, have gathered from visits of 18 countries and contact with the customs, traits and civilization of 50 different races. Shrines, temples, temples, cathedrals, palaces and the sacred treasures of the fabled Orient will be revealed to the gaze of those fortunate travellers.

Leaving New York at a time when he inclement weather drives those who can afford to escape to more agreeable climes, the Empress of France is due to reach the shores of monsoon thrown as high as 600 feet above sea level by the ever-changing winds still unfathomed ocean beds—Montreal Star.

Gibraltar, reached on the morning of the 12th day, ends and opens like a rock-mounted policeman on an ocean trial. This famous fortress of the British Empire was originally named after a Moorish invader of the eighth century whose name is still common. Gibraltar was known to the ancients as the Pillar of Hercules and was for nearly considered the western extremity of the world.

Already from the Straits of Gibraltar, the ragged purple and green and orange and blue of the Atlas mountains and coast the spell of Africa upon the voyage and two day later the ship sails past into the harbour of Algiers, the white ivory towers and minarets of a still half-Arabian city.

Across the Mediterranean the ship turns to Monaco, the high-stepping principality on the south-eastern coast of France, at which all the puritan world shakes its finger. Within that tiny area, more fortunes have been lost and won than lives have been squandered on the battlefields of Europe. The tables at Monte Carlo are open for forbidden to the 20,000 local inhabitants who however, have the consolation of being exempt from taxation.

Naples, the largest port in Italy is next and opportunity is given to visit Pompeii, Port Said and Cairo, Suez, the Red Sea, Bombay where an added feature is the inclusion this year of Delhi and Agra with Calcutta, Darjeeling and Benares as optional side trips, Colombo, Singapore, Batavia, Manila, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama, Honolulu—all follow each other in a bewildering yet well-ordered custom until one again touches America in passing through the Panama Canal, one of the wonders of the world and there to New York.

The trip occupies from January 14, until May 23.

The Empress of Scotland, a 25,000 ton oil-burner leaves New York on February 14 on a Mediterranean cruise, returning on April 11. She is the flagship of the Canadian Pacific Fleet and the largest steamship on the regular service to Canada. She has made three cruises to the Mediterranean and has proved herself to be well adapted to the cruising service.

Madiera, Lisbon, Gibraltar, Algiers, Alexandria, Haifa, Beyrout, Constantinople, Athens, Naples, Monaco, Cherbourg and Southampton are the ports of call. Plenty of time is given the passengers to investigate the Holy Land. Eleven days will be spent in Egypt and at Constantinople or Southampton, passage is taken on the last shire for Quebec and Montreal.

A cruise inside West Indies will also be included by the Canadian Pacific. the S. S. Montroyal formerly the Empress of Britain being again selected for this cruise. All the tours have been successfully tested as an excellent means for a distinctive and limited holiday. The 29-day cruise to the Caribbean is to be minimum rate of $250.00 assuring the passenger of comfortable quarters and home-like surroundings and this particular cruise is growing in popularity with amazing rapidity.

TO MY ROMAN CATHOLIC FRIENDS OF WEST HASTINGS

I feel that a great injustice has been done both to you, and myself in the statement that was made and freely circulated, during my last Election Campaign (which you doubtless heard) that I had at some time stated that I did not desire the support or influence of the Roman Catholic Vote for Election as Member for the Legislature of Hastings. I beg to say that such a statement is entirely erroneous, and without foundation in fact, and was never thought of much less spoken by me.

I have always appreciated the support I received from my fellow citizens of your Faith, and trust that the unfortunate reports will not effect my friendship, with many of you.

Yours faithfully,
E. OLIVE PORTER.

Firm Name Change For Convenience

No Change in Ownership of Policy of "One Man" Concern

By supplementing letters patent, issued in October, the name of the largest independent tobacco manufacturing in Canada has been changed from "W. C. Macdonald Limited" to "Incorporated W. C. Macdonald Incorporated."

The dropping of the word "Register ed" involves no change in the ownership or policy of the company, being merely a simplification of the name, but it recalls one of the most interesting features of the industrial history of Canada.

W. C. Macdonald Incorporated is not only one of the most unique concerns in Canada, but it is the largest individually-owned industrial concern in the Dominion and is advertised as the "largest independent tobacco manufacturers in the British Empire."

Founded in 1858 by the late Sir William Macdonald the greatest philanthropist in Canada's history, the House of Macdonald has grown to its present dimensions as a "one-man" institution. No other manufacturing concern in Canada is owned by a single individual, has ever attained its size or proportion and it is questioned whether there is today in the British Empire or any other manufacturing business of the size of W. C. Macdonald Incorporated which is so completely controlled by one man, as is the case of Mr. Wilfrid C. Macdonald, present head of the business.

When, at the death of Sir William, the control of the business passed into the hands of his son, Wilfrid, and his brother, the provincial laws made it necessary to add the "Incorporated" to the name of W. C. Macdonald, by which the business had been known while the brothers had been partners. But there is a reason, a feature, where a provincial incorporation was not necessary, and the name established as "W. C. Macdonald Incorporated." For the past several years, the company has been known by this name, the fact that it was not legally so cumbersome, hence the simplification which has just been announced.

Girl of Six

I was in bed at the time and at three o'clock a peddler came to the door, and I opened the door and let him in. I heard some knocks and screams and two more men came in. Then the Coal Coal came for a pail of water, and then he found our pump broken. He came into the house, put the pail on the table and left. In two or three minutes Serge came, and walked into the house. He went into the kitchen, took the hammer and like being bloody. He swore "Goodness" and I told him so at three o'clock he did. He wanted to go Sustain saying he wanted to shave. I say he looked in the mirror. Then he had because Alek hit him. He got up from chair and he collapsed on the wall and talk slight. He was a little bit drunk. Then he walked and talked good.

A Girl Gives Alarm

"I went to my bedroom at the back of the house to get money from my purse in my trunk to pay the peddler, and then I heard someone walk upstairs and I say to Alek: my little brother, 'Go and see who is coming.' Alek go upstairs and I pay the peddler some money. Then Alek called me up to bed, 'Mamma, mamma,' and I ran upstairs and stopped on the third step and cried. Serge was standing up beside Alek's bed holding a hammer in his right hand and he looked sideways at me. I cried and 'hollered' and called for Cecil. Said to come. Alek was lying on his side on his bed. He had his head with his hands under his head. Looked like he 'Serge, don't hit Alek.'

"He say 'I do what for I want.'

"What did you do to him?

"I do to him what he do to me this morning.'

"Then one there when they found the hammer.

"I started to look for it but could not find it."

"Gladys Perhaski found the hammer in the bed between the mattress and mattress in the corner of the bed near Alek's bed about a foot and a half from where I saw Serge standing."

Witness could not positively identify the hammer for the four scratches on the handle.

Physician Testifies

Dr. John F. Silverstein told of having twice examined Alek Derewicz, once prior to examining him the day he was injured. He is a rule of the Canada Cement Company to examine all employes when taking them on work and in very good physical condition. On December 22nd the doctor received a call at his office on Pinnacle street about 1:30 p.m. He packed his grip and in some fifteen minutes was at Point Anne. He found the injured man upstairs in house of lying on the bed in the southeast corner of the room. He was lying on his right side with his right hand underneath his head. He was fully dressed and had no overcoat over him. After a chat, which had been thrown over his injured head.

Was Severely Injured

He was suffering from a cut along the lower jaw on the left side at inch in length, another cut half an inch above the ear and a large blood clot and fracture from the mouth and between this and another one about one and a half inches above that one in the left side of the head. The head was matted in blood, and he was still bleeding. He appeared as though he was lying down when he was hit as there was no blood on the floor, and the bed was not mussed up to any degree though the blood was all across the head of the bed where he had apparently been. When Dr. Robertson began dressing him, he struggled and resisted considerably.

Serge was lying down on the other bed apparently asleep, but when witness called to him, he arose, stood up and spoke to him.

"What did you do this with?" asked witness, but Serge did not admit having done it. He did not say he had a few fought him, but did not say how he did it.

Dr. Robertson then sent his son to get his ambulance and had Alek removed to the hospital. Later they produced a hammer which resembled the cubbird wounds, for witness remembered that the striking edge of the hammer was jarred. There is no marked evidence of blood on the hammer.

Operated On

Alek was immediately placed upon the operating table at the hospital where the enlarged wound on the skull showed that in the two holes the bone had been driven into the brain. These splinters were removed and the ruptured brain arteries tied off. The brain was lacerated under the open hole. The laceration of the lower jaw was then cleaned and sewed with a stitches. The wound on the left side of the head was found to be a depressed fracture. This wound was below the clavicle. All wounds were dried up and the patient put to bed. On the table he became ill and vomited a quantity of grittie substance that smelled like alcohol, but the doctor said: "Dr. F. G. Wallbridge was present with the operation and Dr. A. S. Proctor gave the anaesthetic."

Alek died at 5 a.m. December 27th from meningitis following injury.

"There was no possibility of recovery," answered witness to a query and accordingly he record it was remarkable that he lived longer than two hours after such injuries."

Serge was very excited in the room when the doctor arrived. He spoke English and his actions were natural and was a small like alcohol from him.

The post mortem examination showed no marks of exterior violence though Alek had a very heavy skull for a man his size. He did not have a "fissure fracture" skull. It appeared as though the skin had had inflicted by two blows and the chest wound, the blow causing down into the eye to check. The wounds, witness believed, looked as though they had been inflicted by a hammer about like the weapon exhibited. A hammer of that size wielded with sufficient force would have driven the bone in as far as they had been driven in, he thought.

Was Pet

When asked if it would be possible for the injuries to have been inflicted with the fist witness stated that the bones of the hand would have been broken before half as bad injuries had been produced.

Dr. Robertson knows Serge and treated him at his house for a broken nose, scratched face and swelling on the right side of the face. Witness also attended him in the cells. He told the doctor that that Alek had fought with him. He had been in a quarrel at a card party but said Alek was not the one who had hit him on the previous occasion.

Dr. F. G. Wallbridge agreed very favourably with Dr. Robertson's statement of injuries, cause of death and was called to him, he arose, stood up and spoke to him.

"What did you do this with?" asked witness, but Serge did not admit having done it. He did not say he had a few fought him, but did not say how he did it.

Dr. Robertson then sent his son to get his ambulance and had Alek removed to the hospital. Later they produced a hammer which resembled the cubbird wounds, for witness remembered that the striking edge of the hammer was jarred. There is no marked evidence of blood on the hammer.

Operated On

Alek was immediately placed upon the operating table at the hospital where the enlarged wound on the skull showed that in the two holes the bone had been driven into the brain. These splinters were removed and the ruptured brain arteries tied off. The brain was lacerated under the open hole. The laceration of the lower jaw was then cleaned and sewed with a stitches. The wound on the left side of the head was found to be a depressed fracture. This wound was below the clavicle. All wounds were dried up and the patient put to bed. BELLEVILLE LOSES FIRST GAME TO BROCKVILLE ; NIAGARA FALLS, INDIANS, PARKDALE WIN

Belleville Men Lacked Condition

And Brockville Stole First Fixture Of The Season

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

Ed. Thomas' Collection Makings of Good Hockey Machine

Belleville intermediates, 1923 collection, failed to do the goods, Brockville's smart game late, town last night and started away a fire to four victories just in doing their stuff they didn't possess that old time group championship. Not by a long shot.

To put it as kindly as we know how the Belleville team was off its feed on the breaks. On the whole evening's play they only deserve a belly. But that alibi will hold until the two representatives will get it off again.

For the first game of the season, particularly in the low pressures, the engagement was not too dusty. There was plenty of speed in evidence and then went away feeling they had their money's worth. And by the way, the size of the crowd was not bad for the season—that it was the first of the season and that Mimic and Ferrie are clouting several laughs not far from the scene of battle.

The ice was in fair shape and the teams seemed just about right for fast hockey.

Before we forget him, it might be well to mention the referee, a capable man by the name of Harold Mitchell. Hockey fans to the contrary, he handled the game well. He seemed to have the run of the book printed right in the top of his dome. Sizing was his middle name. First and last name, he little escaped his hawk-eye and he was nearly impartial.

Lacked Condition

Lack of condition played an important part in Belleville's showing that and lack of sufficient practice. Although Goyer, the veteran, Brockville defence, relieved steadily in the three periods nearly every Belleville man seemed to pushed to keep going hard. At that the pace was none too fierce.

Observant fans could see in Ed Thomas' collection the possibilities of a good machine. The trouble is that the parts aren't fitted together properly and the best combination was pulled off only once in the game. Goyer and Bill Green were generally responsible for it and this pair seemed to have formed a smart defensive combination. Time after time the three would get well together and the man with the puck would skate blindly into two defence men, while wing or centre sailed to be fed. That the line men could do was shown in their work when Soup and Bill Green came up for a rest. Bang and Bill make a nice defence pair. They handled attacking well, checked well on several occasions and showed a lot of smart style when better conditioned. Soup could use a few pounds or he don't know it, was gone.

Many Rough Spots

The brand of hockey delivered last night showed promise and that's about all. There was no outstanding individual and it looked pretty as a false alarm as rare as a sailing on the 31st of March in January.

Munro, on the left forward for Brockville, turned in the best game of the night. But it was his condition and speed placed in comparison with Belleville players. Munro is a fast boy. He isn't the best speed merchant in the Valley or Quinte, by the by, either. In spite of a woeful lack of condition, he showed the way.

There was not much to choose between goal tenders, Murray or Brockville, made several clever saves and had all the breaks with him. At Belleville's goal was where most of the injuries were piled on for a number of critical moments, but they were few in all the time. Two shots that beat him were scored, one by Green and the other a heartbreaker, when he was unprotected.

Belleville Murray was not on hand with the visitors and his support may make a big difference to Brockville's goal keeping.

Whales for Belleville must be given for their showing in the second half in fact that both for Hagerman and Wright were used to the limit, they worked hard. And another thing they took to hard punishment. The unfortunate feature was their failure to work together. That may come with more

First Period Start

Belle the forced the play in the outset and had an edge over the visitors, local fans were prepared for a substantial victory. Soup pulled in a few and that brought Murray to his knees. He was carried off into Belleville territory, but was easily stopped by the Green, Goyer, Sampson defence and Green and swept through the centre. Whalen took a pretty pass from Hagerman and shot down. Murray saving nicely. A minute later Soup took the Junelight House route for a rest. Belleville 1, Brockville 0.

But with one man short, Belleville pressed until Munro bagged the rubber and squeezed through the Belleville goal with defense. Soup was no sooner on again, when he took a two minute rest, four to the box for a minor affair. Brockville failed to score.

Play was slowing somewhat when Bill Green received a pretty pass from Green and Soup and only nice work by Nurse saved the visitors.

Blind Passing

Belleville players were back checking well at the start and were passing nicely. Goyer slipped into Hagerman's place and proved that he had lost right way. Goyer delivered a spurt or two and showed what he could do in getting back to check, but when Munro bumped into Soup Green, who was with the stone wall came from and Green took a slide at the puck-carrier. Brockville resorted to long shots from well out.

Goyer and Whalen combined again, but the latter was off his game and was in for the rebound, a masked fault of the whole evening with Brockville. Soup rushed again, made the one faked spot of the evening and Goyer was offside when he had a nice chance to pass back to Hagerman.

After about seventeen minutes of play, Wet shot and Hagerman got in the rebound for the first goal of the game. It was well earned.

The barrage opened up here. Everyone had been in the play, the game went up together, the sturdy defence men making a perfect mess with Whalen fumbled. In a twinkling Miller and Stan Nurse were behind the net and out. Belleville pressed again and Young Goyer had another on open net in front of him. He missed and Nurse got the rebound.

Belleville's second goal came when Hagerman shot so hard that the puck came not with out some assistance from the hockey work shiver.

Brockville made the score 2 to 1 on a Houdini shot. Ambling down left wing, Munro lifted an easy one and Nurse couldn't see the rubber coming at all.

At the end of the second period, the score stood four to two. Green scored both of Belleville's goals, Munro decided for Brockville. This twenty minutes was fraught with excitement and more to penalties and injuries than fast hockey. Goyer and Bill Green received up considerably. Bumping became more frequent. Brockville started by taking long shots from outside but soon got to work with the defense. Green, Munro, Soup and Hagerman went off in quick succession and for a short time Belleville (five players) against four. Players were too tired to take advantage of the power ice, however, and slow and feeble passing was the order.

Green counted along about the mid dle of the period, but Referee Mitchell's ruling of the evening between the various defense men was irreducible.

Green was going fine just about this time. He went in after a rebound like a real hornet, and was on hand a moment later to take

Stratford Wins First at Home

Stratford, Ont., Dec. 31.—The jinx is broken and Stratford team has won a game in the new artificial ice arena. In a "fifth Rat" scheduled fixture played here last night before 2,000 fans the Indians romped home in the long end of a 6-1 count completely outclassing the Kitchener Greenshirts. This was the fifth nite staged in the new ice palace and was the first win chalked up by a Stratford team.

Not a Stratford fan conceded the sextet a chance to win last night's scrap with both Coach Gallagher and Burke out of the game d ue to injuries but the exhibition that the Red and White put on in this evening left no doubt in the spectators' minds as to which was the better of the two teams. Every one of the regulars starred for the winners. Harold Gross, the big boy pivot was the defence show the most improvement of any of the locals and scored the only tally that twinkled throughout the night. Frank Cheney played a fine game for Wet and is now in his old time form, while Bill Cannon and Jackie Brown were always dangerous with their speed.

Ice Hockey Results

The Hamilton team, composed of a lot of players professional in the former parts, favored the pace throughout and secured the first goal, and were never headed after that one. Alex. Romeril bulged the net for what proved the winning goal. He is a former Queen's University football star, and last Fall played with Hamilton Tigers. Good for the Gunmen. He got his hockey education with Queen's O.H.A. intermediate O.H.A. Allan Galbraith, had played for the Tigers in 1923 and played last winter with Hamilton Brewers. He is a former Queen's player. He was on the defence with Chris Garvey, Hamilton Tigers, on the forward line.

Few Reputations Here

It was a fast game, however, for all the forwards. Bill Brown, perhaps the star player on the ice, was held in check by Fickett, taken from the City League, was a star player with St. Michael's College, whist Kirk is another from the Brewers; Jackie Foster, left wing, Kirk; puke Goudie and Marsh.

Referee—Lou E. Marsh.

Hamilton Club Springs Surprise

They Had The Bulge on Parkdale Until Very Last

Toronto, Dec. 31.—Hamilton Rowing Club, making its first appearance in the senior O.H.A. series last night, almost gave the old dope a walloping from which it would have taken a long time to recover. Leading, 2 to 1, with only six minutes to go, Hamilton's representatives gave Parkdale beaten, but Allan Galbraith, their star defence and Parkdale's fence player, was ruled off for hooking, slashing and holding upon leave of one Hamilton net, and while he was on the bench the Parkdale rushers got the range to win out, to 2. The showing of Hamilton was a surprise to the followers of the fans, before the game Parkdale be Tigers scored the lone goal when

RE CHURCH UNION

Mr. George Reid, of Belleville, asked that the following letter to the Editor of the Globe be published in the Daily
Intelligencer:

To the Editor of The Globe: After the letter in Dr. Ridgeon's letter in The Globe of the 18th inst., I felt somewhat perplexed regarding the statement that the Presbyterian Church will preserve its identity after being merged in the United Church of Canada. I do not understand how the word "identity" can be used at all seeing after the Union has been completed. The United Church of Canada has come into corporate powers conferred on it by the Church Union
Act. It has power to acquire and sell property, also to make and accept bills of exchange, promissory notes, etc.
Would like Dr. Pidgeon to enlighten me on the following points:
1. When the so-called United Church of Canada purchases a piece of land in what name will the conveyance be made? Will it be made in the name of the Presbyterian Church or in the name of the United Church of Canada?
2. After the Union in what name will the United Church make their cheques and notes, will it be the Presbyterian Church or the United Church of Canada?
3. When Rev. Dr. Pidgeon performs a marriage after the Union, will he sign the marriage certificate as a minister of the Presbyterian Church or the United Church of Canada?
A short answer to these three questions will be greatly appreciated.
Toronto, Ont. A. C. Gordan.

Ever buy a wooden nutmeg?

A HUCKSTER stopped at Grandmother's door. "Any nutmegs to-day, lady?"

In the tray before him he displayed his wares—big, beautiful nutmegs, and at a ridiculously low price.

Being fond of nutmeg's spicy flavor, and seeing an opportunity to stock up on them to advantage, Grandmother bought generously.

There was to be rice pudding for supper. Grandmother took the golden-brown beauty from the oven and prepared to give it its finishing touch—a sprinkling of nutmeg. Out came the grater and one of the new nutmegs. She scraped and looked puzzled: Scraped again, and looked closer. Sawdust ! ! The nutmegs were made of wood.

How far from such methods we have travelled in these days of advertised merchandise. The merchant of to-day signs his name to what he says about what he sells. He knows that when you come to buy you will expect the goods in his store to be what he has said. He knows that if he deceives you once, your trade is gone forever.

Wooden nutmegs never could have been advertised.

Use Sage Tea To Keep Hair Dark, Glossy

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by keeping a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur on hand. It's easy enough. It makes or mars the face. When it fades turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.
Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This one stays be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.
Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it brings back color and darkness so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy, simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application or two, becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Kidneys Need Lots Of Water

Drink Freely and Often, also Take Salts if Your Back Hurts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been drinking too little water. Lacide, says a well-known authority. All excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter the waste from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and "lazy." When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, by moving all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, kidney pain, sick sleepy, sick, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and you feel the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to get up two or three times during the night.
Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. The Jad Salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.
